VOTE FOR CODDINGTON.

Amos D. Coddington, republican candidate for superintendent of Cook county schools, who has at one time principal of the local school, is well known to many in this village, and deserves, in our opinion, to receive a large number of votes in Barrington township.

Mr. Coddington has had an all-around preparation for the position. He was educated in the public schools of Wisconsin and at the University of Illinois, from which institution he holds a master's degree. He taught two district schools before going there and came back into public school work as principal of a two-room school at Elmhurst. He was the first book keeper in the first year under A. G. Lane, having the school here, and then at Cummings and in the Town of Lake, then outside of Chicago. He was made principal of the Sheldon school in Chicago in 1902, of the Kookerbocker in 1903, and of the Goulder in 1905. He took a leave of absence and served in the district school and on his return next year was elected principal of the Talbot school. When it was completed he was chosen principal of the Grange school in Chicago, where he remains. This is the second large school in the city that he has organized.

It is almost a pledge that there will be no manipulation of funds in that office for personal gain. He seeks 3 vote opportunity not a financial position.

LIVE STOCK SHOW.

The sixth anniversary of the International Live Stock exposition will be held at the Union Stock yards in Chicago, on the dates of November 26 to December 3 and will be wider in scope, larger in extent, and greater in importance than any of its predecessors.

Seventy five thousand dollars will be awarded by the show and will be given in prizes, medals and other distinctions to the best exhibitors in this country and from abroad.

The importance of this show from a breeding as well as an educational point of view cannot be measured, realized or understood, except from a knowledge of the importance of the study of its extraordinary procedure. It is the greatest school of instruction of its kind that has ever been formed, and it is the greatest school of instruction of its kind that has ever been formed, and it is the greatest school of instruction of its kind that has ever been formed.

Now that election day is so close, Wagon-pans are crying "Vote for Rger!" We hope that our readers will be content to accept the will of the majority, as illustrated at the primaries, and vote for the two good Republicans chosen at that time. Mr. Rger is no more capable of filling the office of representative than Short-leff or Vickrey.

The straight Republican ticket's the thing. Mr. Stillson Hart has expressed a desire to be present at the meeting of the Illinois Improvement club, which will be held at the village hall tomorrow evening to consider the sewer question. It appears that he has been misquoted and he wishes the record fully understood his position. Mr. Hart has under no disposition to be very lenient with the people of this village in the past three years and we are both to believe that he will be unrepentant now.

LOOKING FOR A HUSBAND

"This man like I imagine and he is married," declared Mrs. Hiram. "Just give me one of them wash-out clothes for bed use and I'll be satisfied."

"I says when her first husband was bed sick, she was so glad to get a new one, she says, 'I'll be satisfied if he should take a notion to die.' I says, 'I'll be satisfied if he should be married again. And never a true word was spoke.'"

"How a man could want to marry her after she had been married to one I can say, but then I don't know as I should want to marry her for work, I guess she better have one still."

"Yes, that's just what she does. She says she'll be satisfied if he should take a notion to die, and she says she'll be satisfied if he should be married again. And never a true word was spoke."

"What you do know she does. She says she'll be satisfied if he should take a notion to die, and she says she'll be satisfied if he should be married again. And never a true word was spoke."

"I don't know as I should want to marry her for work, I guess she better have one still."

HANDY DRIVER FOR POULTRY

Useful and convenient implement to Have Around Chicken Yards—Save Time.

The art of handling chickens, and especially the growing stock, is a matter of small concern now of any accomplishment. The various practices of "chick" with some gassing which is not only trying to the service of the bird, but also to the health of the fowl, and leads to a loss of tender and tender work. The aim should be to quietly

The Handy Poultry Driver, drives the birds, so as not to fret them. As a means to aid and the illustration of which is shown here, is a simple contrivance, the materials of which are to be had for the mere trifling of gathering to a long stick. Used gently, the young chicks may be easily guided in any direction, and are not so apt to be frightened as by "abusing" with a wooden Sapping as upon up and down. Much like a "push" or "pull" on a duck wildfowl. Try it.

LICE-PROOF POULTRY ROOST

Device Shown in Illustration Easily Constructed From Concrete and Wire Mesh.

Prevention is worth many cures when one has applied to the lice problem in the poultry house. If a roost is used, and the birds are kept from reaching the floor, there will be no lice. Business Stationery

"It should be the ambition of every good business man to improve his stationery — make it representative of his business — to do his credit. 'You are doubtless interested in having your business letter-heads of the better sort — thoroughly representative of your house.' 'A man who prints, and such a man will be especially pleased with our work.' The essentials of good printing are: good papers, good inks, up-to-date type faces and machinery, and — most important of all — expert workmanship. 'We are in a position to furnish all this for you.'"
