SEEK MEN "HIGH UP"

ALLEGED CARNEGIE TRUST COMPANY SUBMITTED FALSE REPORT ON ASSETS.

TRUE BILLS LIKELY

New York Prosecutor Asserts He Has Evidence That President Reichmann of Defunct Concern Mutilated the Records of Meeting.

New York—Additional indictments against high officials of the Carnegie Trust company are looked for as a result of the testimony given before the grand jury by Liston L. Lewis, former bookkeeper of the institution.

District Attorney Whitman, it is said, possesses records of a meeting of the executive committee of the trust company, over which Joseph H. Reichmann presided, at which persons knowingly made a false report of the company's assets on August 31, 1910, and mutilated the minutes of a meeting held on the day before to conform to suggestions of the state banking department.

The mutilated minutes and the substituted minutes are in existence and in the hands of the district attorney, according to Lewis.

Another interesting feature of the investigation is the sworn preliminary statement that Samuel Untermyer, the well-known corporation lawyer, was paid $100,000 in advance for the combination represented by Charles H. Ryan, the Boston "wire tapping" banker. William J. Cummins the man in charge of the books of the Carnegie company over the August examination by the state banking department

DRINK CRAZED, SLAYS TWO

Council Bluffs Doctor Kills Officer — and Man Who Refuses to Sell Him Liquor.

Des Moines, Ia. — Dr. H. D. Kelly of Council Bluffs shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Clarence Wollman, at 4 o'clock this morning. A short time later shot and killed Edward Sterling, a Des Moines bartender.

The shooting of the physician was being taken by the deputy sheriff to the county jail in this city. Deputy Wollman and Kelly awakened early in the morning, extracted a revolver from the pocket of the deputy sheriff and fired three shots into the body of the bartender, Edward Sterling.

Kelly then hastened down the street to the office of Wollman, commanded a drink. Sterling, the bar tender refused. Kelly shot him in the liquor

Two saloon keepers have made an interstate of me and now you refuse me a drink," Kelly is said to have said as he drew the revolver and fired five shots into Sterling's body. Sterling died an hour later.

Kelly was arrested.

TAFT LORIMER AID?

EDWARD HINES ASSERTS PRESIDENT URGED CHICAGOAN TAKE SEAT IN SENATE.

WOULD BE TARIFF BILL ALLY

Chicago Lumberman Gives Sensational Testimony Before Illinois Legislative Committee Investigating Bribery Charge.

Springfield, Ill.—Accountability for the candidacy of William Lorimer for the United States senatorship, and implicitly his election thereto, was laid at the door of President Taft, Tuesday by Edward Hines the first witness before the Helm bribery committee of the house. Hines was called for the first time since the Lorimer case ended.

Mr. Hines admitted that he was interested in the election of Senator Lorimer and said that he conferred in Washington with Aldrich in April, 1909. Mr. Hines said further that he was in Washington from February 28 to June, 1909, and that at this time he was a witness before one of the committees of congress.

Mr. Hines testified that he became interested in the election of a United States senator from Illinois at the solicitation of several of the United States senators at Washington, who requested him, as a citizen of Illinois, to give them an opinion on the outlook. President Taft desired a senator from Illinois, Mr. Hines said, as soon as possible, and they wished to know if Congressman Lorimer could be nominated for a candidate, as it was understood that all factions could agree on Lorimer

Mr. Hines testified further that Senator Aldrich asked him to urge Lorimer to become a candidate, as the president desired it. Lorimer was to do as Hines said Lorimer promised him. Mr. Hines continued that the witness insisted that President Taft strongly desired Lorimer to become a candidate, as he would be an ally in passing the tariff bill.

When asked whether he promised financial reward to members of the legislature or others if they would have entered an emphatic "no." To every question in regard to bribery being used to secure the election of Lorimer Hines replied: "Absolutely not," emphatically, or the creation of a fund was not promised or paid. He said he paid one Mooney, he said, to be used in the election of Lorimer, and was subpoenaed in any conversation

Questions were asked regarding his affiliations with Senator Lorimer, the positions of his lumber companies, and in regard to the Lorimer banking account. John J. Healy, attorney for the committee, asked Hines if he went to furnish as soon as possible to the committee a list of the Lorimer banks and the names of the banks in which he was interested. In the examination Hines testified that he had no list, but that he no time heard that money was used in the election of Lorimer in any manner.

The next witness to take the stand was Fred T. Hughes, a director of the Lorimer bank. He declared that to the best of his knowledge there was no greater man that ever lived since the time of Christ.

Hughes in a eulogy of Lorimer further declared that he interested him self in the election of Lorimer, as he was his personal friend, and solely fund the expenses of the trip to Washington but that he at no time used money

GREEK CONFESSES MURDER

Headless Body of Man Who Insults Woman Found After Slayer's Arrest.

Chicago—A hacked and horribly mutilated body all that remains of Peter Demetrios, disappeared 10 days in an old box which had been hidden under the back porch of a house in Lake View.

The finding of the body was the result of the arrest of Nicholas Pappas. Police following dispatches received from Indianapolis, Ind., found a confession by Achilles Pomerakaris and his wife Angeline, who was arrested in the Missouri city.

The tragedy was enacted a week ago, it was said, when the killed Demetrios became the latter attacked his wife. Pomerakaris, it was said, Achilles has gone to market to buy provisions and Demetrios entered the house together. Demetrios then went to the basement where he assaulted her. Angeline put her face on her husband's breast and pointed to the assailant. While he stooped with his back to them Achilles turned upon his false friend and killed him with a hatchet.

I killed him," Achilles said, simply "He was a vicious man. He once tried to set was I and when he fell I was glad. I struck him with the hatchet and he fell. He deserved death, and in my country death alone avenges his crime."
