Village Trustees Approve Municipal Band Ordinance

Fire Department Ordinance to Be Presented to Board in Near Future

The first actual work toward the organization of a municipal band was completed Monday night when the village board approved an ordinance establishing rules and authorizing the appointment of personnel to organize the unit. The ordinance was approved following a report from W. R. Sears, secretary of the local committee which 'campaigned for the band tax in June, who stated the ordinance met with the approval of members of his committee. The motion to adopt the measure was made by Trustee John Bentzler and seconded by Trustee R. F. Kocher Sr.

The band ordinance calls for the appointment of three board members by the village president who are to serve on a band committee. This group will act upon the selection of a band director and handle and approve the disbursement of tax receipts. An advisory committee composed of three persons who are not members of the board was also appointed. The ordinance investigates in to act in conjunction with the village attorney.

Village President Earl Hatch named Trustees R. F. Kocher Sr., John Deschler and Harry H. Wewetzer to the committee and Secretary and Dr. B. P. Graber, R. E. Willmering and Sam Landwer to the advisory committee.

Another ordinance was introduced by the board Monday night. It was the new ordinance covering the operation of the village fire department. Trustee Otto C. Biesecke, chairman of the fire committee, turned over the rough draft of the proposed measure to the fire clearance committee to be put into proper form for adoption at a later date.

Program Complete for Annual Summer Jamboree Aug. 16

Tug of War Contests and Two Softball Games Will Be Feature Events

Tug of war contests between picked teams will be one of the many features planned for the second annual Summer time picnic and jamboree, which will be held at Northside park on Wednesday evening, August 16. The feature challenge match will pit the Hoffmann Beef Trust softball team, which at present is holding down first place in the business men's league, against the Walbaum-Capaldi "Commercials," champions of last year's tug of war contests. The balls will bring together one ton of human flesh against the Hoffmann-Beef supporters. Pohlman's "Giants" will try to out-pull Baade's "Brutes" in the other contest.

Another highlight of the jamboree will be a softball game between Father and Son teams. A. Church captains the fathers while his son, Clyde, heads the younger unit. Rules of the contest required a father to be in the line-up at the same time as his son, and if one returned to the game another must also.

Following the tug of war there will be races and contests for the younger children.

The Barrington high school band will furnish the musical interlude in the evening under the direction of W. C. Hahn and immediately following that there will be a presentation of awards to winners in the various contests sponsored by the season.

The jamboree will be brought to a close with the showing of motion pictures taken at last year's and this season's programs by C. Deets and O. Fritz. The program supervisors, are arranging for the schedule.

Children will have their big event of the summer at the annual kiddie parade which will be held Friday. Unusual Hard Maple Tree Is Dying

The hard maple tree that has been the object of interest for many years to residents of Barrington, particularly those living on the south side of town, due to its early and unusual change of foliage, is dying of some unknown reason. The death of the tree, which is located on the south side of Russell street just west of Cook street, has been suggested as being caused by the same thing that the row of maples on Cook street is to fall. Leaves on one side would change to a golden scarlet tint while the other side remained green for a week or so longer. However the change began to turn, many regarded it as the first harbinger of winter.

"Who Is the Tallest Man in Town?"—Four Curious Debaters Ask

Just to satisfy the curiosity of four local debaters who engaged in a preliminary session prior to the opening of the "hot stove league" this winter, The Review is passing on their request to its readers and asks: "Who is the tallest man in Barrington?"

There it is! A question without reason or reason, but serious enough to provoke an earnest discussion from P. H. Drover, his brother, Fred Rieke, Chief of Police E. W. Baade and his son, Reuben Baade. Rieke is employed by the Standard Motor garage, where Mr. Drover is the front office man and Mr. Rieke is "dictator" in the parts department.

Although these men are curious about who is the tallest man, they don't feel it is their place to interest to offer a prize for the answer. Instead, they asked The Review to do the job. If, by any whirl of fate, anyone is interested they may send the answers to either of the group.

Awaits Sentence for Car Larceny Charge

Sentence on Kenneth Bell, 25 years old, who appeared before Judge John J. Barnes in the Cook county criminal court Wednesday morning on a charge of larceny of an automobile, will be set for Monday, it was learned from Chief of Police E. W. Baade, who prosecuted the case.

Other local witnesses were Robert Wallace from whom it is alleged Bell stole and wrecked an automobile on the morning of July 13, and Night Patrolman William Benbrooks who arrested Bell following a wild chase through the village streets.

At the trial Wednesday it was learned Bell had a long prison record, having been sentenced for the first time at the age of 12 years. It was reported he would probably be sentenced to one year in jail under the present larceny charge.

Leslie Freye Awarded All-Expense Tour He Is Unable to Use

Leslie Freye, of Palatine, who is a member of the service department of Schaefle Chevrolet Sales, has had his experience in winning a prize that he can't use or can't sell, and which cannot be cashed, by an awarded all-expense lake trip by a Chicago newspaper this week and then he is unable to accept it by a roving staff photographer and find the time to use it during the contest conducted for men only.

Freye is the winner of the Chevrolet Commuters' Club, Inc., which is sponsored by the Chicago Herald-American, and which has awarded an all-expense lake trip for two to Canada. Freye has already taken his wife and two children to Canada on the award too costly, he said. The award is not transferable and none of his local friends can benefit from it either.

Mr. Freye's picture was snapped the week ago while he and his wife were attending a Chicago Cubs baseball game. The picture appeared in the Sunday issue of the paper,

Contract Awarded to H.Walbaum for New Aerator Shed

Village Trustees Take Action to Improve Condition of Water Supply

As soon as the contract is signed for the construction of the work, H. H. Walbaum, local mason contractor, will begin construction on the village aerator system which is hoped will relieve the water supply of its odorous condition. Mr. Walbaum was awarded the contract at the village board meeting Monday when his bid of $1160.70 was read by Village President Earl Hatch. Mr. Walbaum was the only bidder on the project.

Work may be started by next Tuesday, Village Clerk C. C. Burdand reported Thursday morning. The new aerator system will consist of a shed constructed on top of the present well and reservoir containing four coke trays over which water will pass before entering the storage tank. In passing the aerator over coke and breaking it up into a fine spray for contact with air, it is expected the sulphur odor of the water will be disrupted.

The trays and other wooden parts coming in contact with the direct flow of water will be made of cypress, which will insure longevity of the structure and prevent deterioration.

Plans for the odor purifying system was advanced by Village Engineer C. C. Buchman and those of the water committee, soon after he took office last spring. The village engineers, Consoer, Townsend and Quinlan, drafted the details and specifications which have been approved by the state board of health.

High Cost of Living Exposed, Village Pays High Price for Toast

The village of Barrington has probably set a new record for the high cost of living in its account, the municipality in the month of July paying 25 dollars last Friday morning for seven-and-a-half loaves of toast which were wanted by members of the fire department, who were invited to call at the H. P. Cochran home at 121 Hillcrest avenue to remove the burnt offering from the premises.

Mrs. Cochran had gone into the yard on the morning of the day mentioned and in her absence the children placed several pieces of bread in the toaster and the chimney of which sometimes been known to do, they promptly forget them. When Mrs. Cochran re-entered the house a short while later, it was filled with dense smoke.

Believing the place to be on fire, Mrs. Cochran called the fire department.

Hybrid Corn Plot on E. Schroeder Farm Will Be Inspected August 21

A field day has been arranged to inspect the Emil Schroeder hybrid corn plot the afternoon of Monday, August 21. Mr. Schroeder has a very interesting and well located hybrid seed corn plot with about 15 different hybrids growing in it. The plot is located on Rand road on the line between the East Cook-Lake county line road.

This field is coming along in good shape and is beginning to show some interesting results at the present time. Markers have been put up showing the different hybrids that are growing. At the same time another plot nearby put out by W. Hemken of the Palatine high school on the Bay Reese farm, one and a half miles west on Rollwing road, will be visited. On the Schroeder plot he has a soil that has been well limed and heavily manured and, according to all soil tests that have been made, it should be able to produce a maximum crop of corn without the use of commercial fertilizers. However, in order to demonstrate how commercial fertilizers would be beneficial to the crop, there will be noted during the field day, a three row strip that has received any soils that are brought into this meeting. Farmers who are expecting to lime or use phosphate on their soils next spring will be given information along with them and the latter part of the meeting will be given to soil testing methods.

Further announcements will be made from this paper in the next issue of The Review.
