

Pure Milk Neatest Dairy Farm Award Won by Earl Kane

Grand Championship Farm Is Located at Mundelein; Receive Trip

The 140-acre Kane farm is located two miles south of Mundelein, on route 59-A. Not elaborate landscaping nor other decoration, but the exceptional neatness of the whole farm, the immaculateness of the milk house and equipment, the cleanliness of the 32-cow purebred Guernsey milk herd, were the things that won the 1937 title for this farm.

Local Man Is Third in Shooting Honors

W. R. Winteringham, 521 S. Hough street, who is competing in the national trapshooting meet at Vandalia, O., this week, finished third in the North America clay target championship Tuesday. Phil Miller of French Lick, Ind., was first and R. C. Coffey of Orlando, Fla., was second.

Plan Self-Defense Plea in Inquest in Fred Collins Death

That he pushed Fred Collins in self-defense when that man slashed at him with a knife, will be the defense plea of Fred Berlin Jr. of Lake Zurich at the inquest into the death of Collins to be held today at 408 North Sheridan road, Waukegan. The inquest will be conducted by Coroner John L. Taylor.

Collins and Berlin were in the washroom of a Lake Zurich tavern July 25 when a quarrel developed that ultimately led to the death of Collins, according to an investigation carried on by the Lake county sheriff's office. Following an argument over 47 cents which Berlin claimed was due him from Collins, the latter was alleged to have slashed at Berlin with a jack knife. Berlin pushed Collins, according to the report, causing him to fall and bump his head on the washroom floor. Although he did not show immediate signs of suffering from the fall, he became seriously ill later and died August 1. It was contended the bump on his head caused Collins' death.

While the widening is being done, traffic will be routed from the intersection of Main street and Northwest highway west along Main street to Hough and then north on Hough to the highway. Mr. Apple says the route is most satisfactory, but other routes in the village may be used.

Festival Group Is Prepared to Sell Commercial Booths

A plan of arrangement of display booths in the Barrington Fall festival big top tent has been accepted, Q. R. Paulson, chairman, reported today. Booth display space is now available to stores and industrial plants, he said. The displays will be ten feet square with one or more available to each business place. A miniature booth is now on display in the Caldwelller Jewelry store window.

Plans for the 4-H club shows were developed Monday night by the committee assisted by County Farm Advisors H. C. Gilkerson of Graylake and O. G. Barrett of Arlington Heights. The farm advisers were guests of the Barrington Lions club at dinner and met with the committee afterwards. The committee includes L. J. Miller, George Fairweather, Fred Fleming and H. D. Kelsey.

MILLER BROS. FUN & FACTS
NO. 34 Barrington, Ill., Thursday, August 26, 1937 VOL. 49

Miller Brothers advertisement with text: 'A gruesome game... There is only one other word in English... We know lady who writes to her husband twice a day when he's away... We believe you could arrange for a water cooler for your farm home... We don't exactly keep a diary, but we list all our check stubs... We have McCormick-Deering tractor... We have heard of the man who got a pile of books and for Christmas and had to go right down town and buy a couple of books... No brushed kerosene or cracked corn when it's shelled with the McCormick Deering sheller... We would like to see one in operation? We have one here on our place and would be glad to show it to you.'
