Two Women Lose Lives After Auto Accidents Here

Received on Route
15a Month Ago Bring
Death to One

Two women were killed as a result of automobile accidents, one on Friday night, Oct. 11, and the other on Saturday, Oct. 12, at Barrington. The woman who died on Friday was Mrs. M. J. Knorr, 40 years old, who was killed when the automobile in which she was a passenger struck a tree at the intersection of route 14, Highway 59, and Highway 53.

The cause of Mrs. Knorr's death was a fracture of her skull which occurred when she was struck by the automobile. Her husband, Leo Knorr, and two children, Alice and Robert, were also in the car. Mrs. Knorr's mother, Mrs. M. J. Knorr, was also in the car. The car was driven by Mrs. Knorr's sister, Miss Knorr, who was also killed.

Building Permits for Suburban Area Increase 8 Per Cent in September

Barrington is consistently keeping in step with other communities in the Chicago suburban area in building. An increase of 16 per cent was made here in September against the same month in 1934. In the entire area the amount for September was $1,137,877 and in September, 1934, the amount was $1,436,609 or an increase of eight per cent.

By comparing the total amount of permits issued in the nine months of 1934 with those in the same period of 1935 a better picture of building activity may be had. The figures for January to September inclusive of 1934 are $5,988,933 and for the same period of 1935, $10,619,409. This is an increase of 109 per cent. In building activity this year in the Chicago suburban region has more than doubled.

A major portion of the money being spent is going into the erection and alteration of houses. Many commissioners report that they expect a continuation of this type of building in the next several months.

Following is a chart of building activity in communities around Barrington:

Sept. 1935	Sept. 1934
Barrington $21,775	$18,745
Crystal Lake 100	None
Des Plaines 1,359	6,250

New Pontiacs Will Be on Display in Barrington Oct. 19

Pontiac, Mich., Oct. 17.—The 1936 version of the "Silver Streak" will be shown by Seaboard Bros. & Collins and other Pontiac dealers next Saturday.

Two lines of signs and a streamlined sign will comprise the Pontiac offerings for the new season. H. J. Klingler, president and general manager of the Pontiac Motor Co., announced today.

The chrome grille, popularly called the "Silver Streak," again will feature the new models, but in changed and refined form. This assures owners of 1935 Pontiacs that their cars will not be obsolete by radical change in design.

Production of the new 1936 models has been going forward in increasing volume since mid-September. Mr. Klingler said, and by announcement day he anticipates a field order of more than 12,000 units, which will enable every dealer in the United States to have ample cars to show representative models of over 200 different models of 1936.

Furs Mildly Wears Come From Various Countries

Little moles bearing the best pelts, notes a writer in the Palladium, trace originally to boot land. Ermine comes from Russia, Alaska encourages seals, and Canada and Alaska co-operate on beaver.

Mink, many Americans are surprised to know, is collected in quantity from the eastern coast of the States, though some come from Russia and Canada. Leopards are spotted over Abyssinia, India and Amarna. Fitch hails in light color from Russia, in dark from Germany, Kolinsky is Russian.

Lots of different kinds of lamb constitute the carcel family. Some of it is gathered from China and Japan, some from Russia. Persian lamb is similar to krummer, but practically the same fur, and originates in the Balkans, Crimea in particular. To hot countries—also Russia and China—"gros" also types of carcel, kidkin, Galzyk is the carcel, and gets its name from makhoshes. From Russia, the lamb responsible for this smooth fur is killed while yet innocent and young, and before its skin is much ruffed. "Globy" is the Russian word for naked.

Cashew Nut Produces an Oil Used in Many Ways

The cashew nut grows in a bushy shrub about the size of an apple tree, which looks like a juicy fruit. The apple, as the swollen stem is called, is delicious if sometimes a little acrid.

The pericarp or shell of the nut, which is the true fruit, contains a dark reddish oil of great chemical interest, which burns the skin of sensitive people. This non-drying oil is used for making wood immune from white ant attack, and by the natives of the Andaman Islands to protect their fishing nets from decomposition.

A scientist has spent years in tanning this unusual liquid, adapting it for use as a coating, and for purposes where few other materials appear to be as suitable.

Flood Area of Mississippi Valley

The flood plain of the Mississippi river varies greatly in width, North of Cape Girardeau, Mo., the lands which are subject to overflow are comparatively narrow, from three to five miles wide. The broad alluvial valley south of that point is almost never inundated to this depth. In the lower Mississippi valley protecting levees exist and are planned to provide a width of from 10 to 25 miles. In the immediate vicinity of Vicksburg, Miss., the river is not subject to overflow on the Mississippi side because of the high bluff, 200 feet above sea level, on which Vicksburg is built.
