read to him describing the use of trained shepherd dogs as efficient guides for several thousand German war veterans. Thrilled, he wrote at once to the author, Mrs. Harrison Eustis, but unlike most blind people he did not ask, "How may I get a dog for myself?" but rather "How can a blind man help to develop a similar service for America?" Mrs. Eustis' reply was an invitation to come to Switzerland where, with Elliot S. Humphrey, the geneticist who was engaged in one of the most extensive breeding and educational experiments ever conducted with higher animals. Mr. Fred had himself shipped to Switzerland by American Express and five weeks later returned to this country with "Buddy"—a blind man absolutely free and eager to prove it to his skeptical American world. "Buddy" to guide him, he traveled through lands and miles through all sections of the country, deliberately seeking dangerous intersections and puzzle riddles. He was completely successful and, in 1929, asked Mrs. Eustis to establish the Seeing Eye for America. In his present capacity as vice-president of the division for the blind much of the work of investigating the eligibility of blind applicants to the Seeing Eye is done by Mr. Frank

Dispersal Sale of Wetten Herd to Be Held This Saturday

Emil Wetten's dairy herd, which he has built up, as a hobby, over a period of several years on the Wetten farms north of Barrington, will be sold at a dispersal sale next Saturday afternoon, every animal to go except one. This announcement with detailed information, is included in this advertisement on page 7 of an issue of The Review.
This is a Guernsey herd with a butterfat production average of 5.5, according to information given out. In addition to an unusually high butterfat record, the herd is outstanding for having a low bacteria count of only 15,000. Included in the herd are a registered Guernsey bull, Guernsey cows, Guernsey calves bred to freshen soon, a top Holstein cow, and a number of Guernsey-Holstein calves. In addition to dairy equipment.
