

THEY ALL DINED TOGETHER

Three Couple Celebrate Thirty-fifth Wedding Anniversary.

Last Friday was the thirty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hawley, Mr. and Mrs. Delos Church, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Hawley who formed a triple wedding party at that time and were married on the old George Waterman farm southwest of town. The men were cousins and each year the six have met to dine together on their anniversary. This year the dinner was given at the Church home and in the evening Mr. C. Hawley gave a surprise party for his wife at their home on Hough street where 35 people mostly relatives met and made the time very lively with games, cards and supper.

HAD LARGE ATTENDANCE.

Barrington Hall Was Crowded With Masqueraders Wednesday Evening.

A crowd large enough to overflow Barrington hall responded to the invitation of Autumn Leaf Rebeccah Lodge, No. 628 to attend their dance Wednesday evening. The majority came costumed and masked, but all spectators seemed to enjoy the fun, too. All the familiar disguises were there and several new make-ups, namely two automobile girls in regulation coats, boots and goggles, Miss E. Wagner and M. Marehek, and the "oddish twins," two young ladies from Elgin, guests at the C. Nagata home. Mr. and Mrs. James McKay received prizes for the best waltzers, according to the idea of the judges, Miss M. Wagner for the prettiest gown, that of a Colonial lady and Otto Zimmerman as a "palodine" soldier. Hills orchestra played and the ladies of the lodge managed a lunch counter in a side room. The lodge must have an increased bank account.

Do Not Gossip.

The Waukegan papers of last Saturday aired a Barrington scandal which went through the Lake county courts. The facts are all true and the conditions deplorable. And there are current more gossip remarks at present than in a long time. Why don't people try to head off these tales even if true, instead of spreading them farther into every home? The greater the activity of a family in church work, the greater the satisfaction apparent when a member of that family falls into sin, small or great. Then do tongues wag with pleasure in the disgrace. What has become of the "golden rule"? Haven't the majority of families their gossamer skeletons without forever opening the Skeleton Closet of some one else's family? A multitude of prayers are offered in this village every week "for grace" and "lead us not into temptation." The tongues repeating them seem to forget that to gossip, to scatter scandal, to be scornful of others' sins, is a temptation and a dreadful one. Let each housewife who runs with a shawl over her head to the neighbors "to bring a bone and take a bone" remember that she is really a wicked woman no matter how loud or often she prays. Let every man idling in the stores, livery stables and saloons rise above the troubles of his friends and find larger subjects of interest on which to think and talk.

Had a Good Time

Mrs. M. Jukes and Miss Jukes received the Woman's club, gentlemen and lady guests at Mrs. C. Kendall's Thursday evening. The event was the most amusing given by the club this year and the contest games played particularly laughable and varied. A half dozen prizes in beautiful tissue paper work forming useful articles made by Miss Jukes herself were presented and a very fine and generous luncheon served. There will be no meeting on Feb. 7th but on the 14th Mrs. G. Arps will keep open house for the club from 3 to 12, with a welcome for all ladies of the club, and their gentlemen. Come at any hour you can.

The Coming Question.

The Anti Saloon League Local Option Bill was up for consideration last Sunday in over 2,500 Protestant churches in the state of Illinois.

All temperance people of all churches and all parties are urged to do what they can for the advancement of public sentiment in favor of the Anti Saloon League Local Option Bill which is now before the people of Illinois.

This Bill does not close a single saloon, but gives the people of the different wards, precincts, townships and counties the opportunity of saying whether or not there shall be any saloons licensed in their respective wards, precincts, townships or counties.

The bill is in perfect harmony with two long established principles of the American government, namely:

1. It places the decision in the hands of the people themselves.

2. It provides for representation where there is taxation. The people of Barrington live in the Seventh Congressional District and all citizens who are interested in the advancement of the temperance cause are asked to write to those who represent us at Springfield, urging them to vote for the Anti Saloon League Local Option Bill. Those who represent us at Springfield are Senator John R. Humphrey, and representatives Louis J. Peterson, Fred R. Ross and Walter A. Lutz.

Now is the time to write, let your representatives know that you desire the right of voting on this the greatest question before the people of Illinois.

Signed,
REV. F. N. LAPHAM

LAKE COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY

To Gather and Preserve All Relics and Records of Historical Value. Organized June 20, 1906. The Society

Already Has Many Articles of Historic Worth.

Add Yours to its Collection.

Barrington and vicinity are so replete with interesting landmarks of early days and early residents who were well known that the following article will interest people aound here and no doubt many will be anxious to join the association.

There are many families who have articles preserved that they would like to have honored with a place in the records of the society. People are urged to glean all the information possible on local history of those older residents who are fast passing away, that points of interest may not be lost.

The society was started by the WAUKEGON DAILY SUN on June 11, 1906. The idea was taken up by LIBERTYVILLE INDEPENDENT and the WAUKESHA GAZETTE. It met with instant public favor and membership blanks were hurried into the different offices.

On June 29 a meeting was held in the public library at which Hon. Chas. A. Partridge acted as chairman. The society was organized at this time. The officers elected who are now at the head of the society were William Hollowell, president; Chas. A. Partridge, vice president; Ed. P. DeWolf, worth. Among them are books and a fine collection of old views in the country and old inhabitants, now long dead. The collection was the property of H. M., agrals and was donated by him to the society.

The society is also working to obtain possession of a collection of old Indian relics that was in the possession of a Mr. Hains, now dead. If obtained it will be a big increase to its possessions. In the membership of the society are many of the prominent men and women of Waukegan and of the county and new ones are coming in.

One of the chief efforts of the society is to secure a complete history of the county and this it is slowly obtaining. To help in securing this history, pamphlets are being prepared which will be mailed to all parts of the county. In this pamphlet will be outlined a plan in which prizes will be offered to the school children of the county for essays on the certain school district in which they attend school.

In this way it is believed that a complete history of the county can be obtained.

Another plan of the society is to have a "Home Coming Week" each year during which time old residents who have moved away will visit their old home and appropriate celebration. It is thought that the time will be the week during which "Waukegan Day" is held. To further the plan invitations will be sent to all old residents whose addresses can be learned and the county people will be invited into Waukegan also.

The society will gratefully appreciate donations to its library and museum and no book, manuscript, map or other object having historical interest is too small to be worthy of presentation and to add to value to the society's collection.

Why?

TO THE EDITOR:— Why has not our school a telephone? The different rooms could pay for it each week and would be a benefit to teachers as well as scholars.

If a piano was purchased for scholars why is it not used like in other schools, placed on main floor, each room at sound of the noon bell march out of the room two by two until met in center of hallway by opposite room and march four abreast down the stairs with the rhythm of a march played by one of our talented scholars until all have left the school building, a pleasant sight to witness.

Why are the boys of the school compelled to huddle up like cattle in the basement at recess crowding and pushing each other for space in place of enjoying the fresh air clearing the cob webs of their brain.

GAVE GOOD ENTERTAINMENT

The Barrington Choral Union's Entertainment Was a Success.

The Choral Union of Barrington organized here in early December by Prof. Milton Harris of Kimball hall, Chicago, made its first public appearance at a concert Monday evening in the Baptist church where an audience of representative people filled the assembly room. Many of the good vocalists of the village are members of this organization and they have profited in voice culture and enjoyed their rehearsals from a social standpoint, while they have offered to our musically inclined people, a concert in many respects good.

The first part of the program was filled with chorus numbers and solo singing by Mr. Grosser, baritone, of Chicago and Miss Sadie Blocks, soprano, of Barrington. In the chorus work very praiseworthy results have been reached by these singers in a few weeks training and their first effort gives promise of future splendid singing. Prof. Harris feels justly proud of the volume of true tone developed and the time was very fair for amateur chorists, only a few slight interruptions having been detected. The Union has well learned to move gracefully as a body and shows almost military discipline in the rising and resuming seats. The nature of the selections were of a classical order, not pleasing to some of little or no musical education, but who while preferring music of a lighter vein with more melody, still appreciate the culture of others who can sing and play difficult selections with ease.

Mr. Grosser has a powerful voice that is distinct, and his word enunciation is fine. He sings without mannerisms taking all tones without visible effort. He pleased his listeners and was recalled.

Miss Sadie Blocks, a miss of eighteen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Blocks, is rapidly developing a good soprano singer whose voice is gaining strength without sacrificing any of its natural sweetness. Her low tones are often beautiful and her high notes seem perfect each time she appears and when her girlish voice loses some of its shrillness she will be a singer known abroad as well as at home. Her abilities are numerous, she is a fine violinist, a good pianist, plays a star drum, and a successful stenographer and book-keeper holding paying positions in town. Her charms of face and figure also lend to her popularity.

Miss Clara Wood, an accompanist from Chicago, is an artist in her work. Not once did she confuse the singers nor anticipate them a second in sounding the notes, while all her renditions were in sympathy with the nature of the selections.

After an intermission for conversation, Longfellow's poem "The Wreck of the Hesperus" was sung to music by Anderson. This was a difficult score with solo, duet and concert singing and given in a manner to surprise people at the training received in less than two months. It was not too long to lose interest.

Prof. Harris contemplates a permanent Choral Union here if he can secure patronage of 50 students, of which number he now has thirty one who are: Mayores—Misses S. Blocks, Burrows, Freeman, Pomeroy, Banks, E. Kampert, N. Plagge and Collen. Altos—Misses Kingsley, V. Lines, V. Ullich, Gottschalk, Lombard, Sodi, M. Plagge, L. Boehmer and L. Brandt. Tenors—J. Rieke, F. Grabenkov, V. Hawley, E. Powers, Drs. Shearer and Simmons. Basses—Dr. Dielberich, C. Plagge, S. B. C. Page, W. Grunau, W. Cannon, W. Abbott and H. Gottschalk. Dr. Simmons is the local manager.
