

BARRINGTON REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1885

M. T. LAMEY, Editor and Publisher
LESLIE E. PADDOCK, Managing Editor
Published every Thursday afternoon at Barrington, Illinois, U. S. A.

Published every Thursday afternoon at Barrington, Illinois, U. S. A.

All copy for advertisements must be received by Tuesday noon of the week previous.

Cards of thanks, memorials and donations for charities, societies or society and church activities, and cards of sympathy and other messages and gifts for deceased persons will be accepted.

Advertisers may quote from application.

All communications should be addressed to the

BARRINGTON REVIEW

TELEPHONE NO. 1

BARRINGTON, ILL.

CONGRATULATIONS TO BARRINGTON

Seventy-five percent three-fourths of the voters in the village, Mayor J. C. Cadwallader has been chosen to succeed himself, the election on April 19 merely ratifying last week's primary.

The Mayor's majority is so overwhelming as to preclude the idea that he is not the darling choice of the voters. He has received a splendid endorsement and a deserved one at the hands of his fellow-townsmen, and we hasten to add—townswomen.

The confidence reposed by the voters in Mr. Cadwallader is fully justified. He not only has performed the duties of his office with fidelity of purpose, but he has been courageous in his insistence that improvements proceed as rapidly as possible. He has seen that Barrington is a place to live in, to work, to travel and plan for systematic growth through a zoning law which would be a shame to be shunned by business and home-builder alike, and he has worked steadily and earnestly to accomplish these things. The opposition to his leadership is so feeble that it can have little power and quite sufficient to have utterly discouraged a man less steadfast in purpose. It is the Village of Barrington, rather than Mr. Cadwallader, that is to be congratulated upon the decision of the voters last Saturday.

—

SERVING THE PUBLIC

With commendable speed and detail, Col.

R. L. Murchison makes public the financial statement of the year just completed since league.

The account of the treasurer is all the more praiseworthy because the league is not supported by taxation and therefore an accounting is not required either by law or by the constitution.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will take the public into their confidence. The reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to reduce the budget of the league.

Even "Business" long ago dropped secretly in its affairs. It was found that it did not pay. The "public-be-hanged" attitude has given way to constructive cooperation. In cases of official corruption, the League of Industrial Freedom follows

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

to the effect that the committee is certain to

reduce the budget of the league.

The report, however, is itself in detail,

by a prompt change of officials who will

take the public into their confidence. The

reason is not far to seek. Secrecy invites

suspicion; in confidence, confirmation.

Roosevelt's "turn on the light" and

Wilson's "pulled out publicly" were not only

campaign slogans but statements

