BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1915

CLUBS OPENING FOR THE YEAR'S MEETINGS

Woman's Club Has Rented Rooms in Peters Building to be Used for Rest and Meeting and for Library.

THURSDAY CLUB OPENS NEXT WEEK

To Meet at the Home of President, Mrs. Sanford Peck—Portia Club Begins Last Week—List of Officers.

The Barrington Woman's club will open its club year with a musical and reception to the president, Mrs. G. W. Spenser, at its club rooms next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The club has been divided into departments, each department having charge of one or more programs during the year.

A splendid array of talent is promised and among them are the following:

Prof. John D. Shoop, First Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Chicago.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Trevelick, Chicago.

Mrs. James C. Long, president of the County Federation of Women's Clubs, subject: "Home Economics."

Miss Margaret Flanagan, will give her trip to Ireland in poetry.

H. P. Blaney, subject: "Landscape Gardening."

Prof. Charles A. Myall, principal of the Newwood Park schools, illustrated lecture with slides, subject: "My Trip to Shakespeare Land."

Mrs. Eudena Bacon, Past President of the State Federation and organizer of Library extension.

Miss Margaret King, only woman patent attorney in the United States.

Mrs. Andrea Proudfoot, subject: "International Relations."

Miss Snow of the Chicago Art Institute.

Dr. Janet Gann, President Arlington Heights Woman's club.

Cyrus B. De Nry, Director of Zoological Department, Lincoln Park, Chicago, subject: "Wild Animals in Captivity."

Judge Mary Bartine of the Juvenile Court Chicago.

Haden M. Bell, Assistant State Attorney of Cook county.

The hope and ambition of the club during the past year have more than been realized and it was found about time ago that the present quarters were inadequate.

Rooms have been rented in the Peters building on Main street which will better accommodate the club which now contains more than 80 members. A great many more have been promised as soon as they are moved into their new quarters.

The sixty-six members of the Woman's club have been working in their efforts to establish a library in Barrington and at the rate books are being taken out it appears their effort is appreciated by the public.

It is the plan of the club to work in conjunction with the school and to advise with school authorities in selecting new books soon to be purchased.

It is planned to have reading and rest rooms in the building to be occupied by the library which will be a long felt want in this village.

Furnishings have been donated and club members will take charge of library and rest rooms which it is hoped will be kept open most of the time. Notice will be published here as to the hours the library will be open.

The Woman's Thursday club opens its twenty-second year on next Thursday, October 7, at the home of the president, Mrs. Sanford Peck. The day is called "President's Day" and music and poetry will fill the program. There are 21 members at present, many of whom have belonged to the club since it was organized.

Thirty-one meetings have been planned. A special one will be December 1 when Mrs. Sophia Edwards of Los Angeles, ex-president of the club, will be here to tell of her African trip. Each month the subjects studied will be on subjects presented by members and all sessions will be at the home of the ladies as usual.

The anniversary dinner occurs March 2. Other officers are: Mrs. H. P. White, vice-president; Mrs. Otto Sadt, secretary; Mrs. L. A. Powers, treasurer.

The Portia club is again in session with Mrs. Verno Hawley as president; vice-president, Mrs. Loda Caldwell; secretary, Mrs. Donald Schneider; treasurer, Miss Ruth Meyer. The president had their first meeting on September 23; there will be twenty meetings made up of parties and studies, socials, etc.

Notice. After October 7, the undersigned will close our meat markets all day Sunday.

COOK COUNTY FAIR AT PALATINE

October 14, 15, and 16 is Date of Fair—Horse Races, Aerplane Flights, Ford Race to be Features.

The Cook County fair that was postponed on account of the foot-and-mouth disease will be held October 14, 15 and 16 at Palatine. The backers of the fair (and their number about every citizen of Palatine) were not willing to give up their plans on account of the postponement of the fair and at a meeting held Tuesday of this week, decided to carry out the original plans, which include:

Six days races for purse of $1,600. Aeroplanes flights, two each day. Ford automobile race, purse $100. Ball games, water fights and other sports.

A feature of the first day will be a Farmers' Institute conducted by the state officials.

A woman's exhibit building has been erected upon the fairgrounds. A large tent has been purchased to house the agricultural exhibit and stable room provided for the entries of the horse class. There will be no other live stock.

Nearly $1,000 worth of premiums will be offered in the poultry, agricultural and women's exhibits.

The right to exhibit is not limited to Cook county citizens and people residing in southern Lake county can participate.

Altogether it will be a big event. The people of Palatine are very enthusiastic and have guaranteed a large sum to cover the expenses, which will be no small amount. It is the aim to give this territory a fair of its own—a fair that will compare favorably with those established for years. The Palatine Commercial association and other local bodies all support and interest the citizens of other towns.

Premium lists can be obtained on application to secretary, G. H. Arps, Palatine.

State Fair Not a Success.

Reporters from the state fair at Springfield state that the epidemic of foot and mouth disease ruined the success of the exhibit for thousands of farmers who attended remained away. Empty sheds made the fair seem desolate and the small crowd diminished the gate receipts. Uncertain money conditions of the times and backward crops are also reasons for the lack of interest.

IS MRS. DURAND DOING WRONG?

State Authorities Say That She Is Settling a Bad Example When She Refuses to Have Her Herd Killed.

Mrs. Scott Durand, because of her successful fight to prevent the slaughter of her $50,000 prize herd of dairy cows, has precipitated a condition "barraging" to the live stock interests of the United States.

Such was the unanimous opinion expressed Tuesday afternoon at an adjourned meeting of veterinarians of eastern states with representatives of the Chicago Live Stock exchange, held at the South and West club, Chicago.

The situation has become so critical that Carl Vrooman, assistant secretary of the Department of Agriculture, postponed other business to aid in the movement to bring moral persuasion to bear upon Mrs. Durand to prevail upon her to change her attitude.

Mr. Vrooman said he was so impressed with the need of immediate action that he postponed talks he intended making in the West to help Illinois.

"The infected Durand herd is a standing menace to the live stock business from Maine to California," he said. "Mrs. Durand is not only seriously hampering the country's live stock business but she is setting a precedent that other stock owners may seek to follow."

"There is only one way to stop foot and mouth disease, and that is the appraisal and slaughter method."

AUTHORITIES AFTER JAMES DORSEY

Charge That Prominent Gilberts Stockman Used the Mails to Defraud in Selling Tuberculin Cattle.

Federal officers have completed an investigation of alleged illegal and fraudulent cattle brokerage operations of James Dorsey of Gilberts, millionnaire cattle king of Kane county and president of the Elgin Road Race association.

The government's investigation disclosed that Dorsey advertised extensively in agricultural papers and magazines. He invariably stated in his advertisements that he had for sale only the highest grade select Holstein cattle, select heifers, and registered bulls.

Farmers all over the country answered the ads and became customers—but usually only once, according to the charges. Witnesses have been summoned to Chicago from Western states to testify before the federal grand jury now in session in Chicago.

J. T. Miller, a farmer of Sturgis, South Dakota, one of the witnesses called and he brought from Dorsey a herd of twenty-three heifers and one "registered" bull. The herd was accompanied by Dorsey's purported record of tuberculin tests he stated the herd had been subjected to, and he guaranteed the animals free from tuberculosis.

Within a month or two, according to Miller, after the herd arrived on his South Dakota farm, he discovered the whole herd was infected. All the animals he bought from Dorsey, he said, had to be destroyed, entailing a loss of nearly $2,000.

"Dorsey solicited my business by mail," Miller said. "I questioned him particularly as to whether the cattle were in a first class and healthy condition. He answered by saying they had been subjected to the test and were first class in every respect."

Other farmers, who charge they were "tricked" by Dorsey's mail order cattle operations, are N. F. A. German of Brook Park, Minn., and William Spath of Lewiston, Me. German and Spath also are supposed as witnesses, it is said.

The government's prosecution of the case is under the postal laws prohibiting the use of the mails in schemes to defraud.

Method of Testing Gasoline.

Users of gasoline for farm power, automobiles or tractors are given some valuable information by the farm engineering department of the Iowa Agricultural College in a recent free bulletin on carburetor troubles.

The lighter gasoline, which is not so thoroughly refined as heavier than the high test, because the latter oil contains a smaller percentage of crude materials.

The heavier gasoline will develop more heat per gallon, and if the engine runs well with it, it will give more mileage and ultimately more power. The lighter or higher test gasoline "evaporates" more easily and permits much easier starting in cold weather and gives smoother operation.

A simple method for comparing gasoline is suggested. Dip strips of paper of the same size to the same depth in the different samples of gasoline, "expose" them side by side in the air. Note the difference in rapidity of evaporation. The higher or lighter gasoline will show the more rapid evaporation.

Woodman, As Usual, Prompt.

I wish to thank the Modern Woodmen of America for the promptness in which my claim for $2,000.00 as beneficiary under a certificate held by my late husband was paid, the check being received by me last Monday. I can cheerfully recommend the organization to anyone desiring insurance.

FISH & GAME ASSOCIATION MEETING

Farmers Are Urged to Attend This Meeting for Their Own Protection—To be Held at Village Hall.

All persons interested in the Farmers' Fish & Game association are requested to attend a meeting of the organization to be held at the village hall next Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Subjects of interest to the farmers of this community will be discussed. The open season for hunting is now at hand. The recent outbreak of foot and mouth disease in this vicinity makes it absolutely necessary that all persons, hunters and others, keep from trespassing on your premises. In order to prevent the spread of the disease.

Warning signs, giving notice that hunting or trespassing, on your premises will not be permitted, have been printed and may be had free of charge by calling at the REVIEW office. You are asked to get these signs at once and post them in conspicuous places on your farm.

Everyone is invited to be present at the meeting to be held Saturday evening and join the association.

Farmers should wake up to the seriousness of the situation and do everything in their power to help this organization which is endeavoring to assist you.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Isabelle Kinead of the third room left school on account of moving to Wauconda.

The school library will be open to all pupils on Friday afternoon of this week.

All pupils who do not live in the country are requested not to come to school before 8:45 a. m. and 12:50 p. m. Those who bring their lunches are not expected to leave the grounds at noon without permission.

The Junior had begun unsuspiciously with its first practice Tuesday afternoon under the leadership of Warren Plasse.

The seniors of 1916 held a class meeting Monday to decide many important questions such as class pins or rings, mottoes or flowers.

Sophie Kileman entered the first room as a new pupil this week.

Raymond Kilgibery of Room 1 broke his arm one day this week while playing in the barn at home.

The pupils and teachers of the eighth grade enjoyed a winter and marshmallow roast at Hill Woods on Wednesday afternoon of last week.

The rank of the grades in attendance is as follows:

Rank	Room	Per Cent.
1	5	92.23
3	6	97.86

Mr. Leland, the German and history instructor, supervised a sight-seeing trip which was enjoyed by their members of the high school, Mrs. W. N. Sears, Mrs. Alta Bennett, Miss Gardiner, and Prof. E. S. Smith. The party left Barrington at 8:04 a. m. Saturday, and visited first Northwestern University, Evanston, where they saw relics dating back to the first century. They then went to Garrett Biblical institute where were exhibits showing the evolution of Christianity. The next place was the Haskell's Oriental museum at Chicago university where the Egyptian monuments connected with religion and civilization were studied.

Field's museum there were interesting exhibits of Roman, Egyptian and Assyrian art, after which the geological collection and relics of the American Indians were examined. Then the remains of the Stone age and the Bronze age, as well as extinct animals were viewed, and as a fitting close to such a sight of sight seeing came the exhibit of precious stones.

The high school has decided to have a lecture course this year and on Tuesday elected a committee of five to decide the questions arising in that connection. The pupils will canvas the community for sale of season tickets at $2.00 for a seven year course. The course will open November 8, with Colby.

Mrs. Mary Barnett Colleen of Lake Street departed this life at 11 o'clock Monday evening after several months illness of cancer. She was first taken ill about three years ago and a year later submitted to an operation in a Chicago hospital. Only temporary relief was the result and she has been confined to her bed since last January. She was a patient sufferer during her long illness and enjoyed the presence of her children and friends who gave her comfort in the reading of the Bible, singing and playing hymns she often enjoyed in the House of God.

WHEN CHILDREN SAVE THE PEN-NIES.

Every little child receives many pennies nickels and dimes from its parents, and its brothers and sisters, and its uncles and aunts and cousins.

But what become of these pennies?
In a few cases they go into a juvenile savings bank and are kept from the sight of the child.

In many cases they come easy and go easier—the child squanders them as fast as it gets them.

And both cases are a distinct injury
to the future of the child.

You cannot begin too young to teach your child the value of money, to impress upon its little mind the fact that without money it will find the pathway
of life a rough one to be trod.

Let the child have the money.
Teach it to count it, to realize its value, to speculate on what it will buy,
but above all, inculcate in its mind a desire to "watch it grow."

Let it spend a portion of its pennies
—say one-half of what it gets; in its youthful days—but in that expenditure teach it to select something of practical value, even though the cost be but a few cents.

Then teach it itself to save the other half and watch the pennies grow.

Encourage it to count them over frequently and keep track of the increase,
and keep gently but persistently at this course until the child instinctively and voluntarily places the half of all it gets
in its own little bank.

Let it have its candy and its play-things by all means, but let it learn the lesson of carefully considering the value
of every little purchase it makes,
always placing in reserve the half of all the pennies it gets.

When your child learns these simple lessons in infancy you need have no fear of the wolf crossing its threshold
in the after years of life.

It will always have money and to spare.

MEET AT THE SCHOOL HOUSE.

The winter months will be a long one now and the farmer will be wondering what he can do to whittle away the evening hours. And right here we want to throw out a suggestion that means both pleasure and profit. Arrange to have a meeting at one of your school houses or other public places at least one evening a month, at which you all compare notes on the season's work, note
the mistakes that have been made and devise the best methods of correcting them the coming year. You can not get a dozen farmers together but what some one of them will have something to say of value to you, something that perhaps you have not known before,
something that will make your lighter,
and profits greater in future years. The social features also of such meetings would drive away the monotony of the winter evenings, and from a practical standpoint they would be of great value to every one who participates. Get together, gentlemen, and compare notes.
What is good for one is of equal benefit to all.

Two Sources of Income.

A Londoner was showing some country relative the sights of London one day recently, and was pointing out a magnificent old residence built years ago by a famous and rather unscrupulous lawyer of his time. "And,"
the Londoner was asked, "was he able to build a house like that by his practice?" "Yes," was the reply, "by his practice and his practices."

Gas at First Not Appreciated.

Like most other useful inventions,
gas was at first treated with ridicule,
and the early companies for the manufacture were for many years anything but successful in their operations, and indeed, were carried on at a loss. As our readers know, they are now
among the most profitable of undertakings. Even when displaced as an illumination, gas will always have a great value for heating purposes.

TORTOISE OUTLIVES THE HARE

Rabbit May Get to Be Five Years of Age, but the Otter May Reach Four Hundred.

The ages of living things vary from a moment to hundreds of years. The tortoise is said to take the prize among all land animals for length of years. This animal lives under favorable conditions, 300 or 400 years. One died in London in 1890 which was said to be at least 350 years old. The crocodile, too, sometimes lives to be 300.

The tortoise has to give in to the whale, however, for the latter often lives to the age of five hundred. That is probably the oldest age reached by any creature which exists upon the earth today.

The common little English sparrow
lives longer than most of us imagine.
Scientists tell us that some of them get to be forty years old. This is a ripe old age for so small a bird. This is a robin, which is much larger. Lives only ten or twelve years. The eagle holds the record for age among the birds. It may live to be 100.

The elephant lives, on the average,
as long as the eagle. The oldest and largest of the common domestic animals is reached by the horse, which often reaches 30 or more. This is practically the same as the age of man. The cow may live to be 25, the dog 15, the rabbit about five. Most of us know, however, of cases in which common beasts or birds have lived to much greater ages
than are allotted them ordinarily.

TO GUIDE TROOPS AT NIGHT

Prismatic Compass Is Declared to Be of Great Value to Military Commanders.

Leading troops across country by compass (fearing with as much certainty by night as by day) is made possible through the use of a prismatic compass just brought out in England. The name given this compass is due to the prism fitted to one side of the frame, although this is not the most important feature of the instrument. The dial, which is made of mother-of-pearl, has a center coated with luminous paint and in addition to this there are luminous patches on the lid by which the instrument is readily sighted at night. When a night march is to be undertaken the instrument is opened and exposed to the daylight for half an hour. This is sufficient to make the dial center and sighting patches luminous for from six to nine hours. In the latest form of the instrument this exposure to daylight is unnecessary, owing to the use of radioactive substance that is always self-luminous. Popular Mechanics.

Lazy, That's All.

New York women are lazy housekeepers. All experiments with public markets, co-operative food stores and direct-from-farm-to-kitchen projects come sooner or later bang up against the fact that housewives hereabouts will not take the thiffling means of getting food supplies. Every now and then municipal markets start off with a flourish. But in a short time it is found that they are doing mainly a wholesale business. The housewives they are supposed to benefit are buying their food from the corner store and paying the same old prices, however high they go. New York women are too proud to take their baskets and go to market as do the women of Pittsburgh. Women in this city talk
"high cost of living." It is the fashion to groan about it. But it is not the fashion to fail to and help reduce it.

Acid Pyrography.

Artistic designs can be burned in wooden surfaces by the use of an acid solution formulated properly with, equally as good results as are obtained with the pyrographic needle.
A 20 per cent solution of sulphuric acid should be mixed in an ordinary jar, bottle, and the liquid diluted with red ink or other coloring matter, so that the acid line will be visible when it is applied.

After the design has been printed or drawn on the wood surface a tallor's iron should be rubbed carefully
over it until the desired shade is obtained. The acid should be painted over the design with a small camel-hair brush.—World's Advance.

Sugar, Sir?

Sugar was not known as an article of commerce among the Greeks, and it is not mentioned in the Bible, showing that it was not known to the Hebrews. The sugar cane is believed to have grown wild in India, and while no reference to sugar cane be found to 300 A. D. there is no doubt that the juice of the cane was in use long before that period. The art of the evaporation of the juice to a solid substance is an Indian invention of about the seventh century, and was spread all over the then known world. The Arabs and Egyptians prepared candy at an early date by crystallizing the sugar obtained from the pressed cane.

GIRL'S "NO" ENRAGES HIM

Aged Gutter, Rejected at First Meeting, Tries to Kill Her and
Two Constables.

Darien, Conn.—Severin Fulco, fifty years old, of Stamford, with a revolver,
long attitude and three sticks of dynamite and fuming caps, made a demonstration here after Lucia Matternasi, seventeen years old, who had never seen him before, declined to marry him and treated the marrying proposition as a joke.

Fulco shot twice at Miss Matternasi
as she ran away, three times at Constable Mathew, who was approaching him, and attempted to shoot at Constable Green, but there were then only empty shells in the weapon. The constable bound Fulco hand and foot and put him in the lockup, where he remains awaiting a hearing on his mental condition.

After the constables had knocked Fulco down they found the athlete and explosives in his clothing. They and the girl escaped injury through Fulco's
poor aim.

ROMANCE OF THE EXPOSITION

Officer and Young Lady, Separated for Seventeen Years, Meet at Fair and Wed.

San Francisco—Capt. George Stuenkelsenberg, U. S. A., known as "the stout of the army," and Miss Florence Alexander of Boise were married a few days ago.

The ceremony took place in the Idaho building at the exposition and was performed by Chaplain Arthur Oswander of Alcatraz Island in the presence of many friends of the couple.

Until they met recently at the exposition, Captain Stuenkel and Miss Alexander had not seen each other for seventeen years. With the blowing up of the Maine, Captain Stuenkel, then a young man, joined the Idaho volunteers and went to the war. Miss Alexander took the stage as a professional whistler,
and fate held them apart for many years. The bride recently gave up the stage.

AUTO SMASHES COW'S LEG

Then Mean Thief Steals Hide, Leaving Nothing But Vain Regrets
for Owner.

Baraboo, Wis.—Recently a cow belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Cohn was struck by an automobile owned by Edward Kowalski of North Freedom. The cow was tethered in the road for the pasture and the driver of the car claims he tried to avert
an accident but could not.

The leg of the cow was broken and the animal had to be killed. Action was begun in Justice Adolph Andros's court on the ground the machine was being driven too fast and later a change of venue was taken to Justice
H. J. Halsted's court where the case was dismissed, as the car was not going twenty-five miles an hour. Besides cows should not pasture in the highway.

The hide was removed from the animal and later the hide was notified that this had been stolen. The thief has not been apprehended.

ON WRONG LAND 12 YEARS

Homesteader in Oregon Improves
Land He Didn't Own and Pays
Taxes on Another Place.

McMinnville, Ore.—Twelve years ago Josef Henrich bought eight acres of school land from the state, located, paid taxes and improved the place.

N. W. Smith, who recently purchased 13 acres from the state, discovered that Henrich had been living on his land and had paid taxes on another tract one mile south, similar in description.

In the 12 years Henrich had built a home on the Smith place, cleared some of the timber and cultivated the land. The Henrich tract in the meantime has not been improved.

The Next Best Thing to the Pine Forest for Colds is—

Dr. Bell's Pine-Tree-Honey which goes to the very root of cold troubles. It clears the throat and gives relief from that clogged and stuffy feeling. The plains have ever been the friend of man in driving away colds. Moreover, the pine-honey qualities are peculiarly effective in fighting children's colds.

Remember that a cold broken at the start greatly reduces the possibility of complications. 25c.

Elbert Hubbard's Creed.

"I believe that no man can harm us

but ourselves, that sin is misdirected

energy, that there is no devil but fear,

and that the universe is planned for good. I believe that that work is a blessing, that winter is as necessary as summer, that night is as useful as day, that death is a manifestation of life, and just as good. I believe in you and I believe in a Power that is in ourselves that makes for our righteousness."

Retain Level of Friendship.

If we have had the good fortune to win the esteem of a friend, let us do anything rather than lose him. We must give and forgive, live and let live. If our friends have faults, we must bear with them. We must hope

all things, believe all things, endure

all things, rather than lose that most precious of all earthly possessions, a trustworthy friend.

Conquering Death and Change.

To take into the inmost shrine of the soul the irresistible force whose puppets seem to be—Death, and Change, the irreversibility of a vanished past, the powerlessness of man

before the blind hurry of the universe

from reality to reality—to feel these things and know them to be conquer-

them.—Bertrand Russell.

METHOD OF PICKLING ONIONS

Writer Makes Some Suggestions Which Seem to Be Worthy of Consideration.

Peeing the onions in a decidedly painful task, but it is made less so if they are done in cold water. Some people even put them in boiling water and allow them to come to the boil before peeling them. I prefer the former plan. With small silver pickling onions to each quart of vinegar allow two tablespoons of black pepper, two level teaspoons of salt, two level teaspoons of sugar, two level teaspoons of salt, two bay leaves. Remove the outer skin with a silver knife. If a steel one is used the onions will turn black. If liked, peel them in a basin of cold water, for besides making the operation less painful, it helps to whiten them by removing some of the essential oil. Dry them lightly in a cloth. Put the vinegar, spices and bay leaves in a saucepan. Boil them until the vinegar is well flavored, and let it get cold. Put the onions in jars or wide-necked bottles, fill them up with the vinegar, adding a little spice to each layer. Cork down tightly. They will be ready for use in about a month.—Hector Globe.

BEAUTY AND GOOD HABITS

Too Few Seem to Recognize the Part That Health Plays in Matter of Appearance.

It is impossible to be beautiful without being healthy. Health is the foundation of beauty. If one wants to be more than skin deep, the beauty must be more than skin deep. The trouble with most people is that they are quite satisfied with a beauty that is superficial enough to deceive the onlooker. Beauty includes vigor and efficiency.

To be really beautiful one must have not only a beautiful face, but beautiful hands as well; not simply a good complexion all over. Not infrequently a person's body is covered with pimples. With such blemishes on the face one would feel very badly, but so long as they are out of sight, they are not regarded. However, they mean the same thing as if they were face pimples. They mean that the whole body is in a state of uncleanliness and of low resistance because of this uncleanliness.

The only way to be really beautiful is to live beautifully, to live right. That means to live healthily. For example, if one is aiming to be beautiful, one must eat beautiful things, because our bodies are made of what we eat. If one eats corpses, how can one expect to be beautiful? But if one eats the beautiful fruits and nuts that are hung from the trees, inviting us to reach up and partake—if one eats these and other natural foods that nature has prepared for us, that are all pure and sweet and good and clean, then one may have normal, clear blood, and the result of good, clean blood will be a clear skin and a good complexion. A lady once asked the writer what was good for her complexion, and we told her oatmeal. She said, "Do you mean rub it on?" "Yes," we said, "rub it on, and rub it in." "I don't," said J. H. Kollege, M. D., in Good Health.

LITTLE DANGER FROM BOOKS

Infectious Diseases Not Likely to Be Transmitted, Is Opinion Officially Expressed.

The fact that infectious diseases may sometimes be conveyed by books has led to exhaustive investigations to determine just how much danger there may be from this source, particularly in public libraries and waiting-rooms. The particular disease investigated as the one most likely to be transmitted, was tuberculosis, and the conclusions reached are gratifying and reassuring, as follows:

There is probably no material risk involved in handling books recently read by consumptives unless the books are obviously soiled. Even then the risks are slight. But in order to provide against possible infection it is suggested that suspected books should be placed in "quarantine" for a month—that is, placed in a room where there is free circulation of air, such as one with a window open. At the end of 30 days all germs of tuberculosis, and probably all other germs likely to be found in the books, will have been killed.

Air for the Human House.

Your body is a human house, the place in which you live. Food alone cannot make this house a healthy place. The lungs, the ventilators of the house, must be filled, and refilled many times each minute with pure, fresh air.

The air breathed deep into the tiny cells of the lungs, meets and purifies the blood which has been sent there by the heart, the great pump in your human house. This pump is kept busy every moment. It must gather the venous blood from every part of the body and send it to the lungs, then it must take the purified blood back to the farthest point of the human house. Sometimes invisible enemies, the microbes, creep into the human house and try to steal our health away. Nothing can do more in the way of driving these little enemies out than pure ventilators, the lungs, when they are allowed an abundance of fresh air.

Tyranny of Power.

No citizen can do a higher duty than to resist the majority when he believes it wrong; to assert the right of individual judgment, and to maintain it; to cherish liberty of thought and speech and action against the tyranny of his own or any party. Till that tyranny, yearly growing more burdensome as the main object of an old party becomes more and more the retention of the reigning of power, instead of the success of the fresh, vivid principles on which new parties are always organized—till that tyranny is in some measure broken, we shall get few questions considered on their merits and fall—as we are falling—to bring the strong men into the service of the state.—Whitlaw Reid.

William Morris and Paul Poiret.
We pay homage daily to Paul Poiret as an apostle of good line and brilliant color in dress, but the world does not half know or praise what William Morris has done in interior decoration. Working as did Poiret, he banished the superficial, artificial, superfluous adornment of personal belongings. Down went the gorgeous, up came the genuine, under his teachings. And yet, the most that the many know of him is that he gave his name to a reclining chair. The very phrase "Mottisham curtains" would discourage him in the same way as it pains Poiret to see a woman wearing a string of pearls with a tailored suit, as many hundreds of American women, unfortunately, have a habit of doing.

CARRANZA SOLDIERS LOOT AND BURN IN TEXAS.

Retreat of Border Raiders Covered by Several Hundred of the "First Chief's" Troops.

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 27.—One American soldier was killed, the captain commanding the Americans was wounded and the post office and general stores at Progreso, Tex., were looted and burned on Friday when about eighty armed Mexicans crossed into Texas and attacked a small detachment of Troops in C. T. Wright cavalry.

Reinforcements have been rushed from several army posts and General Panzer reports the situation well in hand. However, all the Mexicans, with the exception of 17 killed and 19 prisoners, have recrossed into Mexico under the protection of several hundred troops on the other side of the border.

So serious is the situation felt by the army that it is believed General Funston will order his men to pursue the raiders into Mexican territory in case of a repetition of the raid. Officers who took part in the fighting have reported to General Funston that the soldiers belonged to Carranza's army.

She also gives assurances that no more American ships carrying conditional contraband will be destroyed under any circumstances.

5 PER CENT BONDS SECURITY

Baron Reading Gives Details of Proposed Loan Following Banquet Held in Honor of the Visitors—Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Withdraw Opposition.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Financial agents of Great Britain and France, in America to float a vast credit loan, announced formally in Chicago on Tuesday night that half a billion dollars was the amount sought by the warring nations.

The announcement, carrying with it the terms of the proposed loan, was made simultaneously in Chicago and New York. The local declaration followed the banquet to the members of the Anglo-French commission at the Blackstone hotel.

Here are the terms of the history-making loan, as described for "house" paper men by Baron Reading of England (Sir Rufus Isaacs), lord chief justice of England: "A total of $500,000,000 to be issued on joint Anglo-French five-year 5 per cent bonds offered to the public at 98, and to the syndicate of underwriters at 96."

Furthermore, the proposition is to issue the bonds in denominations as low as $100, and arrangements may be made by which subscribers might pay for their investment, explained Baron Reading and his European colleagues at the banquet given by the Commercial club.

The Anglo-French announcement of the amount and terms of the loan was made through J. P. Morgan & Co. Dispatches told of a repetition of the announcement made here.

Before making their announcement the finance commissioners were informed by long-distance telephone communication, that opposition to the loan by the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. had been withdrawn. Jacob H. Schiff, New York banker, communicated with them.

"It was not possible that we could have come to Chicago without discussing the loan," said Baron Reading to interviewers. "There were surely people here with whom we have wanted to discuss the loan."

The negotiations for the loan have never been confined to New York and its immediate vicinity. It is open to the whole country, throughout the whole of the states.

Plans for handling the proposed foreign loan were discussed by Thomas W. Lamont, partner in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., with 35 representatives of Chicago bond houses and bond departments of banks.

Mr. Lamont outlined the details of the loan and mapped out a scheme for the appointment of committees which will be in charge of the distribution and sale of the bonds in the various sections of the country.

"What American name would you like to have?"

"I have it here," he said, handing the teacher a clipping of paper on which was written "Patrick Dennis McCarthy."

TRAINING MEN IN THE ART OF BOMB THROWING

Anarchist's Weapon in Warfare
Has Become as Respectable as the Rifle.

FINE POINTS OF THE GAME

The Absent-Minded Fellow Makes Trouble—Bombs Well Behaved If You Treat Them Right—First Chuck Is Really What's Important.

By FREDERICK PALMER, (International News Service).
Barrington, France.—It was at a bombing school on a French farm where chosen soldiers brought back from the trenches were being trained in the use of the anarchist's weapon which has now become as respectable as the rifle. Specialists develop as the war goes on. There are no M. A. degrees for Master Bomb-ers yet; but they may come, any day. Present was the chief instructor, a young Scotch subaltern with blue eyes, a pleasant smile and a cock of the north which he might have had twenty years old, though he did not look it. On his breast was the purple and white ribbon of the new order of the military cross, which one gets for doing something in this war which would have won a Victoria cross in one of the little wars.

Also present was the assistant instructor, a sergeant of regulars and very much of a regular—who had worn ribbons which he had won in previous campaigns. He too had blue eyes, bland blue eyes. These two understood each other.

"If you don't drop it, why it's all right," said the sergeant. "Of course, if you do."

He did not drop it. "And when you throw it, you must look out and not hit the man behind and knock the bomb out of your hand. That has happened before now to an absent-minded fellow who was about to toss one at the Boches—and it doesn't do to be absent-minded when you throw bombs."

"They say that you sometimes pick up the German bombs and chuck them back before they explode," it was suggested.

"Yes, sir, I've read things like that in some of the accounts of the reports who write from Somewhere in France. You don't happen to know where that is, sir? All I can say is that if you are going to do it you must be quick about it. I shouldn't advise utilizing your decision, sir, or perhaps when you reach down to pick it up neither your hand nor the bomb would be there. They'd have gone off together, sir."

Next Treat Them Right.

"Have you ever been beat in your handling of bombs?" one asked. Surprised in the bland blue eyes.

"Oh, no, sir! Bombs are well behaved if you treat them right. It's all in being thoughtful and considerate of them!"

Meanwhile he was jerking at some kind of a patent face set in a shell of high explosive.

"This is a poor kind, sir. It's been discarded, but I thought that you might like to see it. Never did like it! Always making trouble."

More distance between the audience and the performer.

"Note! I've got it, sir—get down, sir!"

The audience carried out instructions to the letter as army regulations require. We got behind the protection of one of the practice trench traverses. He threw the discard beyond another wall of earth. There was a sharp report, a burst of smoke and some fragments of earth were tossed into the air.

In a small affair of two hundred yards in trench the other day it was estimated that the British and Germans together threw about five thousand bombs in this fashion. It was enough to sadden any minister of mutilation. However, the British kept the trench.

"Do your men like to become bomb-ers?" one asked the subaltern.

"It should say so. It puts them up in front. It gives them a chance to throw something—and they don't get much credit in France, you see. We had a rough time last week with the throwing record for distance. He was pleased as Punch with himself. A first-class bombing detachment has a lot of pride of corps."

To bomb has become as common a verb with the army as to bayonet. "We bombed them out!" means a section of trench taken. As you know a trench is dug out with sand bags in zigzag traverses. In following the course of a trench it is as if you followed the sides of the square of a checkerboard up and down and across on the same tier of squares. The square itself is a bank of earth with the cut on either side and in front of it. When a bombing party bombs their way into the possession of a section of German trench there are Germans under cover of the traverses on either side of them. The German is waiting around the corner to shoot the first British head that shows itself.

AUDITORIUM.

The season of opera by the Boston company and the Pavlova Ballet Russe will open at the Auditorium on Monday evening, October 4, with "The Dumb Girl of Portici." For years this opera has not been attempted, the difficulties of gathering a cast which could meet the requirements of the opera being almost insuperable.

This opera is rather a minor drama grand opera—has for its heroine, a dumb girl, who denied the power of speech must, perforce, express herself in pantomime. Where is the prima donna who would do this, even if she could? Pavlova will have the role of Fenella in the Boston opera company's presentation. Felice Luzzi, George Natchalloff—the new Russian barytone—Xenodori and Fely Clement complete the principals of the cast. The complete Pavlova Ballet will participate.

Montezelli's beautiful opera "The Love of the Three Kings," which was the sensation of last season at the Metropolitan Opera house, New York—as it had been in Italy, in Paris and in London—will be given by the Boston Grand Opera company in conjunction with the Pavlova Ballet Russe on Wednesday evening, October 6.

In this, the first presentation of this work in Chicago, Sig. Eduardo Ferrario, Fontana, tenor, and Adam Didur, basso, who created the respective roles in New York and were potent factors in the over-whelming success of the opera, are to have their roles repeated at the Auditorium. In addition, Lute Villali, Italian soprano, who was the creator of the role of Alice, studied it with the composer, and made its premiere under Montezelli's baton, is now an integral part of the company.

Whop Menzies conducted "L'Amore del Tre Re" in Italy, at the Chatelet in Paris, and at Covent Garden in London, he was the recipient of many ovations. His basso has lost none of its power and the intricate plotting of orchestra and singers alike may be looked to as ideal. The story concerns itself with the love of the three kings of father a lover and a husband—and makes a tragedy intensely enriched by the characteristic and colorful music of the modernist style.

Almost Right.
Al Johnson tells an amusing story of his first golf caddy. Johnson found driving off rather difficult and commuted with his caddy as to the reason he missed the ball so frequently. The boy sagely delivered the following advice: "The first thing you've got to learn, Mr. Johnson, is to 'consecrate' your eye on the ball. Then you can hit it."

And the Rumor is Probably True.
"The latest story on me, circulated by my fellow townsmen for the purpose of showing how mean my disposition is," grimly grinned old P. D. Fester. Field for Ambition.
"Yes, father," he said to old Mr. Hayseed, "I've graduated and my education is complete. I guess I know about everything. Now I must choose a field where my abilities can be used to the best advantage. I want a large field where I will have plenty of room." "Son," replied the old man, "there is the ten-acre cornfield, and you kin have it all to yourself."

Worth Pondering Over.
Are you helping to circulate reports of the frailties of your neighbor? Perhaps you think that your deficiencies are not known, but are you sure that you are not as weak or peculiar as your neighbor, though, perhaps, in a different way? Are there not as many holes in your character as there are in his?—Exchange.

Cement Stave Silos

It is not too late to erect a Cement Stave Silo before filling time, and lots of the corn this year will not ripen and a silo is the only way to get the full benefit of the feeding qualities of unripened corn. They can be erected in a few days.
