TELLS OF A CYCLONE.

Miss Mahala Dunklee Writes of South Dakota Storm.

DESMOIS, S. D., August 23, 1904.
Editor Review:

Yesterday a party of us drove 20 miles north of here to see a place that was blown to pieces by a cyclone last Saturday evening, August 20. Willow Lake in Clark county is a busy little town of about 350 inhabitants, situated on the Great Northern R. R. between Huron and Watertown. It had grown quite steadily the last few years. Last Saturday evening a storm that proved to be a cyclone started about eight miles west of the town and came down upon it in all its fury. About two miles west of town the farm buildings were blown down on one place and a man killed. It struck the town about 6 p. m., one house on the very western edge was completely demolished; the Catholic church, nearby, and only just enclosed, was a complete wreck, also the Norwegian Lutheran near by. The Congregational and M. E. churches were total wrecks; the M. E. church being tipped right over into the parsonage, the roof being driven into the side of the parsonage. A fine school house, only used one year, and costing $6,000, for which the town was heavily bonded, was blown all to pieces. One elevator (the North Western) was a total wreck and two more badly damaged. Every house and business place was damaged, the most of them will need to be rebuilt.

It is estimated that $100,000 will not cover the loss. None was killed, a few were hurt, but not seriously. Quite a number of horses and cattle were killed. Archie Sheldon, a cousin of Mattie Dunklee lives in the place and was running the elevator that was torn to pieces, his loss was heavy, $800 will not more than cover it.

When the storm left there it took a south-easterly course and cleared the fields of the grain stubble, damaged the corn and the southwest corner of Bryant, (9 miles from Willow Lake), where it had increased in width and power, blowing down buildings, uprooting and twisting of trees. Two were killed and several were injured. It seemed to be the beginning of the storm in Minneapolis. South Dakota is noted for its hard winds, but it is very unusual for cyclones to strike here. One thing that helped in the destruction was that fall followed in the path of the wind.

I am enjoying my visit in Dakota very much. The weather has been fine, there being only a few days that have not been pleasant. Crops are very good this year excepting the wheat. The climate is fine and I never saw the country look finer or more prosperous.

Yours truly,
MAHALA E. DUNKLEE.

SOCIALISTS ARE ACTIVE.

"Prosperity That Does Not Go All the Way Around."

If all mankind were contented not many things of importance would happen. To the discontented man the air of satisfaction which his neighbors wear is often an added aggravation. Prosperity that does not go all the way around leaves something to be desired. At the present time, when prosperous conditions have increased materially the hardships which people of small fixed incomes undergo in their obscure struggles for existence, those who regard themselves as disinherited and dispossessed resent the complacency of the two leading political parties, says the Daily News.

Dr. Graham Taylor a leading writer on economic questions, gives reasons for thinking that many radicals, impelled by their views respecting, for example, the Colorado situation and the stockyards strike, will vote the socialist national ticket this year. Yet socialism flourishes only under governments that are characterized by oppression and injustice. Its cure is governmental and social reform. Justice for the individual who is weak because he is poor, whose capital is the strength of his armor the skill of his hands, is socialism's worst enemy.

The fact that socialistic doctrines are now being exalted efforts, proof that dangerous influences are at work which must be curbed in the interests of social peace and sane government.

Get Ready For Fall Campaign.

The Executive Members of the Lake County Republican Committee met at Waukegan, Monday, to complete arrangements for the printing and distribution of ballots under the new primary law adopted.

A meeting of all members of the County Committee as well as the several town committees has been called to be held at Libertyville, Wednesday, August 31.

It is proposed to map out a plan of campaign at this meeting.

Reunion at Nunda.

The circulars are out announcing the thirty-ninth reunion of the 96th Illinois Infantry, which will occur at Nunda on the 3rd day of September. The regular day of the meeting would be on the 4th, but as that comes on Sunday the date has been changed to the 3rd. The circulars are now being sent to the comrades, and the responses indicate one of the largest reunions held in a number of years. Judge W. A. Wood, of Belvidere, has received a personal letter from the secretary asking him to respond to the address of welcome, which he will probably do. This regiment was raised in Boone and McHenry counties, and the annual gatherings have been more than ordinary interest on account of this fact.

New Bridge Near Half Day.

The contract was let Saturday at Prairie View for the construction of an iron bridge, with stone abutments, over Indian Creek. It requires a 90 foot span. The Joliet Bridge and Iron Company was the lowest bidder on iron work and was given the contract for $2,369.

Orin Olson of Lamont was the successful bidder on the stone work his bid being $1,217.

The bridge is constructed under the supervision of a committee of supervisors and the commissioners of highways of Vernon township, the county paying one-half the cost and the township the other half.

LAKE BLUFF WON'T HAVE IT

Strongly Opposes Establishment of Naval Recruiting Station There.

For several years the residents of the north shore have wanted another federal institution of some character established somewhere. Congressman Poe has been active in looking after the wishes of his constituents in this matter and finally had about secured the establishment of a naval recruiting station at Lake Bluff. The residents of that summer resort and also of aristocratic Lake Forest are now in arms; they don't want any such an institution near them. They supposed that the institution was to be a college—second only to the naval academy at Annapolis. It is to be a recruiting station and sort of training school—that's different.

The Chicago Tribune, speaking editorially on this matter, says: "The attitude of the north shore people is natural. There would not be so much rowdiness around Fort Sheridan if there were no soldiers there. From the point of view of the quiet suburban resident the training station, while a good thing in itself, will not be a desirable neighbor."

The protesters are very much like the people who want a street car line within a block, but not on their own street. The interests of the whole people are paramount in the selection of a site for a naval training station. Private considerations are of secondary importance. There is no question that the site ought to be somewhere in the vicinity of Chicago. If Lake Bluff is pre-eminently and unquestionably the best place, it should be chosen."

Attend the Lake county fair at Libertyville next week.

Conversation Party.

The young lady members of the E. F. E. club with young men friends were entertained Wednesday evening by Miss Nancy Jenks at the home of Mrs. Frank Willmarth in honor of Miss Olive Bucklin of Dundee and Miss Nellie Foy of St. Louis.

Various amusements filled the evening with pleasure on the lawn and in the house.

The particular source of fun was given in a "progressive" conversation in the course of which each young lady received a call from each young man as she held court in nooks and corners where "tea-tables" for two had been arranged. A program of twelve subjects was provided and the topics covered a large field from the romantic to the practical; each change of partner was the signal for a change of subject for discussion.

A vote for the best talkers, masculine and feminine, resulted as follows: Miss Anna Dolan, lady's first; Miss Maude Meyer, lady's second; Alexander Boelmer, gentleman's first; and Benjamin Schroeder, gentleman's second.

Those who were claimed to have talked the least received mementoes and were Miss Gladys Lines of Chicago and Roy Waterman.

which may result in the death of the injured man.

Adam Randler, a young man well known in this vicinity, employed by Mr. Weidner, is the victim of a rifle carlessly handled. It is said that Randler took his rifle to the field where he was at work and placed the loaded weapon beside the fence. Fearing that children nearby might discover and handle the gun he was about to remove it when in some manner the weapon was discharged, the bullet coursing the right thigh, glancing upward and entering the right breast making an ugly and dangerous wound which leaves small hope of his recovery.

The wounded man was taken to the home of Henry Lavine, when Dr. A. Weichels was called and dressed the wounds.

This (Friday) noon the condition of Mr. Randler is reported as in a critical condition his right side being paralyzed, and though he may recover the chances are slight.

Lawn Social Given by Young People's Society of St. Paul's Church.

The annual lawn social given by the Young People's society of St. Paul's Evangelical church, held on Tuesday evening proved to be an enjoyable event despite the chilly atmospheric conditions. The lawn adjoining the parsonage was nicely arranged for the affair, plenty of seats and tables having been provided and illumination by Japanese lanterns and torches all that could be desired.

Music was furnished by the Harrington Cornet band—the musical organization whose selections always please, and the gentlemen certainly did please the crowd there Wednesday evening.

Another attraction was the pretty matrons and young ladies that waited on the patrons. It was a trifle cool for ice cream and lemonade, but the people purchased in liberal quantities just the same. Coffee and sandwiches also met with ready sale.

While the net profits of the affair were not as large as of previous events of like character given by the society a neat sum was realized. The enjoyment was unlimited.

SHERIFF FOILS COLORADO MOB

Official Arrives In Time to Save Union Miner From Being Lynched.

BRITISH SUBJECTS ARE EXEMPT

Unruly Throng Had Four Prisoners and Were Attempting to Hang the Only American When Sheriff Bell Arrived on the Scene.

Hollywood, Colo., dispatch: A mob, said to have been composed of members of the Citizens' alliance vigilance committee, Sunday afternoon took a union miner from the town and endeavored to lynch him. Sheriff Bell and his deputies interfered and rescued the intended victim.

Sheriff Bell, who came from Cripple Creek, found a large crowd on the streets. He had left two of his five deputies in Victor, and with the other two started for here, where they found Bob Murphy, a man named Nichols, in the hands of a mob. Three of the intended victims declared they were British subjects. The mob tried to hang Murphy, but the sheriff arrived in time to save him.

Sheriff Bell says that the men were heavily armed, and their house was stocked with ammunition. The men, according to Sheriff Bell, said they had come here to fight and would fight. After much persuasion the sheriff induced them to leave town.

No Troops for Cripple Creek. Cripple Creek, Colo., dispatch: The deportation of Attorney Eugene Engley, Frank J. Hanz and J. C. Cole and twelve other men from this district Saturday night was planned by members of the Mine Owners' association and Citizens' alliance and was carried out under their direction. Many of the deputies who have been regularly employed in the district since the riot early in June, it is alleged, were active as leaders of the mob. City Marshal Crowder arrived from Victor while the looting of the Internment Mercantile company's store was in progress and endeavored to stop the destruction of property.

The store is completely wrecked and the entire stock, valued at several thousand dollars, destroyed or stolen. Sheriff Edwards said that he had no intention of asking the governor to send troops to the district.

OIL ON TROUBLED WATERS.

Wind Unable to Obtain a Grip on the Greasy Surface.

A few gallons of oil cast upon stormy seas moderates their violence, and prevents the waves from breaking with force. That this is the case has long been known. Theophylact, the Byzantine historian of the sixth century, propounded the question, "Why does oil calm the sea?" and answered it to the effect that, as the wind is a subtle and delicate thing, and oil is adhesive and unctuous, the wind slides over the surface of the water on which oil has been spread and cannot raise waves. The wind, in fact, slips over the water without being able to obtain a grip.

In the Gulf of Mexico there is a remarkable stretch of water about two miles long by three-quarters of a mile broad, to which the name of "oil-spot" has been given, because in the worst of storms the mariner finds still water here. Its character as a safe harbor of refuge is said to be due to an oily property of the mud stirred up by the storm.

JAPANESE BOOK OF FLOWERS.

Important Part of Education in the Land of Cherry Blossoms.

A nice little Japanese woman who came to this country recently brought with her one of the most important of the educational works upon which she was brought up—this is her book of flowers. Japanese women are being better educated now, but hereto before they have been taught little but the etiquette of the country, what was necessary for them to know concerning household duties, a little music—to strew a little on the samisen—and the arrangement of flowers. This last is important in a country where a single branch does duty for what an American would require a full bouquet, and where the cherry trees are cultivated not for their fruit, but for the beautiful blossoms. She is an ignorant dame indeed who cannot make a poem of a single branch of any flowering plant at her command. It is to illustrate for her how this is to be done that the flower book is necessary. It is a pamphlet of 52 pages with a flexible book cover, the title being on the right-hand corner.

The contents are, read as in all Japanese books, from right to left. The first cover page is red with large black letters, four pages after that are devoted to text and the rest of the book is given up to the illustrations.

Each page shows a flower in some kind of a low jar or tall vase and resting upon a graceful stand, some high and others very low, all more or less graceful in shape, delicate in outline and, as a rule, with curving lines. These repeat the curves of the flower stalk which outline half circles curves with which we are familiar in this country in the more exacting outlines of the Japanese miniature trees.

On each page is a little text, a poem appropriate for the illustration. Wall panels are in the background with their decorations of storks and the Japanese sacred mountain showing the general decorations of a room.

Gold Ball in Bird's Nest. To find your ball in a bird's nest is rather a curiosity in the way of a golf hazard. Yet this circumstance occurred the other day in a mixed foursome which was being played over North Berwick links. The caddy, in his search for the ball, found it lying in a bird's nest containing four eggs.

He died in a few minutes. Several of the younger children, who are not so sick, informed persons who were passing of their father's act, but no one would venture into the house.

CONDITION OF ILLINOIS CROPS

General Outlook is for Heaviest Yield of Corn Ever Known.

The weekly crop bulletin for the week ended Aug. 22 says: Thrashing operations, nearing completion, were hindered some by rains, but the work is well advanced, field threshing being about finished.

A considerable portion of corn has been inspired by drought and straggles, some fields injured beyond recovery, but the general outlook in the region of heaviest production continues assuring. Considerable expression has been made relative to the lateness of the crop and a statement of the average date of maturity from all the most instances is not giving compensating results. Pasture has deteriorated to a great extent, but has been revived by rains. The clover seed crop is promising, timothy seeds are yielding an average output and plums and grapes are plentiful. Apples are not assuring.

Peaches will be only fair. Watermelons are being marketed in the southern district. Potatoes are ripe and are going to market. Tomatoes, cucumbers and sugar corn are promising. Revival of Coal Mining. Indications point to a revival of the coal-mining industry in the districts north of Alton. Several new mines have been opened this summer between North Alton and Brighton and all promise good yields of the black diamond coal. James Cook has sold the old Dickerson farm in Godfrey township to J. T. Austin, and the latter will put men to work sinking for coal. Fifty years ago the farm was the center of a prosperous coal mining settlement. It is claimed that mining was abandoned before the supply of coal was exhausted.

WAGE EARNERS AT THE FAIR

Prominent Men Planning to Help
Workers See the Great Exposition.

Wage earners of America are to see the World's Fair by tens of thousands under the auspices of the National Civic Federation. A new bureau of the Federation has just been established at St. Louis upon the World's Fair grounds. Back of the movement are Grover Cleveland, David R. Francis, Andrew Carnegie, Cornelius N. Bliss and others. Plans are making to have a vast number of the wage earners of the United States see the World's Fair, the most glorious spectacle of the age and the most influential factor in the education of the American citizen.

The bureau is in charge of Miss Gertrude Beeks, secretary of the Federation's welfare department, of which Mr. H. H. Vreeland, head of the street railway system of New York city, is chairman. The bureau headquarters is in the east end of the Palace of Transportation, on the ground floor. The Exposition management is in hearty accord with this movement on the part of the Federation to induce the large manufacturers and other employers of labor to provide ways and means for the wage earners of America to visit the Exposition. President Francis is displaying personal interest in the undertaking by affording the Federation every facility for the consummation of its efforts, and in this connection he has directed Theodore Hardee, assistant to the secretary, to co-operate with Miss Beeks and Ralph M. Easley, chairman of the Federation's executive council, in every possible way.

The Exposition management has also equipped this bureau with clerical assistance and a full supply of World's Fair literature. The bureau will be used as headquarters for all wage earners coming to the Exposition under its auspices. The aim of the Federation is to make it feasible for the largest possible proportion of wage earners to visit St. Louis and see the World's Fair. It will see that they are met at the depot by responsible persons and conducted to suitable lodgings, where they will be treated fairly.

There will also be furnished, free of charge, appropriate literature indicating and the points of interest to be seen within a limit of one week, which is about the average time each party will spend here. It will also indicate the objects of special interest to various craftsmen in their particular lines, so that they may devote as much time as possible to the objects of peculiar interest to them. These and many other efforts will be made to help all wage earners to enjoy the benefits of this great Exposition comfortably and at an expense within their means.

DISPOSING OF WEALTH

Charles M. Schwab's Plan to Distribute His Fortune.

ADVOCATES MANUAL TRAINING.

Former Steel Trust President Would Establish Schools For Deafened as Well as Sound Children—Declares
It Is Harder to Spend Money in the Right Way Than Many Imagine.

Charles M. Schwab, ex-president of the United States steel trust, while spending a short vacation at his summer home in Loretto, Pa., told recently how he is going to dispose of his wealth, says the New York Herald.

"I think there is 'no essential credit in dying wealthy,'" said he, "and he was not qualified to talk about philanthropy, but was willing to tell how he expects to part with his fortune."

"You see," he went on, "it is a harder thing to spend money than most folks imagine—that is, to spend it in the right way. Industrial schools are my hobby—not only industrial schools for boys and girls of sound body, but where the crippled and deformed children may learn some useful occupation."

"I have observed during my connection with the steel industry that the tendency nowadays is for young men to have an ambition to get out of manual labor—work with the hands—and become engineers, electricians and professional men. The crying need of today is that young men be taught some useful work to do with their hands."

"I believe the time will come when industrial training will be taught in every public school. The state will take it up. I am a strong believer in the public schools. I am a Roman Catholic, but I don't believe in parochial schools."

"Down in Homestead, in the industrial school I established, pupils from the parochial schools are not admitted. Boys and girls who go to school are taught nothing but books, books, books. They don't get the opportunity to learn how to do things with their hands—that which will be of practical value to them in life."

"Our most useful men are not the ones with the most intellectual training, but those who know how to do something or some kind of work with their hands."

"Our best educated men are those who started, after going through school, to educate themselves. When we combine education with a knowledge and desire to do manual labor, we have the elements of success."

"Mrs. Schwab and I have spent hundreds of thousands at Richmond Beach, New York. Never heard of that, did you? We did that very quietly. Our object was to teach crippled and deformed boys and girls useful occupations. But the storm of public criticism got so severe that we have decided not to do anything more just now. We'll start again some day."

"Now, it's along these lines that we are going to spend our money, for manual training schools—that is, when we get some to spend. What little we have done in the philanthropic line has been so bitterly attacked that we are not going to do anything more just now. It may be a little sensitive, but public criticism hurts. It really hurts."

TRIBUTE TO OUR GIRLS.

Most Dazzling and Delightful Quantity, Says a British Visitor.

An Englishman who visited the United States writes thus in the London Mail:

"I have lately returned from a twelve months' residence in America. I visited New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and many other cities of the United States. I have had the pleasure of meeting some of the most charming women in these cities it has ever been my good fortune to be introduced to. I have found the 'American girl' better traveled, more ingenious, far less restrained—certainly not vulgar—than her English sister."

"I am not speaking against my own countrywomen, but let us be just. Surely we have in this country many, many undesirable persons of the female sex who dress vulgarly, talk loudly and are altogether what a lady should not be. This class of person is to be met in every country."

"But, sir, I affirm that the average educated American girl is a most engaging and delightful quantity."

Pleakin on Woman's Shoulders.
Surgeon at the Memorial hospital in Richmond, Va., recently grafted skin from a young pig to the shoulders of a woman who was badly burned by the explosion of a lamp several weeks ago in Richmond, says the Chicago Inter Ocean. The pig was chloroformed and sufficient cuticle removed from the softer portions of its body to cover the patient's wounds. The hospital physicians, who refused to give the woman's name, say the operation promises to be entirely successful, although the woman may be obliged to eschew wearing décolleté gowns.

The idea of the club is to refrain from talking for one hour. The member who forgets himself and speaks is fined a dollar.

Morris stood a few steps back of Jessie and devoured her with his eyes. He noted the softness of her hair, the rounded curve of her neck, and as one spell-bound watched her deft fingers as they glided over the surface of the sketch book.

With a little sigh of disappointment Jessie dropped the folio on her lap. Not in months had she drawn with less skill. What could be the matter? She felt oppressed and under some malign influence. Instinctively she turned and looked squarely into the ardent eyes and eager face of Arthur Morris. With an involuntary cry of surprise, fear and vexation, she sprang to her feet, the sketch book falling to the floor.

"Why, Miss Carden!" exclaimed Morris, with stimulated astonishment. "Really, this is an unexpected pleasure. I am delighted to meet you. Permit me—" And he picked up the sketch book, bowed, and extended his hand.

In these brief seconds Jessie had regained her self-possession. "You have surprised me, Mr. Morris," she said quietly, ignoring his proffered hand. "You must be aware that this is not a public reception room. We can talk without disturbing any one in the lobby."

A minute later they were in the comparatively deserted outer hall. "You have no right to follow me here or to annoy me by your attentions," said Jessie Carden, confronting him with flashing eyes. He fumbled nervously at his watch chain. "It was purely accidental, I assure you," he stammered.

"Your arrival was announced in the Berlin papers," said Jessie, coldly. "I learned this morning that you had left your servants, and realized that an interview with you was inevitable, but I did not think you would presume to intrude your presence during my hours. You take an unfair advantage of an accidental acquaintance. That acquaintance was terminated last summer by your acts and conduct, and I have no desire to renew it. You have had the advantage of the opportunities of a gentleman, and must respect my wishes."

She turned and entered the gallery. Morris stood as if riveted to the spot—dazed, ashen-faced and speechless. Obeying a wild impulse, he rushed after her, but halted at the door. With a smothered cry he retraced his steps, and halting his coachman, drove through Unter der Linden.

For the second time in his life the fact had been thrust upon him that there were ambitions beyond the reach of his money. The thought envenomed him. Again he made a vow that Jessie Carden should be his. His honey lips parted in a sullen smile as he pictured her surrender. The longer it was delayed the sweeter would be his triumph.

The morning train for Paris had Arthur Morris for a passenger. It was months before he returned to New York to become a partner in the firm of Randolph Morris & Company.

May with them in the metropolis, and as a guest in Hingham during the summer. General Carden advised her to accept the invitation, but Jessie had with her, and would not listen to his arguments.

"I have changed my mind about this," she said. "I shall be in Hingham in the evening. I have decided to go to New York for a few weeks at least. I believe I can sell my pictures and paintings there, and—well, I think it best to go."

"You are a wise little girl, Jessie," said General Carden. "I shall be in New York nearly as much as in Boston, and you will be much happier there."

A week later Jessie was fondly greeted by her aunt. Thomas Bishop belonged to an old New York family, and was proud to introduce his beautiful niece to the exclusive society circles in which the Bishops had been welcomed.

It was at the Cregier reception that she again met Arthur Morris. For a moment Morris was unable to speak, and gazed at her blankly, first at Jessie and then at Mrs. Cregier.

"Really—why, really—why—why—don't you know, Mrs. Cregier, Miss Carden and I have met before!" he exclaimed. "In fact—why, in fact we are old acquaintances; are we not, Miss Carden?"

"I recall having met Mr. Morris," said Jessie, addressing her hostess. "It was a trying moment for me, Miss Carden. Before her stood the man she hated. Why had fate cast him as a reptile ever crawling across her path? She longed to crush the serpent's head with her tiny heel, yet she knew that the snake had cunning; she knew that her father was caught in his coils. Never until that moment did she realize the damning power of money, or sound the depths of a woman's hatred."

"May I say something to you, Miss Carden?" ventured Morris. "We wished to talk to you for a long time, or rather to write something, but—let's get out of this crush so I can explain myself."

"I do not care to listen to you, sir," "I beg of you, hear me for a moment!" pleaded Morris, as Jessie turned haughtily from him.

"Since you seem determined to create a scene in which I am to be implicated, I prefer the least conspicuous disgrace of listening to you," she said, bitterly. "Here is a quiet corner. What have you to say to me, sir?"

"I want to apologize for what I did in Berlin, or rather for coming to Berlin," he began. "I was wrong and I beg your pardon."

"That is not the offence for which you should crave forgiveness," said Jessie Carden. "Scorn was in her voice and a warning flash in her eyes."

"Your intrusion in Berlin was a great affront which preceded it, and one of which no gentleman would be guilty. If you have nothing new to say, leave me, sir!"

"I have! I have!" cried Morris, cowering before her gaze. "Pray be seated, Miss Carden, and—give me a chance!"

"I should not," she said coldly. "I know the time you mean, Miss Carden." His face flushed a deeper red, and he looked at her with appealing eyes. "You mean that affair at the club?"

"I was intoxicated," said Jessie Carden. "It's a hard word, but I'm going to be honest and throw myself on your mercy. I am very, very sorry. I am, Miss Carden, and I want to be your friend."

She longed to spurn his prayers and to ask him to take back the white roses from above her father's head, and remove the stain of disgrace. She realized that the man who had crushed her father was now in her power. She should not forgive him, she said. "Which only a woman can know."

It wounded and tortured her pride to think that Morris dared aspire to her love, she thought. She was about to make against the account of a future revenge, and turned to him with a softer light in her eyes. "I should not forgive you," she said. "When a man who pretends to your position so far forgets himself, he should first obtain his own pardon."

He should then seek to redress the wrongs caused by his offense. "Are you prepared to do that, Mr. Morris?" "I don't exactly understand what you mean," said Jessie Carden.

"I will make myself plain," said Jessie. "You attempted to murder a young man who resented your intrusion in a public place, and in the process you were injured. For years you have had a standing reward for the arrest of this innocent man. Are you willing to take steps to absolve him?"

John Burt has been the greater victim of your conduct." "But my dear Miss Carden, I haven't the slightest notion of where he is," he said. "I don't know," said Morris with a puzzled expression. "Pon my word, I don't. We had a beautiful row in which I got shot, and all the fellows who were with me say I started it, and that the pistol went off in my own hand. I assure you that I don't remember a thing about it."

The governor offered the reward. I can get him to withdraw it, and put a notice in the papers promising that no prosecution shall be made. I'll do as you thing you say, Miss Carden."

"Publicly announce the withdrawal of the reward and state that he will not be prosecuted," said Jessie, as if the matter was merely one of abstract justice. "And if you are confident that I shall not again be embarrassed by your indiscretions I will try to overlook the past."

"You are very good," he exclaimed, enthusiastically. "It's more than I deserve, but you will not regret it, Miss Carden. My governor and yours are mixed up in business, and it's a beastly shame, don't you know, that we should be at odds. By the way, I'm awfully sorry about the general's financial troubles. Hope he pulls out of them all right, and thank he will."

"I'm trying now to make a deal which will help him out. And you're not angry with me now, are you, Miss Carden? Let's shake hands and call it square!"

Morris extended a clumsy hand, and Jessie, with an inward shudder, permitted him to clasp her's for a moment.

The summer season was at hand, and Jessie was looking forward with pleasure to a sojourn in Hingham. Arthur Morris had been devoted in his attentions, and Jessie felt a thrilling wickedness at the tacit encouragement she had given him.

NOT WHAT HE WENT FOR.

Irishman Had Reasoned Well, But He Was Wrong.

A farmer, accompanied by several of his hired men, went into the woods one morning in the fall of the year to cut down some trees. When about to begin work it was discovered that the cant hook had been left behind. Turning to one of the men, an Irishman not very long over, the farmer instructed him to drive back to the farm for the missing tool. The Irishman did not know what a cant hook looked like, but was averse to exposing his ignorance, so drove off on his errand, trusting to find some one at the farm who would enlighten him.

At the barn, however, there was no one to help him out of his dilemma. Casting his eyes about the place for the thing which would be most likely to serve the purpose of a "cant hook," he saw a moolay cow with never a sign of a horn upon its head, and concluded it was that he had been sent for. Proceeding to a rope, he fastened the cow to the rear end of his vehicle and exultantly drove back to the woods.

"What in Sam Hill have you there?" shouted the farmer on seeing his messenger and the cow. "I sent you for a cant hook to use in moving the logs; what have you brought that cow for?"

"Be jabers, boss, divil another thing could I see around the barn that can't hook but this!"—Star of Hope.

THE FRAME'S THE THING.

Picture But of Secondary Importance.

Mortimer Menpes, the author of the entertaining biography of Whistler that recently appeared, was talking about the frame's importance to a picture.

"This importance," he said, "no one but a frame maker can exaggerate, and even he cannot exaggerate it very much. There was a good deal of truth in the remark that my frame maker made to me at one of our last exhibitions."

"He had done me the honor to come to see my picture, and as he stood before it, I said, 'What do you think of it?'"

"Think of it?" he cried, enthusiastically. "Why, sir, it's perfect—perfect! 'Blah,' he went on, 'has got one just like it.'"

"What he said," puzzled, "Blah has a picture like this?"

"Oh," said Horne, "I wasn't talking about the picture. I was talking about the frame. Trust me, sir, the frame is the important thing. It's the frames that sell 'em, every time."

Shouting Their Praises.
Friday, Miss. August 25 (Special).—Cured of Bladder and Kidney Trouble after 25 years of suffering. Rev. H. H. Hatch, of this place, is turning to public the good news and shouting the praises of the remedy that cured him—Dodd's Kidney Pills. Rev. Mr. Hatch says:

"I have been suffering from Bladder and Kidney Trouble for 25 years and I have tried everything that people said would do me good. But nothing did me any good except Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"I haven't felt a pain since I took Dodd's Kidney Pills. They gave me a new lease of life. I feel like a new man altogether. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best I ever had."

All Urinary and Bladder Troubles cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. The natural way to cure them is to cure the kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure diseased kidneys and restore the system to its normal state. They always cure Backache and they are the only remedy that ever cured Bright's Disease.

Poor Policy.
"A liberal policy pays best," said Mayor Stott of Atlantic City. "The government and the townspeople of this resort are liberal and I am not—or partly why—Atlantic City has so well succeeded."

"We had a grocer here once who was not liberal. He did not get on. He soon had to shut up shop. His methods did not suit a place like this. Here is an example of that grocer's way of doing business."

"A millionaire cottager called on him one morning, and said, half amused and half angry: 'You have charged me on this bill, sir, with things I never got. What do you mean by such items as one handful of raisins, three lumps of cheese, one pocketful of almonds, two pieces of candy and three mouthfuls of sugar?'"

"I mean, sir," said the grocer, "that they who bring their boys with them when they do their marketing, must pay for all they get."

An Omen.
Gen. F. S. Dodge sat in the lobby of the Grand hotel of New York. "As a rule," he said, "I don't believe in omens. Once at a wedding, though, I heard a sentence that I considered ominous indeed—a sentence pregnant with prophetic meaning."

"This sentence, just before the ceremony began, was directed in a stern voice by the officiating clergyman to the mother of the bride. It was: 'Step a little farther back, madam.'"

AS EASY
Needs Only a Little Thinking.
The food of childhood often decides whether one is to grow up well nourished and healthy or weak and sickly from improper food.

It is just as easy to be one as the other provided we get a proper start. A wise physician like the Denver Doctor who knew about food, can accomplish wonders provided the patient is willing to help and will eat only proper food.

Speaking of this case the Mother said her little four year old boy was suffering from a peculiar derangement of the stomach, liver and kidneys and his feet became so swollen he couldn't take a step. "We called a Doctor and said at once we must be very careful as to his diet as improper food was the only cause of his sickness. Sugar especially, he forbade."

Hamilton's Grandson.
A grandson of Alexander Hamilton lives in Elk Neck, Md., keeping a country store and acting as postmaster. ## BACKACHE AND DIZZINESS

Most of the Ailments Peculiar to the Female Sex are Due to Catarrh of the Pelvic Organs.

MRS. M. BRICKNER.

99 Eleventh Street, Milwaukee, Wis.
"A short time ago I found my condition very serious, I had headaches, pains in the back, and frequent dizzy spells which grew worse every month. I tried two remedies before Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and was discouraged when I took the first dose, but my courage soon returned. In less than two months my health was restored."—Mrs. M. Brickner.

The reason of so many failures to cure cases similar to the above is the fact that diseases peculiar to the female sex are not commonly recognized as being caused by catarrh. Catarrh of one organ is exactly the same as catarrh of any other organ. What will cure catarrh of the head will also cure catarrh of the pelvic organs. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures the catarrh.

If you have catarrh write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis. Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

MRS. FULLER SUDDENLY CALLED

Heart Disease Claims Wife of Chief Justice of Supreme Court.
Mrs. Mary E. Fuller, wife of Melville W. Fuller, chief justice of the supreme court of the United States, died unexpectedly while seated on the piazza of "Mainstay," her summer home at Sorrento, Me. While apparently in good health, Mrs. Fuller was stricken with heart disease and expired almost before her daughters, who sat near her, could reach her.

Mrs. Fuller was born in Burlington, Iowa, Aug. 10, 1848, her parents being William E. and Jane Brown Coolbaugh, who later moved to Chicago, where Mrs. Fuller passed much of her life. In 1880 she married Melville W. Fuller, who in 1888 was appointed chief justice by President Cleveland.

WAR AS CAUSE OF INSANITY.

Another Danger That Threatens Soldiers in Modern War.
Dr. Paul Jacoby, physician in chief to the provincial asylum of Orel, Russia, urges the necessity of a special army medical service for insanity, to which privation, fatigue, the nervous tensions caused by present danger, the frequent mental shocks, alcoholism and wounds predispose the soldier, and especially in remote campaigns where there are no local asylums like that in which Russia is now engaged. Dr. Jacoby served in the Franco-Prussian war and was then impressed with the great number of cases of mental disorder which came under his attention, and his further researches have shown that the malady is common in all wars and demands specialized attention. He compares the sinking of warships by mines and torpedoes to earthquakes and volcanic eruptions, which are known to produce mental disorders and thinks that these new forms of shock will tend to produce new forms of neurasthenia and insanity.

PRESIDENT NORD IS BLAMED.

Hayti's Chief Executive Responsible for Recent Troubles.
The disorder which prevails in Port au Prince, Hayti, and the attacks upon Syrian merchants are attributed to the hostile attitude of President Nord toward all foreigners. In a recent address he threatened a "repetition of 1804," when all foreigners were massacred. Nord is an ex-slave, 57 years old. He is ignorant, childish and vindictive and keeps his people constantly stirred up against the whites.

WANTS BEST RAILWAY TALENT.

President Diaz Said to Have Offered High Posts to Americans.
Obliging current in the financial district has it that President Diaz of Mexico is attempting to induce prominent American railroad men to cast their lot with the Vera Cruz and other railway lines in which the Mexican government is interested. Current rumor mentions the names of some high-priced operating and traffic officers who have been offered large salaries to go to Mexico. President Diaz has taken an active interest in the management of the Vera Cruz road and has informed American railroad men that he purposes to have the road completed as soon as possible and intends to obtain the best railroad skill and talent he can find available in the United States to help him operate the property.

TORTURING PAIN.

Half This Man's Sufferings Would Have Killed Many a Person, But Doan's Cured Him.

A. C. Sprague, stock dealer, of Normal, Ill., writes: "For two whole years I was doing nothing but buying medicines to cure my kidneys. I do not think that any man ever suffered as I did and lived. The pain in my back was so bad that I could not sleep at night. I could not ride a horse, and sometimes was unable even to ride in a car. My condition was critical when I sent for Doan's Kidney Pills. I used three boxes and they cured me. Now I can go anywhere and do as much as anybody. I sleep well and feel no discomfort at all."

Stylish Women Not Modest.

According to a leading dreamaker of Boston the once sensational "peek-a-boo waist" must give place in transparency to a lace novelty which is now much favored by stylish women in eastern cities. Says this modiste: "Really, some of the work I am obliged to do out makes me feel like a promoter of immorality. People in my line of business are not easily shocked but, upon my word, at times my sense of modesty has nearly compelled me to offer patrons the shelter of an opera cape. My attempts at toning down their ideals have met with ridicule or naughty protest, and some of them have even left my establishment in anger because of my protests."

NORTHWEST KANSAS!

Phillips County is located between the Solomon and Republican, two of the best rivers in the State. Its network of hills, smooth open prairies, wide open valleys, numerous streams, timbered cross streams, and rivers combined together make it a surprisingly beautiful country and naturally promote and precipitate seasonable local rains protecting it from drought. It has a deep loam soil and is one of the best ranch and sugar crop sections west of the Missouri river for orchards, corn, alfalfa, hops, cattle and horses. Three railroads through country. It will pay you to investigate my $10 to $200 bargains in desirable ranches and farms. Write to J. F. MOHRSE, Phillipsburg, Kan.

Sterilized Milk.

As many as 500 families are now supplied with sterilized milk by the Liverpool (Eng.) corporation, the weekly consumption being 1,200 gallons. So well has the undertaking succeeded that the health committee now proposes to develop it by starting a municipal dairy farm and keeping its own cows. The municipal supply of sterilized milk has also been adopted at St. Helena and Batavia.

FEUDS OF SOCIETY WOMEN.

New York Leaders of Fashion Hold Their Grudges Long.
A leader of New York Society said recently: "It is almost impossible to give a large dinner any more. There are too many feuds and quarrels and women who hate each other are the cause of too much embarrassment to a hostess. Of course, they try to gloss their enmity for the time, but the result is worse than open warfare. At one dinner a cabinet officer sat between two great women of fashion. He talked to one and then to the other, and tried to draw them into a three-cornered conversation. The women obstinately refused to exchange a word, and finally the man—and he was supposed to be a diplomat—introduced them as acquaintances. They had known each other for twenty years, had been friends for ten and loathed each other the other ten."

Bulow Family is Large.

There will shortly be a great gathering of the Bulow family in Berlin. The chief of the clan is chancellor of the German empire, and there are no fewer than eighty other persons of his house and name who hold office under the state. One of them, indeed, is to be found in every government department from the foreign office down to the police. The Alts-Chapelle and, what is more, they are all of one blood, and claim the right to bear the arms of Bern. When all the Bulows connected with the government service come up to Berlin with their wives and families there will be 470 of them. The whole group is then to be photographed.

Ruin Parlor for Convalescents.

Robert H. McCurdy, president of a life insurance company, is having plans drawn for a mansion in New York with a sun parlor on the roof. The size of this room will be 5,519 feet, and it will be constructed, sides and top, of plate glass. The floor being of wood. It is Mr. McCurdy's intention to use the sun parlor during periods of convalescence among members of his family. Sun parlors in dwellings of houses are unusual, but no doubt Mr. McCurdy's idea will be adopted by others, as it is well known that physicians always recommend plenty of sun during convalescence.

Mrs. Rosa Adams, niece of the late General Roger Hanson, C. S. A., wants every woman to know of the wonders accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot tell you with pen and ink what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me, suffering from the ill peculiar to the sex, extreme lassitude and that all gone feeling. I would rise from my bed in the morning feeling more tired than when I went to bed, but before I had used two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began to feel the buoyancy of my younger days returning, because regular, could do more work and not feel tired than I had ever been able to do before, so I continued to use it until I was restored to perfect health. It is indeed a boon to sick women and I heartily recommend it. Yours very truly, MRS. ROSA ADAMS, 819 12th St., Louisville, Ky."

Any women who are troubled with irregular or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or necrosis of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, general debility, and nervous prostration, should know there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No other medicine for women has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of female cures.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am very glad to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for womb and ovarian difficulties. I have been a sufferer for years. It was the only medicine which was at all beneficial, and within a week after I started to use it, there was a great change in my feelings and looks. I used it for a little over three months, and at the end of that time I suffered no pain in the menstrual period, nor was I troubled with those distressing pains which compelled me to go to bed, and I have not had a headache since. This is nearly a year ago. I always keep a bottle on hand, and take a few doses every week, for I find that it tones up the system and keeps me feeling strong, and I never have that tired out feeling any more."

I certainly think that every woman ought to try this great medicine, for it would prove its worth. Yours very truly, MISS ELIZABETH DANFORTH, 308 De Soto St., Memphis, Tenn."

The members of the Ladies' band are naturally handsome and need no artificial adornments to impress one with the fact, but in their new, natty uniforms of cadet gray, black trimmings and military caps of same color, the ladies are stunning. The ladies are noted for their beauty and ability to render first-class music on brass and reed instruments.

Persons who hang about the C. & N. W. Railway station should be careful and keep well back from the main tracks when through trains are passing. The suction produced by one of the fast trains passing a station is very dangerous. At Woodstock the other day a person named Conroy was standing on the platform when a special composed of Pullmans passed. He was drawn onto the track and badly injured.

The Waupun Sun, speaking of the political outlook in Lake county, says: "The candidates for the offices to be filled are, Circuit Clerk, L. O. Brockway, James M. Woodman, Coroner, J. L. Taylor, States Attorney, L. P. Hanna, E. J. Heydecker, P. L. Parsons, Arthur Buckley, County Surveyor, James Anderson, Jr. The race contest is in the fight for the office of states attorney. All of the candidates are well known and each has an unusual element of strength. All four candidates reside in this city and a lively good-natured scrap for Waupun's delegates is on in earnest."

TOURISTS VIEW OF RUSSIA.

Americans Not Particularly Welcome There These Days.

Some interesting observations on Russia are furnished by W. R. McAlpine of San Francisco, who recently spent some time in that country and was in Washington, by a reporter of the New York Post.

"It was difficult to realize from the behavior of the Russian people that any war is being carried on," he said. "Now and then I conversed about it with some Russian civilians, and invariably they used these words: 'We haven't begun to fight yet.' This is indeed the truth. Russia has not started in, and these initial successes of the Japanese make no sort of impression on the sturdy and fearless subjects of the czar, who have no sense of danger and are confident of defeat. How such a giant as Russia can be subdued is more than anybody who goes through the empire and sees its millions of population and its unlimited resources can understand."

"Americans are in no great favor over there, and, though I was treated politely, I could see that a German was greatly preferred to an Englishman or a Yankee. I had an experience right on the threshold of the country which may serve as a warning to other Americans. I carried not only my passport, but the strongest credentials that could be presented by a stranger visiting Russia. For the two ladies with me I had no individual papers, having been told that these would not be necessary, and yet when I got to the little Russian town on the frontier because of this lack my journey was arrested, and I had to go back to a German city a hundred miles away and secure through the American consul the necessary papers, which required negotiation through Berlin and held me up for three days, besides putting me to a lot of expense."

The desire of knowledge, like the thirst of riches, increases ever with the acquisition of it.—Stearns.
