MISS QUILBY DEAD

FIRST AMERICAN AVIATRICE AND
W. A. P. WILLARD PLUNGE
TO DEATH.

FLYERS DROP 1,000 FEET

Miss Blanche Stuart Scott, Sailing
High Overhead, Sees Tragedy,
Nearly Collapses, But Lands
Safely, Then Faints.

Boston, July 3.—Miss Harriet Quimby of New York, the first woman to win an aviator's license in America and the first woman to cross the English channel in an aeroplane, was suddenly killed with her passenger, W. A. P. Willard, manager of the Boston aviation meet, at Atlantic Monday night, when her biplane monoplane fell into Dorchester bay from a height of a thousand feet.

The accident happened when Miss Quimby and Willard were returning from a trip over Boston harbor. Boston light, a distance of 20 miles in all. The flight was made in 20 minutes. The elevator, one of the latest models of military monoplane, circled the aviation field and soared out over the Sevin Hill Yacht club, just outside the aviation grounds.

Heading back into the eight, a gusty wind, Miss Quimby started to veer. The angle was too sharp and one of the gulls caught the tail of the monoplane and threw the machine up perpendicularly.

For an instant it poised there, then, sharply outlined against the setting sun, Willard's bones were seen of the chaise, followed almost immediately by Miss Quimby. Hurling over and over, the two figures shot downward, striking the water 20 feet from shore.

They splashed out of sight a second before the monoplane plunged down fifteen feet away.

It was low tide and the water was only five feet deep. Men from the yacht club in motor boats were on the spot quickly and, leaping overboard, dragged the bodies from the water into which they had sunk deeply. Death probably was instantaneous.

Both bodies were badly crushed. Several of Miss Quimby's bones were broken and there were many bruises. Willard, who weighed 190 pounds, hit the water face first and over one eye there was a gash from which the blood was flowing. He too, sustained several fractures and bruises. The clothing of both flyers was torn and the bodies were covered with mud that it was several minutes before the doctors and nurses could determine the full extent of the injuries.

When the victims were brought ashore in motor boats the bodies were laid on the ground on the edge of the aviation field. The crowd which had been witnessing the flights rushed over, but a troop of sailors and marines picked the child up. Mr. Stokes placed her in his car and drove with all possible speed in a hospital, and in less than three minutes after the accident occurred the little girl was on the operating table. It was discovered that one of her hips was shattered, but a troop of sailors and marines was fractured, and she was injured internally.

36 STORM VICTIMS FOUND

Death List in Regina Cyclone Probably Will Not Exceed Fifty—Millions in Full Control.

Regina, Sask., July 3.—It was a sorrowful sight on which Monday morning broke, after the havoc wrought by the cyclone which struck this city early Sunday night. Citizens who had escaped death or injury laid the bodies during the long, weary night in the work of recovering the injured and bodies of the dead from the ruins.

Thirty-five bodies had been recovered in the ruins. The death list probably will be confined to fifty. The millions had been recalled from its annual encampment and is in charge of the city.

LEAVES THAW CASE

JUDGE KEOUGH WHO HAS CONDUCTED CASE QUILTS.

Reported That Jurist Finds Himself Reluctant to Marry to Attorney for White's Slay.

New York, June 29.—The hearing of an application for a writ of habeas corpus by Harry K. Thaw, in the supreme court at White Plains, was suddenly halted Thursday by Justice Keogh, who has been conducting the hearing, and who is reported to have decided to withdraw from the case. The report caused a sensation. It is said that the justice's decision to refuse followed his discovery of a bit of unexplained personal interest in the case. He was related by marriage to the late A. Russell Peabody, former counsel for Thaw, and as his friend advised him as to what course to pursue when Peabody learned that Hartridge, his law partner, was accused of misapplying large funds entrusted to him. Thursday it became apparent that Thaw's relations with Hartridge were to play a large part in the present proceedings and the decision of the justice followed.

PRESIDENT SENDS IN REPORT

Department on Economy and Efficiency Commission Goes to Congress.

Washington, June 28.—President Taft sent to congress a report of his economy and efficiency commission with the recommendation that the report be adopted. In his message accompanying the report the president declares congress has held 100 congressional investigations on matters relating to the executive department and on subjects which should have been laid before congress as an open book.

The president points out present methods of making estimates for appropriations for government departments are inadequate and suggests the adoption of the budget system in use abroad.

President Taft transmitted to congress a special message urging that provision be made for the salaries of department employees pending the passage of the regular appropriation bill.

STOKES' CAR INJURES GIRL

Former Hotel Man Hastens Child to Hospital, Where She Is Found to Be Fatally Hurt.

New York, July 2.—The big touring car of W. E. D. Stokes, former proprietor of the Hotel Ansonia, former president of the United States Golf Association and brother-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, struck a fifteen-year-old girl of Bayonne, N. J., at the intersection of 10th and 16th streets, Sunday. The girl, who was riding on the street and probably fatally injured her on Sunday.

In the car besides Mr. Stokes was his wife and another lady. Under orders from the broken car, Stokes picked the child up. Mr. Stokes placed her in his car and drove with all possible speed in a hospital, and in less than three minutes after the accident occurred the little girl was on the operating table. It was discovered that one of her hips was shattered, but a troop of sailors and marines was fractured, and she was injured internally.

DETECTIVE BIDDINGER ON STAND SAYS DEFENDANT OFFERED HIM BRIBE.

TENDERED $5,000 TO 'FORGET'

Swears Also That Chicago Lawyer Bought Man Who Tipped Off Information—Defense Gains Important Victory.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 28.—Charles S. Darrow was openly charged Thursday for the first time since the Darrow bribery trial began, more than six weeks ago, by a witness on the stand who having personally offered him a bribe to turn over to him certain evidence against the McNamara brothers.

Guy Biddinger, a Chicago detective sergeant, temporarily employed by Detective William J. Burns and one of the men who arrested James B. McNamara and Fred McNamara, was on the witness stand. He testified he had pretended to accept Darrow's offer, and that, while in San Francisco last August, he had personally offered Darrow what he called a bribe of $5,000 to turn over to him certain evidence against the McNamara brothers.

Darrow, the witness said, had told him he wished to learn who, in the inner councils of the McNamara defense, had been "tipping off" secret information to Burns. Biddinger told him that it was Clancy, and that if he came to San Francisco at a certain time he would show him Clancy and Burns together.

The defense claimed what was regarded as an important victory when Judge Hutton sustained an objection to the testimony of W. J. Palko, one of the shorthand reporters who took down the conversations between Darrow and John R. Harrington through the telephone device. Palko admitted that he heard only parts of the conversation. His note book was turned over to a court reporter engaged by the state. Also, according to Attorney Rogers, could not decipher the notes.

HEN MUTILATES BABY'S FACE

Infant's Eye and Nose Torn Away by Bill—Child May Die From Injuries.

Mount Vernon, Ill., July 2.—Attracted by crumbs on the floor, a hen entered the home of A. Potts, a farmer living at Thatcher's Gap, Sunday, and there attacked a two-month-old baby with its claws and bill, mutilating the child's face and eye so badly before the frantic mother could arrive that the infant is not expected to live. Later a search was made for the hen. It was discovered running steadily about the yard, snapping its wings and squawking furiously. At every attempt to approach it the manna that seemed to possess it increased. The bird made several attempts to attack the man who was surrounding it. It finally was shot. Bits of the baby's face still were found clinging to its feathers and claws.

TORNADO SWEEPS CANADIAN TOWN AND HUNDREDS PERISHED IN WRECKAGE.

5,000 TROOPS SENT TO REGINA

Down Telephone Grid Plunged to Total Darkness—Canadian City in Total Darkness—Loss $5,000,000.

Winnipeg, Man., July 2.—A cyclone swept through Regina, the capital of Saskatchewan, Sunday night, leaving corpses in its wake estimated to number between one and four hundred, devastating a large strip of the business district, demolishing three churches and a dozen or more business houses.

The telephone exchange was rased with a dozen or 90 girls among the debris. The power plant shared the same fate, and to make the work of rescue more terrible, the city was in darkness. Cyclone clouds have hovered around the northwest, and it is feared the storm will return.

Before entering Regina the city from the southeast it destroyed the new capital building, then it cleaned up some two hundred or more private residences. Then its great winds were blown across the tracks, completely blocking traffic. Then it passed away to the northeast. Chances remain here.

Reported that troops are being rushed to the scene from Seward camp, for already pillaging has commenced, and the mayor has issued orders to shoot anyone on sight seen pilfering or robbing dead. Details are very meager from Regina and every dispatch gives a different number of dead. Some churches were destroyed and hundreds of people are injured.

All hospitals are filled and stores are being turned into morgues and temporary hospitals. Surrounding cities and towns are sending doctors and nurses. All direct communication with Regina is cut off and messages being received here are dispatched from neighboring cities. The three telegraph offices are wrecked as well as the railroad stations.

The loss will run into $5,000,000 on most conservative estimates and may run double this amount. Dispatches received here placed the dead at 75 with a number injured who will die. Reported several villages to northeast of here struck but this cannot be confirmed. Canadian Pacific will accept nothing but dead men.

General Estenos was killed by Lieutenant de la Torre himself with a shot in the head from a revolver. General Estenos's horse, covered with blood, was found on the floor of battle. His sword and revolver also were picked up. It is now believed General Estenos escaped, but his capture is expected at any moment.

There is great rejoicing in the city over the defeat of the rebels. Thousands of people flocked to the barracks throughout the morning to see the body of General Estenos.
