SIX DAY MEETINGS APPRECIATED BY ALL

Chautauqua Meetings Closed Sunday Evening—All Were Well Attended.

WILL BE HERE ANOTHER YEAR

Local Committee Signs Contract For Return Next Season—Tickets Easily Sold.

When the Barrington Lincoln chautauqua came to a close Sunday evening those who had attended it and previous chautauquas here were ready to proclaim this year's event by far the best in point of entertainment and instruction, and the members of the local committee say that the attendance was better than ever before. Thus it can be said that the chautauqua was entirely successful, and no doubt all will be glad to learn that arrangements have been made for its return next year. Tickets to the number of 600, the amount required by the management, were pledged to secure another engagement.

By far the best lecture of the six days, in the opinions of most people, was delivered on Thursday by Harold Morton Kramer. He was an emphatic and a virile speaker and his active and convincing manner served to hold the attention of his hearers from start to finish. The title of his afternoon address was "Here and Nowhere," and it deals with character and morals. In the evening he quoted the first chapter of Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," showing from whence he had received the title of his address, "Hags and Rainbows." He said he had a message to deliver concerning the times in which we live, and went on to tell of the political and social evils of the present day, as he saw them, and to suggest the remedy—strife on the part of every man to better conditions. He quoted history to prove that we are living under the best conditions that the world has ever known and stated emphatically that conditions are growing better year by year. His complaint was that too many of us are content to pray for reforms and trust in the Lord to give them to us. "Add hands and feet and votes to your prayers," he said, "and you will get results—win, stomachs and tickness."

After telling the men of their duty he turned his attention to the women for a few minutes, saying the women's fashions lie at the root of some of the greatest economic problems of the day. "Many women," he said, "are wearing ridiculous and even vulgar and indecent clothes under the delusion that they are 'stylish.' " "Parisian fashions" as copied by the society women of this country with the fond belief that they are the 'latest thing' are worn there only by the women of the streets, according to Mr. Kramer, and he quoted the editor of the Ladies' Home Journal as authority for his statements. Closing his talk he named the seven wonders of the modern world—wireless telegraphy, the telephone, the aeroplane, radium, antiseptics and antitoxins, spectrum analysis and the x-ray—as compiled by Popular Mechanics from the lists of 200 of the greatest scientists of the world. He compared these modern wonders with the seven wonders of the ancient world, only one of which was of use to man, but mind and merit are combined in them. Can you doubt that humanity is moving forward?" Appearing on the program that day with Mr. Kramer was the National Concert Company, Miss Nell Bunnell, soprano soloist, Miss Edna Crum, violinist and Miss Clara Kello, pianist and reader. Miss Bunnell is the possessor of a clear, sweet voice and delighted her audience at every appearance, although Miss Kello, the reader, was probably the most popular of the trio. The solo, "A Perfect Day," with violin obligato, closed the evening program.

The following day, Friday, was advertised as the big day of the chautauqua and was not in the least disappointed. The lecturer, Daniel C. Clegg, secretary to the late Sam Jones, appearing in the afternoon only, delivered his famous lecture, "West, Philosophy and Fun." Before his death Mr. Jones gave Clegg the sole right to deliver his lectures and Mr. Clegg is presumed to have given an exact imitation of Mr. Jones in words, voice and gestures. Quoting Mr. Jones he said, "The next best thing to old fashioned religion is fun." "To be happy, count your blessings." "If a man's to be happy he must make a conquest of himself." "There is as much patriotism in giving for your country as in doing for it." "The most heartless

TWO DOLLARS FOR WINTER MILK

Milk Producers at Harvard Picnic Announce Demands—Picnic Was Big Success.

Two dollars a hundred pounds for winter milk.

This will be the demand of the Milk Producers' association upon the big milk buying companies when contracts for the winter supply are made Sept. 15, according to Director C. H. Potter of Elgin, chairman of the price committee.

The campaign really opened, though informally, at the big Harvard picnic of the association held last week Wednesday.

The picnic was a great success. During the afternoon, the St. Charles Boys' Home Band gave a concert from a platform in the town. The Presbyterian ladies served a dinner to those who came without lunches.

In the afternoon there were speeches at a grotto, and horse races and a ball game.

Director R. F. Tuttle of Poplar Grove, who formerly had charge of the picnic, presided. Mayor J. H. Vickers gave the address of welcome, which was responded to by President Elmer J. Fellows of St. Charles. Senator A. J. Olson of Woodstock told his interest in the cause of the farmers and Attorney V. S. Lumley delivered the declaration of independence of the association.

Mr. Lumley spoke of the right of franchise recently acquired by women and said it was another indication that the common people of both sexes are coming into their own. He predicted the passing of drudgery on the farm, especially by the women.

Prof. Wing of Ohio spoke on alfalfa growing.

The board of directors of the association will meet in Chicago soon to frame the milk scale.

Public Service Takes Charge.

The final step in the transfer of the property of the Northwestern Gas Light & Coke company to the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois Service taken in when the latter company took formal possession of all the works and offices of the gas company, the printed and advertising literature being changed to read Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, Successor to the Northwestern Gas Light & Coke company.

Drown in Lake Michigan.

J. H. G. Geenz of Racine brother-in-law of Henry Pingle, Jr., of this village, was drowned in Lake Michigan last Sunday evening when he fell off an excursion boat. His body has not yet been recovered. He leaves a wife and two children.

thing on earth is a society woman. I have shaken hands with society women and I would as soon shake a dead fish's tail."

The entertainment for that day was furnished by Bland's band and orchestra, this organization giving the entire program in the evening. In the evening they gave a varied program of familiar, classical and dramatic selections, and humorous pieces, all of which were heartily applauded. "Custer's Last Charge," a descriptive piece was the final rendition and was very effective.

Saturday Dr. Charles A. Payne, who has appeared here several times before and is popular on the chautauqua platform, spoke in the afternoon on "The Makers of America," his lecture being a picture of America in contrast with other countries. Mr. Payne is a world traveler and has visited most every inhabitable country on the globe, and speaks with first-hand knowledge of conditions in other countries. His comparison was most complimentary to America. In the evening he delivered a lecture on the Panama canal, illustrated with stereopticon views, which was interesting and without a doubt the most instructive of the series of lectures delivered at the chautauqua. Accompanying Mr. Payne as entertainers were Carl Lindgren, singer, and Emerson Winters, accompanist and reader. Mr. Lindgren's selections were pleasing and he takes rank as one of the best singers appearing on the platform while Mr. Winters' humor was brought forth in a round of applause each time and his hearty laugh let to him go. His piano solos were especially well received.

Sunday, the last day of the six, the Lyric Glee club, four men who have traveled together in this work for a dozen years, entertained with music, both vocal and instrumental, during the afternoon and opened the program in the evening. Their work was highly pleasing.

Mr. Nannie Curtis, a suffragist and temperance lecturer, spoke in the evening.

CONDITIONS ON COUNTY FARMS

Story by Lake County's New Expert His Experiences Among the Farmers.

Stanley F. Morse, the new Lake County farm expert, has been busy visiting the farmers of the county and securing members to the crop improvement association. The following township farmers have joined the association the past month: H. Stillson Hart; W. Leonard; Henry Rewyer; F. Hauck; Geo. Wessel; E. W. Riley; A. F. Grom; F. Kirschner; W. I. Martin; V. C. Davlin; Dexter Brown and Emil Weineck.

Mr. Morse expects to be in our township again soon. During his trip through the county he has had some interesting experiences, and tells them to our correspondent as follows:

The life of a farm expert is not an easy one. As a farmer remarked the other day, "I don't believe I would like a farm expert's job." It's mighty hard to please everybody, and there are so many natural-born kickers and knockers he has to run up against. He surely earns his pay and I don't envy him in the least." This is literally true. There are some farmers who seem to find their greatest enjoyment in life in opposing everything progressive. No mind is more fertile than such farmers' in finding objections to the advice of the farm expert, and the expert has his hands full to be able to meet these objections in a convincing manner.

Besides this, the expert has to have great patience and self-control to restrain himself from calling attention to the many things which might be easily improved on various farms and yet the mention of which might cause offense to be taken.

One farmer who was protesting loudly that nobody could tell him anything about farming is cutting oats, though 90 percent of which were spoiled by smut, which could have been cheaply and easily prevented by the formaldehyde treatment. Another has one-half of his corn stunted for lack of a few dollars worth of potash. Another complains of the scarcity of labor, is getting 50 acres of corn that will never be harvested, and has not even more easily have raised 80 bushels per acre on 40 acres; thus producing the same aggregate amount of corn with a saving of at least one-third the labor. One farmer who claimed to know all about farming was seen harvesting oats that would go 25 bushels per acre, and he had neither a silo nor an alfalfa field, his brother who said he still had something to learn about farming was cutting heavy oats and had both a silo and some alfalfa. And yet another practical farmer stated that scientific farming was all both because a neighbor of his had applied ground limestone to a piece of land this spring and speeded for Elgin where a doctor cared for the wound. While Lawrence's arm is badly swollen, he is believed he will recover.

Bitten Twice by Tarantula.

Eric Lawrence of Elgin, railroad operator at Almora, was twice bitten by a tarantula yesterday, when he picked up a bundle of papers which had been in a car containing bananas.

Lawrence leaped upon his motorcycle and speeded for Elgin where a doctor cared for the wound. While Lawrence's arm is badly swollen, he is believed he will recover.

Must Use Red Cane, Marked Gasoline.

One of the important fire prevention enactments at the recent session of the Illinois legislature was the passage of the red gasoline law, making it a misdemeanor, punishable by fine, for any retail dealer to sell gasoline to any person unless it is placed in a red receptacle labeled "gasoline" in letters not less than a half-inch high.

to lift from the shoulders of the farmer the responsibility of giving his attention to the technical side of farming. A "cottage" farmer is such a busy man that, however willing he may be to study, he will usually take as much of his time that the scientific end of the business has to suffer. But with a farm expert to call on at any time the farmer will soon be operating his business as scientifically as any factory. Wastes will be slowly eliminated, the cost of production reduced, hours shortened, methods of buying, marketing and distribution improved and profits increased. By organization is the only way that this can be done.

Mr. Nannie Curtis, a suffragist and temperance lecturer, spoke in the evening.

NEWS OF THE FARM AND DAIRY

Notes of Comment and Interest to Local Agriculturalists and Milk Producers.

Despite frenzied efforts of one hundred men and women of the neighborhood of Plato Center, the only industry of the hamlet, the Ira J. Mix milk bottling works, was burned to the ground Monday afternoon entailing a loss of $8,000.

Attorney V. S. Lumley of Woodstock and E. J. Fellows of St. Charles have been selected as Labor day speakers for the picnic to be given by members of the Dundee Merchants' and Milk Producers' associations at Carpenter Park, Dundee, September 1.

Most farmers in this vicinity have finished cutting their grain and report better crops than they had expected. Some have already threshed and two or three sets of oats going 50 bushels to the acre and better.

C. Dundee of Dundee will speak at the picnic of a half of high grade Holstein, Guernsey and Durham cattle on his farm every Friday.

STEPPED ON BY HORSE.

Ten-Year-Old Boy Has Leg Broken Saturday While Feeding Horses on Father's Farm.

Hoerner Schaefer, the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schaefer who reside on a farm two and one-half miles south of this village, had his leg broken last Saturday in a peculiar manner. In running in doing the chores around the barn he had entered a stall beside one of the horses to give the horse its feed. The horse turned over, stepping on his left foot and breaking the leg just above the ankle.

Dr. Shearer was called and set the broken bone, and the lad is on the way to recovery.

The clerk read a communication from the Barrington Concert band in which the band asked for an appropriation of $100 to enable it to give public band concerts during the balance of the year. Upon motion of Trustee Lageschulte the petition was referred to the committee on finance.

H. J. Lageschulte spoke at length in regard to the band's request to the corporation of blind pigs in local option territory and the duties of the marshal and trustees in this respect. He stated that he was under the belief that liquor was being sold in this village and thought that a warning by the village board to the parties which he mentioned would result in a discontinuance of the alleged offense. Another matter which he wished action taken on was the delivery of alcoholic liquors in this territory by out of town people. It seems the village attorney had asked Marshal Peters to secure evidence against these people and the marshal had a case to report where he had found a delivery man for William Blochman of Lake Zurich unloading cases of beer at the house of a resident of this village. He said that the man admitted it was beer and had a written order, mailed from this postoffice two days before the delivery. He wanted to know if the board wished to take any action in the matter. Trustee Lageschulte was of the opinion that Mr. Blochman could be prosecuted. President Lageschulte said he thought that a citizen of this village had a right to purchase alcoholic liquors any place where they were legally authorized to sell such material and bring them into the village, have them delivered or shipped in, as they saw fit. He did not believe, he said, that there was any law to prevent this practice and did not think that it was the intention of the voters of this village, to prevent citizens from buying what they wanted in this place, legally authorized to sell such goods. Most of the trustees were inclined to agree with the president with the exception of Messrs. Lageschulte and Sutherland and upon the advice of Trustee Plagge the matter was referred to village attorney with instructions that he advise the board at the next meeting. The question aroused quite a heated discussion which lasted for some time.

The trustees voted to require cement walks in front of the Charles Schaefer property on Limit street and Grove avenue, and placed the question of a price for tapping water mains in the hands of the committee on fire and water, after which an adjournment was taken until the next regular meeting.

The E. J. & E. railroad has installed a hydrant near their Main street crossing for the purpose of supplying their employees with village water.

Commercial paper is to be taken at 65 per cent. of its face value as security for these deposits, bonds, other than government bonds for 75 per cent. of their "market value," and government bonds at par.

The government will charge two per cent. interest on these funds and the distribution is to be limited to banks in "two or three principal cities" in each of the states "where harvesting is now in progress." Fifteen per cent. of the money is to be returned in December, 30 per cent. in January, 30 per cent. in February, and 30 per cent. in March. All commercial paper offered first must be passed upon and approved by the clearing house committees in the cities where the banks offering the paper are located.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Secretary Bryan on Saturday declined to outline the terms of the administration's currency bill on Friday, after more than five weeks of continuous and stormy discussion.

The bill was ordered closed and reprinted, and on Monday the Democratic committee members will take a formal vote to determine the measures to be taken in this direction.

Commercial paper is to be taken at 65 per cent. of its face value as security for these deposits, bonds, other than government bonds for 75 per cent. of their "market value," and government bonds at par.

The government will charge two per cent. interest on these funds and the distribution is to be limited to banks in "two or three principal cities" in each of the states "where harvesting is now in progress." Fifteen per cent. of the money is to be returned in December, 30 per cent. in January, 30 per cent. in February, and 30 per cent. in March. All commercial paper offered first must be passed upon and approved by the clearing house committees in the cities where the banks offering the paper are located.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 7, 1913

THANK THESE MEN.

A committee of about 15 local citizens have yearly made the chautauqua possible for Barrington. Of these men eight have been especially active, A. W. Meyer, J. F. Gleske, George Stilphenhofer, H. J. Lageschut, F. L. Waterman, J. S. Hettlinger, H. D. A. Grebe and F. H. Plagier. It is to these eight that the people of this community owe especial thanks this year for making it possible for them to enjoy the privilege of a first class series of lectures and entertainments twice daily for six days. They are among the leading business men of the village, and having taken time from their own work to devote to this project without any remuneration other than the satisfaction they get from being responsible for supplying this village with an up-to-date chautauqua, they are deserving of particular credit. Hats off to them!

The Barrington Lincoln Chautauqua is not to be belittled. While the talent may not be the best in the world it is far better than this village could secure in any other manner—very much better than any "one night stand" company, coming here on its own initiative, could afford to supply.

Those who have attended even a few of the meetings this year appreciate the fact that the chautauqua has been giving its audiences many times the price of admission fee in amusement, entertainment and instruction, but there are some people who have refused to even view the outside of the tent for fear they would be "converted" or something of the kind would be done to them. They think nothing but temperance lectures are delivered, and that it is a "church affair." If they have read the reports of the meetings in the REVIEW carefully they will see how easily they are mistaken. Temperance was alluded to be several times by the lecturers, as it is rarely mentioned by any public speaker who attempts to touch upon the current topics of the day or talks up the theme of public welfare, but there was not a real temperance lecture in evidence and even the "saints" ought to be able to stand five minutes of "dry talk" for the sake of the other things they will be interested in.

The man who is prejudiced against the chautauqua, and there are some few of that sort here, if asked why, would be at a loss for words. He leads us to believe that it is as one of the lecturers said—he wouldn't be able to carry away his money's worth.

Origin of Two Old Sayings. "Going to the dogs" comes from the East, where dogs are scavengers of the streets, and become so unclean as to be unfit to touch; while the expression "Tell it to the marines" used to show a disbelief in the worth of a story, arising from the fact that the marines first won "afloat" they were naturally rather "rough" concerning nautical affairs, and someone who related a very tall yarn was told "tell it to the marines," the idea being that they could be more easily gullied.

Our Friends and Enemies. The things which our friends do with and for us form a part of our lives; for they strengthen and advance our personality. But the things which our enemies devise against us do not form part of our lives; we only experience them, reject them, and guard ourselves against them as against frost, fire, lightning, hell or any other external inconvenience which may be encountered.—Gosche.

Poor Provider. An old negro in Texas was asked if he was going to register. He wished to know how he would have to prove himself. On being told that he had to swear to support the constitution his eyes widened, and, drawing a long breath, he said he couldn't do it, because he couldn't support himself.

Kept Busy.

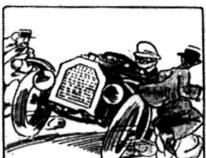

"I suppose that with Jinks it was a case of marry in haste and repent at leisure." "Not exactly. His principal complaint appears to be that he has no leisure."—Buffalo Express.

THE OUTLOOK

BY HENRY HOWLAND

A BUSTED
LOCHINVAR

On young Lochinvair had found gold in the West. Throughout the wide border his car was the best. He could ride the wind, setting speed laws at night. He ran down old people and never was caught. He scolded at policemen who watched for his car. And drivers were crippled by young Lochinvair.

He stayed out for bump and he swerved for stones. He slipped like a flint and he slipped all day. He made mothers weep, he ran over the blind. He left a long streak of smoke streaming. He shot o'er the scene like a red shotgun. Oh, that terrible scorcher was young Lochinvair.

Where the streets were most crowded he passed with a whiz. And the goglies he wore covered most of his skin. But he'd screw a nut or a bolt. Fall out of his place, with a sickening jolt. He lay beneath the warped frame of his car. And nobody wept for the young Lochinvair.

Changed. "Since her husband has made a fortune she doesn't seem to be the same woman she was." "I know it. She always says 'ha' gotten."

Poet's Lot a Hard One. The lives of poets in this callous world have never been characterized by much nobility. Poetry is charged with a modern and more ingenuous cruelty to an unfortunate band. He advertised for poems, offering to set them to music and charging the author $21. But most poets prefer to be published "before being set to music."—Springfield Republican.

Arabia's Great Desert. In Arabia it seems that there is a tract of land unexplored which is nearly five times as large as Great Britain. Probably there is no more desolate waste to be found in the world. The desert is the "dwelling of the void." Not a single river is estimated to flow throughout its entire 400,000 square miles.

Suffered Eczema Fifty Years—Now Well. Seems a long time to endure the skin disease known as "itcher"—another name for Eczema. Seems good to realize, also, that DR. HOBSON'S READING GYMNASIUM has proven a permanent cure.

Mr. D. L. Kenney writes:—"I cannot sufficiently express my thanks to you for your Dr. Hobson's Eczema treatment. It has been a great relief which has troubled me for over fifty years. All drugs, or by mail. 50¢. PEPPER CHEMICAL CO., St. Louis, Mo. Philadelphia, Pa.

In Company. In mixed company, among acquaintances and strangers, endeavor to learn something from all. Be swift to hear; be cautious of your tongue, lest you betray your ignorance and perhaps offend some who are present.—Isaac Watts.

Unpleasant Task Laid on Him. The farmer's son came home looking as if he had been through a tornado. His father inquired the cause.

The son replied: "It's that darn correspondence school again. I got a letter from the sophomores telling me to hate myself."

Bachelor's Blunder. "I just won't for car fare and lunch on a date." "I suppose that a man wouldn't have any need of money when she goes shopping." But every married man knows better.—Chicago News.

Pessimistic. The best luck any man can have is never to have been born; but that seldom happens to anyone.

Genius. Genius is the art of taking infinite pains.—Carlyle.

THE "SUPERIOR" SEX

BY ERNEST WOLLETT.

Miss Bellinda, at her summer home, was setting out a bed of vegetables with the help of the man she employs by the day when she can entice him from his old flat-bottomed fishing boat.

"It was real smart of you to raise those little plants in the city and bring them out here," said the man. "You'll have tomatoes and eggplants before any one else. I don't see how you ever come to think of them now. It beats all how some women can plan ahead more'n men folks. Now, that patch of onions and lettuce you put in last fall before you went away has come up fine. I don't see how."

"I'm glad. Come to hear you speak highly of women's ability," said Miss Bellinda. "I think we women will have to get you to work for us this summer."

"Well, I'll workin' for you now," said the man, mystified. "Some of them fellers that I used to work for, I'd work for 'em morin's before you got down to the garden run me 'bout workin' so much for a woman. But I always say that I don't see why your money ain't as good as anybody's. And I will say this, Miss Bellinda, it's a sight surer than hell."

"Thank you, Cassius. I'm happy to know that you're satisfied and that you believe in women. I hope you'll help women get the ballot this fall."

"Get the ballot? How are the women expectin' to get the ballot?" Cassius asked.

"They're expectin' to get it in this state through the referendum." Miss Bellinda paused, but as Cassius did not appear much enlightened she continued: "You see, the question of women's suffrage is to be voted upon next November in Wisconsin."

"I ain't never heard of it," Cassius thrust a little seedling into the ground with masculine roughness that ended its young life. "What do women folks know about politics, any way?"

"Even you don't appear to be fully informed on all the present leases," declared Miss Bellinda, laughing.

"Well, I ain't never been one to believe in women gettin' out of their place."

"Just what is a woman's place, I'd really like to know."

"Well, I think a woman's place is at home. I don't never want to see my wife gallivantin' round to the place. Her place is at home."

"That reminds me," said Miss Bellinda pleasantly. "I need some one tomorrow to help my maid wash the curtains. Can you find any time?"

"Well, I sure 'bout it. It's a scrubbin' the post office and hardware store floors and workshop this week. I do beat all how busy she is. She ain't hardly been home a hull day since the spring house cleanin' begun."

"Oh, then she doesn't stay in her place all the time," Miss Bellinda remarked sweetly.

Cassius wiped his hand across his perspiring forehead and left a trail of garden soil on his persered brow.

"Well, anyway, she ain't mixin' up with man's business," he said, doffing his cap.

"How, we have a woman postmaster this year, and isn't Mr. Beasley running the hardware store now? Is there a woman doing that? I must be quite behind the times if there are so many changes here."

"Everything's just the same as it always is. Even if you kind of laze about it, Miss Bellinda, you know mighty well that scrubbin' floors ain't men's business."

"No, I know it's not considered man's work. It's a little too strenuous for most of the men in this neighborhood, I suppose. I think it's about eight hours a day, though, when houses aren't used to holding much except a jackknife or a fishing pole on their knees all day, pushing a scrubbing brush across the floor, wouldn't it?"

Cassius only replied to this question when a group of men were to bring a pall of smoke for the plants.

On his return he stood with a rather majestic poise over Miss Bellinda's kneeling figure and said: "The polls ain't decent for women. I've said it before, and I say it again, women folks ain't got no business in such a dirty place. It's the voting place, in town," said Miss Bellinda.

"Well, since the old town hall burned down we've been votin' in the Oakland district school."

"Oh, that's where your daughter goes to school, is it? You must hate to have Amanda in such a dirty place so much of the time."

Cassius did not reply to this, when a group of men were to bring a pall of smoke for the plants.

"Well, Miss Bellinda, I guess there ain't no way you can make God made man before he made woman and give him the first place to the hull of creation."

"Mm, mm, mm," laughed. Then as she washed Cassius slosh water she said to herself: "And our destiny is left to the lords of creation!"

Then there's no row.

"Gracious! That's where the peach trees are growing there," said the man, peeling the peach skin after peeling, then add to any ice cream mixture flavored with almond.

Peach ice cream is delicious. Press the peaches through a sieve after peeling, then add to any ice cream mixture flavored with almond.

Two Sides to the Shield

The Cincinnati Enquirer says that married men live longer than bachelors because it is so easy for the former to increase their physical strength twice as fast as bachelors because they add their wife's joy to their own. A sophistical argument, which sounds well enough as long as you suppress the fact that bad luck goes double, too.

Ornaments Last Longest

Ornaments last longer than anything else that man makes. There are brooches and necklaces in museums more than 40 centuries old. Monuments, perhaps, stand second and bachelors third. The art of furniture is better still. There is very little furniture in England which dates beyond the year 1500. Pictures last longer than ornaments in fair condition which have weathered six centuries of life.

Philippine Subterranean River

A subterranean river in the island of Palawan, one of the Philippines, has been explored by a party of two from the United States coast and geodetic survey, and is described in a report of that service. The river is navigable for a small boat for about two and a half miles from its mouth, the tunnel through which it passes widening in places into large chambers containing beautiful stalactites.

Science Pursues Criminal

Ultraviolet rays used while photo graphing a forged check were used to reveal the forged signature absolutely certain. The forger used a chemical ink eraser to remove some portion of the writing, but even though this be done so skillfully as to defy detection, under a high-power magnifying glass the rays reveal in the customer's face, usually using his hands for this purpose also.

Fell Away in Old Age

A reversal of the rule that it is never too late to mend is found in the case of a centenarian of Hartford, Conn., who, according to the report, fell away in old age of one hundred and nine years, having attained a grand climax in his life.

Another Complaint Recorded

A woman journalist tells us that in a collection of recent poetry there are poems of dust, rags, fish and tea, and that she has written a poem to the effect that woman has descended from her pedestal into the "hurdy burdy of life."

IN SUMMER MATERIAL

LINGERIE DRESSES FASHIONED FROM WHITE COTTON VOILE.

Has Many Advantages, Which Make It Approach the Ideal for Hot Weather—Sketch Shows Pretty Embroidery Method.

Some of the most useful and charming lingerie dresses are fashioned from fine, white cotton voile, which has a soft, dainty texture and wears fairly well. Hand or machine stitching work is a favorite trimming medium.

White Voile Costume With Border Embroideries.

In a frock of this sort, oftentimes combines with clumsy insertions or ribbons.

This season, with the vogue for colorful embroideries, much can be done with thin materials that have colored border designs, whether hand worked or included in the weave.

Just how different are the methods of utilizing border embroideries for dress trimmings from those of other seasons is demonstrated in the sketch shown for today. The material of the frock is a soft, fine white voile, with an oddly patterned border design outlined in coral and white floss.

The lower edge of the design is seen in the photograph and clearly and thus is used for the lower part of the blouse, with one of the points running up over either shoulder in front and back. The rest of the blouse is of plain plated voile made with elbow-length sleeves cut in one with the sides. A small, round collar finishes the neck, and a row of little coral buttons runs down the center front as trimming.

The tunic skirt has the cut-out border at the bottom, and is mounted evenly to the waist with gathers. The lower part of the underskirt is platted like the blouse and attached to a net foundation.

A black, colored satin may be used for the sash, which is tied in large loops at the back—Waddington Star.

Wrap for Traveling.

A military cape is the newest cloak for traveling. It is comfortable and warm, and can be folded and worn over a coat, a suit or even a dress, a suit or even a flimsy evening toilette. In cadet blue lined in scarlet and with a glam of brass buttons, it is truly dashing.

DESIGN FOR LITTLE SISTER

Silk and Cotton Combined in Pretty Costume That Has Some Really New Features.

Pale blue silk and cotton material has been made up most charmingly in a little girl's costume. The sleeves are trimmed with narrow plaited frills of the material and a black velvet sash passes under a strap buttoned with black velvet buttons. There is a round yoke edged with the plaited frilling and over this the yoke lies a round collar of material over which fastens at the back. Pale blue silk stockings and buttoned strap slippers of white kid complete the dainty costume.

Square Necked Wear.

A peasant bodice cut with square to the bust and fitted with wide folds of soft chiffon is made in a grecian style with a neck over the pointed decolletage. As with all necks, whether round, square or V-shaped, it has its omnipresent ruche of plaited lace or net, and an original note on some of these gowns shows a fall of lace in the middle of the back from the upstanding lace Medici's labor work behind.

"TUB" MATERIALS IN PLENTY

Among the Many Offered There is Ample Opportunity for Selection of Pretty Frock.

The tub flock has included washable voile in its materials this summer, and that dear old fabric has arisen from its ashes more delightfully useful and ornamental than ever, and makes the prettiest frocks for those who want something fairly thin, washable, and yet strong enough at times, and which will look nice to the end. The washing crepons, among other popular materials, always look smart if well cut and worn, while, in my opinion, the most useful frock of all is the handkerchief type, plain washable, but with a little hand-stitched colored edges. It is extraordinarily how adaptable this type of frock is, simplicity being the order, it can be worn with the most country sort of hat, or by the addition of a not too elaborate but smart sash and a cape. The following interesting description (still holding to the simple) of the possible fashions of a frilled collar and elbow cuffs, or a set in old embroidered net or muslin, it can be pressed into service for a far more important occasion. All the foregoing is to the address of the young person and to the taste of her mother or even grandmother. The ladies having a way of taking to themselves advice to the ingenue as a matter of course nowadays unless firmly told they must not!—London Queen.

CACHET FOR THE PETTICOAT

Band of Ribbon at the Knees Adds Effect of Costume—Also May Be Worn Around Bust.

The question of petticoats is a most important one just now, for with the narrow skirts and the lace underlays required by fashion, one wonders how a girl is to acquire even that semi-clothing that is required of her for her dressed stockings. All show at the knees. If she wears a lace petticoat, and there is no room for her skirts—however, a band of ribbon about six or seven inches wide can be run flat at the knees and will greatly add to the effect of her costume. A band of lace, however, is much better, straight around the blouse, under the arms and will bring out the lace brassiere on top of her princess slip, and in the uncorseted days, if the ribbons are banded slightly at front and back, may really be worn with a well-made lace brassiere instead of a corset, if one has the ultra slim figure that is now in regi.

COAT SUIT OF TAN EPOZONE

With Cut and Materials Particularly Effective for the Young Girl's Wear.

A particularly becoming coat suit for a young girl is offered here as a suggestion.

The blouse is of the same material as the coat, a broad, stiffened belt of black velvet holds the blouse fullness of the coat. The blouse closes in slightly, surprise buttoned above the belt, while the lower coat portion shows the cutaway influence. Buttons of black velvet with attendant buttonholes are placed just outside the shaded collar of white.

A splendid spinner can be made of a little balance wheel of an old set of clockwork (Fig. 1). This little wheel is so accurately made that it will spin very steadily, and as the ends of the pivot points will remain in contact while spinning, one of these wheels will spin from a minute and a half to 2 minutes. The toothed wheel shown in Fig. 2, or any of the other forms of clock wheels, will

HANDS NEED NOT BE ROUGH

Even the Busiest of Housewives Can Find Time for This Simple Beautifying Process.

Here are some useful hints, which, if followed, will be found to produce excellent results in keeping the hands smooth and soft. The last thing at night, wash the hands in a good soap in not too hot water, and after they have been thoroughly cleaned (a soft nail-brush being permissible as long as the skin is not injured), in clean warm water to which a few drops of tincture of benzoin has been added.

Dip them on a soft towel and rub them well with cocoanut butter, allowing it to sink into the skin. Massage the back of each hand and the fingers with the fingers of the other hand, rubbing them with the tips in a circular movement, and gradually draw them down the arm.

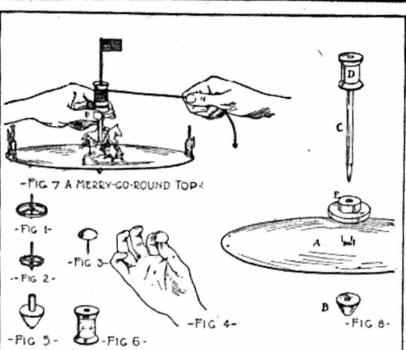

Now rub over with olive oil, and put on a pair of old chamois leather gloves, which, if kept on all night, will make the skin soft, as well as nice and white.

In cleaning the nails never use a steel instrument or the points of the scissors, and dirt can be removed by means of a nail over the point of a coat hanger on the end of an orange peeler, and moistening it with diluted peroxide of hydrogen.

Pretty Brassiere.

A pretty brassiere is made of alternate strips of lace and beading through which wide ribbon is threaded. Adjustable straps are used for crossing wear.

Made Daddy Gasp.

A certain small Chicago ladie is quick-witted as imitative, and so given to considering himself as quite an adult in comparison with his baby brother, that he now and then talks and acts in a manner that might be uncomprehendingly taken as impudent. Not long since at the family table the boy attempted to relate a recent experience. His father, who was then talking paid no attention, and the child's anger was broken for a brief instant, and the lad went on to himself. But a return to the normal conditions, and the love—the sunshine will be overshadowed by a cloud of reserve, abiding just as strong and true, perhaps, but not familiar enough for everyday use. Not all are like this little girl. There is a ladie whose love lives as crimson and saffron as days in June, and between whom and those around them there is no timidity and lack of frankness. Such as these are true missionaries in the world, rising above reserve and misgiving and repining, and making all around them more beautiful and glad by the sunny inspiration of their presence.

Wingless Chickens Next.
Relief for neighbors who do not keep chickens is promised in a new breed of wingless fowl on the way at Newton Courson's poultry farm at Newton, N. J. When fully hatched, these chickens will be unable to fly, a wingless fowl is quite as steady as the clockwork balance wheel top.

The top (Fig. 6) is made of a spool and a short piece of lead pencil. Saw off the top of the pencil, and taper one half from its bevelled end to the center. Sharpen the pencil to a point and push it through the spool until its point projects just a trifle.

The merry-go-round shown in Fig. 7 is a new toy idea that does not have to be made.

You will require a cardboard box 12 inches in diameter, which can be cut from the cover of a large cardboard box, three spools, a pencil and some light-weight cardboard for the making of the horses and riders. Fig. 8 shows the details. Tack the center of the disk platform (A, Fig. 8) to a

This decreases the length of time which they will spin, but makes the tops none the less interesting. Great fun may be had spinning these around a balance-wheel top, while the latter is spinning.

A large upholstering tack or a rug tack (Fig. 3) is a good spinner. While the clockwork wheels are spun by twirling them by means of the upper and the pivot, the balance wheel is spun by holding the pivot point, as shown in Fig. 9, then giving it a quick turn and dropping it upon a table. The tack top is an eccentric spinner. First it goes about in a very lively fashion; then when you think it is about through spinning it gains momentum and begins to spin in a circle, just as steadily as the clockwork balances wheel top. The tack top can be spun upon its head as well as upon its point.

"There's a Reason" for Postum.

COCA COLA HABIT, A GHOST.

We have all heard of ghosts, but none of us have ever seen one. It's the same with the Coca-Cola habit. You can hear about them but you might search for them until dooms day and you would never find one. Physicians who have treated hundreds of drug-habit cases, including opium, morphine, cocaine, alcohol, etc., say that they have never seen a case where the use of Coca-Cola had so failed itself upon the individual as to convert him into a habit in the true sense of the word. Although millions of glasses of Coca-Cola are drunk every day, no Coca-Cola drinker has made a middle-aged male able at the doors of the sanitarians for the treatment of drug habits.

The Coca-Cola habit is analogous to the cocaine habit, the coffee, the cherry habit and the ice cream habit. People drink Coca-Cola first because they see it advertised, and thereafter because it gives them a sense of well-being and pleasure when they drink it. They drink it when they can get it and contentedly do without it when they can't get it. If you had ever seen the effects of this drug, if you had ever observed the agony he suffers, you would never again be so unfair as to mention Coca-Cola as a "habit-forming" drug—Adv.

An English girl was fried the other day and said, "Why weren't you at the party last night?" The friend replied, "Oh, I had a dreadful accident. I sat on the lawn and a mosquito bit me, and I could not get my new skirt off over the bite!"—Kansas City Star.Square Meal.
Jones, who is somewhat of a philanderer, has come to his favorite restaurant at noon for lunch.

"Say," he began, addressing the manager, "a poor fellow came to me this morning asking for food, as he said he was starving. I gave him my card and sent him to your restaurant and he didn't get a good meal and I would pay for it. How much is the bill?"

"Fifty-five cents, sir."

"What did the poor man have?"

"Nine beers and a cigar."

Motor Displace Handcars.

Motor cars for laborers almost entirely displaced handcars on railroads. They are economical because they deliver the men at the place of operation in good condition.

IT'S HARD TO WORK

It's torture to work with a lame, aching back. Get rid of it. Kill the cause. Probably it's weak kidneys.

Heavy or continuing work is hard on the kidneys. Once the kidneys become inflamed and congested, the trouble keeps getting worse.

The trouble is not always travel, disease or Bright's disease. It is serious. Use DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS. For backache or bad kidneys.

An Illinois Case.

James E. Poynter, of Bellwood, Ill., says: "I was born with a kidney trouble. My mother took care of me, but I could not move. My kidneys were in terrible condition. Dr. D. O. Doan's Kidney Pills were prescribed. I took them for a short time and for four years. I have never returned."

A large number of them are open all night.
Through these centers, Seven Million Local Telephones may be reached.

Over each telephone several persons may be reached directly, and by messenger, practically everybody may be put in verbal communication.

facts to account.

Mother! Have Your Children Worms?

Are they feverish, restless, irascible, irritable, dizzy or constipated? Do they continually pick their nose or grind their teeth? Have they cramping pains, fretful and ravenous appetites?
These are all symptoms of the G.I.
"Kickapoo Worm Killer" at once. It kills and removes the worms, improves your child's appetite, regulates stomach, liver and intestines. The worms disappear and your child is made happy and healthy, as nature intended. All druggists or by mail. 25c.

Plan Road Work.

Supervisor Fred Kirschner of Cuba township attended a meeting of the Lake county supervisors at Waukegan Monday. The supervisors discussed the audit of county books recently made and took up the new road law, with an attempt to determine which roads in the county shall be designated as state aid roads. The will ask for a portion of their pro rata share of the automobile tax, which has been appropriated for road work. The money is to be divided equally among the counties of the state with the exception of Cook county, who will receive a larger proportion. Claiming that Lake county receives the brunt of the Chicago automobile travel, the supervisors believe that it too should be entitled to more than the other counties of the state from this fund.

The Best Pain Killer.

Bucklin's Arnica Salve when applied to a cut, bruise, sprain, burn, or scald, or other injury of the skin will dissolve venereal warts. E. C. Chalmers of Clinton, Me., says—"It relieves cuts and other injuries of their terrors.
As a healing remedy its equal don't exist. We have good for you. Only Whaling at Natal.

The whalers again have been montoring around the first humpback whale captured in Natal this season.
It was a good whale and very fat. On a second visit to the ocean the same whale captured a blue whale 70 feet long, which landed in the evening. Apparently the baleen whales are early this year.—Natal Mercury.

Deviled From Old Legend.

The Mexican stamp bears the coat of arms of the Tezozomoc, an eagle on a cactus, holding a serpent in its talons.
This device is the outgrowth of a legend that the first Aztec settlers chose the site of their city from seeing an eagle so engaged, and situated at that spot.

Not a Politician.

If a man is too proud to beg and too honest to steal, declares Jerome, he has no business getting into politi-cals.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

Faults Common to All.
On the whole we make too much of faults. Faults? The greatest of faults,
I should say, is to have none.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Homemade Cedar Chest.

Get a large pine packing box. Hinge on the lid and putty up the cracks if there are any, but it is better to get one without cracks. Purchase a bottles of cedar oil from the druggist and paint the inside of the box with this, making sure that the oil soaks into all crevices. Use the oil sparingly, and when thoroughly dry line the box with cambric. Cover the outside with any preferred material. The cedar oil will retain its odor for years, and is as much disliked by moths as the cedar wood itself.

Wonderful Human Stomach.

The human stomach as diagrammed in the encyclopedia resembles the map of South America, and as a potentially exercises the revolutional characteristics of that realm.
It varies in size, in youth being longer than in old age, and reaching from the chin to the waist. It is very thick in the body, rapidly becoming thinner as it goes down, and reaching from the back two feet beyond the natural plumb line.—American Magazine.

How to Reckon Tonnage.

The method of reckoning a vessel's tonnage, carpenter's measurements is as follows: For a single-deck vessel, multiply the length of the keel, the breadth of beam and depth of hold together and divide by 32. For a double-deck vessel, multiply as before, take half the breadth of beam for the depth of the hold and divide by 96.

Chance for Missionaries.

A missionary stationed in a land where the natives were cannibals wrote for assistance as follows: "Our native form of brethren seems to be unable to cope with the disease which prevails in this dark and benighted land. Many of the natives are starving for food. Please send a few more missionaries."

Why He Bought Solitude.

African Explorer (dumbfound)—
"What you, Clarence Vere de Vere, in the heart of darkest Africa? What in the world are you doing here?" Clarence Vere de Vere—"Well, the necktie Miss Darling gave me for Christmas I promised her I would know—Puck."

No Doubt About What He Meant.
Base—"I suppose you think I'm a fool?" Case—"That's what troubles me. If your supposition is correct, then you are a mind-reader, and therefore you cannot be a fool; and yet—
well, you understand."
