

Barrington Bronchos Will Resume Cage War With Ela Team Friday

To Play Waucoda in Non-Conference Contest Saturday

Local Cagers in Shape for Schedule After Long Holiday

A much improved Broncho squad will meet the Ela basketballers on the home floor in an effort to knock the first place Lake Zurich squad out of that place Friday evening.

The Ela team has chalked up four victories in four conference starts and are picked by many to come out on top as unofficial winners of the Northwest conference championship. Leathesser, high scoring Ela guard, has been the spark plug of the team during the past two seasons and combined with the tall center, H. Olsson, is expected to be the Bronks' chief worry in the coming game.

Seek Revenge

The Clarkmen will attempt to get revenge for the last quarter defeat of last season, with Leathesser the main reason for the loss. The Bronks showed considerable improvement in their last two games and should give the veteran Ela team a good fight.

Elect Officers as Local Baseball Club Organizes for 1938

Following the example set by the major league clubs of transacting business early in the season, the Barrington Baseball club held a meeting Tuesday night to discuss plans of re-organizing for 1938.

Waucoda Saturday

The Bronchos and Ponies will travel to Waucoda Saturday for their second game of the season with the Waucoda Bulldogs. Both teams are tied for the cellar position in the Northwest conference race. The game will be non-conference so will have nothing to do with the conference standings.

Recommend Chinese Elms for Fast Shade

Chinese elm was the only one that survived the severe drought of 1936. If you are thinking of planting a shade tree, consider the Chinese elm.

For maximum growth and beauty, be sure to feed the Chinese elm, as well as other trees on your grounds. Use a complete, balanced plant food increased growth.
