ACHIEVEMENT CLUBS ARE BIG SUCCESS

Hundreds of Cook County School Children Enrolled in One of the Clubs Organized to "Do Something."

GARDENING IS THE MOST POPULAR

Many Children Write of Their Experiences and Give an Accounting of Money Made and Expended.

Herman Boesch, 13 years old, of Orchard place, Cook county, this summer sold $340 worth of cucumbers which he raised on one acre of land. Ellen Baumann, a schoolgirl of Niles township, on a tenth of an acre raised onions and beans which she sold for $85. The girl explained to her instructors that she would have made more off the plot only "radishes which were planted after the onions were a failure and had to be dug up."

These are concrete examples of the result of the correlation of home work and school studies which was begun several years ago in the organization of field and garden clubs among the pupils of the rural schools in the twenty-three townships of Cook county outside of Chicago.

Instead of limiting the activities of the pupils to their school studies, home life is brought into touch with the school and they are encouraged to "do something" as well as to "learn something."

So heavily has been the response of the boys and girls that today six distinct school-home projects are in active operation, under the direction of Edward J. Tobin, county superintendent of schools, and school life has taken a new meaning.

These projects include:

1. Field, school and home, under which the pupils are encouraged to engage in agricultural work on plots rented from their parents. These plots are regularly inspected by the school country life director.

2. Poultry school and home; poultry raising is undertaken by the pupils who have exclusive care of the fowls and keep accurate record of the cost and profits.

3. Cow testing; especially adapted to the dairy districts, the child makes weekly tests of milk and determines from the average percentage of butter fats the actual profit in butter and milk from each cow.

4. Business, in which a business venture such as a shop or a newspaper route is undertaken. Each pupil is expected to keep an accurate record for not less than eight months.

5. Cooking, canning and sewing; the pupil demonstrates her progress and the methods employed.

6. Music, in which a record of the hours of study and practice are recorded and exhibitions of proficiency given.

In each of these projects a certificate of achievement is given for faithful work. This certificate is separate from the regular school markings.

Successful pupils are given achievement buttons.

That the pupils are interested is shown by the enrollment, which in the field section now numbers 2,600. In the business section there are nearly 300. Much interest is also shown in the other projects.

Played for National Prohibition

Over 200 women stood around the grave of Miss Francis E. Willard, famous temperance leader, in Rosehill cemetery Saturday and pledged themselves to fight until national prohibition has been secured. The women were delegates to the state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union, which closed Friday evening in Waukegan. Miss Helen L. Hood of Chicago, president of the state organization, led the party.

Before their visit to Rosehill, which was made at 2 p.m. in a special car on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, the women made a pilgrimage to the former home of Miss Willard at 1709 Chicago avenue, Evanston, now the national headquarters of the women's temperance work. Miss Anna A. Gordon, national president, and Mrs. Francis T. Parks, national corresponding secretary, received them.

Mrs. D. H. Bickardson represented the local organization of the W. C. T. U. at the convention held in Waukegan. She returned home Saturday evening.

BIRTH

An 11-pound son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Ackerman at 4101 Geneva avenue, Saturday, October 2. Mr. Ackerman is a daughter of Mrs. Louise Riecke of Main street.

MAYOR CLOSES SUNDAY SALOONS

William H. Thompson of Chicago Issues Order That State Law Regarding Closing Must Be Enforced.

Mayor William Hale Thompson created a stir in the city council of Chicago Monday evening when he delivered a message to that body announcing his intention to close the 7,102 saloons of Chicago on Sundays.

The following is the message to the council:

"I have recently received communications from citizens of Chicago that liquor is sold in this city on Sunday in violation of the state laws. I referred these communications to the corporation counsel for an opinion as to what is the law in regard thereto. He advises me that the state law provides that 'Whoever keeps open any tippling house or place where liquor is sold or given away upon the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, shall be fined not less than $200,' and that the city ordinance pertaining, under certain restrictions, saloons or dram shops to remain open on Sunday does not and cannot nullify the state law. This being the law, as I am advised, and it being my duty as mayor to take care, so far as lies within my power, that the law is faithfully executed in the city, I hereby direct that saloons or dram shops shall comply with the law and close on Sunday. And the city collector is hereby ordered to immediately notify in writing all persons to whom he has issued licenses for saloons or dram shops that such persons must comply with the requirements of the state law."

"WILLIAM HALE THOMPSON, Mayor."

Two Deaths This Week

Mrs. J. E. Efrink, sister of Mrs. G. L. Landver, died at her home in Peotone, Thursday, September 30, after several days illness.

She was born in Grissens, Germany, August 5, 1836, and came to Illinois with her parents in 1853 and settled on a farm in Lake county near this village.

On July 23, 1899, she married Rev. J. B. Efrink, who is now the pastor of the Zion Evangelical church at Peotone. Besides her husband, five children survive.

The funeral was held at Peotone, Monday, and her remains brought here for burial in Evergreen cemetery.

Margaret Graham, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Graham of the Hammond road, died of spinal meningitis yesterday morning. Burial will take place at Boone, Iowa, which formerly was the home of Mrs. Graham. The funeral party started for Boone last evening.

SCHOOL NOTES

This week brings to our school three new pupils, Mrs. Walter Heiden and Isabelle Selfridge who have enrolled in room one, and Frank Heiden in room two.

Elaine Locke, who injured her arm some time ago, has again returned to her studies in room two.

Hilda Benhoff of room five has been absent this week on account of sickness.

Rooms four, six and seven were fortunate enough to earn a half holiday last Friday afternoon. Rooms four and seven are saving their half day for future use.

Robert Berghorn returned Monday to join the Senior class of the high school.

The rank of the grades in attendance is as follows:

Rank	Room	Per Cent.
1	6	99.31
2	2	98.64
3	High School	98.60
4	4	98.10
5	3	97.70
6	5	97.43
7	7	96.87
8	8	96.50

Roseford will entertain the Northern Illinois Teachers' association October 21-22. It is expected that 1,600 school teachers will be in attendance.

Employment George Wagner. The meeting of the Farmers Fish and Game association held at the village hall Saturday evening was not as well attended as it should have been.

It was decided to employ George Wagner, constable, to enforce the hunting laws and to keep hunters from trespassing on the property of members of the association. Mr. Wagner, with a number of deputies appointed by him, started early Sunday morning to enforce the law. Only a few hunters came out on the early trains from Chicago. No arrests were made.

The farm of this vicinity is doing everything possible to stop the spread of the foot and mouth disease now prevalent in Lake county.

HAS NEW MASTER IN CHANCERY

Paul MacGuffin is Named to Succeed E. J. Heydecker as Master in Chancery for Lake County.

E. J. Heydecker, master in chancery for the Lake county Circuit court, who rose at 2 a.m. to issue the injunction restraining the state and federal inspectors from killing Mrs. Scott Duvand's cattle, infected with hoof and mouth disease, is no longer in office.

Heydecker's term expired Tuesday and, although he was a candidate for reappointment, he was not named. His successor is Paul MacGuffin of Libertyville, named by Judge Claude C. Edwards of the Lake county Circuit court.

It is understood that requests for this injunction had been made of Judge Edwards and refused by him. He was absent at the time the request was granted by his master in chancery.

Judge Edwards says that Mr. Heydecker's action had nothing to do with the case. It was simply that his term had expired and others were in the field. Mr. Heydecker has held the office for five years.

Wauconda. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bacon will occupy the E. M. Davis place next year.

Mrs. Barrell is entertaining her daughter-in-law from Chicago this week.

John Bauer spent Sunday at home; and Mr. and Mrs. Bauer spent Monday and Tuesday in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. George Blackburn and Robert visited city relatives over Sunday, returning home Monday.

Prof. A. Moore was here Saturday and took his household goods to Cordova where he is teaching this year. Superintendent Stephens of the Public Service company, of North Crystal Lake, called on F. L. Chas. Wednesday.

Robert Deleina who was badly cut from elbow to hand in a threshing feeder one day last week is improving nicely.

Mrs. M. Basely passed a pleasant evening Tuesday when friends called to congratulate her on the anniversary of her birth.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Applegate of Northfield made a visit at A. North's Sunday. Mrs. Applegate was Floy Kennelcott, but had not visited Wauconda in many years, though her mother came here annually as long as she lived.

Frank Foster, Wilbur Cook, Mrs. H. K. Harris and Mrs. E. A. Golding visited their old friends, the Wyankop families, at Woodstock last week. Nile Wyankop is quite poorly and his condition gives little hope for much improvement.

Will Dillon is the possessor of the blue ribbon, $10 in cash and the bright colored gold lettered ribbon for the best home made creamery butter exhibited at the state fair recently. Mr. Dillon is justly entitled to this premium, being a fine butter maker.

Albert Mather has moved into the Prouty house; Will Dahms and family are moving to the Will Langshere house, the latter's family having come to Elgin; Lee Brown will move to the H. Naiman house on North Main street recently vacated by Mr. Fichen who moved back to Cary; and Arthur Brown moved into C. E. Jenks' house on River street.

Dr. Orten Hubbard who has passed his vacation here, most of it a typhoid patient, has recovered; and returned to his home in Parsons, Kansas, Wednesday. At first the cause of his typhoid was sought here, but a letter from Parsons later reported others with the fever there. Typhoid has not occurred here because of local conditions, or our knowledge. We are glad that Orten recovered so well.

Women's Club Opens. The second year of the Barrington Woman's club began Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock at the new club rooms. Mrs. G. W. Spunner, president, greeted the members and outlined the plans for the season's work, with a resume, also, of past accomplishments of the club.

Mrs. Beulah Plagge played a piano solo and Mrs. John Cederblad and Mrs. V. Hawley sang a duet; little Lola Plagge and Frances Brockway gave a piano duet; readings by Constance Calkins and Elizabeth Smith were also on the program.

There were no guests and not a large attendance of members, for various reasons. October 20 will be an evening meeting at the school and the speaker will be John D. Shoop, first assistant superintendent of Chicago schools.

On Tuesday evening, October 12, a reception for members and invited guests will be held in the club rooms.

QUENTIN'S CORNERS

Grapes are not ripening as they have in former years.

A daughter was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eder of Mantoloking. Our school will open October 11 with Miss Emma Heger of Barrington as the teacher.

Miss Della Kruey visited relatives and friends in Chicago last Saturday and Sunday.

John Bokelman, Sr., is very sick at present, due to a general breaking down on account of his age which is nearly 90 years.

William Schmitt, aged 63 years, was found dead in a chair in his home last Wednesday. He had been in poor health for some time and heart trouble was the cause of death. He is survived by two brothers and a sister. Burial was at Palmito.

Jahnke-Kuhlman Nuptials. Fred H. Jahnke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jahnke, and Miss Laura Kuhlman, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Kuhlman, were united in marriage at the parsonage of St. Paul's church Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. H. Tietze, pastor of St. Paul's church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a few of the closest relatives of the contracting parties.

Miss Lucy Jahnke, a sister of the groom, and George Kuhlman, brother of the bride, acted as witnesses. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's parents on North Hawley street. They will reside in Mrs. Bernard Giecke's house on Grove avenue.

Mr. Jahnke is a trusted employee of the Public Service company and he and his bride are popular among the younger set of St. Paul's church.

Donations of books to the Barrington Public Library are still coming in. During the past week Dr. E. O. Jordan of Honey Lake sent in a box of books.

THE SLEEP OF GOLD

Will its sleep of gold yet be the
"Sleep of the United States?"

Will history be repeated and our worship of Mammon become the means of our national disintegration?

Will the peoples of America—rich, grasping, indifferent to safety—become the serfs of a conquering nation?

It is food for serious thought—food which should be dissected and consumed without loss of time.

A book has been widely circulated throughout the Japanese empire calculated to inflame the passions of the little brown men against the people of the United States and pave the way of a conquering war against this country.
It is creating wild and deadly enthusiasm
throughout the empire.

The United States is pictured as a nation of money-grasping weaklings incapable of self defense, a people devoid of national pride or honor, a nation the conquering of which would be a baldy pastime for the fanatical hordes of the mikado.

The book described in detail the methods of an alliance with Mexico
the destruction of the Panama canal and a simultaneous invasion of this country from the sea shores and across the Rio Grande.

The book laments the fantastic creation of an ideal brain. It is a stern reality and must be faced if we would maintain our national unity.

In much it is ridiculous—overdrawn
and warped from all semblance of truth, designedly so in order to inflame the masses—but in other respects it is compulsory to admit that it is a reality.

We are a nation of money-grasping and gold is our God.

We are perishing our national safety
in our greed for more gold.

We are sinking our patriotism in the mire of indifference.

We are a nation without the means of self defense.

We are facing the wearing of the yoke of a nation of unbelongers, a nation of blood thirsty fanatics.

We are walking blindly into the jaws of destruction, without a thought of the ignominy of submission, without a consciousness of the horrors that face the future of the women of our race.

We are virtually sleeping in the jaws of death.

Japan, with its millions of ravenous troops, can conquer us today with ease.

A Japanese-Mexican alliance can crush us to earth.

This is not the day of David and Goliath. It is a day when big guns and disciplined and seasoned troops win the battle.

It is a day of death to the weak and
and victory to the strong.

It is the day for us to forget our greed for gold and think of our security tomorrow.

It should be the day of protection for our women and children.

It is time for united action in defense of home and country.

Here's a humble suggestion to our farmer friends and others who have machinery or implements of any kind.
When you have finished with them for the season, why not clean them up carefully, all them up so prevent rust, and house them in some way or other to keep them out of the destructive winter weather? Rains and wind and snow do more harm to them than the work you accomplish with them. It's simply a matter of horse sense and economy.

FARM CROP
YIELDS DOUBLEDIllinoisans Declare Right
Management Will Double Production.

George Koppenhoefer of Lake Forest, Ill., and William Sveden of Kendall, Ill., told yesterday the way they have managed to more than double yields on the farms which they operate.

Both are practical farmers, and thoroughly qualified to speak from long experience.

"Plant food, selected seed, thorough tilage, proper crop rotation and lime when necessary," declared Mr. Koppenhoefer, "will double the yields.
This may not happen the first season,
but in a very few years a run down field may be built up and the crop yields more than doubled."

Manure produced on the farm is the cheapest source of plant food for the farmer and it should be properly taken care of to avoid plant food loss from leaching and heating. The proportions of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash in manure, however, are not balanced for the majority of crops and there is not enough manure produced to maintain fertility. Therefore, I supply the deficiency and proper balance by the addition of commercial plant food.

"My commercial fertilizer cost me less than $25 per ton. On my hay-land I used 300 pounds per acre and increased the yield one ton per acre.
Worth $12, less cost of fertilizer, $375, equaling net profit per acre of $325."

"On corn I used 600 pounds of fertilizer per acre and the increase was 33 bushels per acre. With 300 pounds fertilizer per acre on corn I increased my yield 20 bushels per acre."

"I used 500 pounds commercial fertilizer on clover corn and increased the yield over six tons per acre."

Mr. Sveden, who farms a large tract near Everett, Ill., was quite enthusiastic on his results. He said:
"Since 1907 the use of commercial fertilizer with what manure we had has shown following results:

"Hay crop increased 1½ tons per acre.

"Corn increased 25 bushels per acre.

"Wheat increased 1½ bushels per acre."

"Oats increased 30 bushels per acre."

"In one instance a 40-acre field from which we cut 25 loads of hay in 1907 last year cut 30 loads. Fewer than that, the land keeps improving year after year, because of better management supplemented with commercial fertilizers."

"If farmers would all treat their ground right we could feed the world."

HARD WORK FOR A DIAMOND

Man Suffers Dog Bite—Diamonds Beat
With Gem In Its Inner Works.

Thompson, Md.—A pup that bit at finger of Berkeley on the hand pulled off and swallowed a $200 diamond ring. Thompson bought the pup, worth about ten cents, from H. R. Roy-ers, the pup's owner, for $10, after having killed, took the dog home and found it and the diamond ring was found in the stomach.

The Nuts in Trouble.

Minneapolis.—Hazel Nutt, twenty years old, is defendant in a suit for divorce by Ashley T. Nutt, twenty-two years old, filed in Hennepin county district court. Hazel Nutt was married to Everett Nutt, August 25, 1910, when only fifteen years old. There is one little Nutt, Vincent, who is now three years old. The husband alleges he was deserted on Thanksgiving day, 1912. Ashley asserts he has not seen Hazel Nutt since that day.

Too Little Kindness in World.

I wonder why it is we are not all kinder than we are? How much the world needs it! How easily it is done! How infrequently it is accomplished! How superlatively it pays himself! For there is no debtor in the world so honorable, so superbly honorable, as love! Love never falters. —Professor Drummond.

Father's Hope.

Father's secret hope is that his son won't be such a fool as father was when young, but he doesn't put it up to the boy in just that way. —Atchison

GOOD AIR FOR BABY

KEEP THE LITTLE ONE OUT IN THE SUNSHINE.

Abundant Supply of That Usually Essentially Acquired Essential Is Imperative if He Is to Grow Well and Strong.

(Prepared by the Children's Bureau, United States Department of Labor.)
This injunction needs to be repeated very often even in the country, where people are out of doors a great deal in the natural course of life.

It is often true that small homes in the country are both overcrowded and ill-ventilated, particularly at night, and in some cases the country baby suffers from a lack of fresh air almost as much as the city baby. But it would seem that it should be very easy to give the country baby an abundant supply of open air and sunshine.

The chief drawback to his having a comfortable out-of-door life in summer are the flies, the dust and the heat.
There are few improvements that pay greater return upon the investment to mother and baby, as well as the whole family, than a porch covered with wire screen on the shady side of the house, say, the east or south, provided the shade is not so close to the room as to get the dust. If the mother has a porch of this kind, the baby may practically live there, except while he is being bathed. During the hottest hours of the day, in midsummer, it is usually cooler indoors than out, but with these few exceptions the baby may spend the greater part of the time out of doors.

A play pen on the porch will serve to keep an older baby within safe bounds, and at the same time permit him to be out of doors. Such a pen is described in a bulletin published by the children's bureau called "Infant Care." This publication will be sent free to all who write for it, addressing the Chief, Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, Washington, D. C.

Experience has shown that sick babies stand a much better chance of life, and recover much more rapidly if kept out of doors. Common sense should guide the mother in this, as in all matters where the baby is concerned, and she will realize that if a high wind is blowing dust about, or a sudden storm comes up and the temperature drops many degrees in a few moments, the baby should be taken in,
or protected from a chill by suitable clothing and wraps.

The young baby may be taken out when he is two weeks old for half an hour if the weather is warm and pleasant, gradually lengthening the time he stays out. Remember that the baby's eyes are very sensitive and must always be carefully shielded, not only from the sun, but also from direct light. Babies are often wheeled about in their carriages starting directly up into the sky. Try it yourself for a few moments and you will realize the cruelty to the baby who may not even be able to relieve this strain on his eyes by turning his head to one side.

When the baby is sent out with a nurse she should be instructed on this point and also how long she is to keep the baby out, and be warned of the danger of allowing strangers to play with him or kiss him.

The carriage outing should not be regarded as giving the baby enough fresh air for the day. In addition to this he should live on the porch in suitable weather.

If it is necessary to bring him in,
the windows and doors should be opened, screening them carefully from direct intrusion.

The baby should sleep at night in a well-ventilated bedroom, in a bed by himself, and, if possible, in a room by himself. Keep the doors and windows open. Do not be afraid of the old superstition of the "night air." The fear of the night air likely arose from the fact that it used to be thought that malaria poison arose in the night, before it was known that this disease is usually carried about by mosquitoes, which fly chiefly after nightfall.

In malarial regions, screens are indispensable. If the house is provided with a screened sleeping porch, there is no reason why the baby should not sleep at night after he is three months old, provided, of course, he is carefully protected. Babies thus taught from the beginning of life to enjoy the open air will be far less susceptible to malaria than those who are active than otherwise, and much less likely to suffer from colds and similar troubles as they grow older.

Creamed Baked Potatoes.

Twelve medium-sized potatoes, a half cupful of cream, one cupful milk, three-quarter teaspoonful of salt. Pare the potatoes and place in the bottom of a pan, cover with milk and cream,
and salt, and cover the pan and place in the oven; keep covered until the potatoes are almost done, then remove the cover and allow the milk and cream to cook down until they are somewhat thick.

Mildew Spots.

Mildew spots on linen should be rubbed with scraped chalk. The mixture is rubbed in and the linen spread on the grass. It should be wet a little from time to time as it dries. The spots ought to come out in two applications.

To Avoid Scalding Steam.

When turning boiling water from a kettle into the sink, run cold water at the same time, then there is no danger of the hands being scalded from the steam.

HINTS FOR THE COOK

SOME BETTER WAYS OF DOING KITCHEN WORK.

How To Do Away With Lumps in Making Cocoa—To Keep Rice and Macaroni From Becoming Mushy.

Instead of mixing cocoa with boiling water to dissolve it before putting it into the cocoa pot, try mixing the dry cocoa with an equal amount of granulated sugar and then pouring it into the boiling water in the pot, stirring all the while. This does away with the lumps that usually have to be fussed over, and also a mushy cup.

The kettle should be given frequent baths, also limit and other salts will settle on the bottom, which may then be dissolved off into the boiling water, making it "hard."

To heat water very quickly set a broad, flat saucepan over the fire and cover to keep in steam.

A small zinc-covered board, about the size of a rolling board for pastry, is invaluable for getting hot dishes, pots, etc., upon. This preserves the kitchen table top, and leaves room on the stove for other things.

To prevent a roast from becoming fat soaked, set it upon a rack in the roasting pan. But keep the surface of the roasting pan covered with fat to prevent it from burning. Fat is better used here than water, as water actually changes the character of the meat.

Cold meats may be attractively served by removing first all gristle, bones and skin and excess fat and then cutting into thin strips or slivers. Warm indirectly by pouring over the meat any desired hot sauce.

To rice separate and distinct, cook it in a pot of rapidly boiling water with the lid off. Cooked in a double boiler with the lid on makes the rice mushy. Macaroni should be cooked same as rice.

To soften hard tissue of dried vegetables like peas, beans and lentils, cook in soft water. Otherwise add baking soda to ordinary water in the proportion of one teaspoonful to two quarts of water.

If string beans are not freshly gathered from the garden, it will improve them to prepare them for cooking, then let them stand for an hour or more in cold water before applying heat.

Dried apples, apricots, prunes, etc. should be soaked overnight in cold water before cooking, as to "plump" them and soften the dried tissue.

Try "caramel sugar" as a dressing for meat, griddle cakes, sauces for puddings, icing for cakes, etc. This is made by cooking the sugar in a pan until it browns nicely or makes caramel. This may be made into a sirup by the addition of water and bottled for future use.

Baked Ham and Sweet Potatoes.

A delicious meat dish can be made by baking ham and sweet potatoes together. Grease the bottom of a round baking dish, and place a slice of ham, about one-half inch thick, in it. Pour the ham and sprinkle a few cloves over the meat. Then spread mashed sweet potatoes over meat, about an inch and a half in thickness. Put butter, salt and pepper on potatoes, add another slice of ham, another layer of potatoes, and top off with a third slice of ham. Bake in a fat hot oven for half an hour, or until the meat is tender. Serve hot, meat and potatoes together. This is an excellent dish for late summer and fall.—Farm Life.

Grape Pie.

Remove the stems of the grapes, put the pulp in a stewpan and bring it to the boiling point; let it simmer for five minutes; force it through a strainer to remove the seeds and add the skins to the pulp. There should be one and one-half cupsful. Mix two cupsful of sugar, a few grains of salt and two tablespoonfuls of flour. When blended thoroughly add two eggs well beaten and one tablespoonful of melted butter. Put between crusts and bake.

Pickled Walnuts.

Wipe 100 walnuts, prick with a large needle and put them in a jar, sprinkling as you lay them in with the following spices, mixed: Cloves, all spice, nutmeg, whole pepper and sliced ginger, of each an ounce; one-half pint mustard acid, four cloves of garlic and a stick of horseradish. Then add two tablespoonfuls of salt and sufficient boiling vinegar to cover the whole. Cover the jar and set closely.—Mother's Magazine.

Mint Leaves in Plum Jelly.

This year when you are making plum jelly, try this plan: Get some fresh mint, and while the jelly is cooking, add some of the mint leaves to it. Pour the jelly into the glasses so that a few leaves are in each. The mint gives a flavor and point to the jelly that makes it especially delicious with roast lamb or other meat.

Potato Salad.

Slice cold potatoes, a small onion and one cold hard-boiled egg into a dish and sprinkle a little pepper and salt over this. Take three tablespoonfuls of vinegar, one of butter, one-quarter teaspoonful of mustard and beat it over boiling water. Let it get cold and pour over potatoes. Prepare in the morning and serve at night.

TO CAN FRUIT IN OVEN

By This Method Fruit Retains Its Shape, Color and Flavor to Remarkable Extent.

Cooking canned fruit in the oven is easily and quickly done, while the fruit retains its shape, color and flavor better than when cooked in a preserving kettle.

Cover the bottom of the oven with a sheet of asbestos, the same as used by plumbers for covering furnace pipes. This is very reasonable at any purchasing shop. If it is impossible to purchase the asbestos, use a large pan in which there is about two inches of boiling water. Thoroughly sterilize the jars and utensils. Make the sirup of sugar and water as sweet as needed. Prepare the fruit the same as for cooking in the preserving kettle. Fill the hot jars with this, pouring in sufficient sirup to fill the jar. Run the blades of a silver knife around the inside of each jar. (Never use a steel knife.) Place the jars in the oven either on the asbestos or in the open pan of water.

The oven should be moderately hot. Cook the fruit ten minutes. Remove from the oven and fill each jar with boiling sirup. Wipe and seal. If the screw covers are used, tighten them after the glass has thoroughly cooled.

Large fruits may require a pint of sirup to each quart jar of fruit. The small fruit will require a little over half a pint of the sirup.—Ladies' World.

SOME SIMPLE FOOD TESTS

How Potatoes Poisoning Can Be Avoided by Testing Contents of Can for Copper.

Chicory is not harmful and some like it very much. We buy coffee we don't want to pay coffee price for chicory. To find out whether you are buying the real thing, put a tablespoonful of the coffee in a glass; pour cold water over it, and watch.

If the coffee is pure the water will hardly be stained. If chicory is present it turns the water a deep brown color.

Here is a good test for canned foods: Put a bright, clean steel knife in the contents directly you open the can. Leave for a minute. If copper is present it will be seen on the knife's blade and you've escaped potato poisoning.

Fresh eggs will always sink in water. Stale eggs have smooth and glassy shells; fresh eggs have a flimsy surface.

Mixed Chicken, Cream Sauce.

Put into a saucepan one tablespoonful of butter, one gill of stock and two tablespoonfuls of stale bread crumbs and stir until boiling. Then add one pint of cold chicken, chopped fine; a teaspoonful salt, a dash of pepper and a teaspoonful of chopped parsley. Remove from the fire and add two well-beaten eggs; fill into small greased molds, stand in hot water and cook in the oven 15 minutes. Serve hot with a cream sauce made from rich milk, thickened to the consistency of cream. Very nice.

Kitchen Tables.

Two tables in the kitchen lessen work, one preferably zinc-covered to be used for such rough work as preparing vegetables and meats and dish up meals, the other for general convenience. Close to the first, which should be on casters but stand near sink and stove, should be meat-block, meat-saw, meat-knife, small cleaver, food-chopper or a bowl and chopping knife, slicing knife, vegetable cutters, skewers, basting spoons and such other articles as are frequently used at this table.

Swiss Steak.

Lay thick round steak on a board, sprinkle with salt and pepper and pound in all the four the meat will take. Treat the other side in the same manner. Put a little butter into the frying pan and when smoking hot brown the meat quickly both sides. Fill the pan two-thirds full of hot water, cover closely and let cook one and a half or two hours. Onion may be added if desired. When done the gravy will be already thickened.

Frosted Peaches.

Select firm, good peaches. Rub carefully to remove fuzz. Beat the whites of six eggs, with a scant cupful of water. Dip the peaches in this, then roll in powdered sugar, lay on paper in sun to dry. Repeat until there is thick coating of the sugar around the peach. If entirely covered, these will keep for a long time, and this is a favorite English method of preparing peaches.

Rhubarb Pudding.

Two pounds of rhubarb, wash and cut in pieces. Don't peel. Then cover with water well and stew until very soft. Drain off all the water and the rhubarb. Then strain and put back on stove with one and one-half cupsful of sugar added and thicken with two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch. Boil about ten minutes and then set in ice chest in a mold. Nice with cream and sugar.

Candied Peaches.

Weigh the peaches, and to each pound allow three-quarters of a pound of sugar. Cut each peach into about six slices. Add just enough water to moisten the sugar and melt it over the fire. Roll each piece of peach in it until it is tender, but not until it breaks easily. Remove from the sirup again and then in sugar and repeat until the peach is thoroughly dried. Pack in covered glass jars.

Hot Drinks

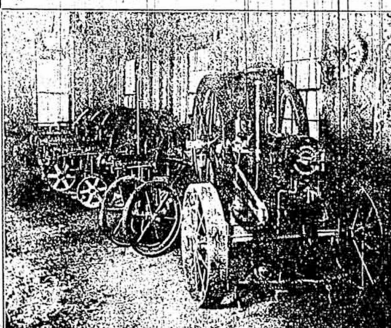

Now is the season for Hot Drinks. Try a Hot Chocolate or Malted Milk. Also Beef Tea and Chicken and Tomato Bouillon. They are very fine.

NOT HARD TO REDUCE FIGURE

Slout Woman Who Would Assume Slender Proportions Must Observe Some Rules.

The question of what the stout woman should drink is a paragraph to itself. She should unquestionably avoid all alcoholic liquors, milk, cream, cocoa and chocolate. She is better off without either tea or coffee, although, if she feels she must have it, she may drink one cup of coffee in the morning without cream or sugar. She should drink as little water as possible. One of the best beverages for her is buttermilk, which nourishes without forming fat. Another excellent drink is the juice of a lemon dissolved in a glass of cool water with a bit of sugar. Orange juice is also excellent.

If you are really earnest about it, the first sacrifice to make is your lunch. Take no food at all between breakfast and dinner. I am assuming that you still stick to three meals a day and have not taken on the fashionable habit of afternoon tea and after-theater supper, both of which functions should be omitted by the woman who wants to grow thin. I think you will find as many, many persons have already done that it is easy to acquire the habit of doing without lunch. Nearly all of us eat more food than we need, especially those of us who live in cities and do not occupy ourselves with severe manual labor outdoors. The woman tiller of the fields can doubtless assimilate her three solid meals daily, but not the woman tender of the gas stove or of the typewriter.

For breakfast the wedge to be reduced may choose between egg and a bit of fat with which unadorned dry toast may be eaten. For dinner the piece of resistance may be beef, lamb, poultry or any sort of game, broiled or boiled, with the fat carefully cut away. With this may be eaten any of the green vegetables. Tomatoes, lettuce and romaine are especially good and may be eaten in abundance, though without oil. Watermelon, toast or dark breads are permissible, and for dessert there are the delicious summer fruits, either cooked or fresh. Pittsburgh Dispatch.

KITCHEN HELPS

It will be found a great help if cooking utensils are filled with water as soon as emptied of food, instead of being allowed to stand. The sooner they are washed the better and easier it is. If dishes must wait, free them of scraps, then put to soak, cover with a towel or paper.

Do not throw away clean tissue paper, fold it neatly, put a rubber band around it, then place it with your kitchen towels. It will be found satisfactory for polishing lamp chimneys and gas or electric light globes and to wipe out grease from frying pans before washing.

It is very annoying to have a small cooking utensil tip over on the gas range, so it will occasionally do. It can be avoided by simply placing a flat tin lid over the burner, such as comes on lead cans, then putting your cup of whatever it may be over it. An enameled casserole, or any dish, should be soaked in salty or soda water for 24 hours before using, so as to avoid cracking. Treated thus, the iron of usefulness will be prolonged.

Beef Loaf for Slicing Cold.
Mix together very thoroughly half a pound of chopped beef, half a pound of chopped veal, one-fourth of a pound of chopped ham and a little suet, about two tablespoonsful. Add a tablespoonful of chopped parsley, a tablespoonful of each of chopped green pepper and pimiento, a teaspoonful of onion juice or onion sauce, a teaspoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of pepper. Press down thoroughly into a greased pan and bake slowly an hour and a half. Then place in the refrigerator and serve in slices with chili sauce or catsup.

Shad Cakes.
To two cups of baked, boiled shad add two cups of mashed potato, butter, pepper and salt to taste, one beaten egg, and enough sweet cream so that the mass can be molded by hand into cakes of the usual fish-cake size. Fry a delicate brown in hot fat, and serve on a hot platter with a broiled slice of bacon on top of each cake, and garnish with a little fresh herbs. This is an excellent breakfast dish or luncheon dish.

Cooling Beverage.
If you want a really cooling and refreshing drink try this. Into a tall glass put in heaping tablespoonful of lemon juice. Over this pour the botanical ginger ale. Mix it quickly and drink it while the ale is still effervescent. This is an adaptation of an idea. In its native home a wonderful fruit of Jamaica rum is added to a bit of ginger ale as it is poured over the ice.

Fresh Mint.
Almost any yard that has a little earth and some sun is large enough to serve as a bed for parsley and mint. Mint will grow in a glass of water and a bunch of parsley set in a glass of water will last and keep fresh for some little time.

Lasting Frosting.
Here is a recipe for frosting that will keep soft and creamy for a long time. Add a pinch of baking powder to the whites of the eggs before beating. Pour over this the boiling strip.

Avoiding Danger in Mines.

It is fairly a problem to install motors, controllers and other apparatus in mines in such a way as to avoid the danger of igniting fire damp. Modern practice in Europe now provides three protecting methods—all enclosed, partly enclosed, with use of wire gauze, and oil bath apparatus. Various apparatus, such as transformers, controllers and switches, need to have a special design for use in mines, not only on account of fire damp, but because of protruding dampness and mist.

From the Latin.

The Rueslans, who were slightly influenced by the Latin race, say that "dog bark and the wind carries it away," but the French, Spaniards, Germans and English, who have inherited more than their wish to acknowledge from ancient Rome, all agree that "barking dogs don't bite," and we have also in English the warning to "have a care for a silent dog and still water," which is clearly a free translation of the Latin original.

No Argument Coming.

"Do you speak to father about me, Arthur?" "Yes, I did, dear, and he agreed with me heartily. 'Then said I might marry you?' 'Why—er—no. I didn't quite get to the point of asking him that.'—I just said you were a fine girl."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Concentration.

It is concentration that counts. The more concentration of mind applied directly to an uncomfortable than the diffused heat of a blast furnace.—Selected.

Coughs That Are Stopped.

Careful people see that they are stopped. Dr. King's New Discovery is a remedy of tried and still water, which is clearly a free translation of the Latin original. Youth and old age testify to its soothing and healing qualities. Pneumonia and lung troubles are often caused by delay of treatment. Dr. King's New Discovery stops these hacking coughs and relieves a grippe tendency. Money back if it fails. 50c. and $1.00.

Growth of Finger Nails.

Finger nails grow more quickly in summer than in winter. Those on the middle finger grow the fastest, and the thumb the most slowly.

Not Uncommon Error.

"A man is liable to get in wrong," said Uncle Eben, "when he mistakes loud for peace."

The Colds of Mankind Cured by Pipes Have you ever gone through a typical blue for when you had a cold? What a vigorous impulse it sent! How you opened wide your lungs to take in those invigorating and inveterate qualities. Yes, Dr. Bell's Fine-Tar-Honey possess those stimulating qualities and overcomes hacking coughs. The inner lining of the throat is strengthened by its attack against cold germs. Every family needs a bottle constantly at hand. 25c.

Common Sense.

A handful of common sense is worth a bucket of pearls—thus runs an old Spanish saying.

Optimistic Thought.

He meditates evil for himself, who meditates it for another.

Cement Stave Silos

It is not too late to erect a Cement Stave Silo before filling time and lots of the corn this year will not ripen and a silo is the only way to get the full benefit of the feeding qualities of unripened corn. They can be erected in a few days.
