NINE SCHOLARS WILL GRADUATE IN JUNE

Three Young Men, and Six Young Ladies Will End Local School Studies Next Month.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES JUNE 19

"Home Belongs to Him Who Wins It" Is Motto of Class—Castle Will Present the Diplomas.

Nine pupils of the Barrington high school, three young men and six young ladies, will be graduated with the close of school the second week in June. The school year ending at this time is one of the most successful in the history of the local schools, instructors, students and parents alike being unanimous in this opinion.

The graduates are: Howard Percy Thoren, Mabel Dorothy Grebe, Nettie Anna Hillman, Mabel Rose Landwehr, Paul Lloyd Thoren, Marguerite Caroline Boehmer, Irene Leopre Holmes, Florence Marie Ellers and Peter Thompsonson Pederson.

The commencement exercises will be held at the Salem church on Thursday evening, June 19, when William B. Owen, president of the Chicago Teachers' college, will deliver the principal address, and the diplomas will be presented by Howard P. Castle, clerk of the board of education. Several musical numbers will make up the balance of the program. Rev. H. H. Thoren, will give the invocation and Rev. J. Buente the benediction.

On Friday evening of the preceding week a faculty reception will be given and on the following Sunday evening, June 15, Rev. O. F. Martin will deliver the baccalaureate sermon. Tuesday, June 17, is class day and a program will be given at the high school assembly hall in the evening. Howard Hardegen, the class president, will give the opening address. Mabel Landwehr, the class history, Nettie Hillman, the class prophecy and Marguerite Boehmer in the class poem; Irene Holmes will read the class will and Mabel Grebe will present the gifts. The class song and yell will follow, and the numbers will be interspersed with local talent. The jolts will give a reception for the seniors on Wednesday evening, June 18, and on the following Friday, the class picnic will take place. The last event of the week will be the annual banquet on Saturday evening, June 21.

The class has adopted for its motto the uplifting and inspiring sentiment, "Home Belongs to Him Who Wins It." The class colors are royal blue and gold and the class flower is the sweet pea.

Eastern Star Has Big Time.

The local chapter of the order of Eastern Star received its first official visit from the worthy grand matron of the state last Friday evening, and entertained in addition members from four Chicago chapters and members from the chapter at Crystal Lake, Elgin, Palatine, Wauconda, Dundee, and Woodstock. There present numbered 140. A dinner was served at six o'clock at the Baptist church parlor, and the meeting took place later at the Masonic hall.

Mrs. Cassie Gregory Orr of Chicago, the worthy grand matron, was given a beautiful cut glass dish, Mrs. John Schwemmen making the presentation speech, and Mrs. Scott of Chicago, grand chaplain and grand lecturer, who has instructed this lodge, were presented with beautiful bouquets. Dr. J. Howard Furby, who is worthy patron of the local chapter, received an appropriate gift from the officers in honor of his birthday anniversary, which occurred on that day.

Myrtle Randall Dead.

Miss Myrtle Randall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Randall, who live in the northern part of Cuba township, died at the Lake Breeze sanatorium, Lake county's tuberculosis institute near Waukegan, Tuesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. She was 21 years and seven month old. Tuberculosis was contracted from an attack of pleurisy about a year ago, and she had been at the institute for several months. Her mother was with her at the time of her death.

Miss Randall was quite well known here, having visited in this village frequently up to the time she was taken ill. She was a very beautiful and accomplished young lady and her parents have the utmost sympathy of all.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at the Baptist church, Waukegan, at 10:30 o'clock.

MANY ATTEND CENTER SERVICES

Many Attend Memorial Ceremonies at Barrington Center Sunday—North Church Filled to Overflowing.

On last Sunday afternoon the local Grand Army post and Woman's Relief corps went to Barrington Center, as was announced in the REVIEW last issue, and the church was so crowded that many stayed outside for want of room. Misses Neita and Lillian Schaefer rendered two duets in Barrington, and Miss Dechener, teacher at Barrington Center, led a fine number of school children who sang, and later on in the cemetery gave a pleasing flag drill. The annual sermon was preached by the pastor of Salem church, to which the attentive audience listened with great interest. The decorations in bloom and flowers added much to the cheerful spirit. The post and corps rendered their respective rituals in the memorial service at the cemetery.

Barrington Center north church is one of the original recruiting stations used in the early sixties for enlisting men for the army. The community, through the cemetery association, has made some improvements in the building, putting up a cement porch and steps, and it is suggested that it would be well if the building were further improved and made tidy for occasional meetings of a civic character and keep this as a center meeting place for the surrounding country, where people shall meet to remember the soldiers and inspire our youth with high ambitions for true citizenship, so that each can share intelligently in the problems of today.

CONCERT AT METHODIST CHURCH.

Ladies' Aid Society Will Give Entertainment on Evening of Memorial Day at Eight O'clock.

DR. VIBBERT WILL SPEAK HERE.

Prohibition Advocate, Famous on Two Continents, to Be at the Baptist Church Sunday Evening.

The Rev. Dr. George H. Vibbert of Massachusetts, one of the most famous advocates of prohibition in America, will speak at the Sunday evening service at the Baptist church next Sunday. Mr. Vibbert was the personal friend of Frances E. Willard, Wendell Phillips, William Lloyd Garrison, General N. W. Folger, and all the distinguished reform leaders during the past four decades. He has addressed nearly 20,000 audiences in England and America since 1871. He bleeds wit, eloquence and logic with powerful effect in every address.

Barrington is unusually fortunate in being able to have him in our midst.

Lightning's Queer Pranks.

Delia Ames, a Lake county farmer, is the loser, as a result of lightning striking his barn one day. The name is Graysdale. This is a place where the bolt was attracted by the lightning rod on the building which it followed almost to the ground, where in some manner it got into the barn, where it first killed a bull, passing a cow next to the bull and striking the second animal. The peculiar thing of the whole matter is that there was no fire, neither could a place be found where the bolt entered or left the building, but marks were on the salient.

Pickeral Opens June First.

The season for catching pickeral, pike, muskellunge and sturgeon will open June 1, instead of May 25, as many fishermen think. The change in the law was made by the present legislature, and many seem to be of the opinion that it will not go into effect until next year. Bills of this kind, however, are effective as soon as published. The law was passed in order to have uniform opening dates on many classes of fish as possible.

MEMORIAL OBSERVANCE TOMORROW

Services Will Be Held at Cemetery in the Morning and at Salem Church in the Afternoon.

The plans for Memorial day have been completed for some time and will be carried out tomorrow in the order announced two weeks ago. Most of business houses will be closed at least a part of the day and the school will close and the pupils of the Grand Army post and Woman's Relief corps in the north church will be dismissed. Evergreen Cemetery in the morning. The procession, headed by the Barrington band, will form on the public square at 10 o'clock. Arrived at the cemetery, the graves will be decorated and suitable cere- monies will be observed.

In the afternoon service will be held at the Salem church at 2:00 o'clock. Captain A. R. Palmer of Chicago will deliver the address of the day. He is well recommended as an interesting and forcible speaker. An appropriate program of musical numbers will complete the exercises.

The following Sunday the Modern Woodmen will attend this church in a body where Rev. H. B. Thoren will conduct a special memorial service at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. Special instrumental music is being prepared for this occasion. An invitation has been extended to other lodges and a large audience is expected.

On the afternoon of that day the Woodmen and the Court of Honor will march to the cemetery to decorate the graves of deceased members, leaving with.

The Odd Fellows have appointed a committee of three members to attend to decoration at the cemetery and will hold a memorial service at the hall on Thursday evening of next week.

'MORE MILK FOR ILLINOIS.'

No Reason Why the State of Wisconsin Should Lead Illinois as a Dairy State.

It is well to consider matters affecting the welfare of communities from every angle, and select that which promises best for those most directly interested. Last week the REVIEW printed an article under the caption, "Dairy Farmers Tell Their Story," and today we give space to a slightly different phase of the dairy question taken from the Chicago Inter-Ocean headed, "More Milk for Illinois."

"The committee on agriculture of the Illinois Bankers' association is engaged in a field of inquiry which should be productive of benefit to the state. In conjunction with representatives of the dairy interests of northern Illinois it is endeavoring to increase the yield of dairy products. "An increase of annual profits of the enormous amount of $20,000,000 is possible in this industry, according to presumably correct estimates made by the dairy department of the University of Illinois, and certainly it is worth while of the state to assure this increase to its resources."

"Wisconsin has become one of the leading dairy states of the country and finds that it pays. There is no reason why Wisconsin should lead Illinois in this respect. Our northern neighbor has no better lands for this purpose. The only cause for her supremacy seems to lie in the fact that her farmers and dairymen make more of their opportunities than we do."

"The University of Wisconsin, by its activities in this field, has been of large service to the dairy interests of the state. The University of Illinois could be of like service to this state if our farmers and dairymen were educated to utilize it as an accessory to their business. If the committee of the Bankers' association by its propagation of education among the farmers and dairymen, can bring them to the utilization of their opportunities and to cooperation with the scientists at the state university, there is little doubt that the industry will immediately show the stimulating effects of such action."

"R. F. Harris of Champaign, chairman of the Bankers' committee on agriculture, says:

"Illinois does not make enough butter for her own consumption and has steadily declined in the production of live stock. The average profit on an Illinois cow is about $15. We have demonstrated that this profit should be $35, and will be under proper conditions."

"It is distinctly worth while to save that difference of $20."

Deputy Coroner Gillepsie of Cook county and two assistants came to this village Monday under the belief that the finding of the body of a man here Saturday morning on the C. & N. W. tracks would constitute a Cook county case. Upon learning their mistake they returned to the city.

2,000 ATTEND SCHOOL FESTIVAL

Threatening Weather Does Not Deter Teachers, Pupils or Parents—Grand Time at Des Plaines Gathering.

On last Friday occurred the first annual school festival of Barrington, Palestine, Mainz, Elk Grove, Hauppa, Schenectady, Leyden, Niles and Wheeling townships at Northwestern park, Des Plaines. Although the morning was very cold, wet and threatening rain about 2,000 parents, teachers and pupils with lunch baskets and umbrellas assembled and apparently enjoyed the program which began at 10 o'clock with a 50-yard dash. From then until late in the afternoon there was something in progress all the time and at times two or three events at once. The matter of awarding prizes was deferred until Saturday, May 31, because of some disputed decisions. Park Ridge will no doubt have first place on the number of points gained. Their representatives showed results of drilling in athletic events.

The Barrington school won points in the following events: The 50-yard broad jump for high school boys; running broad jump for high school girls; all "up relay" for graded school girls over 12, 10, 9 girls teams; "all up relay" for graded school girls between 10 and 12, 10, 9 girls teams; shot put, 12 pounds for high school boys; baseball throw for high school boys.

The day was too short for so full a program and quite a number of the events were of necessity dispensed with.

Ruth Bruns and Harriet Kampert scored 100 and Verdell Richardson 95 in the spelling contest.

Alma Bruns of Palatine township, an 11-year-old girl, is the champion speller of Cook county, carrying off the title after making a perfect score and winning the honors for her institution.

Up the whole festival must be considered a success. It has aroused a new interest on the part of the pupils in both physical and mental activities and an increased interest on the part of the communities in their schools.

Plans will be begun at once for another year and no doubt a more complete and better conducted program will be given then.

HOBO WRECKS TRAINS.

Tramp Pulls Coupling Pin on Belt Line Train—Three Cars Derailed.

Because a freight train on which he was riding on the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern railroad was going at too high speed to allow him to jump off Friday morning, Albert Frey, a hobo aged 40, pulled a coupling pin, loosening a string of three box cars, which were then held dangling between Spaulding and Barrington.

Frey narrowly escaped with his life. It is said, jumping just as the cars stopped over after leaving the tracks. Detective Meyer of the "I" road found Frey a short time later near the scene of the wreck and placed him under arrest. Frey was taken to Elgin and locked up in the police station there, awaiting word from Joliet as to what disposition is to be made of the case. It is thought he will be taken to Chicago for trial.

FARM EMPLOYEE SHOOTS SELF

Laborer Who Came to Work on G. E. Van Hagen Farm Commits Suicide After Arrival.

Herbert von Brandenstein, who was sent out to the G. E. Van Hagen farm yesterday by a Chicago employment agency, committed suicide at 9:30 o'clock last evening by shooting himself in the right breast with a revolver.

A card found in his pocket gave his name and the address printed on it was Cureau, Texas, but papers found in his possession gave his address as 225 S. Ashland, Elwood, Chicago. A church record from Germany showed he was born November 8, 1887. A passenger showed that he came to this country from Germany in November 1906. Receipts showed that he had paid Dr. Lindhauer's sacristan, 325 South Ashland boulevard, Chicago, about $500 the past month. Employees on the place say he told them that his mother was being cared for there. A Masonic card was printed in one corner of the card but no receipt from a Masonic lodge could be found.

He had worked at his farm before about a year ago. No reason can be given for the shooting. He was a fine looking man and evidently of good family. His name was given as William Anderson on his introduction card from the employment agency both times that he came here.

He had a new .32-caliber revolver of which two chambers were empty and fellow workmen said that he had taken it out doors in the afternoon and fired one shot at the time asking "Do you think this gun would kill a man?"

The question gives rise to the theory that the shooting was premeditated and dispels any thought of an accident.

The man shot himself in his room and Dr. Richardson was called at once but he was dead before the doctor arrived. He lived about ten minutes after firing the shot, according to members of the farmhouse where he adjourned until further witnesses could be secured.

The body lay a few feet from the main tracks, at the bottom of the grade, a short distance from the place where it is joined by the "I" which connects the C. & N. W. and E. & J. E. roads, and was between the two tracks with his head towards the main tracks.

He has a truck and bag at the depot and they will probably be opened when the coroner's inquest is held tomorrow, and will perhaps assist in locating relatives or shedding further light on the tragedy.

The body was taken to E. M. Block's undertaking room.

CIVIL WAR VETERANS TO MEET ON GETTYSBURG BATTLEFIELD

Huge Reunion of Blue and Gray to Be Held July 1 On Fiftieth Anniversary of Conflict—40,000 Are Expected to Be Entertained by the State of Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa.—On July 1 the veterans of the Civil War, both Blue and Gray, will meet again on the battlefield at Gettysburg, Pa., after fifty years, but this time it will be in amity and affection.

The state of Pennsylvania on May 13, 1909, created a commission to consider and arrange for a proper and appropriate observance of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg, to invite the co-operation of the congress of the United States, and of other states and commonwealth, "defined the commission's duties and prerogatives and made an appropriation for preliminary expenses."

The text of invitation to Veterans.

The text of invitation as follows: "Pennsylvania, by its commission invites the congress of the United States and her Sister States and Commonwealths to accept this invitation from the Commonwealth upon whose soil the battle of Gettysburg was fought, to share in this important anniversary and to help make it an even worthy of its historical significance, and to co-operate in making it an impressive to our great and reunited nation," and likewise invites the co-operation and participation of the Grand Army of the Republic and of the United Confederate Veterans.

State VII Will Act as Host.

Pennsylvania—she providing all entertainment at Gettysburg during July 1, 2, 3 and 4, 1913, for forty thousand (40,000) "honorably discharged veterans of the Civil War," and she, the state, and provided by the act of congress of August 26, 1912, by each paying $100,000 for the war department, to create and maintain a great camp around the battlefield, complete in all its provisions of camp and garrison equipment, with all quartermaster, commissary, hospital and other necessary supplies ample for such forty-thousand veterans.

Free Transportation To and From

With each Commonwealth, state and territory acts absolutely the determination, as each deems best, to what veterans of the Civil War it will issue free transportation. Pennsylvania's invitation being that to such "honorably discharged veterans of the Civil War" as come to Gettysburg for the above celebration, either upon free transportation or otherwise, the expense and present proper credentials proving them to be such veterans she will provide food, shelter and entertainment during that period, but she furnishes free transportation to no one, save only to her own veterans or veterans now resident with her in her borders, and to them to under legislative direction, which will be given in the annual session of the legislature, to be repelled the visitors from the south in early July next the same state will have its arms wide open in welcome to the men wearing the gray. Entertainments of various kinds will be offered the visiting veterans, but it will be pretty well understood that their deep interest in revisiting the scenes where they have been will bring them to the pleasure and the sadness of personal reminiscences. Art in arm with the Union soldiers the Confederate soldiers will retrace the battleground. They will look over the field of Pickett's charge, the Little Round Top, the Ridge, Cemetery Hill, Culpeper Hill, Rock Creek, the Stone Wall and other places will hold them largely to the pleasures and to the sadnesses of personal reminiscences. Art in arm with the Union soldiers the Confederate soldiers will retrace the marching steps of Longstreet's corps. They will go to the place where Meade had his headquarters and to the place from which Lee directed his southern forces in battle.

It is said that this contemplated reunion has induced more interest among the old soldiers of the north than among the old soldiers of the south, because the former have been more interested in the reunion since the war closed. There is today at Gettysburg a great national park, in which is included a cemetery where thousands of soldier dead are buried. The United States government and the legislature of Pennsylvania worked together to make a park of the battlefield, and the park is which has historic interest.

It is expected that much good will come from the reunion of the Blue and the Gray on the battlefield of Gettysburg. Time has healed many wounds. The old soldiers have forgotten their animosities more readily than have the civilians. It is thought that this reunion will bring together old comrades who would otherwise, by reason of lapse of time, fail to recognize each other.

ROOSEVELT DENIES CHARGE OF MICHIGAN EDITOR THAT HE

Marquette, Mich., May 29.—Col.

Theodore Roosevelt, a picture of radiance and perfect health, turned a square law in the direction of the jury composed of twelve farmers, teamsters, miners and woodsmen, in the county court here Tuesday, in the hearing of his $10,000 libel suit against George Newell, editor of the Leavenworth Independent. The editor charged in his suit that Roosevelt got into a not a total abstainer, but was intoxicated in his life.

Colonel Roosevelt told the story of his life and his wife, James H. Pound, in a spirit of objectivity, asking many questions that made the defense tell about the various high public offices he had held, his Cuban campaign, the books he had written, his life in the west, and the attempt to assassinate him at Milwaukee.

Mr. Roosevelt said, with great earnestness, that he never drank a highball or a cocktail in his life. "I have never had a drink to the slightest degree and that, while not a total abstainer, he was nearly one. In fifteen years, he declared, he had consumed less than a dozen drinks of whisky, and then usually under a doctor's order,"

Representatives' Hall Suggests a Roman Circus

WASHINGTON—The new seating arrangement in the representatives' hall suggests a Roman circus, and the sittings of the house may sometime furnish a Roman holiday. The new arrangement has been ranged in a semi-circle, and rising in steps to give all a clear view of the arena in front of the speaker's desk, where the leaders in debate take their places, and conduct the legislative contests. This new arrangement may conduce to more orderly consideration of the bills, and to better order. It will however, complicate the proceedings, and if they become dramatic, with physical contests, it will be easy to confine the actors to the ring, and give all the members a better view than under the old arrangement.

Time has been when statements on the hill used the old argument of physical fitness and health. In most of these instances the dramatic features were marred by the lack of proper rules to keep the contestants in the ring. They had a weakness for fighting anywhere in the hall, and with anything that was within reach, and there have been a number of such contests which were witnessed by few of the members because there was no ring and no rules and no protection. There have been fights on the floor with sticks, with fist, bats, with canes and pokers, with books, pens and inkwells, and they have so far ignored the rules as to engage in hair-pulling, scratching and biting. But with inkwells or pens or books or pokers lying around, there will be less chance of a fight, and less fear of fighting. The speaker can better manage the contests, too, as they will be down in front of his desk, where he can see every move made in the ring.

In 1866 Representative Galusha of Pennsylvania and Representative Keith of South Carolina had a bitter controversy, in which the latter called Great "Republcan" proslavery. Great retorted with "negro driver." There was a free fight on the floor, and among those who became involved were Elihu B. Washburn of Illinois; his brother, Cadwallader Washburn, and Representative Potter Potter, of Wisconsin. The two, from Madison of Mississippi and seven others. In this instance passage was given to ridicule when Cadwallader Washburn seized Barksdale by the hair and lifted the whole poll from a perfectly bald head. Waving the wit in the air as a wild Indian might wave a spear, Washburn, who had been abominated in the white house, was graced with laughter and the fight was forgotten.

Potter was afterward challenged to mortal combat by one of the southern men, and he named Boston Common as the place for the duel with clubheads for weapons. The of the ridiculous again spoiled the seriousness of the quarrel.

Cannon's Poker Table Is Auctioned for $16.00

THE last material tie that bound Joseph Cannon to the capital was severed the other day when the furniture and furnishings of the house at 1014 Vernon avenue, where he lived for many years, were sold under the auctioneer's hammer. A few members of Congress and a dozen prominent society women were present but most of those who made purchases at the dismantling of the house where history was made were dealers.

There was a number of relic and souvenir hunters present. They got busy, especially when the contents of Mr. Cannon's bookcase, which the books were sold. The library has seen many a hard-fought battle at draw poker, at which game the "Sage of Danville" is reputed to be a genius. In this room a sturdy oak table, around which Mr. Cannon and his friends met at games that were not political, was sold for $16.00. It was knocked down to Dr. C. M. Beach of Morrow, O., for $16. The bronze electric lamp in this room that was wont to shine alike upon the full house and the boffish baffle brought only $1.25.

A grand piano, with keys yellow and discolored from age, was sold for $65 to a dealer who said he bought it for $100. Two loaded guns which had been used in the transoms over the front door of the house were sold for 50 cents apiece. Mrs. Robert McCormick, wife of the former ambassador to France, paid $5 for a small painting, evidently aged, which, according to a notation on the back, had been bought at Christie's, in London, in the early 80s. Mrs. McCormick, wife of the senator from Ohio, and Miss Anna Wilson, daughter of the former secretary of agriculture, were among the bidders, as were Congressman and Mrs. Nolan of California, Congressman Langley of Kentucky and former Fish Commissioner Mrs. G. M. Bowers.

Frenchmen Are Leaders in Navigation of the Air

THE remarkable advance made in the science of aviation since Orville Wright made the first public flights in a heavier-than-air machine at Fort Myer, Va., in 1908, is the result of the work done by the war department and just made public. Although the honor of inventing and utilizing the aeroplane belongs to the United States, it is disclosed that virtually all the advances made in the utilization of the air machines have been accomplished by foreign airmen, principally Frenchmen.

In 1909, the records show, the greatest height attained by a heavier-than-air machine was 1,450 feet. The mark now stands at more than 20,000 feet.

In both speed and duration of flight the strides since 1909 have been remarkable. In that year the speed record was 48 miles an hour, while the length of time that a machine kept in the air was 4 hours and 17 minutes. The present record for speed is now 103.8 miles per hour, and for duration 12 hours and 17 minutes.

Bisson, still another Frenchman, also recently established a record for speed with passengers. With five passengers with him in his machine he made 54 miles in 10 minutes. The last flight war department records show that six persons have been carried to a height of 2,053 feet.

THOMAS R. MARSHALL, the proprietor of the Looeakum cafe, is a native of Washington.

Thomas R. Marshall, the vice-president of the United States, is a native of Indiana and a Washingtonian only by recent adoption.

These facts have not yet been sufficiently clarified in the brain of the employees of the Washington postoffice who handle the mail of both men. The mail is thus true of both men who are in charge of the local office of a certain express company.

The result of this is that the vice-president has been supplied with enough rye whisky to last him a year had an appetite for it worthy of one who had been the big game as is admitted him to the imagination of colonel. Also the wife of the Looeakum proprietor has sent back to the manufacturer a dress which was delivered to her marked "Value, $150."

The trouble started with the mail. "Tom" Marshall, the cafe proprietor, began to receive mail addressed to

"Tom." Thomas R. Marshall, and postmarked Indiana. He suspected that some friend was trying to play a joke on him, but investigation established that the postman was the humorist and that his jokes were perpetrated by the mail. He had only to open a letter before the small trouble was straightened out. The vice-president's package did not end there, however.

The vice-president, it is understood, received a barrel of a popular brand of rye whisky. The vice-president is not a drinking man. But secretly he received a barrel of a popular brand of rye whisky. The vice-president did not end there, however.

The thousand odd doctors assembled at the thirty-third annual meeting of the Illinois State Medical Society in Peoria pointed out where reorganization of state institutions is needed to conform to professional standards of the present day. The members defined their attitude toward some of the latest discoveries in medical science.

The contestants conducted their campaigns like regular politicians and succeeded in arousing such lively interest that when the balloting began all the old soldiers tried to vote at the same time.

The crowding and jostling became such that some of the veterans lost their hats and their badges were rubbed off their coats.

The next annual encampment will be held at Mattoon June before the meeting adjourned 24 delegates were selected to attend the national convention.

Frank Parks of Champaign, Illinois, was elected commander of the Illinois State Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Other organizations that elected delegates for the national encampment were the ladies of the G. A. R., the Women's Relief corps, and the Daughters of Veterans. The latter society also elected its officers for the year.

They are Mrs. Daniels, treasurer; Mrs. Thayer, Chicago, president; Mrs. Estella N. Moore, West Pullman, senior vice-president, and Mrs. Pearl Stinnett, Chicago, junior vice-president.

Red Men to Springfield.

Some time during the month of May 1914, Springfield will entertain at least 1,000 delegates to the annual state convention of the Independent Order of Red Men.

At their annual convention in Jacksonville, members of the order decided to hold the capital city of the state their next annual meeting.

A number of cities requested the honor, which finally was awarded to Springfield following efforts on the part of Secretary Harry M. Shape of the Springfield Commercial Association.

Doctor Griffiths recommended a pending bill which will pass the senate and is now before the house.

The fault in our state is not so much a lack of law as the absence of law enforcement. Notwithstanding the requirement that every birth shall be registered with the county and physician and coroner shall report all deaths, a penalty being provided, today less than 75 per cent of deaths and 65 per cent of births are recorded. Our death rates, when published, are useless, except to indicate the deplorable condition of our vital statistics.

BETTER ROADS FOR ILLINOIS.

Estimates made with some care fix the amount of money wasted on Illinois roads during the last fourteen years at $22,500,000, which is 37 per cent of the $60,000,000 expended on the state's roads in that time, according to information and figures compiled by the Chicago Daily News. The waste, which is unquestionably large, regardless of estimates expressed in round numbers, is due mainly to lack of system in road improvement and maintenance.

One of the secrets of good roads lies in centralizing the management and providing for state aid. In the report of the state highway commission, covering the years 1910, 1911 and 1912, it is asserted that existing methods in Illinois constitute "a distinct hindrance to the best development of the state, which requires a comprehensive system of improved roads." Modern traffic conditions, according to the commission, require construction and maintenance of roads and bridges by skilled engineers. Main traveled roads, where traffic is heaviest, the commission holds, should be built and kept up by state aid, with county cooperation.

It is not hard to believe that road administration is now diffuse, inept, and unsatisfactory under 4,800 local highway commissioners, each of whom, in most cases works independently of every other commissioner, introducing his own peculiar notions of how the work should be done.

A bill which largely harmonizes with the state highway commission's recommendations is expected to be considered by the state legislature before its adjournment, and the needed changes ought to pass the general assembly before the curtain is rolled down at the close of this long drawn out session.

Illinois is a rich state but has the poorest country roads of any commonwealth in the middle west. In some of the poorer states public highways are in excellent shape, even in the winter months, and the plan has been adopted of working convicts on the roads, and in these states, instead of sentencing culprits to the penitentiaries as punishment for minor offenses and forcing them to work at pursuits which are in direct competition with free labor, they are sent to roads, and the community is benefited.

Under the orders of Postmaster General Burleson, sanctioned by President Wilson, who naturally takes a deep interest in educational matters, the postmasters of humble rank will soon be called before examining boards, not only to prove their fitness for their $200 plus positions, but to prove they are better fitted to hold them than any of their fellow townsmen with postoffice ambitions.

The real agricultural expert looks at farming primarily from the financial point of view. No cropping system, soil fertility system or marketing can be considered practical unless it can be shown that its adoption will increase the farmers' profits. So the farm expert must be a scientist, a practical farmer, an executive and a business man.

The Chicago city council has placed a ban on the auto number nuisance, and demands that the police enforce the ordinance prohibiting it. Barrington's code might do worse than to follow the example of its suburb to the northeast.

It is not too far from being absurd of using a time-worn expression we would be tempted to remark that some dwelling houses in Barrington are "newer than hen's teeth."

AMBITION TALKS

JUST FOR A HANDFUL OF SILVER.

There is a popular notion that inventors, poets, musicians, scientists, statesmen and men of scholarship, have no brains for money getting. The fact is that such men are generally poor and often improvident seems to prove the statement. But does it? Is it not possible, and even probable, that such great men as Martin Luther, John Milton, Shakespeare, Shelley, Burns, Keats, Dickens, Hugo, Handel, Mozart, Wagner, Raphael, Newton, Stevenson, Edison, Marconi, Lincoln, Gladstone, Lincoln and McKinley could have been Rockefellers, Carnegie, Morgans and Arrowsmith if the accumulation of a fortune had been a more desirable thing to them than their better service of mankind? Is it not conceivable that Theodore Roosevelt, if he had gone into the life insurance business, could have made a salary of a hundred and fifty thousand dollars a year like McCurdy? Or that plain Jones the preacher could not have lived in the big house in the town if he had gone into the plumbing business? Aye, but there's the rub. Plain Jones, the preacher, could not have gone into the plumbing business any more than Theodore Roosevelt could have entered life insurance.

The immortal Wagner chose music instead of monkeying, and the great emancipator of the law chose law rather than blacksmithing because the inspiration of great things was upon him.

Just for a Handful of Silver many a man who has heard in his soul the divine call of nobler things and left within himself the power to elevate man, has forsaken the thorny path of duty for the pleasant pastures of fiscal ease. Just for the privilege of owning an automobile and living in a coldly beautiful palace hundreds of men well qualified along the lines of art or industry that help mankind, have joined the gamblers of Wall street or sold themselves into a business or profession of doubtful character. Money and social position are theirs, but that is all the reward they will get; and it is a mighty poor one when you sit down and think it all over.

God Almighty shows how little he thinks of money by the sort of folks he gives it to. Men and women who forsake every high ideal just for a Handful of Silver never know the beautiful and good, for the curse of money's mysterious magic. The heights of true living are unexplored, the ideals worth striving for are forgotten, and the real alchemy of fine desires is lost to sense through the Midas wish to turn all loveliness and beauty into marketable gold.

OBITUARY.

FREDERICK BRANDT, a resident of this community since 1857, died last Saturday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Herman Schewinkel, at the age of 77 years and two weeks. Heart disease, by which he was easily overcome on account of his advanced age, was the cause of his death. The end came after two weeks of suffering, during which time he remained cheerful until he passed away to a better life according to his faith. He was converted under the labors of Rev. Henry Brandt and Rev. William Schewinkel, and became a member of the Evangelical church in 1871. He was known as a sincere and honest man, loving fairness in all deals with his fellowmen, and himself industrious and faithful in his family duties.

He is survived by his widow, three children, three step-children and ten grandchildren. He also has one sister and one brother living in Germany.

Mr. Brandt was born at Weiseide, Amt Oelendorf, Kreis Schamburg, Germany, on May 10, 1836. In 1856 he came to America and settled here. On August 5, 1870, he was married to Miss Marie Schroeder, who survives him.

The following are quotations by the Rev. Mr. Thoren, who delivered the funeral sermon:

"Frederick Brandt was an honored and friendly citizen, a good neighbor, a quiet and unassuming Christian, a faithful husband and a cheerful father. His clear and prompt confession of his faith in God and his assurance of a blessed hope in eternal life a day before his death are assuring and comforting as we linger for a little while to bid adieu to his form that sleeps silently and lifeless before us today."

"Father Brandt was a loyal and lovingly nursed during the days of his weakness and suffering, and every attention was given to his desires and needs. When the physician expressed his opinion as to the likelihood of the issue the relatives bore it graciously and submitted to the inevitable. Many friends called at the beautiful home of his daughter, where he spent the latter part of his life."

"The bereaved family desire that expression be given to their appreciation of the kindness of the people who have been so thoughtful and neighborly during the days of sickness and sorrow."

"We share our mutual woes.

"Our mutual burdens bear.

"And often for each other flows,

The sympathizing tear."

The funeral service was held in the Salem church Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. Herman H. Thoren, pastor of the church, spoke in English and Rev. J. Buentz, pastor of the Zion church, spoke in German. The Plagge sisters trio sang and Miss Myrtle Plagge also sang a solo. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

PHILANDER MOULTON, who resided in Lake county, near this village, for 30 years, died last Saturday morning at his home at 702 Brook street, Elgin, at the age of 91 years. He moved to Elgin in 1885.

Mr. Moulton was born in Auburn, Ohio, July 17, 1822. When a boy his parents died and he was left an orphan. An uncle, living on a large farm in Ohio, cared for him during his youth and when 19 years of age he set out to make a home for himself.

In 1845 he came to Illinois and settled on government land near Barrington, Lake county.

In 1846 he was married to Eunice C. Hollister. Six children were born to this union, four of whom are still living: Mrs. Fred Bauer, Delos Moulton, widow of the late James B. Lane, and Page H. Moulton of California. Three grandchildren and five great grandchildren also survive.

His first wife died in 1881 and he married again two years later. He served in the Second Illinois regiment during the Civil war and was honorably discharged at its close.

The funeral was held from the family home in Elgin at 9:00 o'clock Monday morning, and the remains were brought here and interred in the White cemetery, north of town.

CHARGE IN PARCELS POST STAMPS.

A change is to be made in the parcels post stamps. The new stamps are to be smaller than those now in use and different colors will be used for different denominations, instead of having all the stamps one color as at the present time. The numerals will also be larger. While the new stamps may not be as well liked as those now used they will be much more practical, according to advice sent out from the office of the postmaster general at Washington. At the present time the only way to get a postage of a stamp can be done by looking for a small number of either of the lower or upper corners of the stamp. On the new stamps the denomination can be told by the color, the same as the regular postage stamp.

Just Like a Man.

A man suffered from inflammatory rheumatism, and his wife nursed him patiently, but he was a fault-finding disposition, but she was very patient and also very fond of him.

After an especially severe attack, a friend called to inquire after him. The patient wore a mournful expression.

"Well," said the friend, cheerfully, "how are you today?"

"Very badly," replied the rheumatite sufferer, "and it's all my wife's fault."

"Why," cried the friend in astonishment, "is it possible?"

"Yes," moaned the invalid, "you know, the doctor told me always to avoid damp places; and there my wife sits and cries just to make the air moist around me."

Valuable Beets Now.
Not long ago a Washington scientist, an enthusiastic student of natural history, captured five specimens of beetles. On reaching home he, in a moment of haste, pinned the beetles to a library table with his diamond scarpin.

When he returned to the library from his dinner, he found the captive had got loose and was flying about with the diamond pin gleaming from his back.

Man and bug made a rush for the window at the same instant. Harper's Weekly reports the beetle got there first and triumphantly sailed away, barely eluding the scientist's hand. Neither bug nor pin has since been seen.

Singing a Change.
"Goin' to sing again this year?" asked the office peacock.

"Nope. Can't afford to."

"What cha goin' to do, then?"

"Well," said O'Beetle, "we've made arrangements to have new street numbers put on the house on our block."

"LIKE MAGIC."
New Food Makes Wonderful Changes.

When a man has suffered from dyspepsia so many years that he can't remember when he had a natural appetite, and then hits on a way out of trouble he may be excused for saying "It acts like magic."

When he is a simple, wholesome food instead of any one of a large number of so called remedies in the form of drugs, he is more than ever likely to feel as though a sort of miracle had been performed.

A Chicago man, in the delight of restored digestion, said to his doctor: "Like magic, entirely describes the manner in which Grap-Nuts relieved me of poor digestion, coated tongue and loss of appetite, of many years standing."

"I tried about every medicine that was recommended to me without relief. Then I tried Grap-Nuts on the strength of your recommendation. I had finished the fourth package, my stomach was all right, and the past two months I have been eating with a relish anything set before me. That is something I had been unable to do previously for years."

"I am stronger than ever and I consider the effects of Grap-Nuts on a weak digestive system are really wonderful. It builds up the entire body as well as the brain and nerves." Name given by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to More Health," in pigs.

"There's a reason, better?" A very good reason from time to time. They are good, even for the bones."

NEWS FROM FATHERLAND

A Brief Resumé of the Most Important Happenings in the German Empire.

The steamer Imperator developed a leak in the English Channel.

The controversy with England about the Bagdad railway will soon be settled to the satisfaction of Germany.

Kaiser Wilhelm has pardoned three English spies who had left about two years of the terms to which they had been sentenced.

Meat is a little cheaper than a while ago. But the consumption of meat is going down. In Berlin, for instance, 24,508 fewer animals were butchered in March, 1913, than in March, 1912.

Kaiser Wilhelm is going to use his pardoning power only sparingly in connection with silver jubilee as ruler of Germany. Convicts having committed serious crimes will not be considered.

Budapest.—Eight thousand persons were rendered homeless, one child was burned to death, many people were injured and heavy financial loss was caused by a great fire in the center of the city. The flames quickly involved several blocks of houses in the destruction.

The price of $10,000 which the German emperor offered on his birthday last year for the best German aviation motor constructed before his anniversary this year, was awarded to an aviator who built a 100-horsepower, four-cylinder motor along such lines that it is practically proof against breakdowns.

Four German philosophers are trying to explain love scientifically. Only one of them, Dr. Lohmann, will be believed, because his theory is the most striking. Love, says, is a natural instinct. It is a "remnant of old remanence" from the time when amoebae and other unicellular organisms possessed and otherwise desert earth. The later multicellular organisms, including man himself, were produced by the splitting up of the unicellular organisms, and in its earlier stages may be seen under the microscope.

The usual conception of the splitting up of a unicellular organism into two, is that it represents a child organism arising from a parent organism. That is not so, because neither organism dies. The real parent organism, that is, the two organisms, will have equality, and in this is the origin of sex and later of love, says Dr. Lohmann.

The theories of the other philosophers are still more abstract, in fact, too much so even to be interesting.

Berlin.—The stadium for the Olympic games of 1916 is completed and will be opened to the public on June 1 in the presence of Kaiser Wilhelm and the foreign ambassadors. Thirty thousand representatives of sporting associations will participate in a great parade and then will watch the games arranged for the occasion. The final address of Minister Podbielski, chairman of the organizing committee, will be scattered over many by 10,000 homing pigeons collected from cities in every part of the nation to be released at the conclusion of the speaking.

The stadium in the center of the Grunewald race course, has a seating capacity of 17,000, and a total capacity of 20,000. The stadium will be a world's record in its size and comfort, and are comfortable and afford an excellent view. The construction of the stadium is of concrete with every convenience for the public, the athletes and the press. The track is 656 yards 6 inches in length. There is also a back track of 728 yards 1 foot for the use of the 200-meter race. The stadium will be used constantly until the Olympic games are held to stir up national interest in athletics. It costs $600,000 and was built in less than ten months.

Lieutenant Schroeder Stranz, the German explorer, and his Arctic exploration party, have all perished, according to a report from the ship Hertha.

The party, which was composed of 11 Germans and 5 Norwegians, set out in June last in the ship Hertha under command of Captain Ritterhau. In August the ship ran short of provisions and was resupplied by a small boat.

Nothing further was heard of the party until Ritterhau arrived at Advent Bay after a long and terrible overland journey and reported that disaster had overtaken the expedition at Widge Bay.

Two relief parties set out, one composed of the Norwegians, the other formed by employees of the Northern Exploration Company.

The latest news from these parties confirms the worst fears. Captain Stranz, the leader of the Norwegian expedition, reports the death of four members of the German expedition. Schroeder Stranz had not been seen since he left the ship in August last and his fortune has not since been heard of. It is supposed that he crossed Hinlopen strait to Northeastland, a wild and desolate region where food would be extremely scarce.

General assertions of Professor R. Pickett, inventor of Uiquilite, that he has discovered a "cold cure" for leprosy, are attracting attention here. He says that American doctors in Hawaii are giving his methods a trial and have already found them successful. Letters are sent to him for application of liquid carbon dioxide at a very low temperature—115 degrees below zero.
