

Just Between You and Me

By Leslie H. Paddock

From now on politics will be one of the abiding interests of interest of the day, and will continue to be until September primaries and the November elections.

The task of the voter is to decide what the best candidate for a certain office the voter should give all a fair chance, and arrive at his conclusion only after he has acquainted himself with the record of the candidates and become familiar with the records of those who have records.

The woods are full of candidates who more about in different localities with the names of cities and towns and places for every man and woman. They are all good fellows, and we would like to see them all get into office. But he does not know that the man who has the most votes is not the one to present enough votes to get around among all the candidates for the different offices.

It is the duty of every citizen to take an interest in these matters of public policy, as well as it is his duty to go to the polls on primary and election day and help make the nomination and election.

Part of the best and simplest judgment in the best man of the bunch, Get to the polls and help nominate him, then stick by the nominee at your party at the election.

Few physicians and still fewer laymen have been able to follow the spreading over the world, has taken to himself the disease of the whole planet, and his health is measured by the many attempts from which his body suffers. Amongst others exempt.

A Greek city of 500 years before Christ, for instance, had a smallpox and in the beginning but it possessed some blessings which we can secure today only by constant watchfulness and expensive treatments. It was not until the year 1718 that the first case from Egypt in the fourth century, B.C. It was immune from smallpox; that is, an African country which was brought into Europe by the Phoenicians. It was the danger from cholera or plague, those scourges had not yet made their way westward from the eastern continent by the sea.

Almost twenty centuries were to elapse before syphilis was brought back from the western continent by the soldiers of Alexander the Great.

Manitoba, a people free from all these diseases could be rather careless in sanitary matters without paying the sharp penalty exacted for such indifference today.

Scabies has been won, and has had to give up to him who wins the health. It once enjoyed free of effect in its fort in the north.

Any scheme alone will not be able to do it. We will require the efforts of all the physicians in matters of personal hygiene, sanitation, and goodness to health have to bring about regular improvement in health conditions.

If you saw a man throwing sand at your plate glass window, it would not worry you very much, would it?

But if you saw his masterpiece the picture of some man in a suit, and a woman in a little dress and a waist, you would know that the sand, thus cemented together, would go through when wind it was hit.

And you would immediately begin to wonder.

If all the men in this country were to start out, each on his own responsibility to conquer another nation, that nation would not have been made.

But if these men went out together under effective leadership, they would be practically resisted.

So it is with the community.

A single individual, however earnest and ambitious he may be to advance the welfare of his community, can do little more than agitate.

But actuated by the same desire, and working collectively for the same purpose, he can accomplish much.

Our town is entitled to the confidence, loyalty and hearty support of everybody in the community.

RURAL ATTITUDE TOWARDS LABOR UNIONS

From the big cities we hear that the impression is widespread that the people of rural communities, the farmer and the townsmen, are opposed to labor unions. This is simply untrue.

The country people are not opposed to organization. As a rule they favor it. The farmer has his producer's associations, marketing company, and farm bureau, the townsmen has his club, association, and the like. In the quiet places of our nation are not inconsistent. What they do themselves, they are willing for other people to do.

But that which they do oppose is the rankling actions of certain labor unions and leaders, the widespread strikes, the demands for arbitration in city and country, the make-living and working harder, that breed gloom, and that, by their effects, destroy property. A country-wide railroad strike for instance.

We believe that the attitude of the rural communities of this nation is pretty much that of the following, largely adopted by the National Grange at Grand Rapids, Mich.:

"The interests of the whole public are superior at all times and in every respect to the interest of any single class of our citizenship."

That is true Americans. We commend it to every man and woman in this nation today.

Illinois Farmers: We believe that the best thing President Wilson ever did for the farmers of the nation was the appointment of E. T. Meredith as secretary of agriculture. Mr. Merle is publisher of "Successful Farming" and "The Farmer." He has always been in close touch with agricultural interests. Not only does he publish "Successful Farming," but he also operates a large farm, where he has the opportunity of getting agricultural information firsthand.

AT THE MOVIE HOUSE

The more mention of the name of the popular star who comes to the Auditorium on Wednesday, March 4, the better. The "Dough" is a good picture, and we are anxious to show it out that date. However, it might be added that the name of the production is quite appropriate to the time of year. "The Dough" is a "He Comes Up Fighting." This is a regular "Dough" Faulkner picture, and we are willing to bet that it will be a smash hit. Also a Harold Lloyd comedy entitled, "Next Aisle, Please" will be shown. We will be shown.

Men are all alike. In "Battling Jane," which comes to the Auditorium on Wednesday, March 4, we find a rich widow, Mrs. Finch, a kid and enters it in a baby shop. The kid wins a prize of $500, and then the daddy is to be seen in the shop. But he doesn't. But he gets out. Full of thrill and human interest. Also the tenth episode of the great serial, "The Fighting Rider," and a "Patsy" News.

Have you the right to happiness? You will have the right to this question. The "Right to Happiness," featuring Dorothy Phillips, which is to be presented two days, Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7, is a "Right to Happiness" serial. Her part succeeds in this production, which is in eight reels.

Illustration of Drama: To have a funeral, a coffin or a corpse in one's drama generally conveys an illness, death, or some grave calamity. But it may be rather tame, and it may, it may often be regarded as a sign of birth or a marriage.

speaker, and in his characteristic rapid-fire manner drove home a whole lot of points concerning educational conditions in the state, and was given with sympathetic attention and interest. The meeting was adjourned, and after the meeting comment indicated that Mr. Flock aroused much interest that night, and that people were together.

—Adviser Speaks

W. W. Whitney, LaSalle County agricultural adviser, told of the work of the county farm bureaus in the state and the work of the state and national agricultural associations. He covered the general topic thoroughly and passed on considerable information. There was frequent repetition and interesting narration of the work of the farm bureaus, and those who were still seated heard him comment had remained only out of time.

Walt Flock of Fairmount gave a talk on October 15, on the subject of the farm dress. Briefly and forcefully he expressed his opinions of farm conditions and the importance of the farm dress essay. Mr. Flock spoke interestingly and with great interest on his audience.

A band of 120 pieces of local players organized by Newton Plogue and his Mr. Whitley, a Chicago musician, was the feature attraction. The band, coming last fall, played on the streets prior to the opening of the institute, and several numbers at the hall in the intervals between the lectures. The players were: Wm. C. Plogue, leader; Walter Cannon and Miss Frances Plogue, vocal soloists; with several vocalists.

Institute Joint Affairs

The institute was jointly sponsored by the Farm Bureau and the institute, the expenses being divided between the two groups, organizations and the local representation.

GAR MAY BE SHUT OFF BY NORTH SHORE COMPANY

The gas will have to be shut off in 150,000 homes in North Shore towns, unless a higher rate is obtained, according to a statement made by Everett M. Ward, president of the North Shore Gas Company.
