THURSDAY, APRIL 26, 1917
PER MAN, NOT PER ACRE

We hear much about increased production and covering the lands much of utilizing back yards and vacant lots, even roadsides and railroad rights of way. Added to this will be the annual price contests for the greatest yields per acre. They are all good—excellent.

But let us not lose sight of the fact that if this country is to meet and solve the food problem (the burning demand will be, not for the minimum production per acre, but for the maximum per man).

It is imperative that every worker in the soil this year use every means possible to make his count to the state. This is the time for production. He should cultivate every acre possible, and in order to increase his capacity he should employ every available implement for reducing man labor while increasing the work done.

This is no time to be dabbling in a garden with a weeding hoe while a tractor and gang plow stand idle. The garden and back yard are available for the aged and the very young and the town business man who has no field to cultivate, but the husky young giant is vitally needed in utilizing the big implements of production for plowing the broad acres bloom and fruitfully. A full yield per acre is essential, but the salvation of this country will depend largely upon better yields and more men per man.

Last year millions of acres went uncultivated. This year every acre should be made to produce to the limit of its possibilities. An idle field in 1917 will be a reproach to the country and it is to be hoped there will be not one in this whole community.

If the owner is without the means of reaping improved machinery in order to increase his acreage and its yield, then the moneyed man should come promptly to his aid. The financier is indebted to this country for his wealth, and in the hour of national danger that wealth should be turned unreservedly at the legitimate disposal of the farmer who must toil early and late that the people may not suffer for bread.

Every able-bodied man should either fight or work. There is no room for slackers and the public is in no mood to condone them. The United States does not lack for the means to produce the crops necessary to feed the people in this hour of peril, but these means must be employed or we fail.

A GREAT PROBLEM

Nearly seven billions of dollars for war is the first assessment! Stop and consider, how much money that is. One cannot imagine it. Even men accustomed to large sums stagger when they get to talking about billions. Still, seven billions is just a beginning. It is the first drop in the bucket, unless the war should be brought to a speedy termination.

Naturally to provide such a sum as this is a stupendous undertaking. Congress is hailing and hesitating about it largely because the way is not clear. Hard issues offer one method, and to make this a success there must be assurance that the American people will make a market for the bonds.

Another method is that of taxation. Of this there may be a variety of forms. Possibly, congress will resurrect the stamp tax, the income tax may be amplified, tariff duties may be increased. Probably new schemes of taxation will have to be devised. Not since the days of the Civil War has there been such a financial problem before the government.

But congress gives the assurance that the levying of so large a sum is a necessity, and this being the case, all there is to it is that the American people must cheerfully bear their part.

Be prepared, therefore, to assist the government financially as well as on the field. If men go to the front they must be paid, and they must be fed and equipped, and the whole line of appliances must be supplied.

WHEN WILL THIS LEGISLATIVE SESSION CLOSE?

At Springfield the question as to when the legislative session will close is one being freely discussed. It is a well known fact that many appropriation bills must yet be acted upon before adjournment, and some are saying that it will take until June, or even until June 25, before the assembly can adjourn. Others are saying that it will come to a close soon after May 3, as they predict it will be not to impose delay to form a quorum after the close. Springfield closes her 215 sessions on May 3, 1917. It is thought that the 80 votes opposed to giving the people's just rights of voting upon the saloon question will among their number many web-footed members who will be hard to keep at Springfield when the drouth comes. The state, however, is not in grave danger, as good legislation will not suffer if some of these forgetful members are absent. It is necessary to serve the distillers and brewers is not the legislator who will serve the people well.—The American Issue.

One of the practical patriots of the day will be the farmer who strains every nerve in the production of foodstuffs for the army and the civilian population. We can reduce our wardrobe, if necessary, but we cannot subsist on water and wine.

Methodist Episcopal Church
Services, April 29.

We are to carry our religion with us wherever we go and in whatever we do. No other religion than this will stand the test. We hold that the word of the church faith is the Christian's duty. It is to uplift the whole of life.

The school at Villa M. L. is to be larger than last Sunday.

Recessed to Break in Chicago
Colonel Theodore Roosevelt will enter into his first practical discussion of the international situation since the war began when he appears in Chicago at the Stockyards Amphitheatre on Monday night, April 30, at 8:00 p.m. He will discuss the situation of the National League of Nations and the various phases of which the colonial will speak.

SCHOOL NOTES

There is still some land unclaimed from the offer made in the school next last week.
The Freshmen have added $3.00 to their temple count from the set proceeds of the candy sale Tuesday night.

Distribution of shrubs to the school children by the Women's club continues was completed Wednesday afternoon.

The Junior boys will give a candy sale Thursday night preceding the "Hallow-kin" party. The proceeds will be added to the basketball fund.

The students by the high school boys for the track work this spring resulted in the choice of Howard Stiefenhagen captain and Henry Tins for manager.

Helon Abbott made a monthly grade of 90 per cent in spelling. The four highest in arithmetic were: Grant Auld, Raymond Giesler, Charles Hamer, Fred Schumaker.

When Mrs. Maher saw the circus in Room One she suggested some drastic steps which would be taken. She will leave as part of their spring work in music. Many of them are, are waiting to plant gardens.

The fifth grade pupils are using Carpenter's No. A. Geographical readers, while the sixth grade are using the United Readers from which they are learning of the land of Troy. They have begun the study of penmanship in arithmetic.

In accordance with a plan recently decided upon, monthly class meetings were held Tuesday morning of this week, one faculty member attending each meeting. These meetings are to be held on the first Tuesday of every school month, and for the purpose of any extra meetings may be held at any time.

Miss Mrs. Gray Lathrop has very graciously offered to read the arrangements for both land and other school work to the pupils in the presence of the military survey, "The Soldier's Call." This is Mr. Lathrop's composition, bringing him a net of $10,000 and has been accepted by the United States government. It is a story of the life of a soldier. Words and music will be out soon and will be sung by the army and navy boys.

To those who are fortunate as to attend the member of the lecture course Tuesday evening, they are given a rare treat. We have had the pleasure of having Mr. Lathrop, but Mr. Lathrop in his plans and vision work are shown in average and may find that this was by far the best program of the season.

In the afternoon they were very liberal in giving many splendid numbers for the pupils. While this was the first class that they have ever entertained an audience of school children, they played nothing but what was the best of the program.

The program consisted of composition from Lathrop, Lathrop and Meant and several of Mr. Lathrop's compositions were also given. The program was exceedingly interesting throughout and we hope that next year more pupils will take advantage of these interesting lectures.

NEEDED FOR MAN AND BEAST

Secretary of Agriculture Appeals to Farmers to Push Production of Feed-Grain to Meet Needs of Livestock and Poultry.

Washington.—The secretary of agriculture has issued the following statement:

Corn is America's most important product. It is grown in practically every State more than any other, and furnishes nutritious food for man and for the single grain feed for cattle and other livestock. The production of corn is so important to this country that it is not only a matter of national interest, taking into consideration feed labor, and raising corn for export, but it is also a matter of national interest in connection with the production of feed grain for the livestock industry. The acreage may well be increased in most of the country east of the Mississippi river, as compared to the west, in this region.

It is not possible, however, in the present state of agriculture, to produce corn in sufficient quantities to meet the needs of the livestock industry. The production of corn is so important to this country that it is not only a matter of national interest, taking into consideration feed labor, and raising corn for export, but it is also a matter of national interest in connection with the production of feed grain for the livestock industry. The acreage may well be increased in most of the country east of the Mississippi river, as compared to the west, in this region.

It is practically every county in the United States, in which experience has shown that corn may be produced successfully in large quantities, and it is not only a matter of national interest, taking into consideration feed labor, and raising corn for export, but it is also a matter of national interest in connection with the production of feed grain for the livestock industry. The acreage may well be increased in most of the country east of the Mississippi river, as compared to the west, in this region.

TEXT.—Thou shalt not say that you are righteous.

These words were spoken by Moses to the tribes of Israel and God.

Israel stood on the east bank of the Jordan ready to cross over into the promised land.

The request could not be granted, for the tribes were not to be permitted to enter the land.

They were to be permitted to enter the land, but they were to be permitted to enter the land.

Do Generations

The Right Medicine in Many Cases
Does Better than the Surgeon's
Knife. Tribute to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Doctor Said Operation or Death—But Medicine Cured.

Do Menus, Iowa.—"My husband says I would have been in my grave today had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered from a serious female trouble and the doctor said I could not live one year without an operation. My husband objected to the operation and had me try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon commenced to get better and am now well and strong. I can do all my own housework. I am now Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so good as a wonderful health restorer."—Mrs. BLANCK JARVIS, 2501 1st St., Do Menus, Iowa.

Another Operation Avoided.

Richmond, Ind.—"For two years I was sick and weak from female troubles that when my pains I had to go very slowly with my hands on the steps, then all down the top to rest. The doctor said he thought I should have an operation, but my husband objected to the operation and had me try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon commenced to get better and am now well and strong. I can do all my own housework. I am now Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so good as a wonderful health restorer."—Mrs. BLANCK JARVIS, 2501 1st St., Do Menus, Iowa.

Of course there are many serious cases that only a surgical operation will relieve. We freely acknowledge this, but the above letters, and many others like them, simply prove that many operations are unnecessary when medicine in many cases is all that is needed.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medical Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., and you will receive a woman's help in strict confidence.

To Contest Wet Victory

Many of the last voters in the immediate vicinity of the Ball game and Prairie View are intending to take a determined stand against the location of the saloons in these places. The results of the wet and dry election in town township will be contested and voters are already at work gathering evidence which will probably be presented to the courts and is expected by the opposition to cause the election returns.
Hall Day, with its appeals, have three saloons, while two will be located at Prairie View. The greatest objection is forced against the location of the saloons at Hall Day.
The opposition intends to base its complaint on the election and the fact attending the wet and dry election. (No discrepancies have been found.) It is held, in the light of signs to the petition for the wet and dry election, while it is probable that opposition will be centered against the balling, which was held.

The center of the large hall was decorated with a living room with rocking chairs, rug, table, glass, vases and bouquets of pink roses. By a sewing table was decorated with a tablecloth of red, white and duffet was served. The tables were in order around the hall and the prizes were being played for.
