

"Cocoanut Grove" Is Week-End Bill at Catlow Theatre

"Doctor Rhythm," Starring Bing Crosby, Begins Run Wednesday

Wayne Morris, star of "Kid Galahad," further proves his acting ability in "The Kid Comes Back," coming to the Catlow theatre Friday and Saturday.

On the double feature bill on Friday and Saturday with "The Kid Comes Back," is "Basoca," starring Jane Wynn, with Rochelle Hudson and Borrah Minevitch and His Gang.

Before his movie days, Fred MacMurray was a band leader. And as a band leader, his highest ambition was to play an engagement in the famous Cocoanut Grove of the Hotel Ambassador, Hollywood. Well, he's in "Cocoanut Grove," at last, but in a picture, named after the night spot.

In the new film, which comes to the Catlow Sunday and Monday, MacMurray plays a part which is almost exact prototype of his own life. He is a swing-jazz young band leader, barnstorming across the country, never making it, and leaps ahead of the sheriff, and trying desperately to get the much sought after audition at the Grove. Supported romantically by Harriet Hilliard, wife of orchestra leader Orzie Nelson of the screen, the two head a long cast of star names.

George O'Brien, one of the leading action stars in pictures, plays the role of a United States marshal in his latest outdoor thriller, "Gun Law," coming Tuesday.

Double featured Tuesday with "Gun Law," is a brand new Torchy Blane adventure, "Torchy Blane in Panama," with Lola Lane and Paul Kelly.

O. Henry, who has often been called the greatest of all writers of American fiction, created the story which has been made into "Doctor Rhythm," the musical comedy starring Bing Crosby, Beatrice Lilla and Mary Callahan, coming to the Catlow Wednesday for a three day engagement.

Bing Crosby is seen in the role of the fashionable New York doctor who dons a white lab coat and a top hat for a day to help his best friend, Andy Devine. Bing gets his first job as bodyguard to Miss Lilla's socialite niece, Mary Callahan, and applies the strong-arm of the law in a most unlawful manner to win her heart.

Jim McMillen Pitted Against King Kong at Peg's Friday

On Friday night, June 31, at Peg's Arena located at the junction of routes 54 and 20, King Kong, bearded Abyssinian wrestler, will face Jim McMillen, one of the foremost grapplers in the country in an effort to force Bronko Nagurski into a title match. Kong has been faced by some of the toughest wrestlers in the sport and to date none have shown sufficient strength or skill to place the broad shoulders of the bearded giant even near the mat. There are many who feel that the victory march, such that has seldom been seen in matdom, will continue until he wears of the crown and there is no man campaigning in the mat ranks of sufficient ability to subdue the Abyssinian invader.

On the other hand, Jim McMillen will be facing one of the most important matches of his colorful career, since he will be fighting to stay as one of the most outstanding contenders in the country and an opportunity of once again facing Ruffy Silverstein, Illinois champion, to whom he lost a decision and the title.

The principals in the semi-windup are Hans Schnable, foremost of the famous mat Schnables who will come to grips with the German strongman, Rudy Strongberg, in a thirty minute time limit bout. Johnny Plummer, Texas tonight will have his hand full trying to keep from the crashing gutter. Fred Grubmeier at the elongated Iowa is in the best shape of his career.

18 Months Old Elgin Girl Victim of Rabies
Patricia Ann Manson, 18-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Manson of Elgin, died at the Sherman hospital in Elgin last Thursday night of complications that resulted from two minor bites by a stray puppy seven weeks prior to her death. Regarded as insignificant at the time, the cuts were treated at home with an antiseptic and nothing more thought of the matter until last Thursday when the child became seriously ill. Death was attributed to rabies. The puppy had been taken in for the night by the Manson family and the child was bitten the next morning when she attempted to pet the dog as it was feeding. The animal was later turned loose.

State Senate Approves Sanitarium Bond Issue
The state senate last week passed legislation enabling Lake County to issue bonds on anticipated revenue for the construction of a tuberculosis sanitarium. Passed previously by the house of representatives, the enabling act is now before Governor Henry Horner for his signature. When approved with his signature, the county board will consider the floating of a bond issue and the application for a federal grant of $150,000 to construct the sanitarium near Waukegan.

Heights Motorists May Transmit Fines By Mail
The village of Arlington Heights has adopted a plan whereby motorists charged with violation of traffic regulations may transmit the necessary business through the assistance of Uncle Sam's mail carriers and be saved the bother and embarrassment of appearing before a police magistrate. Arrest tickets now being used in Arlington Heights carry on the reverse side a price list, showing the amount of the fine and costs for the various infractions. The motorist is given the privilege of mailing the fine and costs to the village hall, and is not required to appear. However, if the arrest is to be contested, the motorist party is advised to appear in court. The tickets are numbered and failure to comply with the law will bring further police action, it is reported.

Des Plaines Gets Smaller As Land Is Withdrawn
The city of Des Plaines finds itself shrinking, and not because of any rainy weather. A court decision earlier this month permitted the disannexation of 40 acres of land from the city proper. The same decision, however, denied a petition for an adjacent piece of property be disannexed. A second piece is due to separate if proceedings started in court are successful. The property no longer part of the city is located north of Thacker street between Mount Prospect road and the Chicago and Northwestern railroad property.
