"Big Broadcast of 1936" Bill

Sunday, Monday

The impending bankrupt status WHY forms the hook of the plot of "The Big Broadcast of 1936" playing the Catlow Theatre Monday and Tuesday. It has enough important details to interest and to add to the complete enjoyment of the class when the electric lights are turned on. But no one will miss whether or not "The Big Broadcast of 1936" has a plot, in what will enter in the noted and noted personalities whose appearances build the show into noteworthy pieces of entertainment. Miss Crosby, Anne Staley, Ethel Newman, Ray Noble, his band, Bill Robinson and Allen combine to make a most enjoyable jamboree entirely delightful. Jack Oakie plays the lead, Henry Wadsworth, Lydia Roy, Wendy Barrie, Charlie Ross and Mary Boland in support. Later on in the week—on Monday and Thursday—"Smile Thru" returns. "Smile Thru" a picture was made on great an exhibition on production on its view, that a million requests were received by producers to return this mass of moonlight memorabilia. Norma Shearer, Fredric M. Lolett, Howard Hery, Metcalf, Luigi Torrence! No wonder fans are clamoring to see "Smile Thru". Pictures of lesser importance, significant because of story star interest are "The Goddess", with Kay Francis and George Brent, scheduled for this week Friday; "The Girl in the Red Velvet" with David Manners, Kay Johnson and C. Aubrey Smith, plus Saturday; and "Alone with a Lady" with "The Bargain" scheduled for Tuesday.

Lake Zurich Community Woman's Club

The second meeting of the Book Review class was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. J. Pretzel last Friday. The book, "The Player," by Doris Leota, was skillfully interpreted by Mrs. E. Jackson DeWitt. It was a broad canvas— that the author took for her picture of four generations. The background of the Victorian and Edwardian periods is described with a genuine flair for atmosphere and fine characterizations make the reader feel he knows each person. Patrons of the library will be pleased to learn that state books are now available. Mrs. J. D. Pink and Mrs. Wm. J. Pretzel attended the Lake county meeting at Waukegan last Monday. Members of the club are urged to attend the tenth district federation meeting to be held at Glenco, November 6. —Press Committee.
