This is a picture of what used to be the coal bin in the C. home since they put in clean automatic gas heat. The youngsters play here on rainy days and the grownups hold a Saturday night party.

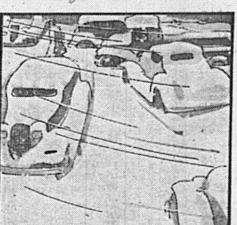

A. M. surprised in the suburbs. Mr. and Mrs. D. worried all evening about the fire going out. Now Mr. D. will change his clothes and build a fire and Mrs. D. will rush upstairs to put extra blankets over the children. And some day soon the D.'s will have gas heat—and an end to this nuisance.

Had No Friends. A woman in a dress and apron is shoveling coal into a large bin.

Out of order again. No heat. Possible colds and sickness—a large service bill. Mrs. R. will now get gas heat and end worry of constant breakdowns and expensive service. She figures she'll save money and have real comfort.

The H.'s fuel tank would be empty just during a blizzard like this, and it looks as if the H.'s will have to freeze for a while or move to a friend's home. And when the snow is gone, and Mr. H. finds another big rat across his lawn where a fuel delivery truck ran over his grass—there'll be another gas-heated home.

J. H. D. BLACK

Poor Jones! He still thinks he's saving money spending his spare time shoveling coal and cleaning out ashes. Too bad he doesn't know he could have gas heat for a few cents a day more and be rid of shoveling and the nuisance of ashes forever.

This is a picture of a woman taking care of the furnace in a gas-heated home. She used to shovel the furnace—clean out ashes—on occasion split kindling and build a fire. Since they put in gas heat—the stays out all day if she wants to and never gives it a thought. Gas heat automatically regulates itself—day and night.

Mr. B. used to worry every minute the was out of the house about the fire going out or getting too hot. Since they put in gas heat—the stays out all day if she wants to and never gives it a thought. Gas heat automatically regulates itself—day and night.

NEW... Low Cost Home-heating with Gas

Installed in your home at our expense . . .
removed at our expense if you don't like it!

No other fuel ever made such an offer!

YOU INVEST NOTHING!

Without ONE CENT of investment by you, we install the most modern burner in your furnace or boiler. If you are satisfied it stays. If it does not prove every claim—and you are the sole judge—out it comes and your former heating system is re-installed—AT OUR EXPENSE. No other fuel for house-heating dares make such an offer. Why? Because none except gas has the confidence of perfection.

WITH the price of gas heat reduced to one-half the rate of 1930-31, gas for home-heating comes into its own. Today—with new low gas-heating rates, gas, the luxury heat, is prized for the majority. And thrown into the bargain you get an invisible servant who gives White House service.

Gas does all the work

The advantages of heating with gas have long been recognized. A single match represents your kindling fuel . . . days and nights of back-breaking coal shoveling . . . dirty hours of hauling ashes . . . weeks of seasonal house cleaning . . . the wear and tear and expense of reconditioning your home and its furnishings.

No matter what fuel you now use that fuel must be reduced to gas before it will burn. With all forms of heating save gas you are dependent on a motor or some manual operation to make gas in your home heat—before you can burn the fuel you are using. This is an added expense, labor and waste. When you use gas piped into your home you are freed of all care and worry. Your gas-making plant is far away from your own home where it should be.

Gas is the clean, healthful, only truly automatic fuel, as everyone, even its competition, must concede. When you use gas, during the first, second, twelfth or any other month.

Let gas sell itself

During the nine heating months of the year, we will install the equipment we install in the average home—you pay nothing during the three summer months, when the heating system is idle. This rental charge will be sent along with your bill for the gas you use. But if, anytime during the first year, you are not satisfied with gas-heating, all you do is order it out. Once it goes. And the rental stops immediately.

Certainly it is a daring offer. One no form of fuel used through the centuries has ever dared make. Why? Because gas has the qualities which set it apart and make it—all other fuels. Everyone who is a gas user paid twice as much as you will pay today for gas-heating found it the perfect fuel.

Let the small gas pipe—running into your furnace—help keep your home, your yard and your entire neighborhood clean and healthful. Yes—there's a "new deal" in house-heating.

BARRINGTON'S CHANCE

The Legion convention in Barrington August 12 will offer property owners and merchants of this village a great opportunity to advertise their community to several hundred influential men and women who will come here from all parts of the ninth district and additional scores of prominent men and women who will come from other districts in Illinois.

This seventh district convention is the final district affair before the departmental convention at Rockford late in the month, and for that particular reason is the most important Legion undertaking of the year next to the Rockford meeting.

All business plans which are to be placed before the delegates at Rockford will be formulated in special meetings in Barrington. Commanders and adjutants from the other districts will be here to participate in those plans. This group of men alone represents a selection of outstanding leaders in Illinois. In addition to this group will be the several hundred representatives from the many local posts in the seventh district. A large number of this latter group will be post commanders, adjutants and special committeemen. These men are influential in their home towns and districts. Leaders of the Women's Auxiliary will also be in Barrington. Many troops of boy scouts will be here to march in the parade, and many of these lads are future leaders at their most impressionable age.

Now what is the cue for Barrington property owners?

With this great group of present influential men and women and future influential men surveying our village on one day, it is a wise plan for the residents to make the town as attractive as possible on that day. Fresh lawns, trimmed and raked, and streets and parkings neat and tidy will do more than anything else to sell Barrington to these visitors.

The merchants can help to a great extent by attractively trimming their show windows and arranging their stores to the best of their ability. Attractive stores are second to beautiful homes in selling a municipality. Incidentally the merchants have an opportunity to profit from extra business on the day of the convention.

MAKE TAXES FIT INCOME

Back in the palmy days of the pre-depression era, extravagance in many businesses was responsible for their subsequent failure. They had built up expenses and an overhead that could not be met when sales dropped.

Extravagance on the part of individuals, in buying luxuries they could do nicely without, was likewise the cause of great hardship later on. Salaries were cut, jobs were lost—and it was impossible to maintain the old inflated standards of living.

By the same token, government extravagance now is laying the seeds of even greater trouble. Businesses and individuals have learned their lessons—they have cut their sails to fit their finances. Government has not. It has broadened its functions and raised its operating costs in the face of gigantic drops in the national income. It is maintaining itself in a state of luxury that the private citizens cannot afford.

Unless government retrenches, the capital that provides jobs, opens new opportunities and creates productive enterprise will be stifled. The farmer will be crushed beneath a burden of costs that he cannot pay—in various states, more than fifty per cent of farm taxes are in arrears and thousands of acres have been taken over by the states. The individual is faced with tax payments out of all proportion to income.

In brief, the work of recovery will be futile if government refuses to trim its costs to fit the nation's pocketbooks.

IT'S DIFFERENT HERE

Gov. Lehman of New York, who was elected largely through the efforts of President Roosevelt, in calling a special session of the state assembly to provide relief for the unemployed in New York City, announced that in no circumstances would he permit adoption of a state-wide sales tax. "New York City must take care of its own need," he said. "The state will give it all necessary power to do this." Quite different from Gov. Horner, who vetoed the Lantz bills, which would merely have given Cook county the privilege to levy a tax to support its poor. "When Cook can't beg any more money from the federal government, it will be back demanding thousands of dollars from the people downstate," said Senator Lantz. "It is the duty of downstate members of the legislature to stop any further raids."

SPONGING COOK COUNTY

LaSalle county has just sold $102,000 worth of bonds to provide for its unemployed. Cook county has not issued a bond or levied a tax for this purpose and yet has gotten 94 per cent of all the money spent for relief in the state.

Be less ashamed to confess thy ignorance than, by holding a foolish argument, to betray it.—Eliz. Joceline.

:Progress:

[Weekly News Review of Important Events at the National Capitol]

Jobs by fall for 300,000 persons now idle in this country are expected by the government to be available in the next few months, but the plan has not been adopted by the employers of the blanket code of fair practices about to be put into effect.

Another million jobs are sought from quick application of a vast public works program. Already nearly 300,000 youths now have been taken from the cities and given jobs in the civilian conservation corps.

If these numbers, now idle, start work, and the wages of those working are raised, it is the official belief that enough purchasing power will flow into the communities of the nation to reverse the downward trend.

When higher agricultural prices would be counted on to revive buying by farmers and serve as a backdrop to the increased manufacturing activity.

Will President Roosevelt is asking of all employers of more than two persons is this:

That child labor be stopped, and that the $14 to $15 minimum wage be established for the white collar class.

That a 30 to 40 cents an hour minimum wage and a 35 hour maximum week be established for all hours maximum be set for factory and mechanical labor.

That an equitable adjustment be made of pay above these minimums.

While industry and the government are compiling codes of fair competition limiting the weekly working hours of industrial employees, one federal agency devotes its time to the protection of working hours of women in the home and is finding the home-makers to be much more overworked than the wage earners.

A series of hours of figures compiled by a committee of hours of work of home-makers, both rural and urban, are still to be made before the bureau of labor statistics can publish its final report. But since it already has included that the 40-hour week adopted by the cotton textile industry and some other industries are too long, has little effect on the home, where the weekly work period ranges from about 52 to more than 61 hours.

Women workers outnumber men in every industry, kind of occupation and out of 35 types of such industries covered by a federal survey.

In restaurants and lunch rooms the number of male workers is considerably larger than the number of women.

Women predominate in department stores—but the group serving food and the group not serving food in dry goods stores, 5 and 10-cent stores, and women's ready-to-wear stores.

Three problems which affect agriculture the country's origin of farm land, soil conservation and too great production use, and prevention of soil erosion—have received the attention of the bureau of agricultural engineering since its work was begun in 1929.

How are the results of the studies of the bureau made available to the farmer, engineer and other persons interested in them?

Much of the work of the bureau has been published as bulletins by the department of agriculture. There have been issued dealing with irrigation work, techniques of conservation, 25 farmers' bulletins or popular presentations, and 40 publications of miscellaneous characters.

A national campaign to eradicate crime and racketeering and thus to stop an economic waste estimated to be costing the country as much as $2,000,000,000 a year is being carried on under the leadership of the federal government. The attorney general, Homer S. Cummings, convinced that crime and racketeering have become a national problem, is asking Congress to devise for combating them. A federal police force, federal control of the interstate traffic in guns, and coordination of federal and state activities in the field of law enforcement are being considered. Confronting the federal government, as it plans its program, are reports from police throughout the country of its want of investigation showing the crimes of murder, assault, burglary and larceny are the increase.

The government now is engaged in the most intensive campaign in the nation's history to reduce the huge annual losses caused by destructive forest fires, tree-attacking insects and tree diseases. About 300,000 men, the biggest forest army ever assembled in this or any other country, now is in the field, it was said July 22 by Frank P. Fisher, director of the agency's forest protection corps. These men are at work under the direction of trained forestry officials. Director Fisher said that forest protection corps had been created by Major Robert Y. Stuart, chief forester of the United States forest service; Horace M. Albright, of the national park service; John Collier, commissioner of Indian affairs, and by the state foresters, call for a record-breaking amount of work designed to save the nation's timber resources, improve the forests and increase the value of the annual crop of commercial forest products.

Wandering From This to That

Farmer's Milk Victory

Now agricultural and economic experts in the Chicago market are won over to the "new deal" at the hands of the national government.

For several months in the market there has been a steady fight for a "new deal" and never to ask for a "new hat" and often unknowingly purchase made-over headgear.

A dozen hats are selected at random and representing that many walks of life, tested before the federal trade commission to determine which farmers turned hopefully to the administration for relief. Negotiations progressed smoothly for a few weeks and then came the inevitable "new deal" distinction of being the first market to submit an agreement between producers and distributors, which met the approval of most men in the cent of the market section. However, the hat market is not the only one in which the agricultural marketing act was passed, providing for licensing of dealers and retailers, control of futures trading, and a blanket code of fair practices as was planned to put into effect on the Chicago market.

Sales Tax Must Apply to Car Trade In Value

Joseph J. Rice, director of the department of finance states that the current federal tax of one per cent must be paid on the trade-in value of an automobile when a transfer of ownership is made. Mr. Rice calls attention to the fact that every retailer, no matter what all sales were part of the consideration or purchase price is represented by any tangible personal property.

Hammer, Oldest Tool

For more than a million years, the hammer has carried on, the first implement of prehistoric man and the father of all tools, according to an exhibit in the American Museum of Natural History in New York. Only in modern times has the hammer served so prosaic a purpose as that of tapping at nails, driving in tacks, breaking up rocks, heads, fruits, bones and clay. The hammer was used to abrade stones to grind food, to club enemies, to crush nuts, to pound hides, to shape wood and was even thrown at the foreman of the sling shot and the bullet.

Barrington Sewer

Sewer System M
Be Built With
of Federal R.

Village Trustees and Ad
Committee Discuss Project
for Improvement

A complete new sewer system will be built at an estimated cost of $350,000 or a related amount which would cost between $100,000 and $150,000. The estimated cost of the new sewer system at the time of the Barrington Advisory meeting, with members of the board Monday night, following address by Mr. George Bogue, the highway engineer, who said he would obtain a loan from the government for sewer construction.

Because of the fact that the money reported as willing to furnish money to cover 70 per cent of the cost of the system and the remaining 30 per cent, the three members of the board, who were present, favored a new system. Others objected, as they were undertaking anything possible. The possibility of a loan from the government in case of a financial gulf can not be overlooked.

Act Early?

Mr. Bogue stated that if the Barrington could obtain a loan from the government, it would be well to apply for it now, as the money would be available to be used for the state engineering department. It would be for the federal government to act, as it is the responsibility of the H. R. C. to act, as it is the H. R. C. that would become available.

According to the plan, the R. C. would construct 100 per cent of the sewer system, which would be paid for by 25 per cent bonds. The amount would be an outlay for the government. Very few communities have been able to do this, as the H. R. C. have been in Illinois, according to Mr. Bogue, to obtain that an amount of money will be available in the near future. The amount of making such loans is to be determined.

World Interference?

Mr. Bogue was asked if he believed that the world, over the years, had interfered with the opportunity to obtain a loan. He replied that he did not. A community must earnestly go through with a project, now just how much of a loan.
