Director Henning spoke next and discussed the status of the parking lot project that is currently underway. He noted that phase one of the project was nearly complete and that phase two would begin by the end of the week. Phase two will take two to three weeks to reach conclusion. Even with the ongoing construction, library attendance at programs has been great with two hundred forty-five customers showing up for the ice cream social and three hundred attending the Youth Services bug program.

Director Henning was excited to share that the Barrington Area Library had a 90.2% approval rating in a recent Community Needs Survey, and noted that the report was ripe with information that would help us to continue to fill the information needs of our community.

Director Henning also discussed some of the important topics that were addressed at the most recent ALA convention. A few of his favorites included “Transforming Community Relationships Through Dialogue”; “Buried in a Dying Field”, presented by Barrington staff member, Stefanie Molinaro; “A Library for Everyone: Community Centered Design to Promote Inclusive Librarianship” which addressed accessibility issues; and an interesting program in Massachusetts that assigns MIT students to local libraries.

In New Business, the Audit Committee will complete the library’s annual audit on Friday, July 20, 2018 at noon.

There being no further business, Ms. Tenyer moved, and President Minner seconded, to adjourn. The motion passed unanimously.
