ONLY "CURE" FOR THE DISEASE IS SLAUGHTER

Dr. George H. Lytle When Asked for a Cure Says Slaughtering is the Only Way to Eradicate It.

COWS WILL RECOVER IN SHORT TIME

One Attack Does Not Make Them Immune—Records Show One Cow Had It Three Times in One Year.

It is upon the request of the Editor of the Review for a "cure" for foot-and-mouth disease that the following is submitted.

This disease requires little or no medical treatment as animals affected usually recover in from three to eight weeks. The death rate usually is about 3 per cent. The more serious losses come in the after effects, loss of meat, losses of milk, abscesses in the udders, etc. One attack does not render immune, there is a case on record of a cow having had the disease three times in one year.

We have had an opportunity to see how rapidly it spreads and how easily it may be carried from farm to farm. It cannot be eradicated by quarantining and disinfection alone, these measures have failed in every country where they have been tried. Unless stampeded out effectively it inflicts tremendous losses upon the dairyman and other stock owners year after year. In Denmark the annual cost of live stock from this disease is $8,000,000. In Germany $7,000,000. In France $10,000. When we consider that Illinois has 7,000,000 head of cattle, sheep and hogs we get an idea of what the losses in this state would be if this disease were allowed to gain a permanent foothold. It has cost the government only about $60,000 a year for the last 12 years to keep foot-and-mouth disease out of the country, a very small amount when compared to the losses which would have followed its spread over any considerable area.

With these facts before us we may take up the consideration of the best method of treatment. All authorities agree that the only safe way is to slaughter all infected animals and disinfest the premises as soon as possible after the disease appears.

I know this is a popular treatment, and I know what it means to the dairy farmers in this community, but I believe it is the best for all concerned. All this talk of quarantines and injunctions is the worst kind of nonsense in my opinion. The federal and state officials are working under orders and for the common good with the best of intentions. The best way to combat this disease is to have the state and county officials co-operate with the towns of Barrington, Elgin, Palatine, Algonquin, and St. Charles. The following officers were elected to manage the affairs of both companies:

President—F. A. Lageschulte.

Treasurer—H. J. Lageschulte.

George W. Spangler, Charles P. Hawley, J. F. Hollister, D. C. Oilly, Wm. H. Krundus, Fred S. Schuring, and the three officers named above will comprise the board of directors.

The company propose to do a general and thorough disinfection, test and feed infected, and the local and county officials should co-operate with them to the fullest extent. It may cost a little money now but it will increase the amount of taxable property next spring and at the same time save our farmers from serious financial loss.

Barrington township has not seen the last of foot-and-mouth disease, as these cases in our borders have lived long enough to infect the uninfected and I believe it would be well for our township to proclaim a closed quarantine, and permit no movement of cattle, sheep or hogs to be driven on the highways without a permit from an assistant state veterinarian. To keep calf buyers, poults, horses, traders and butchers from the township, to keep all dogs tied or in close confinement; to discourage as far as possible the interchange of work between farmers; to urge that all suspicious cases be reported promptly, and to discourage all visitors from entering and remaining in this township.

It is expected will join hands in this matter (after this injection is put out of the way) it will be a short time before all orders will be passed; otherwise we have a long and expensive fight before us.

— G. A. LYITLE.

Encouragement Extraordinary. At the Baptist church, next Thursday evening, February 4, the Schubert Symphony Club of Chicago will offer the Barrington public a musical program of special excellence.

The entertainment is given for the benefit of the Baptist choir and by attending you will not only hear sacred and other music rendered by artists, but you will be helping the choir in its work.

Tickets for sale at Cameron's Drug Store, Stone's Cigar and Candy shop, and Hanna's shop.

Revival Meeting in Salt Church Beginning with next Sunday, revivals meetings will be held in the Salt Church, each evening at 7:30 o'clock. The pastor will be assisted by other ministers from Chicago, if possible. A hearty invitation is extended to the people of the community to attend.

To Stop Overdrawing Accounts. All state banks of Illinois have received instructions from the state authorities that the practice of paying checks which overdraw accounts will be prohibited in the near future. The following is the original of a letter sent to the banks by James A. Brady auditor of public accounts:

"Because the practice of paying checks which overdraw accounts is illegal as well as out of harmony with sound business principles, you are hereby advised that in the future this practice must be discontinued and you will be informed of your customers."

"This department co-operates with the controller of currency in this movement and for your information I beg to state that that official has issued similar instructions to national banks operating in Illinois."

"You will please see to it that the foregoing instructions are complied with."

A. A. Robertson, cashier of the First State Bank of Barrington has sent notices to its customers that the order will be complied with.

It has been necessary for banks to close down on their accounts as many customers financially good enough, though the check was for a larger amount than the balance shown to the credit of the depositor. These people, as a rule, overdraw their account by mistake and when advised by the bank make prompt settlement.

Others took advantage of the custom and paid bills with checks, knowing that they did not have sufficient funds to meet same, and hopefully the bank would meet their obligation. Of course in such cases the checks were returned with the notation: "No sufficient funds." Others drew checks several days ahead hoping to have the money in the bank when presented. Abuse of an accommodation has made necessary a disclaimer of same.

Two Insurance Companies Launched.

The Barrington Mutual Fire Insurance company and the Barrington Mutual Windstorm and Cyclone Insurance company recently incorporated under the laws of this state, were launched at the North church, Barrington Center, last Tuesday.

The following officers were elected to manage the affairs of both companies:

President—F. A. Lageschulte.

Treasurer—H. J. Lageschulte.

George W. Spangler, Charles P. Hawley, J. F. Hollister, D. C. Oilly, Wm. H. Krundus, Fred S. Schuring, and the three officers named above will comprise the board of directors.

HE DIDN'T TAKE THE PAPER.

A farmer in this community once had a horse he wanted to sell. It was a valuable horse and should have brought a good price. For months he tried to sell the animal, but could not find a buyer at his figure. He finally sold it for about $25 less than its value rather than carry it through the winter.

Now it happened that just across the line in another county there was another farmer who was looking for just such a horse, but was unable to find it. Then he inserted a little ad in the home paper, which brought him a number of answers, one of which he reluctantly accepted.

The first farmer did not take the home paper, and of course did not see the little ad of the man who wanted a horse, and who would have purchased his animal at a good price.

By not taking the paper he saved the subscription price of $1.00 and likewise lost $25.50 by not seeing the other fellow's ad.

Such occurrences are happening every week right here in this community, in which people usually lose good money because they do not take their home paper, and hence do not know of many of the opportunities that are placed before them.

The man who takes the paper and reads it carefully each week not only knows what is going on, but he is in fact money ahead of the rest of the year by knowing what when and where to buy.

"Penny wise and pound foolish" is exemplified in many ways.

Some people use their brains in getting ahead in the world. Others merely use their mouths, and that is the reason death finds them still whistling songs from the same old box.

A few use their brains for the advancement of their own material interests and the elevation of their fellowmen and themselves.

Many use them in an overpowering effort to strangle competition, to take everything in sight, to make of the world a playground for them and theirs.

But all brain and mouth could unite in an effort to safeguard honor, to protect virtue, and civilize our vaunted civilization, what a world it would be!

But "tis only a dream—and dreams seldom come true.

When the Titanic went down, the world was amazed and grief stricken at the greatness of human life. Yet within the past few months we have become so accustomed to the wanton waste of life that the news of the sinking of a great battleship with seven or eight hundred men is but a passing incident of the day. All previous experiences of this kind are dwarfed into insignificance by the story of the present struggle.—Elgin Daily News.

ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC OCEANS JOINED BY BELL TELEPHONE LINE

President Vail's Engineers Make It Possible For President Wilson to Send His Voice Across the Continent Instantly.

BELL, VAIL AND WATSON, CREATORS OF TELEPHONE EXCHANGE GREETINGS OVER 4,400-MILE CIRCUIT

Public Officials of Cities on Two Coasts Take Part in Celebration and Congratulate One Another on New Bond Established Between East and West.

New York, January 25.—The completion of the long distance telephone line between New York and San Francisco was celebrated today in a ceremony at the Bell Telephone Building in New York, with Mr. Alexander Graham Bell, President of the Bell Telephone Company, by permanent study and research, created an instrument of immense scope and power, improving and perfecting, making possible the telephone transmitter, line, cable, switch, and plant required for the transmission of the human voice over distances of 4,400 miles, joining the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans, and thus uniting the two continents and directly between Boston and Washington.

At the White House President Wilson spoke into the mouthpiece of his telephone and his voice was whirled across thirteen States to the shore of the Pacific.

President Wilson Talks.

President Wilson talked first to President Moon of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. He said:

"It appears to me the imagination is very great on the continent. It is a fine one for the exposition that the people of the world send us voices from sea to sea. I congratulate you on the great success of the exposition. I am confident you have the right to take part in it after the confidence you have taken in me. May I have your greetings to the management and to all who work for the exposition? I am sending you my best regards and to all the people who work for the exposition. It promises to be, and to be a great success."

Clear as a bell came back President Moore's reply:

"We are very pleased to receive your greeting. We thank you very much for your kind words. We have done all we can to make the exposition a success. We are all more cordial and friendly."

President Wilson then talked to Mr. Thomas A. Watson, in San Francisco, with Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, President of the Bell Telephone at New York.

President Wilson said:

"I am very glad to have you here."

Mr. Watson replied:

"I am very glad to have you here. We are all very much pleased to have you here. We are all very much pleased to have you here."

President Wilson then talked to Mr. Theodore N. Vail, President of the Bell Telephone Company, under whose direction the transcontinental line was built. Mr. Vail said:

"The greatest of telephone lines has been built in the service of the public to date. It is the Bell Telephone Company. It is the Bell Telephone Company that has built the transcontinental line."

and transmitter and continued the conversation.

"What wonderful progress has been made by the Bell System since then in sending voices to be transmitted over a circuit of 4,400 miles without the least apparent distortion or weakening."

"Their work has been superb," declared Mr. Watson, "and superb also is the discipline of the organization that watches every inch of this long circuit to safeguard those feeble vibrations."

"All honor to the men who have rendered this great achievement possible," concluded Dr. Bell. "They have brought into the United States within sound of one another's voices, and united them into one great brotherhood."

The telephone has grown so that it could be taken outdoors on October 9, 1876. Dr. Bell had called "hello" across two miles of wire, just as he had done in 1875, but it was not until some time later that "hello" was used.

Major Mitchell of New York and Major Watson of San Francisco exchanged greetings.

Statement by Mr. Bell.

In speaking of the new transcontinental line, Dr. Bell said: "It is a great achievement, not only in scientific development, but also the opening up to better conditions of the public. It means the breaking down of old barriers and the bringing of new information and news to the people of the continent, and especially to the people of the West Coast."

"The completion of the transcontinental line is a great achievement, not only in scientific development, but also the opening up to better conditions of the public. AUDITORIUM.

William A. Brady is meeting with due regard for his courage and enterprise in putting together a permanent organization for the revival of the great comic operas written by William Schweck Gilbert and Arthur Sullivan.

De Wolf Hopper, the star of the comic operas, will be here.

Chicago Auditorium engagement is reported, which now consists of seven of the immortal works of the two foremost writers of comic opera in the an-tale of the theatre.

The operas to be sung during the balance of this week are as follows:

Thursday and Friday evenings,

"Isolant," for the only times in the engagement, with Mr. Hopper as the Lord Chancellor.

Saturday afternoon and evening,

"The Student Prince," with Mr.

Hopper as the Prince of Police.

"Pinotar" and "Trial by Jury" will be repeated Sunday evening January

31, by special request.

For the third and final week, ending

Sunday, February 7, the arrangement is Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings and Wednesday afternoon.

"Yeomen of the Guard," with Mr.

Hopper for the first time on any stage as Jack Point, Thursday,

"Pinotar" and "Trial by Jury," Friday,

"Isolant," Saturday evening.

Sunday evening, opera not announced,

to be selected by request of theatre-goers.

The Hopper Brady Gilbert and Sullivan organization consists of ninety-singers, there is an orchestra of thirty-six picked instrumentalists, that being the number for which Sullivan scored all his operas.

The Chicago press has been devoting columns to the engagement, and has nothing except praise for Hopper, the company, and the entire venture.

Both are serious.

When one of your little ones shows symptoms of an approaching cold, give him a dose of the Blue-Flame Tonic.

It acts quickly and prevents the cold growing worse. Very healing—strengthens the lungs, tones the mucous, strengthens the heart. It guards the body. Only one dose a day. It's a better cold than a cold.

Buckley's Arnica Salve for sores.

FEEDING A PYTHON BY MACHINERY.

Rome, a huge Indian python in the Chicago zoo, went on a hunger strike some months ago and was steadily starving himself to death. So Cy De Vry, the animal keeper, obtained a gun used to feed sick animals. It looked like a small Krupp, crossed with a sawmill grinder, and it did its work effectively, fifty pounds of food being packed into his mawship.

Life in Trenches Makes Friends of Opposing Armies.

French and Germans Formulate Rules, and Between the Hours of Killing Exchange Cigars and Bottles of Wine.

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS, United Press Staff Correspondent. With the French Army at the Front.—At places here in the Argonne the French and German trenches are so close together that in the weeks the two armies have been thus face to face the soldiers are, after a fashion, friends. They exchange tobacco, cigars, the fighting has become systematic and follows a routine. At certain sections of the trenches the French and Germans have reached an agreement that before a certain hour in the morning there is to be no killing; in the quiet hours the men smoke, talk, exchange tobacco and make their toilet for the day. After the long hours, apparently speaking, any head showing above the level of the ground gets promptly taken off.

Rock battles often take place between the opposing sides. The man at arms at a time and in order to amuse themselves they bombard each other without the thrower exposing his person to the bullets of the enemy.

At times the enemies, however, become almost friendly.

"Over there!" a German shout ed from his trench. "Have you guys got anything to smoke?"

"Sure!" the chorus came back from the French. "Have you?"

"No, a crumb!"

"Too bad. You ought to write to the Red Cross."

"Glimmer the mardins."

"Come and get 'em."

A giant of a young fellow stuck his head and shoulders above the ground, placed his hands on the edge of the trench and waited out on this side to find that the French had taken his pipe and dropped out another a few yards off.

He had covered his head with his grayish-blond-greenish uniform. A little round, voracious figure cap made him look like a young Santa Claus. Stepping, he ran swiftly across the highway which separated the trenches at the point where falling fat out of the sky, pored down into the enemy's trench.

"Where's them cigars?" he demanded.

"Here they are," a Frenchman replied. "You deserve them. Six, and a half dollars."

"Merci!" said the German, as he snatched back to his burrow.

GREATEST OF GUNS

Weapon is Part of Defense of Panama Canal.

Army Officers Declare 16-Inch Gun is Biggest Weapon of Offense and Defense in Existence of the World.

By EDWARD C. CLARK, Correspondent of the Western News, page 10, Sunday.

Washington.—It is probable that the 16-inch gun, made in America and intended to be used in part to defend the Panama Canal, is the greatest gun ever made.

It is the largest gun ever made.
