GIESKE RE-NOMINATED ROAD COMMISSIONER

Good Vets Poll in Cuba Township
Saturday—Gieseke Easy Victor,
Over His Opponents.

INTEREST SLIGHT IN BARRINGTON

Only Twenty-Eight Voters Visited Polls
in Barrington Township Friday
—No Petitions Filed.

Cuba township voters turned out in goodly numbers Saturday and a total of 208 votes were polled. The highway commissionership was the principal contest, and while William Gieseke was easily re-elected his opponents worked and forced him to hustle, and considerable interest was aroused. F. A. Cady was re-elected to the office of trustee commissioner, defeating Henry Gieseke by only five votes. Justices Lines and Hardest and Constables Welch and Donles were re-elected without opposition.

The large vote was a surprise to almost everyone as the highway commissioner to be elected was for the southern district and there were no contests of a great deal of interest to residents of the central and northern parts of the township. However a great many farmers turned out from all over the township.

In Barrington township there was no opposition for any office on the ball and 28 votes were cast Friday. T. Sam Steele was given three commissionership for supervisor and William Cameron received one vote for school trustee. Following is the vote in detail in the two townships:

CUBA TOWNSHIP.

For Highway Commissioner: William Gieseke..... 110
John Jahnke..... 60
J. E. Galloway..... 34
For Thistle Commissioner: F. A. Cady..... 93
Henry Gieseke..... 85

For Justice of the Peace: L. R. Lines..... 134
E. F. Hardest..... 106

For Constable: John Welch..... 132
John Donles..... 123

BARRINGTON TOWNSHIP.

For Supervisor: C. P. Hawley..... 23
For Highway Commissioner: George W. Humphrey..... 24

For Justice of the Peace: I. B. Fox..... 25
F. H. Frye..... 25

For Constable: George M. Wagner..... 25
P. H. Miller..... 25

For School Trustees: H. J. Lageschulte (full term)..... 22
George M. Meler (to fill vacancy)..... 23

There is no prospect of there being a petition ticket in either township and there is every indication that the elections to be held on Tuesday, April 1, will be a tame affair.

WRITES OF TREES OF THE SOUTH

Interesting Letter From Mrs. Carrie Wetmore Who is Visiting in Alabama.

The following article was written for the Review by Mrs. H. D. Wetmore of the Wetmore farm, Cuba township, who is visiting at the Single Tax colony in Fairhope, Alabama.

Some Trees of the South.

"To miss seeing the giant live oaks in the south seems a huge mistake to one who has seen and felt their fascination. The great limbs of these old trees, stretching out from 20 to 35 feet, are often festooned with that gray parasitic moss which looks strange at first and wonderful. Frequently a pretty fern will run the entire length of a limb; where it gathers, sustenance is hard to understand.

"We saw the gray moss on the magnolia trees also and on an occasional pecan tree. The mistletoe is here, too, another air plant, which no doubt injures the tree upon which it preys. The magnolia tree is so distinctly southern that the northerner notices it directly; its leaves are so large and heavy and white like waxy beans, it makes an unforgettable sight when in blossom."

"The camphor and balsam trees are in their own way decorative. The palms seem loaded with turpentine which runs from a cut in the bark into a small cup fastened to the base of the tree; the fluid this affords is called 'tar-water' and is well named for it burns like oil.

"One day spent at Daphne, a tiny village six miles south of Mobile, Cuba can never be forgotten. Having seen azaleas and japonicas many times, I failed to see why our hostess was so insistent that we take this outing while the shrubs were blooming, but when we saw them, we understood.

"Such trees in bloom I never expected to see this side of Heaven, measuring perhaps 12 feet in height and seven or eight across, so loaded with blooms that the foliage was nearly hidden.

"The red and white japonicas were so beautiful, and it was hard to look calmly at such beauty; two of our women could not, but they were not ashamed of their tears.

"Carrie F. Wetmore."

Easy to Make a Mistake.

When one remembers, says an ax chronicle, that in an ordinary column there are 10,000 pieces of type, that there are seven wrong positions each letter may be put in and there are 70,000 chances to make errors besides a million chances for transpositions, he will not be too critical. In the sentence "To be or not to be," by transposition alone it is possible to make 2,756,022 errors. So you see the perils that beset a printer.

Sickness Forces Closing of Schools.

Scarlet fever has become so prevalent in Algonquin that the board of education was forced to close the schools there Tuesday. Forty cases were reported.

Tax Books Returned.

Will Rieke, tax collector for Cuba township returned his books Monday. The amounts returned delinquent was $671.69, Mr. Rieke having collected $15,430.27 of the $16,001.95 levied.

Births.

A boy was born March 12 to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ross of Libertyville. Mrs. Ross was formerly Miss Laura Hawk of Barrington.

Highs Butter Market.

Butter was sold at 34 cents on the Eight board of trade Monday, being a decline of one cent from last week's figure.

Bring Back the Athlete.

Will the Review have borrowed a large atlas and history of Lake county from the Review office some time ago, please return it.

Our Washington Letter

Our Washington letter is an important feature of each week's issue of the REVIEW and our readers should never miss it. Of course you read the daily papers, but you lose sight of the important and interesting features in the maze of detail and color. Mr. Clinton tells this week of the president's desire to have an office in the capital, his coincidence with Mr. Taft's wish to allow selected members on the floor of the house and senate, and the new law providing for federal protection of game and insectivorous birds—on page three.

BEST SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Meetings Held at Methodist and Zion Churches Sunday—John Mclnera Was Elected President.

The Barrington Township Sunday School Convention for 1913, held last Sunday, was one the best in recent years.

The afternoon session was held in the Methodist church and the evening session in the Zion church. The attendees at both meetings were large.

Representatives of the Cook county staff of workers were present and gave both inspiration and useful information bearing on the work of teaching the Bible in the Sunday school, and other topics. In the afternoon three departmental meetings were held in the interest of primary, secondary and adult class work. These meetings were presided over by Messrs. Schoedel and Beaman and by Miss Rolle. The address in the evening was given by Mr. O'Callaghan, the field agent, and was both interesting and helpful. At the conclusion of the address the offering was taken for the support of the county school and township officers were re-elected for the coming year as follows: president, John Mclnera; vice president, J. R. Freeman; Mrs. Brockway, Herman Gieseke and Alma Gilly.

H. F. Plagge declined re-election as president. A vote of thanks was given him for faithful and efficient service during the years he has acted in that capacity.

The song services in connection with the convention were in charge of Miss Kingaley and Herman Gieseke. The churches of Barrington and Sunday school workers were complimented for the interest taken in the work.

Several persons were present in the afternoon from Palatine and J. E. Hobson, pastor of the Methodist church there, gave an interesting address on "The Inside of a Boy."

IS CATHOLIC CHURCH A MENACE? SCHOOL EXHIBIT MERITS ATTENTION

Prominent Representatives of Catholic Will Answer Question in Lecture at Palatine.

Tuesday, March 25, at Seip's hall, Palatine, a free lecture will be given by two prominent representatives of the Catholic church, Rev. Peter J. O'Callaghan, the eminent Paulist Father and Hon. James Maher, the noted jurist, will answer the question, "Is the Catholic church a menace to the American republic?" Father O'Callaghan will speak of the Catholic church in relation to civilization in general.

A great deal of interest seemed to be shown in the annual school exhibit last Friday evening. The school building was open from early afternoon until late in the evening with people coming and going during that time and the largest number was served at the chicken pie supper that has ever been served in this school affair; 312 checks were sold.

For five years school work of the pupils of all grades has been most artistically and pains-takingly arranged for display by the teachers. Their interest in working long hours to prepare the exhibition has aroused a desire in the village to see in person what is being done at the school.

While those attending were gratified in number, still it is marvelous how many do not take time to call at the school, at least once a year, to see a most important phase of our community's life; to see the excellent equipment provided of late years by the board of education which is progressive in spirit and desire to give our children every advantage possible; to realize better what Prof. E. S. Smith and his associates are doing.

The domestic classes, manual training and sewing classes which showed articles, astonishingly well made. The girls are learning to sew, cook credibly and the boys to handle tools and understand construction work in a manner that is not to be called "play."

The younger students write and draw and figure very well; their writing shows that the vertical system, a fad of a few years ago so hated by the business world, has been eliminated. In passing through the rooms one feels that the attention given by the teachers to the children and the visiting public is genuine and praiseworthy.

The primary teachers are reaching the little ones' hearts and minds quickly and with fine results.

The older girls, with the aid of the ladies of the board of education families, served the supper which with the sale of candy and fancy articles made by students netted a sum of about $140.

The money will be used in the manual science work. Norris Iverson and Fred Hawley managed a "Chamber of Horrors" show in a darkened room of state depot of the Knights of Columbus for years. The choir meets on Friday evening.

METHODIST. 9:30 a. m., Sunday school. The "red" are still in the lead.

10:40 p. m., a special program of Easter songs and addresses. The choir will assist the Sunday school with another and solo voices and instrumental and vocal quartets will give renditions. See program elsewhere.

Fri. evenings the choir and Sunday school are cordially invited.

6:30, Epworth league meets.

DAIRYMEN WAGE WAR FOR BETTER PRICES

Milk Producers and Milk Buyers Are In Hot Contest With Odds in Favor of the Former.

MAJORITY REFUSE BUYERS' PRICES

Smaller Companies Are Offering Prices Asked and One Company Pays Fourteen Cents More.

Reports show an enormous demand for Chicago shipment and our case has received a substantial boost by weakening on the part of the Chicago buyers. Everything is coming all right. Keep cool and give the milk board time to work out the situation.—Today's Bulletin of the Milk Board.

With practically 100 per cent of the local milk producers pledged to abide by the decision of the Milk Producers' association and its milk board, and the same condition prevailing all over the territory supplying milk for Chicago and other large cities in this section, local dairymen are jubilant, and confident that they will this year, for the first time, force the milk buyers to pay the prices which they claim are necessary for them to make a profit, or close their factories.

The Bowman company, which owns the local bottling plant, announced Monday that they would pay the following prices for the six summer months:

April $1.50

May 1.25

June 1.15

July 1.50

August 1.50

September 1.25

This is an average of $1.34 per 100 pounds, about 12 cents more than was paid last summer and the same amount less than is being asked this summer by the milk producers.

King in Personal Command.

King George, who had taken personal command of his troops during the earlier period of the war, had been here since December, when the Turkish fortress was occupied by the Greeks.

The queen of Greece has been here and has paid great attention to the care of the sick and wounded.

King George in December had a meeting here with King Ferdinand of Bulgaria to discuss the fate of the captured Turkish fortresses after the war.

With King George arrived on November 12, Prince Constantine and Prince George. He was warmly greeted by the Greek Metropolitan and the senior officers of his army. All the houses were decorated with the Greek flag and thousands of people assembled to cheer him. He later took part in a service of Thanksgiving in the Archepiscopal church.

Crown Prince a Fighter.

The Crown Prince Constantine, who will succeed King George, is the generalissimo of the Greek army in the Balkans, in the war against Turkey. He is a fierce fighter, and only about ten days ago news came that, at the head of a big force, he had forced the surrender of the important Turkish fortress of Janina, the key to the province of Epirus.

The surrender of this fortress brought the 42,000 Turkish prisoners into the control of the Greeks, and for his success the crown prince was thanked by the chamber of deputies at Athens. After the premier, Mr. Venizelos, had congratulated him in addressing the deputies.

Was Born in 1864.

Born at Athens on July 21, 1864, the crown prince was the son of King George I of Greece. The work of the young prince, after he attained his majority, was largely devoted to re-establishing the Greek army upon a firm footing.

His early life was spent at Athens, where his father had resided in the direction of a noted German tutor, Doctor Lederer. Then came the military education of the prince, conducted in the main under direction of Colonel Kokkotzenis, the director of the military academy at the Piraeus.

The young prince intended to hold high rank when he died his father, the king. The prince bears the title of king.

KING GEORGE OF GREECE IS SLAIN

Monarch of Hellenic Nation Murdered by Greek Giving Name as Aleko Schinas.

RULER SHOT THROUGH HEART

Days After Reaching Hospital—Constantine is New Monarch—Prisoner Declares He is Against All Government.

Salonica, March 19.—His majesty, King George of Greece, was shot and slightly wounded yesterday in the street here Tuesday by a Greek who said his name was Aleko Schinas. The bullet from the assassin's revolver penetrated the king's heart.

The king was accompanied only by an aide de camp, Lieutenant Colonel Francis Tait. The assassin came suddenly at the king and fired one shot from a seven chamber revolver. The tragedy caused intense excitement. Schinas was seized immediately and overpowered.

The wounded king was lifted into a carriage and taken to the Pa-pafion hospital. Arriving first, Prince Nicholas, the crown prince, and his wife, riding in a voice cracked with grief, said:

"It is my deep grief to have to announce to you the fate of our beloved king and invite you to swear fidelity to your new sovereign, King Constantine."

Crown Prince in Janina.

Crown Prince Constantine who succeeds King George, is at present at Janina. He is expected to come here with all possible speed. A dispatch from Athens announced that Queen Olga had embarked on a Russian cruiser for Salonica.

The assassin of the king is an avenging, fallen soldier of many years of age. On being arrested he refused to explain his motive for the crime. He declared that his name was Aleko Schinas, and, in reply to an officer, who asked him whether he had no pity for his country, announced that he was against governments.

Schinas maintained a perfectly impudent demeanor, which was suggestive of his being irresponsible for his actions.

Notwithstanding the rapidity with which the king received attention, he was found to be dead on arrival at the hospital.

Prerogatives were at once taken throughout the city and perfect order is being maintained.

King George, who had taken personal command of his troops during the earlier period of the war, had been here since December, when the Turkish fortress was occupied by the Greeks.

The queen of Greece has been here and has paid great attention to the care of the sick and wounded.

King George in December had a meeting here with King Ferdinand of Bulgaria to discuss the fate of the captured Turkish fortresses after the war.

With King George arrived on November 12, Prince Constantine and Prince George. He was warmly greeted by the Greek Metropolitan and the senior officers of his army. All the houses were decorated with the Greek flag and thousands of people assembled to cheer him. He later took part in a service of Thanksgiving in the Archepiscopal church.

Crown Prince a Fighter.

The Crown Prince Constantine, who will succeed King George, is the generalissimo of the Greek army in the Balkans, in the war against Turkey. He is a fierce fighter, and only about ten days ago news came that, at the head of a big force, he had forced the surrender of the important Turkish fortress of Janina, the key to the province of Epirus.

The surrender of this fortress brought the 42,000 Turkish prisoners into the control of the Greeks, and for his success the crown prince was thanked by the chamber of deputies at Athens. After the premier, Mr. Venizelos, had congratulated him in addressing the deputies.

Was Born in 1864.

Born at Athens on July 21, 1864, the crown prince was the son of King George I of Greece. The work of the young prince, after he attained his majority, was largely devoted to re-establishing the Greek army upon a firm footing.

His early life was spent at Athens, where his father had resided in the direction of a noted German tutor, Doctor Lederer. Then came the military education of the prince, conducted in the main under direction of Colonel Kokkotzenis, the director of the military academy at the Piraeus.

The young prince intended to hold high rank when he died his father, the king. The prince bears the title of king.

Oxford won the annual boat race with Cambridge on the Thames by a quarter of a length. Cambridge took the lead at the start and was half a length in front at the middle distance.

Oxford overhauled her in the last quarter mile.

Particular Farmer.

"Pardon me," said a lady of whom the New York Mail has heard, "but are you a good enough farmer?" "Ach, madam," replied the farmer. "The farmer I purchase my eggs from won't allow his hens to lay them any other way."

Motivation for Ambition.

Some men mistake for ambition a desire to be able to wear a certain coat and have certain coat never seen than their neighbors can afford.

FEDERAL COMMANDER AT NOGALES BURRERED TO REBELS.

Six Hundred Cavalrymen on Guard in Arizona Still See Comrades and Others Wounded.

Nogales, Ariz., March 15.—After a fierce battle which lasted throughout the day the federal garrison at Nogales, Sonora, surrendered to General Obergor, the rebel commander. The battle, which at 40 minutes.

Late in the afternoon the rebels were driven back from their outposts by a determined attack on the right front and extreme left trenches, the Huerta soldiers fleeing to the cover of the town. This was followed an hour later by the surrender. He fire on the American side was intense, but the retreat and when a second assault was approached, declared that they would continue to seek their share of the loan under the proposed agreements only if expressly requested to do so by the government. The administration has declined to make such a request because it did not consider the loan or the implications of responsibility on its own part which it was plainly told would be involved in the request.

The government of the United States is not only willing, but earnestly desirous of aiding the rebels. The Chinese people in every way that is consistent with their untrammeled development and its own immovable principles. The awakening of the people of China to a consciousness of their possibilities under free government is the most significant, if not the most momentous, event in our hemisphere. With this momentous aspiration, the American people are in profound sympathy. They certainly wish to participate and participate very generously, in opening to the Chinese and to the use of the world the almost untouched and perhaps untraveled resources of China.

The administration of the United States is desirous of promoting the most extended and intimate trade relations between this country and the Chinese republic. The present administration will urge and support the legislative measures necessary to give Americans merchants, manufacturers, bankers and other financial facilities which they now lack and without which they are at a serious disadvantage compared with their industrial and commercial rivals. This is its duty. This is the main material interest of the citizens in the development of China. Our interests are those of the open door, of friendship and mutual advantage. This is the only door we care to open.

PRESIDENT DECLINES TO APPROVE UNITED STATES LOAN IN CHINA.

Chief Executive Declares for the Open Door—Also Comes Out Strong in Favor of the Budget System in Government Affairs.

Washington, March 20.—In a statement issued from the White House Tuesday President Wilson refused to endorse the request that American bankers participate in the Chinese loan. The president expressed sympathy for the Chinese republic and declared for the open door. The statement follows:

"It is often informed that at the request of the local administration a certain group of American bankers undertook to participate in the loan now desired by the government of China (approximately $125,000,000). Our government wished American bankers to participate along with the bank of the other nations. We desired that the United States towards China would be exhibited in this practical way, that American capital should have access to that great country and that the United States should be in a position to share with the other powers any possible diplomatic or political difficulties associated with the development of the foreign relations of China in connection with her industrial and commercial enterprises. The present administration has been asked by this group of bankers whether it would also request them to participate in the loan. The administration has declined to do so.

MADE FOGIES GASP

WILSON'S PLAN TO VISIT THE CAPITOL OCCASIONALLY BREAKS PRECEDENT.

NO REASON HE SHOULDN'T

Any President Who Sought to Influence Legislation Could Do It Much More Privately by Conferences in White House.

By GEORGE CLINTON. — Washington.—President Wilson's hint that he may go on occasion to the capitol where he has no official business, and sit ten days, and it will create another "day's stir," and perhaps more, if after the extra session convenes he carries out his hinted intention.

It does not seem that there would be anything to create special interest, let alone undue excitement, in the appearance of the president of the United States to sit for a few hours each week under the same dome of the capitol where he would be in easy reach of such members as might like to consult him or he might like to consult them. The whole idea, as presented in Washington, and perhaps more, if after the extra session convenes the court rules comment, stir and frequently strong opposition. There is nothing in the Constitution or laws of the United States to prevent the president from making his office, any, where he may be, his permanent home. Washington, and if his desire is to have a branch office in the capitol, nothing can be done to prevent it, and very likely there is no reason that of tradition and precedent why it should be prevented.

Has No Ulterior Motive. — No one in Washington has been found to say that he thinks Mr. Wilson has any intention of coming over to the capitol to make "his will dominant." They think that his desire in the matter is entirely democratic, and that it is born of a wish to be in closer and a more responsive touch with the people of his town in Washington. While Congress is in session, this feeling of an inter absence of any untoward intention on Mr. Wilson's part has not, however, prevented criticism, and it has come not only from members of opposition parties but from members of his own party. The think probably will prove after a little to have been only a tempest in a teapot.

If the executive authority ever is used wrongfully to influence legislation, it can be used as at the White House just as readily as at the capitol. In fact, it is done so well in Washington, known perfectly well that if a president wants to make his will felt he is much more liable to attempt it at a distance rather than from the capitol, where all the members in a way would be near him. Even when the session of Congress is in session scores of senators and representatives go to the White House, some on their own errands bent, and others called there by the president who wishes to consult with them upon matters of legislation.

When the president wants to see a member alone he takes him into his private office and closes the doors. What passes there no one knows, unless the president or his visitor chooses to disclose it, and the visitor would not be likely to do so. The president gives his permission, for such conferences always are held to be confidential.

Federal Protection for Birds.

By an act of the last congress just three days before adjournment the whole system of protection of the wild birds of the United States was changed. This bill will go into effect at once, but the existing laws will not be wholly superseded until the department of agriculture has prepared new federal regulations for the governing of the protection of game and insectivorous birds in all sections of the Union. This matter is of interest to every sportsman and every farmer, and every farmer and every bird lover, no matter what state of the Union he lives in.

It should be said that the federal laws will have no control of non-migratory birds, whether they be game birds or song birds. This limits the action of the law very little, however, as most game birds, farmers and every bird lover, no matter what state of the Union he lives in.

There are many instances of any one should be said that the federal laws will have no control of non-migratory birds, whether they be game birds or song birds. This limits the action of the law very little, however, as most game birds, farmers and every bird lover, no matter what state of the Union he lives in.

Scope of the Measures.

Here is a section of the bill which shows distinctly what it is intended to do:

"All wild game, wild swans, herons, teal, ducks, coots, geese, plover, sandpiper, wild pigeons, and all other migratory game and nonmigratory birds found in their nests and roosts, and in their migration routes or places where they are found, and all other birds within the borders of any state or territory, shall hereafter be deemed to be within the custody and protection of the government of the United States, and shall not be destroyed or taken contrary to the protection hereinafter provided for thereto."

It has been found by the agricultural department that the game laws of the different states do not protect in all cases. Some of the states have put protective laws on their statute books giving protection to certain birds for certain periods, but in many of these cases it is found that the birds do not occur in the states during the periods in which protection is provided. In other words, there is no protection.

As things are to be in the future, the department of agriculture will adopt regulations prescribing and fixing closed seasons, having due regard to the seasons of temperature, breeding habits and times and lines of migration of the birds. The department will have the power to select and designate suitable districts for different birds of the country, "and it shall be unlawful to shoot or by any device kill or seize and capture migratory birds within the protection of this law during said closed seasons, and any person who shall violate any of the laws or regulations of this law for the protection of migratory birds shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not more than $100 or imprisoned not more than ninety days, or both, in the discretion of the court."

Support Almost Unanimous.

The information for this federal legislation came from the progressive wing of the party, the president of the United States to sit for a few hours each week under the same dome of the capitol where he would be in easy reach of such members as might like to consult him or he might like to consult them. The whole idea, as presented in Washington, and perhaps more, if after the extra session convenes the court rules comment, stir and frequently strong opposition. Wilson Likes Taft's Idea.

There is a belief among Democratic members of congress that President Wilson may take up the suggestion made by ex-President Taft and urge legislation which will enable his cabinet officers to appear on the floor of the two houses of congress when matters pertaining to their departments are under consideration, to answer questions and to give information which may enlighten on the points at issue.

Such a course would be in entire keeping with Mr. Wilson's intimation that he may go to the capitol on occasion to be within easy reach of representatives of the people who wish to consult him. It is all a part of a plan to bring the administration and others closely together in conference on matters of legislation.

Mr. Taft's idea was that if the members of his cabinet could go to the house and the senate, especially at times when an appropriation bill was before the house, the cabinet officers could be present to answer questions and to give money in this case or that case would be more clearly presented, and the doubts of members who did not know how to vote could be cleared up and a more intelligent consideration could be given to each item in every appropriation bill.

The former president did not intend, however, to limit the appearance of members of the cabinet to appropriation occasions. He wanted congress to provide that whenever a cabinet officer's presence seemed advisable he could go to the floor and address the house or the senate.

Wilson Likes Taft's Idea.

There is a belief among Democratic members of congress that President Wilson may take up the suggestion made by ex-President Taft and urge legislation which will enable his cabinet officers to appear on the floor of the two houses of congress when matters pertaining to their departments are under consideration, to answer questions and to give information which may enlighten on the points at issue.

DAIRYMEN WANT BETTER PRICES

100; Crystal Lake, 125; Gilberts, 125; Algonquin, 80; Dundee 100; Sutton, 85; and all are holding out. Taken all together the milk producers are as well organized this spring as could be wished and they will secure a fair price for their milk this year if they are ever going to do so."

Harry Fricke, manager of the Borden's local plant said: "We are offering $1.38 per 100 pounds, and our bonus of 10 cents per 100 pounds, paid to farmers whose dairies score 65 points or over, brings the price up to $1.48, which is only 11 cents less, than the dairymen are asking, and we are confident that they will sign up before the first of April. This winter we offered this same bonus and over 90 per cent. of our patrons received it, as they doubtless will do this summer. I believe they are pretty well pleased with our prices but are holding out because they wish to force the Borden people to do better."

Report from Huntley, Harmony, Algonquin, Hebron, Richmond, West Chicago, Sycamore, and other places state that practically all of the farmers are still holding out. In McHenry county there are but few who have signed at any of the factories and the farmers there claim that they are being telephoned to by Chicago dealers who wish their milk at the prices asked. At a meeting of the producers at Hebron Tuesday it is reported that $3,000 was subscribed for the purpose of erecting a co-operative creamery and at a meeting at Algonquin the same day $2,000 was subscribed. But four patrons of the large condensing plant at that place are reported to have signed up completely.

E. S. Eno, superintendent of the Borden factory at Elgin states: "It may be that some plants will not get much milk, but altogether the Borden company will have enough milk to run the business handily."

Despite the fact that many of the plants offered favorable prices yesterday the farmers are still withholding their contracts and awaiting word from the officers of the association. President Fellows declared that the farm's price, for the first time in the history of the association is the dominant market price.

Richmond, Smith & Company, Chicago agents, are contracting on the basis of the Milk Producers' shipping price and according to Mr. Fellows, need 1,000 more cans a day right now than they are getting. They are signing 25 to 30 more contracts a day than ever before, he said, and have agents in the dairy districts, contracting for more.

The best offer thus far was made yesterday by the Sanitary Milk company of Wayne, this company's price averaging $1.04.6.

Golf Ball Peachers.

Many complaints have been received by the police lately of the loss of golf balls from the Epping Forest links, while actually it is play. It is alleged that gangs of youths gather at places on the links where the play can see the balls fall, and that the balls disappear sometimes even when the balls are fairway. As the result of a talk had by the police in trees and behind hedges, several prosecutions have taken place recently.—London Mail.

AT THE CHICAGO THEATRES

PRINCESS.

A play "which ought to run for many weeks" is the judgment of Fredric Hartman, manager of the Post on "The Lady From Oklahoma," the new American comedy which William A. Brady has brought to the Princess. The Chicago critic concludes "Bought and Paid For," the new play by Elizabeth Jordan, editor of Harper's Bazaar, and is given by an excellent cast.

"The Lady" is the wife of a self-made millionaire Oklahoman who is elected to the United States senate. She returns at once, however, to stand still, while her husband progresses, and broadens until she realizes she is losing him, and that a woman lobbyist is supplanting her. Mrs. Dixon, "The Lady," is the wife of a man who has been raised from a tramp into a transformed, confident woman, more than able to cope with the lobbyist. Through Mrs. Dixon's efforts her husband is freed from the disgrace of voting for the corrupt Kirby bill, the adventure is routed, and her husband realizes that he needs her more than ever.

The engagement is limited and "The Lady From Oklahoma" will be followed at the Princess by Willis Collier in "Never Say Die."
