"G-Men" Starring Cagney at Catlow Sunday, Monday

"Bride of Frankenstein" a Picture of Imagination Here Wednesday

"G-Men" which plays the Catlow theatre Sunday matinee and evening, Monday night, is easily the show of the hour. As a screen play it achieves its purpose of anguishing the human and the gangster, and presents a vivid picture of the federal government's present plan of strategy in regard to public enemies. The action flares along with a speed and a smooth continuity which holds an audience spellbound. Gangster follows gangster, rascals "smile" pick up their dead sweethearts' guns and shoot until they lie in their tracks. The ranks of the upholders of the law are also thinned down in this ruthless warfare—but the G-Men, as in real life, come out on top in the end.

"G-Men" is a thriller movie, but its significance goes much deeper than passing entertainment. It is the crystallization of the public attitude against gangsterism in the real world that the federal government is out to rid the country of its public enemies.

James Cagney, Ann Dvorak, Robert Armstrong, and a large cast of featured players present this great drama of Uncle Sam's secret agents.

"Ladies," Gene Stratton Porter's famous story, is being shown for the last time Friday night.

Saturday brings "The 39 Steps," a comedy yarn of the Michigan State police, with Fred MacMurray, Sir Guy Standing and Ann Sheridan in leading roles.

Next Tuesday's bargain offering, "The Bride of Frankenstein," which is scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week, is a further exploration into the realm of imaginative horror.

Karlson, who created the original role of the monster, Frankenstein, carries on in the same part, with Colin Clive, Una O'Connor and a large cast in support.

The obvious unruliness of this new super-shocker prevents any lasting impression, but it cannot be denied that fans are finding it fascinating and compelling movie fare. It is not for sensitive children or people with weak hearts, but those not in this category will respond to the delightful thrills as they are carried into the realms of shivers and shakes!

Bill Dreyer to Run in National Race Saturday

Leaves Today for Washington, D. C., Scene of 26 Mile Grind

Bill Dreyer, local running star, is back at it again. Bill left Barrington Wednesday to compete in his first race of the year—the National Marathon, which will be run at Washington, D. C. Saturday. The course of the U. S. classic has been mapped out to cut through the corners of two states, Virginia and Maryland, finishing in Washington.

Although just recently recovered from an accident, occurring when he was hit by an automobile while riding the bicycle, Bill has covered the 26 mile 385 yard route several times and apparently is in shape for the tough grind.

Last year the Barrington runner won five starts and placed 2nd three times in 10 races. His most notable triumph was winning the National Junior 10,000 meter run in Milwaukee in June.

Protect Children on Trips; Watch Food, Water, Sleep

With vacation time near, the Illinois Tuberculosis association's medical committee has prepared a list of reminders to parents of small children. They are:

In planning vacations, be sure that the house to which you are going is clean and well screened and that milk and water supplies are safe. Do not let children drink water from roadside springs or other sources not known to be safe. For short excursions, carry water daily. Fresh fruit, orange-ade, lemonade and tomato juice may be given also, but tea, coffee and some bottled drinks contain stimulants which children should not have.

Use no raw milk. If pasteurized milk is unavailable, boil the raw milk. For children under two years, all milk must be boiled. Keep cold and well-covered.

Do not buy food for children from street carts or from counters where it has been exposed to dirt, dust and flies.

Give the children plenty of fresh, green, leafy vegetables, and ripe, fresh fruit.

Every child should be outdoors five or six hours every day when the weather permits, except during the middle of the day.

Children under six need a mid-rest with at least one or two hours of sleep.

Let the child get well tanned gradually but not sunburned. Sun suits and sandals are all he needs for a large part of the day. In cooler summer weather, he will need cotton underwear, a cotton suit or dress, short socks, shoes and a sweater when he is not in the sun. Clothing that is too warm makes a child perspire too much and take cold easily.

On camping trips be cautious around swift running streams or deep pools. Be sure the bathing or swimming place is free of jagged material which might cut and infect the child. Keep him away from such poisonous vines as poison ivy.

"What Have You in Hand?" Bishop Wadsworth will ask 54 graduates of Barrington high school at commencement exercises to be held in the school auditorium Wednesday evening, June 1. The class, headed by grey robe and gown, will be seated on the stage as in former years.
