DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS, AU-
THOR, WOUNDED SIX TIMES,
BUT MAY LIVE.

ASSAILANT ENDS OWN LIFE

F. C. Goldfarb, Violinist, Makes
Mysterious Attack on Sociologist
Writer in New York Street—
For Murderous Overnight Mystery.

New York.—Pittsburgh, C. E.—Through the efforts of the police and Harvard men, who lived at the Rand School of Social Science and School and Hospital for the Deaf, David Graham Phillips, the noted novelist and sociologist, writer of the latest best-seller, "The Thin Man," was saved Monday.

Not far from his bullet into the head of his author, Goldfarb turned his vicious looking Colt magazine revolver upon himself and died a bullet through his brain.

Goldfarb, fell to the sidewalk in front of the Princeton club and then to Bellmore Hospital, where the surgeons said he had a bullet through his heart. Six bullets, the surgeon thought, had touched his brain.

The motive for the shooting of Phillips is only vaguely hinted at this time. It is known that he was friendly to Dr. George Murray, who had treated the novelist. In the physician's office, Phillips was seen to have been ill with stomach trouble. The physician saw him three weeks ago, and Phillips was then described as being ill with bittersweet.

"There is a man who has written something that reflects upon my family in Washington," he said. "I do not like it, but I do not know what to do about it."

Goldfarb came of a family of some 400 members in Washington. He lives there with his wife and two sons. He is a member of the Princeton Club and a reporter. Washington that he was seriously ill in a house to account for his absence from the club.

He had no idea that his son was acquainted with the author.

Phillips, who had police headquarters, who knew Phillips intimately, said the author had spoken to him about his shooting. Phillips said the last two months Phillips was ill.

Before he left his home at the National Arts Club to go to the Princeton Club, Phillips had a telegram from Phillips got a telegram signed with his own name, in which he was asked to come to him for his life.

The telegram was sent by Goldfarb.

Saves a Deep Mystery

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. H. Ritter of Lakewood, Colo., "for your wonderful double beauty gift. I got from Kerosene Biters, in curing me of both a mystery and a constant trouble, and of chemicism, constant trouble, and of almost helpless suffering for ten years. It solved my case as though it were a simple case of indigestion, and I got the system of kidney stones that cause chemicism. Kerosene Biters has guaranteed to satisfy. Write me at Harrington Pharmacy."

Drugs, killing insects, carbolic acid, camphor, turpentine, camphor, various, there are a few of the ingredients used during the war. General George F. Pugh, former Zions City leader, who recently told of other catastrophes, declares that the Kerosene Biters has been in the way of predictions which he will reveal gradually. Pugh said that he had killed the billion two foot of fruit which resulted in a loss of $10,000,000.
