Many Places Have Spanish Names
The American Language says: "According to Harold W. Bentley, no less than 2,000 American cities and towns have Spanish names and thousands more are borne by rivers, mountains, valleys and other geographical entities. He says that there are more than 400 cities and towns of Spanish name in California alone. They are numerous all over the rest of the trans-Mississippi region and, curiously enough, are even rather common in the East."

Hog Not Native of America
According to authentic records, Columbus brought over a few breeding hogs on his second voyage to Cuba, in 1493. Great Britain had hogs before this, however, and the United States and Great Britain have produced all the leading breeds to recent times.

Card of Thanks
We wish to express sincere appreciation to friends and neighbors for the kind expressions of sympathy and floral tributes and the use of cars during our recent bereavement.
