WILMETTE OBJECTS

One of the best responses to the Griffenhagen report to come from any Cook county suburban community was recome from any Cook county suburban community was received by The Review this week. It was prepared by the Wilmette Home Owners association. It commends the report on the economy proposals for the entire district. It condemns the report for the proposal to shift Chicago's tax burden on the suburban and rural communities under a misnamed "economy program".

demns the report for the proposal to shift Chicago's tax burden on the suburban and rural communities under a misnamed 'economy program.'

"The beauty of our North shore is a pride, not alone of all Chicago and the state of Illinois, but of all those who are acquainted with the district everywhere. Its natural beauty, augmented by the high type of citizenship which prevails throughout the district, has brought about the beautiful surroundings of these neighborhood communities. They have been administered by a high type of men and women, whose interest in their communities has made them an example of good government. Let no legislature dare to lay its hands on this condition. Those members of the legislature in either house who came from small, independent communities or from the rural districts will sympathize with the home owners residing, not only along the North shore, but in other small communities outside of Chicago, who do not propose to turn the administrative affairs of these communities over to theoretical engineers or machine politics on a large scale under any circumstances whatsoever.

"Your committee recommends that public opinion be aroused throughout the county to the importance of the bills pending in the legislature, as created by those having charge of the so-called Griffenhagen investigation in order that the co-operation of the citizens be obtained; lst, so that tax execution be made an actuality wherever and to as great any extent as may be obtainable. In this attempt it is conceivable and true that the voice of the citizen and taxpayer of the county be not obstructed by any local officials in a determination to simplify governmental affairs of purely county activities and 2nd, that the administrative prerogatives of flocal officials be not taken away from them through any legislation of this kind that may be contemplated."

PROGRAMS FOR CHILDREN

Most of us will agree that it is satisfying to hear or read about the expressed resentment of other parents exasperated at the wild radio programs given by a few national advertisers "for children." The following two parents' declarations appeared in the Daily News Tuesday evening. Many other parents have expressed themselves on the same subject other parents have expressed themselves on the same subject.

1. "Radio tycoons may not know it, but parental resentment toward what are known in the trade as children's programs is rising to an angry pitch. Meetings are being held and parents are being enlisted in a crusade of self-defense. It appears that the little ones go to bed with their teeth chattering, and spend the night in screaming nightmares.

"Our own young seems to survive the evening horrors fairly well. But we're going to join the revolution just the same. The three-minute flakes pile up in the kitchen and breakfast has become an oaten horror to papa. Besides, he can't stand the cost in paper and stamps."

2. "For months I have realized that the children's radio features broadcast from 5 o'clock until 6:30 were making neurotics out of my three physically healthy boys; that they were ruining the peace and quiet of our dinner hour—that their food was eaten in haste or left untouched or nibbled at as they sat staring as in a trance while a "ghost" let out cerie howls.

"Men were tortured to tell the hiding place of hidden maps and gold—trains raced with the known possibility of a collision—death—secret tunnels! And then the calm voice of the announcer, "Do not worry, they always come out all right," but the harm has been done to young minds and sensitive nerves.

"I have seen my oldest son tense with excitement, griping the chair, his eyes fixed; then as the great moment arrived, spring from his chair and run around the room—listening—not wanting to hear—and yet fascinated to the point of absolute terror. No response to our questions—no recog-
