Spread of Rabies Among Zion Dogs Checked by Health Officer and Owners

A spread of rabies among dogs in Zion has checked the owners of affected animals, readily cooperated with Dr. Dana Palmer of the state veterinarian department at Springfield, who was called to the community. Mayor E. F. Harwood issued a proclamation urging citizens to check their dogs closely and report to the city when any animal showed the first signs of sickness.

Several dog owners noticed earlier this week that their pets acted abnormally. They took the initiative in the present move to check any possible spread of rabies and several citizens reported to police officers that their dogs be shot. Mayor Harwood reported today that nine dogs were shot this week.

At the first signs of sickness in dogs the owners were not aware that there was any indication of the rabies disease.

Dr. Palmer was hurriedly called from Springfield for an investigation in Zion and after a short stay he was sent to the state department that showed positive signs of rabies.
