WILLIAM GIESKE DROPS DEAD WHILE AT WORK

Prominent Road Commissioner of Cuba Township Explodes While Working on Highway Near Kirchner's.

SUFFERED WITH HEART TROUBLE

Had Several Attacks Within Few Years and Had Been Warned Not to do Heavy Work—Funeral Sunday.

The sting of death is always sorrowful even when the approaching end of a life has been known for weeks, but the shock of the sudden death of a good friend or beloved relative is the most harrowing experience in life.

Sympathy of this community is extended to Mrs. William Gieske of West Main street and her son in the sudden death of Mr. Gieske Wednesday morning. He was brought home dead a few hours after leaving the house.

While working on the highway, leading east from the Kirchner farm, that morning in company with Fred Wolf, Fred Pingle, T. H. Reynolds and J. E. Catlow, he suddenly fell to the ground; his companions lifted him to the road side and he lived a short time in much distress apparently. Dr. W. A. Shearer quickly arrived from Barrington but could do nothing to restore life. He took Mr. Gieske to his home. Mr. Gieske was in a happy mood and feeling well when he started to work.

Edward Conrad of Waukegan, deputy Lake county coroner, held an inquest late in the afternoon and the verdict was death from organic heart trouble. Mr. Gieske had been afflicted with heart disturbances for some time and had had considerable treatment. He had been warned against heavy work or exertion.

His standing as a citizen in Barrington and vicinity was very high as a good and upright man. He had all along been a credit to his people.

William Gieske was born in Deere Grove July 22, 1859, and was 56 years old. His youth was spent in the township of Palatine where he attended district schools. March 11, 1883, he married Miss Leontine Lishartke, daughter of the late Lambert Lishartke. They lived with her people for a few years after marriage and latter owned a farm west of town about two miles which they occupied for 20 years. Five years ago the property was sold to G. E. Van Hagen and the Gieske family moved to town, building a fine modern home on West Main street. Mrs. Gieske and son, Elden, are living members of the family. Two sons died when young boys. Elden is employed in the First National bank, Chicago.

Mr. Gieske was elected road commissioner of Cuba township, Lake county, in 1907 and has held the office continuously. He was a member of the Zion church of the Evangelical association.

Other living relatives are mother, Mrs. Rieka Gieske, a sister, Mrs. Charles Jakob of Joliet; and the sister, Mrs. William Anthonius of Wheaton.

The brothers, Elmer, Herman, 318 Summit street, and Lewis, 101 Union street.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home and from there to Zion church. Rev. John Kiest of Oak Park and Rev. J. Houser of Salem church will lead the services.

Foot and Mouth Disease Serious

Up to Tuesday night 275 cattle, 330 hogs and one goat have been slaughtered on farms in Vernon township since August 25. Forty-five farmers are in quarantine and the conditions are serious although great effort is being made by state and federal authorities to prevent further contagion.

Mr. Insull states that if the cattle are proved to be infected it will be a bitter blow as it has taken eight years to build up the herd.

The Libertyville Improvement Association has joined the fight against the malady. Dogs, cats, pigeons, crows and other birds help to spread germs and are being killed also.

W. R. C. Notes.

At the last meeting of the W. R. C. a birthday luncheon was served by Mrs. E. Proulx, Mrs. W. F. Burkhardt and Mrs. Mary Riley. Mrs. McLean, district inspector, and Mrs. Hubbard, department patrolman instructor, were present at the meeting directing the work of the C. O. C.

At the next meeting of the C. O. C. it is desired that every member be present to take part in the organizing arrangements for the district convention to be held in Chicago, September 16.

CAMPMEETING CLOSED ON MONDAY

Forty-Second Annual Affair of This Kind Pronounced Most Inspiring and Helpful as Yet to Occur.

By Rev. JOHN HOERNER.

The 42nd Barrington Park campmeeting closed Monday morning and the campers reluctantly departed for their homes.

"The best campmeeting I ever attended" was the verdict of an aged father and he was concurred in by all present.

A report of the first of the meetings appeared in last week's issue of the REVIEW. The missionary meeting on Wednesday was a decided success; the missionaries, Rev. and Mrs. Subh, being a blessing to all present.

A offering of $100 for missionary work was taken.

Wednesday evening, Thursday afternoon and evening, Rev. F. E. Erdman preached helpful, inspiring sermons.

Friday afternoon memorial services were held in honor of the departed Bishop Dubs. Rev. F. Bus spoke in the German language and Rev. F. W. Landwehr in English. The services were impressive and the attendance was good. Rev. Erdman preached in the evening.

Saturday was Men's day. Rev. L. C. Schmidt addressed the audience on the topic "The Men's Movement"; Rev. Erdman on the topic "The Mission of Men in the Church." Rev. Erdman preached again in the evening.

Sunday, August 29, was a great day. The people began to gather quite early to hear Rev. Erdman, who preached a masterly sermon at 10 o'clock. The Sunday school met at 1:30, the primary department meeting in the tent. The adults met in the tabernacle with George Steffeneker in charge. Rev. Moser also taught the lesson to the entire school. The attendance was 317, the offering, $90.00. Rev. Erdman preached a second masterly sermon in the tabernacle of his Master.

He has judged shows in the United States at Miles, Long Island, Ohio, Boston, Philadelphia, etc. His reviews too, were a liberal education to exhibitors. As a judge, Mr. Rees, while still this side of the meridian of life, has had a long, wide and interrupted experience. We part with a strong man, a great and clear judge of good fellowship."

Mr. Rees has been a judge in France, Germany, Holland and Belgium and been invited to judge in South Africa. He started his study of dog life at the age of 11.

NEW MANAGER AT VICKERY FARM

Walter H. Reeves of England Arrived at the Kennels Friday—Said to be One of Foremost Dog Judges.

Walter H. Reeves of England arrived at Vickery kennels last Friday to become manager of the kennels. He is one of the foremost judges of dogs and has travelled around the world as judge at bench shows. The kennels are in the finest of existence, which goal they will soon reach if the splendid equipment at present forecasts further improvements.

An English publication, "Dogs Monthly," issued at Manchester, pays tribute to Rev. H. Reeves under date of August 7:

"The departure of Walter H. Reeves for the United States means that the British canine is to lose one of its most able and respected judges.

He has been a judge in England connected with dog-showing, judge and kennel journalisation that his departure from our midst leaves a very real gap; he will be greatly missed by all from the editorial and reviewing staff of the Illustrated Kennel News."

To business qualifications, Mr. Reeves adds a good record of rank and engaging charm. He has enjoyed the warm personal regard of leaders in British life and been ever a welcome guest in many of the stately homes in England.

A special appeal is to be made to the school children, who mind in a natural way the health and welfare of the animals.

Miss Anna Rieke was married at the Salem parsonage, Wednesday, at 3 p.m., to John Lindquist of Racine, Wisconsin. Rev. John Heeran performed the ceremony. Her bridal dress was of white net and she carried a bouquet of white roses; Miss Anna, dressed in white voile, was bridesmaid and Charles Smith of Dundee was best man.

Miss Rieke is the youngest daughter of the late Herman Rieke and has been employed at the Barrington laundry for eight years; she is a member of the Salem church and the Royal Knights Lodge and she has been making her home with her sister, Mrs. E. G. Groff, of recent years. Mr. Lindquist is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lindquist of Carpenter'sville and is employed at the Higgins Spring and Axle company, Racine.

After a supper served by Mrs. Groff and a sleigh-bell serenade and shower of rice at the Groff home, about 100 friends saw them off on the 9:25 train for Racine where they will be at home after September 15 at 1850 Hornes avenue.

They received many useful gifts and the best wishes of all.

SEEING LIFE with JOHN HENRY & George V. Hobart

John Henry on the Street Car

My friend, Hep Hardy, presented me with a neat little gold hamper day before yesterday. Why, I don't know.

But, then, that I have it, I might as well use it.

Every time I hop into one of those cozy, comfortable street cars in a city of the second, third or even fourth class I immediately contrast it with the wood boxes we use in New York. I find myself growing red at the fact that we have not even a soap squeezer car in the streets of the streets of New York are surely the breathless limit, aren't they?

The Squeezer car is the best-gentled imitation of a rough-house that has ever been invented.

The conductor has to hit the passengers out with a can opener.

Brave and strong men climb into a street car, and they are full of health and life and vigor, but a few blocks of the road they fall out backward and inquire feebly for a samaritan.

For instance, about eight o'clock of an evening brings out all that is in a man, including a lot of put words that didn't know he had.

The last course shows that the street cars in the city of New York have more ways of preparing nervous brain, to the square inch than the combined population of Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Tinkerdam and Goerterdam.

To get in some of the street cars at about six o'clock is a pipelin, and to get out is a letdown.

One evening recently I rode from Forty-second street to Fifty-ninth street without once touching the floor with my feet.

Some of the New York street cars lead a double life, because they are used in winter to act the part of refrigerators.

It is a cold day when we cannot find it colder in the street cars.

The germs in our street cars are extremely sociable, and will follow a stranger all the way home.

Often while riding in the New York street cars I have seen a man riding against my side like a kitten. Being a gentleman, at least superficially, I did not reach down and kick it away, because the law says we must not be disrespectful to dumb brutes.

Many of these street cars are built on the general plan as a can of condensed milk.

When you get out you cannot get in, and when you get in you cannot get out, because you have to disturb the strange gentleman that is using your knees to lean over.

Between the seats there is a space of two feet, but in that space you was the long pedal on a piano and he started to play the "Blue Danube Waltz."

The man was such a hard hand that he gave me the goot just from standing on my feet.

Then I jumped off and swore off and avorod et and walked home.

If the man who invented the idea of standing up between seats in a Squeezor is alive he should have a moustache.

My idea would be to catch him alive and place a monument on him, and the conductor comes around every ten minutes for his fire.

I've been up and down and over and across in the street cars and my experience is ornamented by ripples of sweat and aching shins, my intellect blown out, and every time I try to do out the real way not to be an End-Seat Hog.

Just Monday I jumped in an early-bird open-face car and it seemed that all the world was filled with joy and good wishes.

It was smoking one of those Bad Boys again. I call it a Bad Boy cigar because as far as it goes it's out a man, including a lot of put words that didn't know he had.

and when you get in you cannot get out, because you have to disturb the strange gentleman that is using your knees to lean over.

Between the seats there is a space of two feet, but in that space you wasn't minutes. I began to discuss myself to myself.

"John," I whispered, "do you really think that the general public appreciates your effort to keep the Harbor open?"

And when myself replied to myself with a sigh of exhaustion, "I don't think!"

"John," I said to myself, "no matter what your motives may be the other fellow will always believe you are trying to get the best of it. If you move over and give the end seat to the good woman, he will consider it as his right, and the next driver over he will think you are a Hog for keeping that which is as much yours as it is his."

I began to grow confidential with myself.

"Civilization is a fine idea, but Human Nature can give it cards and spades and then beat it out," I told myself.

"The Human Hog was invented long before the openface street car began to stop for him, and there is no anybody living who should stop to think that he is right, because brutishness is like the man who it breaks out in unexpected places. All of us may not be Hogs, but there is a moment in the life of every man when he gets near enough to it to be called a Ham Sandwich."

Just then the Distinct brothers, Microbe and Germicide, walked over to the conductor and said,

"Have the Conductor Come Around Every Ten Minutes for His Fare."

Over to the conductor he went, and the stout lady stepped squirmingly into the end seat.

Her displacement was about fifteen cents' worth of bench.

The car was empty with the exception of a couple of benches.

Two blocks farther on the car stopped and a stout lady looked over.

I think she must have been color blind, because she didn't see the empty seats and decided to cast her lot with me.

It was a terrible moment.

"John," I said to myself, "don't be a Egotist."

And I did triumph.

I moved over, and the stout lady stepped squirmingly into the end seat.

Her displacement was about fifteen cents' worth of bench.

After we had gone about ten blocks and I was in my seat, the stout lady rested on my shoulder, and then she would see the stout lady sitting there, as gracefully, as a contessa.

Therefore I made myself a severe promise not to worry any more about my Hog qualifications when movable or immovable on an openface car.

I will do my conscience dictates, and walk downtown as much as possible.

And, speaking of street cars, I was in one of those cities recently where some of the cars stop on the near side of some of the streets and some stop on the far side of some of the streets.

Honestly, they had me in the air.

I left the hotel to attend to some business downtown and went over to the far side of the street to wait for the promised land.

After a while I began to get a toothache, my conscience.

"John," I said to myself in a hoarse whisper, perhaps after all you were right, but in that space you will always find four feet, and their owners, unless one of them happens to have a wooden leg.

Under ordinary circumstances four feet can't be a bad thing, but in the case of a street car, it does the duty of a divination.

A Squeezor conductor can put twenty-sixty into him, and still have four to carry.

For a man with a small dining room, the Squeezor car has its advantage, but when a stout man rides in them, he can't help but feel that he is one of the strangers he never saw before.

One morning I jumped on one of those Squeezers feeling just like a two year old, full of health and happiness.

During the first seven blocks three fresh from a distillery, grow up in front of me and ruined the scenery.

One of them had to get out in a hurry, so he kicked me on the shin to show how sorry he was to leave me.

One of the other two must have been in the distillery a long time, because, pretty soon he neglected to use his memory and sat down in my lap.

When I remonstrated with him, he replied that this is a free country, and if he wished to sit down I had no business to stop him.

Then his friend left us apart, and I was alone.

During the next twenty blocks I had one of the worst, daylight nightmares I ever rode behind.

The party who had been studying the exhibits of the distillery became obsessed with the idea that my foot

"Section 1. It is enacted by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly, that graduates of the eighth grade in districts which do not provide four years of recognized high school work, shall be admitted upon the payment of tuition to any recognized public high school for the completion of such portion of a four-year course as is not provided by the home districts. The parent or guardian shall select the high school to be attended, subject to the consent of the high school board and the approval of the county superintendent. The school selected may be in any recognized two, three or four year public high school.

"Section 2. An eighth grade graduate, in the meaning of this act, is any person of school age, who gives satisfactory evidence of having completed the first eight grades of school work by presenting a certificate of promotion issued by the home school board or by passing an examination set by the county superintendent or by a recognized high school.

"The tuition is paid by the county superintendent out of the state distributive fund, and is not collected from the districts."

SALARY LIST IS KILLED BY COURT

Judge Creighton Holds Appropriation Illegal.

MEANS AN EXTRA SESSION?

It is Possible That Gov. Edward F. Dunne May Call the Legislature to Correct Errors in Bill.

Springfield—Several state departments are dealing severe blows to a delicate situation in the Forgas case by Judge James A. Creighton of the Sangamon county circuit court.

An injunction was issued restraining State Treasurer Russel from paying out salaries of 165 state employees whose compensation for the biennial period aggregate $262,348.

The court, as had been expected, held the appropriation illegal and appropriated $26,234 for mitigation of members of the legislature.

Governor Dunne, upon his return from the East, will be confronted with the possible necessity of calling a special session of the legislature. At such a session the legislative court will correct the technical errors responsible for the invalidation of appropriations for salaries.

Attorney General Lucy expressed the opinion that a special session, if held to be necessary, would not be called until after the matter had been passed upon by the supreme court. The case will be taken before the highest court at its October term and a decision is expected by the end of that month.

Three suits pushed by Fayette S. Munro as counsel for John B. Forgas, the tax payer petitioner, remain to be argued before Judge Creighton in the lower court. One of these involves the legality of deferring appropriations to the third concern committee expenditures.

Two suits, one of them dealing with the omnibus appropriation bill and the other with mileage appropriation, were involved in the decisions.

Mr. Munro and others of the Citizens' Committee, who had been instrumental in the adoption of the third concern committee of the last legislature, hailed Judge Creighton's decision as a decisive victory. They demanded that an appeal would be taken to the supreme court on most of the points on which Judge Creighton ruled against them.

The state grain inspection and commissioners' department are most adversely affected by Judge Creighton's decisions. These departments may have to suspend operations pending a special session.

Items specified by the court as unconstitutional are:

One assistant attorney general in Illinois	1,000
One clerk in said office	1,000
Fourteen deputy grain inspectors	25,200
One state grain inspector	2,000
One registrar	2,200

Disputed Bills Valid.

According to an opinion given to Secretary of State Lewis G. Stevenson by Attorney General P. J. Lucy bills passed by the last legislature but not signed until after July 1, become effective the day they are signed.

Heretofore the impression has been that such bills would not become law until the legislature reconvened.

Bills delivered to the secretary of state without the signature of the governor become laws as soon as they are placed in the hands of the secretary, according to the opinion of the attorney general, which was given in the session, according to employees in the secretary of state's office. One of the doubtful bills was the one which created a state board of optometry and an examining board of structural engineers. Governor Dunne did not sign these bills until after July 1.

Incorporations.

Charters were granted the following corporations:

The American Biscopic company, Chicago; capital, $100,000; incorporators—J. E. Roth, William B. Moulton and John Burton.

O. M. Dittlo Manufacturing company, Joliet; capital, $25,000; incorporators—O. M. Dittlo, H. A. Fraser and T. H. Bruce.

Max S. Hyman company, Chicago; capital, $10,000; incorporators—Eugene D. Dullivan, Paul S. Smith and Jacob J. Schwartz.

Exposition Work Proceeds Rapidly.
With the Illinois state fair but a little over two weeks distant, activities connected with the getting ready for the fair are progressing rapidly. The Thorpe-Pain Fireworks company is finding the preparations slow for the great fireworks display which will be given each night of the state fair. The frenzied demand for explosives in Europe has caused a great deal of trouble in getting the explosives exhibited to mount to unheard of heights and it is almost impossible to obtain them, even at the big figures demanded.

The company has given assurances, however, that it will carry out the program at the state fair as planned, regardless of prices.

Illinois Water is Polluted.

The quality of the water that may be found at any point along the larger streams within or bordering the state of Illinois is shown in a report which the United States geological survey has issued.

Illinois Water is Polluted.

The investigation that led to this report was carried on under co-operation between the federal survey and the state water survey of Illinois, and the report has published several charts as Water Supply Paper No. 29, but the large demand for it has necessitated its release.

The state of Illinois is well provided with water supplies, but nearly all of them are surface waters, and most of them are greatly polluted as far as use for domestic use without purification. There also are many streams which are not polluted and which are used for domestic use without purification.

The investigation has shown that the water supply of the state is not much over one-half gallon per capita. It is of the greatest importance that this one-half gallon shall be free from the germs of fever, and shall be reasonably clean and reasonably free from taste.

This is the average amount of water used daily per capita in the United States, from 50 to 150 gallons per capita. Of this the amount used for drinking is not much over one-half gallon per capita. Items About People and Affairs From Across the Sea That Will Prove of Great Interest to Many of Our Readers.

Dr. Karl Helferich, secretary of the German imperial treasury, made a two days' speech on the condition of the nation's finances.

He said that Germany's financial and economic conditions are excellent compared with those of other countries.

He admitted that Germany's currency has depreciated but he said that Germany's enemies who formerly talked loudly of that fact, are now silent because of the financial situation.

"This new war loan," he said in concluding his speech, "is a great peace giving us guarantees against aggression and the activity of our enemies, at the same time leading our enemies back to the course of moderation and artificial cultivation of halumelations and bring peace and tranquility to the world."

He said that the new war loan will bring peace which the whole of Europe needs in order to maintain a place in the world and fulfill her mission.
