M-1

What Does Skelgas?

Real natural gas as it comes from the well is made up of many gases. Lighter gases are removed to those that are heavy, odorous, in the heating apparatus, etc., yet full of heat. In processing the remaining gases, the lighter ones are removed, then Skelgas is absorbed out of the remaining gases. Skelgas is a compressed gas, which is compressed and heated into the cylinders which reach you.

From the Skelgas cylinder, which your dealer installs and "books" in, the gas passes through an automatic valve, which is controlled by a float (small, 6 ounces) to the stove or other appliance. When the float reaches the bottom of the cylinder, the valve opens and the gas passes through the burner. The pressure of the gas is controlled by a valve, so no burning parts, no intricate devices. It's simple. You take home city gas from a city gas line.

NOT TIRED— just waiting for HOT WATER

The old saying, "A watched pot never boils" is never truer than when you're in a hurry for hot water and have to depend on the teakettle for your supply. In many homes a dozen routine matters like doing dishes, cleaning, washing, shaving and bathing are all helped along by having hot water on a day because there isn't an adequate source of hot water. And the situation becomes worse during summer months when the furnace and the furnace coil are given their vacation.

Modern homes are enjoying all the hot water they want (and finding it an inexpensive luxury) by installing a self-acting gas hot water heater. The "Pittsburgh" heater pictured is only $69.75 cash (installation extra)—or $5 down and the balance the "Buy by Little" way with monthly carrying charge. For full details, call the Public Service Store.

DICKY LYONS VICTORY

Richard J. Lyons, ending his first term in the Illinois General Assembly as Representative from the eighth district, has been returned by the voters with a plurality of fifteen thousand.

Edward J. Lyons and Leo McDonough, both Lake county members of the House, have both been reelected by Republican voters of the district. When they were first nominated two years ago McDonough had the district with a vote of approximately twenty thousand, and Lyons had not more than a third place with fifteen thousand.

When the General Assembly met Representative Lyons applied himself assiduously to the task he had been elected to. His uncompromising and with honesty of purpose, his independence in voting, his sincere attempt to give his district real representation, attracted the attention of political and civic leaders throughout the state.

The result is reflected in the primary held this week. Representative Lyons has hung up a new record in the total vote given a candidate for the legislature in the eighth district that is amazing. He has established a new record in the primary election over the second place on the ticket coming from a small town in the central western part of the largest county in the district he has led the field in his county with a plurality of ten thousand over the second place candidate, while the first place was given to a man who has never run in McHenry county, where political leaders were trying desperately to elect the candidate from their county, and rolled up a total of over four thousand votes.

In addition, "Dicky" Lyons has proved to himself and to a cynical public that honest and purposeful representation does not yet go unappreciated.

FAST GERMAN SHIPS

Following closely upon the news of the record fast trans-Atlantic voyage of the German line Europa, which beat her sister ship Bremen's record by 15 minutes, comes the announcement that a merger of Germany's two largest steamship lines has been decided.

By pooling of the interests of the North German Lloyd and Hapag lines, three-fourths of Germany's merchant marine comes under one management. It appears that this combination will have the fastest ships afloat for both passenger and freight.

The merger will do away with the former keen competition between German ships, and eliminate duplication of service to a certain extent. This will save a number of vessels for the establishment of new routes for freight transportation.

This aggressive program seems likely to greatly increase German prestige on the seas, and will revive the question of whether after all Germany will not more rapidly recover from the economic effects of the World War than her supposed conquerors.

THE NOSS HAVE IT

A deaf, dumb and blind Congressman could easily make an enviable record for being obtained when voters insist that their elected representatives provide a dollar's worth of service for every dollar expended. Wages, incompetence and corruption of office are commonplace in government machinery. And the taxpayer receives the bill.

More business-like efficiency, not more talk, is what is demanded in government. To achieve this, every taxpayer must insist on government programs. He must use every proposed measure to baffle the立法机关 to oppose needless expenditures and incompetent officials. He must see that government does not go outside its legitimate sphere of activity to experiment with business at the public expense.

It might be noted that the one percent of the public actually passed and approved by the Congress is a fairly large portion of the country at large.

TO RESTORE OLD TOWN

Patriotic Americans will be glad to know that the historic old town of Williamsburg, Va., is to be restored to its appearance of Colonial days. The restoration is made possible through the generosity of John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

There now remains in the town more than 40 public and private buildings which stood before the Revolution, and these have been bought up to be maintained as nearly as possible in their original condition.

Williamsburg was settled in 1632 and was the capital of Virginia from 1699 until 1789. Here was established in 1699 William and Mary College, the second oldest in the United States. America's first theater was built in the town in 1705.

The constitution of Virginia, the first written constitution of the New World, was adopted at Williamsburg in 1776. Here Patrick Henry made his famous speech in the house of burgesses, and here he and Thomas Jefferson served as governors of the state.

Important campaigns of the Revolution and Civil War centered about Williamsburg, and the town and vicinity are unusually rich in historic interest.

THE TARIFF TRAIL

At last the Senate has passed a tariff bill which will add another million dollars on the long trail between the introduction of the bill and its final enactment into law.

The bill was passed by the House in May, 1929, but it was altered almost beyond recognition by the Senate, which made more than 1,200 changes in the original bill.

The Senate's amendments, besides two important amendments which were taken on which are contrary to the wishes of President Hoover, one of which takes away the President's authority to raise or lower rates within certain limits, the other providing for the extension of the debt service plan, which would give farmers a bounty on products exported to other countries.

The bill now goes to conference, where another lively fight is in prospect between the two chambers. The Senate's bill will not agree with the bill as it was.

Even if they agree, the bill will be dead.

If, however, as measure as finally passed is acceptable to the President he may veto it.

It is doubtful that the fate of the bill will be known for several weeks. In the meantime, the uncertainty surrounding the matter is not doing business any good.

KILLINGS IN THE U. S.

Reports available so far indicate that the appalling homicide rate in the United States continued to rise during 1929, reaching an all-time high of 100,000 per population of 141 of the largest cities.

Southern cities show the largest number of homicides in proportion to population, which they have consistently done for several years. Memphis again leading the pack with 100,000, with Birmingham and Atlanta following with 51.3. Atlanta is third with 51.0 and Jacksonville is fourth with 46.9 per 100,000.

Chicago in spite of its reputation for violence, showed only 12.7 while New York had 11.7 and Boston 10.6.

All these figures are in marked and unfavorable contrast with those of other countries. For example, Canada has 1.7 and England and Wales only 1.0 per 100,000, while the average for the whole United States is 5.8.

Among the causes which observers attribute to the prevalence of killings in America are the gun-toting habit, organized crime in connection with prohibition violations, and luxury in punishment. But no one seems to know how to remedy the situation.

WATCH GOVERNMENT

Relief from burdensome taxation will be obtained when voters insist that their elected representatives provide a dollar's worth of service for every dollar expended.

Wages, incompetence and corruption of office are commonplace in government machinery. And the taxpayer receives the bill.

More business-like efficiency, not more talk, is what is demanded in government.

To achieve this, every taxpayer must insist on government programs. He must use every proposed measure to baffle the立法机关 to oppose needless expenditures and incompetent officials. He must see that government does not go outside its legitimate sphere of activity to experiment with business at the public expense.

An unwieldy bureaucracy can hardly be expected to worry about the sensible expenditure of the taxpayer's money.
