It's Your Home, Please Keep It Clean, Pleads President of Village

A central park clustered up with unpainted papers is a poor advertisement for Barrington, representatives of the Barrington Garden club and Village Garden club complain, presenting a civic complaint to Earl Hatje, president of the village board.

The small, but usually attractive park near the Chicago and Elgin, which is the most popular, is not satisfactorily approached by some of the residents of the community, the village president was told. Many persons arriving from trains are careless about discarding their trash in the park.

The Rev. Robert Parsons, and Robert Phillips will also be present from the Bible Institute and will give special musical numbers.

Mr. Hatje, through The Review, requests all citizens to help keep their community tidy and thus cooperate with the garden clubs which have done a great deal of time, money and effort to improve Barrington's parks.

Property Owners in Rural District to Organize Club

Group Would Develop Region By Zoning, Far Sighted Planning, Etc.

An association of property owners to promote orderly development of the Barrington region is in the process of organization which will begin with a general meeting at the Interlaken Inn, 1000 N. Barrington Hills country club at 8 p. m. Monday, June 29. It is expected that preliminary organization work will be completed at that meeting.

An outline of purpose, plans and membership for the organization has been developed by the following: Earl Hatje, chairman; Roy Hushurst, P. L. Bateman, John Bell and Arthur McBeth.

The Interlaken Countrywide Property Owners Association is the proposed name for the organization; and it is stated that the purpose is about orderly physical development of the land within the Barrington region and to promote land use, zoning and planning in the countryside; these to include not only the health and safety of the community, but also the economic, social and aesthetic factors in a well rounded plan of operation.

The association will be organized in the organization in the Barrington area with nominal dues established at $1 per member.

Committees on the following subjects have been proposed: administration, information, education, land use, zoning, planning, soil conservation, civil service, transportation and legislation. The usual group of officers will be elected at the first meeting and will be elected to a term of three years.

Workers are now excavating in preparation for the third floor and the project is progressing slowly, awaiting the arrival of additional material.

With the arrival of needed items, the work can proceed rapidly and will be completed on schedule. C. Billings, project supervisor, reported.

The third floor to the originally scheduled two-floor addition was approved by the WPA when the project had advanced so rapidly.

Supplies for Third Floor of School Project Ordered

Requisition for needed material to complete the third floor of the WPA addition being constructed at the school will be issued to the WPA program office this week, according to E. S. Smith, superintendent of schools, and will be completed as soon as the materials arrive.

Committees on the following subjects have been proposed: administration, information, education, land use, zoning, civil service, transportation and legislation. The usual group of officers will be elected at the first meeting and will be elected to a term of three years.

The change in weather brought increasing crowds to the annual picnic being held Saturday at the Old Field House club on North and Hough streets during this week. The show started Monday night and will close Saturday night.

The association has been active in financing new building work during the year. Funds of the organization are invested in good mortgages, the secretary reported.

The free attraction, the daredevil team of Winnie and Dolly, is holding the attention of the amusement seekers with a series of daring stunts performed on a trapeze.

TURNING TIDE

The region of the vice overlords in the United States which had its origin and reached full flower during the prohibition era, will be recalled now as something in the nature of a weird nightmare. For a time, one of the darkest periods of the nation's history, the dominance of the great mob leaders was not to be questioned seriously. They were above or beyond the law.

With the millions that flowed through their hands from innumerable sources, all traceable to vice in one form or another, they controlled police organizations, corrupted judges and legislators and purchased freedom and immunity. Not even murder brought them within the law's pale. It was only internecine warfare they feared—death at the hands of a rival gangster.

Capone will always remain the symbol of this dark era. Chicago and its environs constituted his realm, but, although known as a murderer and an employer of murderers, a thief and a corruptor, he moved freely from place to place, always with his retinue of gunmen, migrating with the seasons, living in luxury and with the supreme contempt for all who represented the law and justice. He had had experience with them and found them to be amenable to corruption. Many of them were on his payroll and they dared not touch him. He was but one of many. Most of them died with their shoes on. Others lived to face the problems of a changing order. They are in jail.

With repeat the great profits went out of the illicit liquor industry. Most of the racketeers which the industry created, however, turned their criminal talents to other fields of endeavor, such as kidnapping, commercialized vice and the various "protection" rackets. Happily, this situation has been met through a regeneration of the forces of law.

The arrest of Alvin Karpis, kidnap, bank robber, police killer, taken after a relentless search of three years by federal agents, is another heartening sign that the outlaws' days of ascendancy are over.—Coldwater, Mich., Daily Reporter.

LEARN TO SAY "NO"

Did you ever think what gullible suckers we voters are? We know the stock doesn't bring babies. We know the magician doesn't really pick money out of the air. We know that water doesn't run up hill. But we never seem to learn that political magic is no different from stage magic, except the price of admission is more.

A good politician can make us think he picks money out of the air just like a good magician. But while the politician holds our attention by promising to give us something for nothing, but our vote, his hand is in our pocket taking our money (taxes) to pay for his "gift."

Unless we learn to say "no" to the tempting "gifts" offered us, the political magicians will promise us a free trip to the moon with a golden chariot to ride in when we get there—but by the time we arrived, we would have long white whiskers and the pawn broker would have the chariot (and probably our return trip ticket) for the tax lien the political magicians gave him against us.—Lombard, Ill., Spectator.

Q. What did the citizens of Vandalia do to try to prevent the removal of the capital to Springfield?

A. One of the reasons advanced for the removal of the capital to Springfield was that the Vandalia capitol was inadequate for the state's growing needs. To remove this objection the citizens of Vandalia in the summer of 1836 tore down the capitol without authorization, during recess of the legis-

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

The new tax measure finally agreed to by Congress favors, by relatively smaller imposts, first, those corporations with small net incomes and, second, those which pay out larger proportions of their net incomes.

Won thus by the administration is an extension of the tax principle first written into law last year and the application of a new principle this year.

Last year for the first time a graduated tax on corporate incomes was imposed, the graduation being from 12½ per cent for earners of smaller incomes to 15 per cent for the highest.

The new bill increases the graduation from 12½ to 15 per cent according to the size of income. This principle is sometimes called a penalty on bigness.

This year, the new principle of taxation of earnings at higher rates than companies that retain more of their earnings as reserves. Over and above the normal tax, a surtax is imposed ranging from 7 to 27 per cent according to all the kinds of the earnings retained.

Maximum tax on a large net income that is all retained comes to 42 per cent, approximately the rate set in the original house bill. The tax cut under the tax on individual earnings that otherwise might have been retained and thus escaped a high impost. Maximum surtax rate on individual incomes is 75 per cent.

Retained, expected from the first year, $900 million dollars in the first year.

Amount asked by the president for continuance of work relief in the coming year: 1500 million dollars.

Amount voted by Congress in a measure sent to the white house for presidential approval: 1425 million dollars.

As proposed by the president's original recommendation, these charges have been written into the program by Congress.

First, a larger Civilian Conservation Corps than the president had planned. The 75 million dollars of tax on earnings asked for work relief was to support this enlargement of the CCC.

Second, permission for the public works administration to use as grants the cash proceeds of loans made by the state and local governments for relief. The administration reports some 300 million dollars thus available, which will be assigned preferably as grants to municipalities. They will be expected to match the sums allotted for making 25 per cent of the total cost of a project.

Third, prohibition that work relief money should be spent on projects which, for their completion,

Barefooted statists

On December 8, 1940, Gen. Stephen V. Kearny and about 100 United States dragoons were surrounded by a Mexican force near San Ysidro, Calif., General Kearny, Lieut. E. F. Dyer, U. S. A., and an Indian volunteered to go to San Diego, 50 miles away, for reinforcements. Removing their shoes, so as to make silent, they crept in the dark, for the dragoons had been following the enemy troops. In doing so they lost their shoes and were forced to make the remainder of the journey barefooted, over ground covered with sharp stones and thorns. So intense were their sufferings that Kearny became debranged. But, in accordance with traditions established by centuries of commanding history, they "got the message through."

For the first time a federal court speaks on the question of whether a labor board's cease, and desist order, preventing a manufacturer in a manufacturing industry is more than a scrap of paper.

The tribunal is the federal circuit court of appeals at New Orleans, La. The company concerned is the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation. The verdict is that the order is only a scrap of paper.

Because, says the court, manufacturing operations have no direct effect on interstate commerce, not even if they utilize raw materials, not even if they sell their finished product is also shipped across state lines. The conclusion: congress is powerless to regulate labor relations, and the employees allegedly dismissed for union activity need not be reinstated with back pay as the labor board had ordered.

Removing Cork From Trees

When the first layer of cork is removed from a tree it should be about twenty years old. The first layer, called virgin cork, is of poor quality. This layer is stripped at intervals of eight or ten years. Cork cut from a tree about forty years old is the best. If the operation is skilfully done, the tree is unharmed and lives about 120 years.

Where Bees Find Sweets

In the United States the greater part of the honey produced is alfalfa honey from the Western states. Sweet clover, white sage and other flowers contribute to the Western supply. In the Central states it is white clover, sweet clover, Spanish needle and heartsease honey. In the Eastern states, cotton, mesquite, honey locust and buckwheat are the leading honey flowers. Orange blossoms, clover, aster and basswood complete the list.

Bears Suffer First Loss By Fielding Misplays at Des Plaines

The Barrington Bears suffered their first defeat of the season following six consecutive wins at Des Plaines Sunday when they were outscored on the short end of an 8 to 5 score against the strong Des Plaines nine.

Charles Altenburg started on the mound first five innings, but at that time he struck out seven men, allowing eight hits with no walks. Des Plaines scored all the runs during that time, that fielding misplays were responsible for them. Altenburg took over the hurling in the sixth and seventh, allowing three more walks.

The Bears made four hits during the entire game, Reuse getting a double in the first and George a double in the third. The Bears scored one run in the fourth, and Reuse furnished the last single in the seventh.

Kenny, a new recruit, was doing the receiving for Barrington and was credited with one run on errors and one run on errors not laid off. Kenny is listed as catching for the Bear's for the season.

Des Plaines did all the hitting in the first four innings, while three more were made by Martinek, Pierce and Sitman.

Again connected in the fourth, Wit and Townsend finished the day hitting with singles in the fifth and sixth.

Sunday the Bears will meet the Guy Bush Gassers in what promises to be a very close and exciting game on the local diamond. Last year the Gassers came out on top in the first four years by a score of 4 to 3. This year, with the present lineup, the results should be

Etiquet of Tea Drinking

Interests Japanese Girls

In the strenuous life of modern Japan, it is not uncommon for young women to take lessons in the etiquette of tea drinking, according to an authority in the Washington office of the Japanese Government.

The tea ceremony is unique in Japan, and is a religious and ritualistic observance.

It was originally introduced from China by Buddhist monks of the Zen sect; it has come to be a cult of esthetic entertainment. And no one who has seen it can fail to be impressed by the grace and elegance of the ceremony.

At the tea ceremony, the tea master, who is a woman, serves the tea to the guests. The tea is served in a small cup.

There will be a milking contest,
donkey ball game, horseshoe pitching contest between township and city, races and games for boys and small girls.

The amount of WLS talent will be presented to entertain the crowd, both day and night. The Prairie Ramblers, Patsy Montana, Joe Kline,
Max Texhun, Winnie, Lou and Sally,
George Goebel and Tom Owen
and his Corn Huskers.

The county chorus will render the statua. "The Harvest" at the piano.

Camp Oh-Da-Ko-Ta, the boy scout camp for scouts of Northwest Suburban council, will open Sunday, July 28, for the summer season of 1936.

The camp will be open to camp for incoming campers with Sunday evening supper but parents bringing their scouts to camp
may bring picnic dinners and report at camp any time during the day. It was announced.

Camp Old Hickory is located about one mile north of Slade's Corners, Wisconsin. Slade's Corners is on U. S. Route 50 about six miles east of Lake Geneva.

Scouts attending camp from council territory west of Des Plaines may go by way of Barbergen's.

The camp will be open to the public in the summer of 1936
in the hearts of men for freedom and justice. Can it be met by fair dealing? This requires self-government, doesn't it? Instead of nation with its desire to set them right, let a man become right himself and influence his neighbor by good example.

As retiring president, Dr. Frank
C. Collier declared that Christian realizing more fully and more keenly that Christian Science is something more than a glorified theology; that it is a demonstrable science, a science based on the science of true Christianity, that it is in theology as well as a science. It is man's business to be absolutely obedient to divine Principle, God, truth, and exemplify the nature of God. That he is both religious and scientific.

Also re-elected was Ezra W.
Palmer, clerk of the church.

When Is a Person Not a Good Driver?

WHY IS IT . . .

BUT BEHIND A WHEEL . . .

A person at his desk may be the most conservative of individuals—
the kind who not only considers a matter once but twice, and is likely to sleep over it. If the matter is reconsidered, the person is likely to be a man and woman who are most considerate of the members of their family—people who constantly think of the happiness and security of their dependents.

Such a person is the kind who never takes the time to consider the consequences of his actions.
