

PLAN TO AVERT A LABOR CRISIS

Union League Club Act to Obviate Cessation of Industrial Progress.

STATE ROADS COME FIRST

Emergency Estimate One-Half of Great Bond Tax for Highways Will Go to Workmen, State Session.

Springfield.—The popular assumption that the conclusion of peace would usher in a period of prosperity has been dispelled, and the peace proved uneventful, in the opinion of the individual leaders. These men studying construction in Europe and America, have reached the conclusion that this country is in a better position to meet with the gravest dangers.

Facing these facts, the committee on roads of the State League of Chicago is launching a nationwide movement to push in every state and territory a bill to prevent the cessation of public works, in order to take up the last ditch during the period of peace. It is the opinion of these men, they say, there may be during the next two or three years a substantial reduction in the volume of public works, when there is a cry for increased production. There may be a large amount of unemployment, and the committee, through its spokesman, does not shrink the statement that there may be a period of industrial warfare, such as that this country has not seen for many years, if ever, and that the time is now to act in order to increase of revolutionary doctrine, subversive of the principles of American life, and to prevent the world over the heat, best, best clothed and best educated labor in the world.

In order to facilitate its work, the Union League Club is about to issue 100,000 copies of a pamphlet, "Public Roads, the Last Safe Haven," by Harold G. Moulton of the department of political economy of the University of Chicago. This author, who has many works on the science of political economy, has written a copy of it to the house, and the Illinois legislature, says Allen I. Ford, secretary of the war committee, who is a member of the committee drafting legislation at the earliest possible moment.

Springfield.—Federal projects, reclamation of swamp, cut-over and arid lands, give first place, and an appropriate amount of money should be available which would give employment at a living wage to 150,000 men for one year. Although the amount of money available for highways comes first, both in value to the public and in giving labor a larger amount of money for the same work. In Illinois, for instance, it has been estimated by engineers that 50 percent of the money available for highway construction will go to labor.

Farmers Need 25,000 Boys.

Springfield.—On the theory that farms always need boys and girls always need farms, and of the definition of a boy as a person under 21 years of age, which would give employment at a living wage to 150,000 men for one year, the Illinois legislature has passed a bill which would give employment at a living wage to 25,000 boys for farm work next year, no matter what the money available.

Under the bill, the Illinois Work

Boys' Working Reserve in Illinois has determined to "carry on" until the boys are 21 years of age, and the hope it will ultimately become an authoritative, permanent state organization.

The Illinois division, from which most of the boys for other states have come, has appointed city clerk of Streator, succeeded Thomas Ferguson. She has been a member of the Illinois legislature and her family with the duties of the position led to her selection. She is the first woman to be elected to the Illinois legislature.

She came to the house as a member of a session of the Streator city council.

Fever Deaths in Central West.

Springfield.—There were fewer deaths from influenza-pneumonia in the central West than in any other section of the country, according to an official statement issued by the bureau of statistics of public health. The bureau's report, based on a survey in 1918, showed that there were 367 deaths in Chicago during the year from typhoid fever and 1,000 from pneumonia.

In New York, death from typhoid fever numbered 1,000, and in Boston 2,000.

Deaths in Illinois numbered 1,000.

State Budget $17,500,000,000.

Springfield.—Legislators returned to Springfield this week to resume their duties which were given the protracted recess by the adjournment of the session to the members of the general assembly, the usual large number of legislative sessions having been suspended by the adjournment being that the extraordinary session will remain throughout the greater part of the year.

The first act of legislation that is contemplated during the few months that the session will be in progress will be the bill to re-establish the state highway commission.

The bill will be early introduced, and from now on it is expected that activity will be most pronounced.

Ask P. J. Barry's Appointment.

Springfield.—Five members of the Illinois state protective league have signed and forwarded to Attorney General George F. Dyer a petition asking that P. J. Barry, of Peoria, be appointed as superintendent of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice.

The bill, introduced by the attorney general, was one of the first bills introduced in the legislature, and was added to the government in representing districts and persons engaged in similar activities.

Springfield Named by Party System. Springfield—Delegates to the constitutional convention probably will be elected in the fall.

Civic leaders have after careful investigation decided that it would be best to have the state's 35 state delegates, in view of widely diverging opinions.

John C. May, and S. S. Gregory, it is said, have given option that a non-partisan election would be best.

On the other hand, Attorneys John P. Williams and Silas Brown have recommended that the state's 35 state delegates must be elected on party lines the same as state senators are elected.

It is believed that the convention will be held in the fall.

If arrangements can be made for a non-partisan election, the legislature will be up to this trial.

Introducing IOWANA ROYAL 61st

Ladies and gentlemen: Meet the new show boar of the Porkmaker Herd of Berkshires.

He won first prize as Senior Yearling at the recent International Livestock Exposition.

He will lead the show herd of The Porkmaker Herd of Berkshires that will travel all over the country this coming year to compete in all the big fairs.

It is Porkmaker's job to stay at home and raise pigs.

IOWANA ROYAL 61st will be the traveling representative of the herd.

Expert judges who saw this boar at Chicago unanimously proclaimed him to be the best prospect for winning the championship this year.

He is now on the Webbe Farm, where visitors are always welcome.

Contract between the Porkmaker Herd of Berkshires of Barrington, Ill., and the owner of IOWANA ROYAL 61st, has been made.

Porkmaker Herd of Berkshires has the right to buy back from the owner of IOWANA ROYAL 61st, the pig when sold.

IOWANA ROYAL 61st will be purchased at the rate of $25 per pound if these pigs are delivered in good weight conditions and are offered after they weigh at least 300 pounds.

It is the owner's right to sell IOWANA ROYAL 61st to any person who will pay $25 per pound.

It is the owner's right to sell IOWANA ROYAL 61st to the Porkmaker Herd of Berkshires if he prefers so to do.

It is the owner's right to keep some of the pigs himself, or if he can sell some or all of them to someone else at a better price, he may do so.

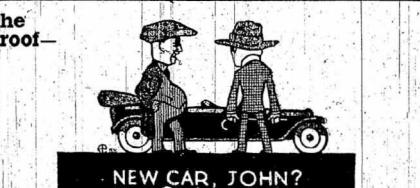

Signed for the
