To Review "Foot of Venus" Mrs. R. R. Hammond will review "The Foot of Venus" by George O'Connell for a study group at the home of Mrs. Robert Wort at 2 p. m. Thursday. The story is a vivid picture of the turbulent twelfth century and of one Peter Vda, troubador, soldier, lover, worshipping at two shrines, that of Venus and of Justice. It is a story of the crusades when Richard the Lion-Hearted was changing the map of Europe, when the Pope, the Venetian Doge and the emperor of the middle ages were all powerful. It is the middle ages, dramatic, romantic, and fearfully tragic, fascinatingly told and beautifully written.
