The Oklahoma Kid to Begin Run Wednesday Night at Calow Theatre

Hospital life as viewed from the eyes of a nurse is the story in a stirring new picture coming to the Calow theatre for a two-day show Friday and Saturday. It is the story of a white nurse who, in four hours of the film, plays her role upon nursing orders, and the man in the cast, enacted by Alan Barringer.

One of the most sensational film-making sequences filmed for the background for the dramatic highlight of the picture which tells the story of four girls who enter upon nursing orders with four different reasons, only to be won over by the single process of service to humanity when the breaking of a heart binds them to each other and to the suffering human beings.

Clara Colburn and Don Anselmo, teamed together and in their first advertisement which does stars in "Midnight," which opens at the Calow, is the actress who cracks the interior society as an itinerant business. Miss Colbert, as the Yankee adventuress, has a role reminiscent of the one she played so successfully in "Millie in Paris," while the actress in her previous parts in that, for one, he gets the girl.

the Calow Wednesday. Also featured in the cast are Humphrey Bogart, Rosemary Lane, Donald Crisp and Florence Rice. It is again an altogether different type of background that generally associated with Casey Kasper, but the picture is the real head leader in the new picture, which is a little different from the usual formula.

The picture is told in the wild and lawless days when the Indian frontier was believed to be settled, and one of the most interesting features of the picture is the scene of the famous land race of 1834 in which the two parties were allowed to race across country to stake out land in newly opened Indian territory.
