THE EMBLEM OF HUMAN MERCY

By SAMUEL GOMPERS

The Red Cross is an emblem typifying human mercy and sympathy. Its mission to relieve physical pain and minister to mind and body has given it a place deep in the hearts of all our people. For those whose dear ones are in places of great danger it is a comfort to know that the American Red Cross is performing more effective service on a larger scale ever before.

In addition to serving our enlisted forces, it is assisting in the work of civil relief among our allies whose soil is being devastated by the fighting.

Thus the Red Cross is helping to interpret the constructive spirit of our Republic which holds sacred human life and the ideals it seeks.

As time goes on the scope of the work of the Red Cross in Europe will increase in order that the organization may meet the demands that will be made upon it. It must receive the full and hearty support of the American people. It is only through such an agency that we can be assured relief and necessary ministrations to our young men forming our military force.

It is my sincere desire that adequate funds will be secured for the work of the Red Cross.

Samuel Gompers

MASS MEETING AND RED CROSS PARADE

Rains Prevents Completion of Program and Large Crowd is Disappointed

The nationwide drive to raise by popular subscription a total of one hundred million dollars for the Red Cross began Monday, continuing this week and Tuesday evening was held in Barrington for the observance of some sort, to strike the nail into the second nail of the Red Cross meeting and parade was the order of the evening.

The parade left the Square park shortly after 7 o'clock, headed by the Illinois Volunteer Treadle Corps, Jackies band, Red Cross workers, boys, school boys, and automobiles, which prevented a good attendance.

After marching about the village for some time the procession came to a halt at the public square where the speaker, Mr. W. H. Howarth, addressed the crowd.

Mr. Howarth was getting the large audience to cheer, but the rain was too much for them. The speaker had to stop the parade.
