GEORGE A. LYTLE IS SUED FOR $50,000

Willis Ellsworth Wright, President of American Banking Credit Company, Chicago, is Plaintiff in Case.

MERCANTILE AGENCY'S REPORT

Statement is Printed Below Which Was Said to Have Been in Circulation in Chicago Stock Yards.

An article appeared in the Chicago papers last Friday morning stating that suit had been started against George A. Lytle of this village by Willis Ellsworth Wright, president of the American Banking Credit Company of Chicago, asking $50,000 damages caused by the circulation of a report reflecting on the business standing of Mr. Wright. The American Banking Credit Company, which has been doing considerable business in this and adjoining counties in contracts having a face value of $100,000 each where the purchaser agrees to pay the company $10 per month. After 20 payments have been made the holder is entitled to borrow the face value of his contract at 4 per cent on approved security. If however, the purchaser does not wish to borrow after $200 has been paid, the company agrees to return to him $250 in cash or 30 per cent on his investment. The report which was responsible for the action is the paper of the Mercantile Agency in circulation at the stock yards and brought by Mr. Lytle to Barrington for the enlightenment of his neighbors.

Following is the report of the Mercantile Agency:

"Chicago, Illinois.
"111 W. Monroe street.
"Wright, Willis Ellsworth
"40 married.
"May 17, 1915.

"He is out of the city and will not return for several weeks. His business associates refuse to discuss his affairs or former connections claiming that all that will be published in a prospectus which will be ready in about 60 days. Nor will they submit the names of any individuals or institutions locally who know Wright or his career. Our investigations indicate that Wright has been actively engaged in New York City, Pittsburgh, Birmingham and Chicago. We find no one who line his entire career but his principal source of income is from a company being so engaged in Pittsburgh as well as in New York. For a time he was also engaged in selling mortgages having had charge of the Chicago branch. He also endeavored to promote the National Moving Picture Company which commenced to operate in Chicago. Wright furnished the brains and his associates the capital, but the venture did not prove satisfactory to the men who furnished the money to his unended operations. Wright disclosed energy, some ability in his action and management, was satisfactory except that he required more capital than his associates cared to put up.

"From 1911 to 1914 he was identified with the American Finance & Bond Company of Birmingham, Alabama, a promotional scheme and for a time managed the Chicago office for that concern, being located in room 203, 231 N. Fifth avenue. That proposition endeavored to handle mortgages, bonds, etc. on installment basis but the Postal authorities finally put them out of commission. For a while he continued to operate alone at 211 N. Fifth avenue as a promoter of real estate mortgages, bonds, etc. later maintaining an office in room 1009, 191 N. La Salle street but made no particular headway in that respect.

"In November 1914, with John D. Clancy and John W. Bain he organized the American Banking Credit Company under Delaware laws with an authorized capital of $125,000 of which $50,000 in common and $75,000 in preferred, for the purpose of loaning money on first mortgages—primarily real estate. Their scheme is in the nature of a building and loan association of which different. The customer must make certain payments covering 15 or 20 monthly installments before he becomes eligible to borrow. On this advance money they agree to pay 3 per cent on more and to loan at 4 per cent. Competent financial authorities, conversant with their proposition, assert that the promoters of similar schemes tried in the past, failed to make good. These people insist that their scheme is different and has never been tried before. They claim to have started with a capital of $50,000, representing the common stock but investigation shows that what they actually mean is that they took all of the common stock

NONEGRARIAN DIED IN CUBA TWP.

Martin Tossney, aged 93, Passed Away at the Farm Home of Mrs. and Mr. E. W. Riley Last Thursday.

Martin Tossney who died at the home of his niece, Mrs. E. W. Riley of Cuba township, last Thursday morning, July 1, was born in Cornwall, Canada, 1822, making him about 93 years old. He came of a family of North American people and his father was an officer in the British army who moved to Canada with his wife after his retirement; in Canada he became a merchant and the father of three daughters and one son, Martin; the parents died when Martin was four years old, the girls were placed in a school and the boy put in the care of a cousin who was not good to him, so he ran away when seven years old. He reached New York state and grew to manhood working as a farmer. Later he returned to Canada and married Miss Rebecca Briggs who died 10 years ago; they were married 50 years.

Mr. Tossney came to Cuba township when his wife died. He was an uncle also of Mrs. John McGraw and Mrs. James McGraw. He always followed the business of farming and was for many years in Duaneville, Canada. He retained all his faculties up to the hour of death, especially his sight which was excellent. As he died he said, "What a blessing." Death was due to old age.

He was a convert to the Catholic church years ago and the funeral was held in St. Anne's church, Barrington, Friday morning.

Burial was in Evergreen cemetery.

amounting to $50,000 of face value as a promotional fund. They did all of this common stock to friends to obtain working capital and their bank balance averages as much as $200 not withstanding that they are obtaining money on initial payment plan in substantial amounts, according to their representation. The preferred stock they expect to sell to prospective investors of various district officers.

"John W. Bain was formerly a clerk with the American Trust & Savings bank and later in charge of the credit department of B. F. Fisk & Company, Chicago, where John D. Clancy had been practicing law in Chicago for a number of years and both these men bear clear records, fairly capable but without particular capital.

"Wright has never disclosed any responsibility of consequence, always being more or less in need of working capital for his own self, endeavoring to borrow on various stock of a promotional character but without success. He has represented to some that he was a partner of real estate in Pittsburgh in which he has some equity but this phase of his responsibility he has always eliminated when applying for credit. His habits are right, understood, free from liquor and tobacco and his personal relations are excellent. He was also fairly successful as an insurance salesman. In some quarters he has represented that he was private secretary to ex-Governor Odell of New York, but no one locally has an information that Wright's own representation. He is credited with possessing a strong personality, shrewd in some respects, always endeavoring to evolve new propositions, but nothing directly against him has been found, except his connection with the American Banking Credit Company, about which one of the Birmingham banks refused to express itself in writing at the solicitation of its Chicago correspondent. He did maintain a personal bank account prior to some months ago, but the balance was light and the account was closed because he could not maintain a balance in his favor.

"The record shows the following: June 29, 1910—J. A. Cook obtained judgment against W. F. Wright for $10,000 and of defendant, August 19, 1913—Adams Packing & Supply company obtained judgment against W. F. Wright, $38. Washington street, for $31.60. April 21, 1914—Adams & Swanson and W. E. Wright, $38. Washington street, for $23. May 14, 1914—E. Babcock obtained judgment against W. F. Wright for $33. No address of defendant.

"Have not been able to identify these suits and judgments as against Willis Wright or John D. Clancy. Mr. Lytle has no definite knowledge of this action although he has been expecting some thing of the kind. He has secured the co-operation of prominent attorneys and hopes to bring the activities of Mr.

SCHOOL CENSUS FOR DISTRICT 4

Completed and Given to Us Through the Courtesy of Prof. E. S. Smith, Head of Our Village School.

Superintendent of the village schools, Prof. E. S. Smith, has completed the taking of the school census for district four. This district was enlarged during the past year by the addition of 880 acres in the Cook county side. The district extends on the east to the Schuylkill farm; on the north to the Herman Homuth farm; on the west (Lake county side) to the Robert Work farm and (on the Cook county side) to the Hawthorn Hill estate; on the south to the Hawthorn East farm.

The census follows:

There are only two school children attending other than public schools: Stanley Constock (Lake) is a student at a Chicago business college; Lillian Smith (Cook) attends the Lutheran parochial school in Palatine.

School to be Redecorated.
The Board of Education of the Barrington school met last Thursday evening to consider plans for repainting and to be done on the building during the vacation period. Several rooms and the hallways will be redecorated and paint will be used. Instead of kalsomine, Prof. E. S. Smith was appointed to call for bids on the work and to choose the color.

He has visited other schools to see the newest ideas in such work. Henry S. Miller was again hired to serve as janitor for the ensuing year. It was decided to hire women to scrub the school house next year, only every two weeks. This is a new thing here as heretofore they have only been scrubbed about four times a year. It is a sanitary measure and a good one. Many schools are now scrubbed every week.

Salaries of all teachers were raised, some receiving $14 and others $3. The salaries have always been small here compared with other schools of like standing.

An Old Story Republished.

Below is a report of Fourth of July, 1914, published in the REVIEW and again in an account of Fifth of July, 1915, that it is re-published. No doubt the article will serve for 1916, too.

"As predicted, the Fourth of July, 1914, in Barrington passed very quietly and safely. There is little to record beyond saying that the weather was local and made the visit of many city friends very pleasant. Numerous homes were decorated with flags. Dozens of automobiles touring parties went through the town and all local cars were enjoyed to the utmost on account of good roads and a fine day. It is ten years since we had a "celebration" in this village and may be ten years more but it is nice to know that we escaped without serious accidents.

Barrington Loses and Wins.

Last Saturday a Banded Athletic club team played the Winnetka team and were defeated by the score of 11 to 8. Kautzner pitched for the locals. Monday the home team was more fortunate and defeated the Sears-Robinson team 10 to 5. Kline, of Winnetka pitched for Barrington.

Both games were well played and worth seeing but only a small crowd attended. Another good game is scheduled for Saturday and it is hoped that the home team will be given more support in the way of attendance.

Wright and his concern to the attention of the Postal authorities and the State's Attorneys office.

Harvey Harnden is the local representative of the company and among those said to have invested are Silly, Charles W. W. Holmes, John McGowan, Roy Pligge, A. Stubb and Harry Priek. Prof. Smith, W. Burrows and others refused to take up the proposition after seeking advice of the Chicago Tribune.

HOW COOK COUNTY'S NAME ORIGINATED

Most Interesting Story Sent by Former Methodist Pastor Here, O. P. Mattison, From Evanston.

NO STATUE HONORS D. P. COOK

The Writer Thinks That Man For Whom Cook County Was Named Should Not So Be Forgotten.

Rev. O. P. Mattison of Evanston, for several years pastor of the Barrington Methodist church, has sent us a copy of the Evanston News-Letter, containing a biographical sketch of Daniel Pope Cook for whom Cook County was named. Mr. Mattison marked this article as he thought it would be of interest here and it is published, in part, in the Review, as good information to those who like to read of influential people whose "footprints are left on the sands of time." J. Seymour Curry is the writer.

It is strange that there is no public memorial in this county in memory of the man after whom Cook County was named, though he was a man of distinguished accomplishments and civic virtues. No monument or statue exists either in Chicago, or at any spot in the wider area where the county, so this man who is deserving of such honor as would be conferred by an effigy in the form of a statue or tablet in enduring marble or bronze.

Daniel Pope Cook died four years before the county of Cook, named in his honor, was organized on March 8, 1831. He never visited the region of country in which the county is situated, but so great was the esteem in which he was held by his contemporaries that his name was honored when it became necessary to select from the great number of names proposed for this important distinction. At the time of his death in 1827 Cook was only 32 years old, but in that short span of life his name had become enrolled among the statesmen who had rendered services of the most important character to the state in its early years of existence. Elitha B. Washburn wrote of him: Cook was undoubtedly one of the ablest and most remarkable men whose names ever graced the annals of Illinois." Cook was born in Kentucky in 1795, and came to Illinois where he was as yet a territory, in 1818. He had received a good education in his native state, and on his arrival he began the practice of law at Kaskaskia, and soon after he moved to and part owner of the Illinois "Intelligencer," at that time the only newspaper in the territory. In 1816 he was appointed auditor of public accounts by Gov. Sinap Edwards. In 1817 he was sent by President Monroe as one of the plenipotentiaries to the Congress of Adams, then our minister in England, and on his return he was appointed a circuit judge.

Two years after Illinois was admitted as a state in the union, that is, in 1819, Cook was elected to congress, and re-elected several times, serving some six years at the national capital. He married a daughter of Gov. Edwards and became a resident of Edwardsville. During the administration of Gov. Coles in 1823-24 Cook was a conspicuous figure in his opposition to the attempt made to make Illinois a slave state. While in congress Cook took a prominent part in securing the donation of lands by the national government for the construction of the Illinois and Michigan canal. He was distinguished for his eloquence, and it was during one of his congressional campaigns that "stump speaking" was introduced into the state. During his last term in congress Cook's health began to fail, and after his retirement from that body he went to Cuba in the vain hope of recovering his health and strength, but nothing could stay the progress of the disease from which he was suffering. He returned to his home at Edwardsville, but his mind reverted to the scenes of his childhood and he went back to Kentucky, his native state, where he breathed his last, a victim of consumption, October 16, 1827.

It would be a matter of pride with the citizens of Cook County that so eminent and illustrious a man as Daniel P. Cook is honored in the naming of the second largest county, in point of population and wealth, in the United States.

Cook county originally, that is when it was formed in 1831, embraced the counties of Da Page, Will, Lake, McHenry and Rock Island in addition to its present territorial limits. At different periods in later years it was narrowed down to its present limits. The area of the county is about 1,200 square miles that of Chicago being 179 square miles.

REAL MORALITY.

Dr. Frank Crane, well known writer whose articles in the Chicago Daily News are interesting and helpful to so many people, says that "provincialism is not morality." If a person is "provincial," he thinks only of his own life and surroundings and that all who do not live and think and worship as he does are wrong.

Dr. Crane says that many in honest village and farmer thinks the city a slakehole of wickedness because there are many things done in cities to which the rural dweller is unused, but when he gets used to them they are all right because he, himself, does them too.

The doctor writes: "I find it common for those of any nation, section or race, to say that those of another are worse in their morals. Different churches revile one another, and a church member in Kansas looks upon a German sipping beer to public in a garden as the most heinous sin to moral wreckage."

He defines real morality as that thing in a man's soul which makes him loyal to love, useful in daily work, thinks of doing good for others, hates dirt, judges all his desires before following them, is stern to himself and careful in his judgment of others.

"Wherever you find a man doing these things you have found morality, whether the man be white, yellow, Christian or Mohammedan, consumer of grape juice or pump-water."

So "judge not, lest ye be judged." Everyone has a right to his own opinion, but it is no use to try to force your friends to adopt your opinions. "Live as I live."

There was a time, when a woman's face was glanced at when she passed, but in these days of fancy shoes, "its only her feet that are noticed and if the feet are not pretty ones, of how fancy shoes do emphasize the defects."

PREPARATIONS OF FISH THAT ARE IN ORDER.

That Has the Name of Venetian Is Palatable and Nourishing—Directions for Scallop—Baked Bass or Pickerel.

Venetian Fish.—Chop enough carrot to measure a quarter of a cupful and add the same amount of chopped parsley, with two table-spoonfuls each of green pepper and parley, minced. Put with a quarter of a cupful of olive oil in a small saucepan and simmer for ten minutes, then spread over a fish that has been split and laid in a shallow, greased baking pan. Sprinkle over it a little lemon juice, salt and pepper, cover and bake for about fifteen minutes. When the fish is done, place it on a platter and pour the sauce over it. A teaspoonful of whole eggs and a little flour—about a teaspoonful—made smooth in cold milk. Cook over hot water until it is smooth and creamy, and season with salt and pepper. Add the minced fish in a teaspoonful of minced parley, and put the mixture into individual ramekins, about one or two to a dish. Sprinkle with fine cracker crumbs and bits of butter, and brown in the oven.

Scalloped Fish.—Steam two pounds of fish until tender and mince. Scald a quart of milk and add two whole eggs and a little flour—about a teaspoonful—made smooth in cold milk. Cook over hot water until it is smooth and creamy, and season with salt and pepper. Add the minced fish in a teaspoonful of minced parley, and put the mixture into individual ramekins, about one or two to a dish. Sprinkle with fine cracker crumbs and bits of butter, and brown in the oven.

Pickled Salmon.—Boil several pounds of salmon—cod—salt and cold water. Add two or three cups of water in which the fish was boiled the same quantity of vinegar, six cloves, a teaspoonful of whole pepper, the same amount of allspice, six blades of mace and half a nutmeg, ungrated. Bring to the boiling point, add salt and pour over the fish. When cold it is ready to serve, but it will keep well in a cool place for several days.

Baked Bass or Pickerel.—Chop eight onions fine and mix with half that amount of fine bread crumbs. Season well with pepper and salt and add two or three table-spoonfuls of fine chopped salt pork and enough chopped tomatoes—freed from juice and the soft pulp, with just the firm part chopped—to make the stuffing rich. Add red pepper, and stuff the fish. Bake until tender.

Jellied Trout.—Add a whole clove, some salt, three table-spoonfuls of good vinegar, a slice of onion, to a saucepan half full of cold water and place the trout in it. Simmer gently, so that the fish are not broken. When tender, drain and dip in maple jelly, and when the first coat of jelly has hardened, dip again. Repeat this until there is a good layer of jelly on each trout.

To Cook Cauliflower.

When you are boiling a cauliflower you should leave a few of the tender leaves to make it look pretty. If you take them all off it is rather uninteresting in appearance.

Put it in a pot of boiling water, with the flower face downwards, and a wooden spoon put across the top to keep it from rising.

A young and tender cauliflower will take about a quarter of an hour. An older one from this time to half an hour. Many people serve this vegetable with a plain white sauce, made in the following way:

One ounce of butter, one-half pint of milk, one-half ounce of flour; pepper and salt.

Cream Puffs.

One cupful of hot water, one-half cupful of butter. Boil together, stirring in a cupful of dry four while boiling. When cold, add three eggs, not beaten. Stir well. Drop by spoonfuls on buttered tins. Bake 20 minutes in a quick oven. Be careful not to open oven door more often than is necessary. This makes 15.

For the filling, take one cupful of milk, one-half cupful of sugar, one egg, three table-spoonfuls of flour. Boil as for your custard and flavor to taste. When both this and the puffs are cold open them carefully at one side and fill. They are delicious.

Orange Pudding.

Peel and cut five oranges into thin slices, taking out the seeds. Four over them a coffee cup of fine white sugar. Let a pint of milk get boiling hot by setting it in a pot of boiling water. Add the yolks of three eggs well beaten, one table-spoonful of cornstarch made smooth with a little cold milk; stir all the time. As soon as thickened pour over the fruit. Beat the whites to a stiff froth, adding a table-spoonful of sugar, and spread over the top of frosting. Set it in the oven for a few minutes to harden. This pudding is best eaten cold.

Tomato Soup.

One quart can of tomatoes or equal amount of fresh tomatoes stewed together with four cloves, small pieces of bay leaf, a few pieces of celery (or celery salt), salt and pepper to taste. Simmer 20 minutes. While this is stewing stir a few pieces of onion in three table-spoonfuls of butter for five minutes, then add two table-spoonfuls of cornstarch to this, finally adding all to tomatoes. When thickened strain and serve with crackers. This is nice with beef broth added to tomatoes.

Cherry Salad.

Wipe cherries and remove stems and pits. Fill cavities with liberally and lightly to peel on lettuce leaves, using a cream mayonnaise.

HOW COOK COUNTY GOT ITS NAME

The population of the county was about 200,000 greater than that of the city of Chicago in 1910, and the same ratio presumably holds true at the present time, so that if Calcasieu now has 2,000,000 souls within its limits, as is generally believed, the county may be said to possess a population of 2,200,000. There are six cities and 62 villages in the 37 townships. The best book on the subject is "Mary Childs' Actual Government" in Illinois.

Spilled His Thoughts.
Little Billie was lying quietly, with eyes wide open, but apparently seeing nothing. After a while his mother asked, "dreaming, Billie?" "Not dreaming; thinking," replied Billie impatiently, "and when anybody speaks to me it cuts the think right in two and I have to begin all over again."

Not Worth Solving.
"I have pondered all my life," says B. P. Walker, "on what was more important in this world, brains or money. But when I look around and see how many get along on little of either, I conclude I am wasting my time trying to solve the question."—Kansas City Star.

Hardly a Matter of Creed.
"I am sorry, but I advertised for a Scandinavian cook," said Mrs. White. "Lloyd Baker" replied Farley. "What difference does it make whether a lady's 'ligion am, des ses she kin cook?"—Judge.

Perseverance Best.
Perseverance is more prevailing than violence, and many things which cannot be overcome when they are to be yielded themselves up when to be won by little.—Pittsburgh.

Uncle Eben.
"A well-fed horse," said Uncle Eben, "is a better recommended feller than one who kin do fancy harness."

SOME KITCHEN HINTS

DISPOSITION OF INGREDIENTS IN THE PANTRY.

Flour Must Be Shifted Several Times to Secure the Best Results—Use of Bread Crumbs—Tin Cakes.

Flour.—Flour should always be sifted several times, as this adds to the lightness of bread or cake. When sour milk is to be employed with the flour, cream of tartar or baking powder is omitted and only soda used. Tin biscuits, made with soda and sour milk, are delicious southern delicacies. A quarter of a teaspoonful of soda is sufficient for a quart of flour.

Bread Crumbs.—Crumbs that are to be kept for any time should be put in glass jars. Jars with the tight screw tops used for preserves are excellent for the purpose. The crumbs will keep better if the bread is first dried in the stove, then grated and bottled when entirely cold. All scalded dishes include crumbs in the mixture and a dry dust of them on top. With the addition of the crumbs, and proper seasoning, all fragments of fresh meat, fish and poultry may be used up.

Salt and Pepper.—Table salt should be fine—in fact, almost as smooth as powder. Black pepper has more pungency if ground freshly in a little pepper mill at the time of using. Heating the bread knife—When you are cutting long bread for the table, try and ever try putting the knife in hot water? Try it some time and see if you don't find it cuts much easier.

Tin Bread and Cake Boxes.—Always keep cake and bread in tin boxes, as wooden boxes, unless well seasoned, are apt to give them a disagreeable taste, and wrapping them in brown paper should be avoided for the same reason.

Pork Chops and Spaghetti.
Fry pork chops brown with three sliced onions and a tiny clove of garlic, peeled and sliced. Then pour a can of tomatoes over the meat; season well with pepper and salt and a little paprika, and add a chopped green pepper. Cook slowly for an hour. Meanwhile, boil a package of spaghetti in plenty of salted water, leaving it whole if possible. Cook till tender, then drain and rinse with cold water, and again with boiling water. These pork chops on a large platter and strain the gravy, which should have cooked till rather thick, over them, and border with spaghetti. Over the latter sprinkle grated cheese rather thickly and pass a dish of the same for those who like a more decided cheese flavor. Mushrooms, if desired, may be cooked with the spaghetti and it will improve the dish greatly.

French Toast With Marmalade.
A fancy toast reminds one of what is sometimes called "French toast." Plain white bread is cut in rather generous slices, bread lightly with a mixture of egg and milk, not enough being used to moisten more than the actual surface of the bread. The direct heat of cooking is slightly decreased, and when the bread so treated is carefully browned it is difficult to guess wherein lies the secret of this delicious brand of toast. With a spoonful of jam or marmalade this makes an ideal novelty for the afternoon tea table.

Smothered Mutton.
Cut in small pieces as much raw, lean mutton as desired. Slice seven small potatoes thin, peel four large onions. In a baking dish put a layer of mutton, sprinkle with onion, salt, pepper and dots of butter. (Butter may be omitted.) Cut bread in dice, dry in oven and use for next layer, or use only potatoes. Fill the dish with layers, making the top one of bread. It is also to use bread only for the top. Onion extract may be substituted for the vegetable. Turn over all one and one-half cupsful of hot water. Bake slowly.

Strawberry Mousse.
Pick and wash two quarts of strawberries or use the preserved fruit. Put through a sieve with a potato masher. Dissolve one-half box gelatin in a cupful cold water. Strain through a cheesecloth and add two cupfuls of sugar. Stir well over strawberry mixture. Whip a pint of cream until stiff. Add juice of one-fourth lemon, mix with strawberries. Put in a for a and stand on ice for two hours. Turn out on platter and serve with whipped cream and powdered sugar.

Mountain Muffins.
Boil a cupful of corn meal with one and one-quarter cupsful of hot milk and let it stand for five minutes. Then add a cupful of boiled rice and one cupful of flour, into which you have stirred two teaspoonsful of baking powder, a teaspoonful of salt and one-quarter cupful of sugar. Stir in the yolks of two eggs beaten well, a tablespoonful of melted butter, and lastly the whipped whites of the eggs. Bake 25 minutes in hot greased gem pans.

Creamed Fish.
Flake any fish that may have been left from a previous dinner with a fork; cover with cream sauce and serve. The sauce may have as a foundation any of the drawn butter sauces that may have been left over from the same meal. Add milk and thicken to desired consistency.
