the Year.

The board of village trustees met Monday evening, all being present. Clerk Kirby read the minutes of the previous meeting when were approved. The treasurer reported the and the treasurer's annual report were both read, and upon motion, approved. The report, which is a detailed page in this issue, shows that the amount paid in taxes for the year ending in the first of May, last year, the amounts received since that time and from whence received, and the amount paid in taxes for the year ending in the time when the expenses expended. Treasurer Waterman also gave a verbiage report of the condition of the special funds, which will be the income of $1,000. This is due, he explained, to the fact that many people have given to the church, either the first, second or shortly after, while cutting off the interest, while the funds will out. The treasurer reported that in the ten years this discrepancy has grown to the amount above stated. It will be proposed for the board to appropriate this amount for the payment of interest on the same before the year is over.

The following bills against the village were read by the clerk and ordered paid: J. F. Castle, street labor, $10.00; J. H. Schaefer, street load, $10.00; J. H. Schaefer, street labor, $10.00; Mrs. Elizabeth Kirby, cement, $1.00; Mrs. Kirby, cement, 13.02; Lagschaefer & Haeger, sewer pipe, $6.00; H. F. Castle, street load, $10.00; J. H. ## MOTHERS DAY.

A New Holiday Which Should, and is Being Observed Throughout the Land.

Through the instrumentality of Miss Mary Thompson, of Barrington, Pennsylvania, last year the "Mother's Day" was observed or set apart as Mother's Day and was held in many cities and towns and involved six millions of persons throughout the United States celebrated the festival on the second Sunday in May this year. This year, I will say, will be observed throughout the land and will be a universal festive day for all forms of worship.

The first Sunday occurring in favor of the hypothesis or rather hypothesis and there is little doubt that his subjects were, at least part, of the time, under hypnotic control; calls attention to the fact that there are people here who believe that hypnotism is a fake, although it has long ago been recognized as a scientific and useful method of treatment in minor operations of surgery which have been performed in persons in whom there was no hypnotic suggestion.

Samuel S. Kastner, representative of the 10th Army of the Republic, the issues following his order, G. A. Kastner, who knows better than the members of our order, the suffering and sacrifice made by the mothers of '60 and '61, who of us can forget the scenes of carnage in the battle of Gettysburg in memory of the sacrifice for which we fought. It is safe to declare that without the support of the mothers of '60 and '61, the Union, we never could have succeeded. So, let us again designate the second Sunday in May as "Mother's Day," and let us all do our best to observe it in full custom inaugurated by my predecessor, in wearing in the lapel of our coat or jacket a white carnation or white flower in honor of our devoted Mothers.

MISISONARY CONGRESS.

The Culminating Meeting of the National Missionary Campaign of the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

The first national missionary congress is being held today in the Auditorium, Chicago, Ill., as the culminating point of the Laymen's missionary movement. The session began Tuesday and will close tomorrow, J. T. Plaeger, this place, Tuesday evening.

The Laymen's Missionary Movement is being conducted by the United Evangelical Society, Rev. E. F. Fausset is also attending the meeting.

YEAR'S BRANCH.

Following from last week's Wauconda Leader will press interesting reading in later years if pasted where it can be read.

As a bit of weather history, let us remember that after a winter, the steadiest in years, since December, 1888, we have had a number of more severe weather than for a number of winters. March came in and remained more like summer, and the weather was more like spring, and the snow or rain or snow during the month, March was found in good winter condition, and the weather was more like the following month.

"Many persons refuse to be hypnotized because they are afraid it will 'weaken their strength.' It is entirely natural for the human mind to be afraid of being hypnotized. The fear of being hypnotized is of itself evidence that a person is of weak mind.

"On the contrary, the more will power a person has, the more ready he can be hypnotized, for these are certain conditions involving the exercise of power, and the power of part-for instance, concentration of the attention—that must be fulfilled before the hypnotic state can be attained. For this reason, the more will power a person has, the more readily, the mentally defective, the insane are very hard to hypnotize.

Persons of hypnotic power, however, from a weakly that hypnotism need not be physical. Remember, though, that the ordinary physician has not been trained to practice hypnotism unless he has had a physiological as well as a psychological training. Hypnotism must be physiological as well as a physical. For this reason, only certain persons can be hypnotized, as you can see, you have to be a person of a certain physical and mental condition to be hypnotized or the training show man."

HYPNOTISM, WHAT IS IT?

An Explanation of a Science

Which Should Be More Generally Understood.

The first Sunday occurring in favor of the hypothesis or rather hypothesis and there is little doubt that his subjects were, at least part, of the time, under hypnotic control; calls attention to the fact that there are people here who believe that hypnotism is a fake, although it has long ago been recognized as a scientific and useful method of treatment in minor operations of surgery which have been performed in persons in whom there was no hypnotic suggestion.

In several countries—especially France, Germany and Sweden—"hypnotism" has been an established practice in medicine for a long time.

In the United States this is not yet as the case, though hypnotism is used, either as a suggestion or as a suggestion and a suggestion has been recognized as a minor operation of surgery which have been performed in persons in whom there was no hypnotic suggestion.

Samuel S. Kastner, representative

REACHED HANDS OF MOTHER

Postal Clerk's Deduction Resulted in Delivering Mail Just When It Belonged.

The post office at New York city once received a letter addressed simply: "To my Mother."

The letter came from Ireland, but there were no names on it. In New York city who have sons in Ireland, the letter was opened and the addresser had not much hope of finding the right one. However, the letter was opened and delivered to the "declassifying department." Now it so happened that on the very day of its arrival, a letter was sent to the post office in the general delivery window and said: "Have a letter from me by?"

The post office had a letter of mail required for such an inquiry should come in at that time. It was the classifying department that had a letter and not a coincidence. It was quite possible that such a person might be the author of a sonnet.

He took the letter, observed the post office stamp and addressed the letter to her "Katy" wife. She gave the name of the place with which the letter was sent and the post office then was asked and the answers noted. Then the clerk gave the woman an envelope and told her to go in favor of giving the government the right to levy such a tax in time of war.

President Taft, speaking at the banquet held in the chamber of commerce, and the Manufacturers' Association, spoke of Niagara Falls as an emblem of our country's great industrial and bridge builders, and the marines took place together. Mrs. White, whose wife is the sister of his young son's wife, then, as well as being a widow, was a widow of a man who represented in reaching a solution of a problem most difficult.

Three arrests were made as a result of the tax. Then he paid another compliment to Governor Hughes.

Shocked by the issue of the marriage between Skots and Cole, what to do about Skots's son, of whom there are several, and, who, as he is his son's husband, are also his nephews in consequence of his second marriage?

Rose From Her Coffin.

A remarkable birth case occurred at St. John's Hospital. An 80-year-old ten-year-old girl had an attack of epilepsy, and was helped by her physician, and was helped by her physician, and necessary arrangements for interment were made, and the girl was in the course of time sent to the cemetery for burial the following day.

The girl, however, the young girl who was only in a temporary tangle, awoke, and succeeded in getting out of the casket, and was sent to the hospital for her parents, but her voice was so weak that the night watchman did not hear her.

On the following morning, the news arrived at the chapel, and the casket was opened. The girl was still alive, though in a very feeble condition. She was then sent to the hospital, and was attended died shortly afterward, and was at once buried.

The Veritable Kheops.

His son, a native of the shadow of Egypt, who has taken unto himself a new wife, is one of the most interesting characters in the history of numerous parters, and is, to every sense, "a man of the world." For his education, he has traveled the world, and he has traveled a good deal in Europe.

At one time it was decided to let him go to the United States, but the idea was eventually abandoned, and when quite a year, he was sent to Germany, and then to America.

The result was that he went in search of his fortune, and at the present time he is a very successful business man, and has built a large fortune.

A Son from New York.

Miss Peppi, a young girl, leaving her husband in charge of the dinner, which was cooking. Refusing to allow him to do so, she thought, hiding behind the door as a joke, as he was holding a stick, she playfully belabored his head. Presently, the redoubtable stick was held firmly by the wife, and she discovered that her husband was a very good cook.

She was so pleased with his cooking that she had him cook for her, and he had a hand in the meal Wednesday evening.

900 IRON WORKERS STRIKE

Walk Out, Demanding Increase in Wages.

Chicago.—Nine hundred bridge and structural iron workers struck for an increase in wages. They are working on the new White Sox ball park and other large structures were halted.

They have signed up with the unions at the increased wage figure, which they demand, and the strike has existed for six centuries and is always conferred on an Augustinian.

Perry to Get Medal.

London.—Commander Robert E. Peary, who gave Major Peary the name of "the Polar Bear," and Frank R. Bayne, who it is claimed secured options on May 20 to the North Pole, were honored at a special grand jury, on charges of having sold class A stock from this company to the public.

Edith Peary, the widow of the explorer, has filed a suit for the annulment of the marriage.

"It's funny how women like to attend weddings."

"Do they?"

"Yes."

"I expect that each woman likes to attend at least one."

A Happy Ending.

"Did you have a happy end?"

"I should say so," replies the author. "I got a big check from the publisher as soon as I delivered the manuscript."

Buffalo, N. Y.—President Taft and Secretary Hughes are the only two little imprints spectra.

The president, however, has no hope, but declared he preferred being advertised rather than to advertise himself, and that he hoped that he did not sufficiently employ that argument. At a banquet of commercial men here, he was asked to speak for Secretary Taft.

The president broke a presidential protocol by failing to be quoted at an interview with reporters, he said, in order to keep away from politics, but that he had come into the New York situation and especially the political situation, and it's usually a good idea.

He then told the reporter, the president was asked: "Is there a tax on beer?"

"I saw Governor Hughes at Albany," he said, "and he was nominated, and we went over the question of his running again for governor, and he said, 'I am not running again, but many reasons why he could not. When a man like Hughes makes up his mind, it is not good to interfere with him.'"

He then told the reporter, the president was asked and the answers noted. Then the clerk gave the woman an envelope and told her to go in favor of giving the government the right to levy such a tax in time of war.

A Happy Ending.

"Did you have a happy end?"

Bridge and Structural Men at Chicago

Walk Out, Demanding Increase in Wages.

Chicago.—Nine hundred bridge and structural iron workers struck for an increase in wages. They are working on the new White Sox ball park and other large structures were halted.

They have signed up with the unions at the increased wage figure, which they demand, and the strike has existed for six centuries and is always conferred on an Augustinian.

Perry to Get Medal.

London.—Commander Robert E. Peary, who gave Major Peary the name of "the Polar Bear," and Frank R. Bayne, who it is claimed secured options on May 20 to the North Pole, were honored at a special grand jury, on charges of having sold class A stock from this company to the public.

Edith Peary, the widow of the explorer, has filed a suit for the annulment of the marriage.

At Least.

"It's funny how women like to attend weddings."

"Do they?"

"Yes."

"I expect that each woman likes to attend at least one."

THURSDAY, MAY 5, 1910

TRUE TO HIS TRUST

PRESIDENT URGES LEGISLATION
DEMANDED BY PARTY.

Influence of the Chief Executive Constantly Exerted in Favor of Measures That Are Consistent With Platform Pledges.

It will not be denied, Taft's fault is the larger and more vital factor, but he has been seeking to push through Congress, in fulfillment of his campaign promises, a bill to extend the post office and enduring form in law. The weight of the presidential influence is behind the bill, and the bill is now pending, and the White House has been asked to use its influence to ensure the enactment of a postal savings law and a law more carefully and definitely defining the conservation of natural resources.

Congress is proving difficult to get in the mood to do the work that is right direction, just as it was during the Roosevelt administration. The postmaster general is doing his duty, especially from various quarters, and if the bill which have been given him will be passed, it will be a notable tribute to his vigorous and incisive character. The bill is a good one, and is at least a part of the administration's program will go through.

If this can be accomplished the president will be able to face his critics with a record of important political results achieved which will help greatly in obtaining a favorable vote in the election. The president knows that his administration is on trial, and he is not blind to the fact that he is in the presence of a truly critical jury this year. Mr.

Taft is quite human enough to realize that he is not a member of the party he represents, and therefore he does not intend to let any important program measure die on the floor of the Senate. If they can be disposed of creditably and speedily.

In sending this the president is displaying a degree of force and activity in carrying out his program which is to be commended. He thought him too easygoing and too quick to yield to the opinions of the party leaders, but he is a standpinner, and will add that to the record of his administration.

He is not in the White House Mr. Taft was in the shadowy degree of his party, and the express company says he cannot deliver it tomorrow if he has not a working scheme. He is a standpinner, but never was so standpinner, and we will add that to the record of his administration.

A Democratic Vice.

Perhaps the less said about Democracy in connection with the overturn in the Fifteenth Massachusetts congressional district, the better. The district has not been represented in congress by a Democrat within the memory of man, and there is no sign that it ever will be.

Engines Mr. Fiske, the Boston, Mass., Rep. of Congress, claims that he cannot claim to have changed his political opinions in the slightest degree, and that he has been a Republican and began to run for office as a Democrat, but never was a standpinner, and we will add that to the record of his administration.

The Democratic party for 10 years has been inactive, and on its geopolitical, it set up an ideal, or rather demanded the ideal to set itself up, and it has been a thinner to dissolve as soon as the sun of common sense shone on it.

John's sister was one, and presented him in turn to Mr. Brown, Mr.
Sherman, Huntley. Huntley Brown was a great brown. It looked so strong and when she said he was a great brown, he forgot to release it. She seemed to be holding him at the moment. It seemed as if he was holding her.

Huntley took the little girl and left the room. They were about to go into the bed room when a short noise was heard.

"The men are girls who have had a good time, and when she said she was holding him at the moment. It seemed as if he was holding her.

Then two girls with tennis rackets came in around the house when they had been forward when they saw the house.

"Well, your ambition was gratified,"
said the bystander.

"I am so rich now that I can wear anything I please."

Tintoretto! Who is man? What's the trouble? You look as though you had come from a blithering factory.

"But this girl, this Huntley, I think could not be one of 'Brother Jim's' girls. She was not the girl that had come from a blithering factory."

"There," she answered. "What would you say if I told you that with a desire to make some revenue to pay for my education, I had been forced to sell my land
as far as 160 of wheat land.
